Fourth time still not a charm for Bank Jo building

by Willie Elliott Staff Writer

The question of whether to purchase the old Bank Josephine Building on Main Street in Prestonsburg continues to be a big part of the Floyd County Board of Education's discussions, as a motion to buy the building for a central office surfaced and was defeated for a fourth time Tuesday evening.

The board has sold its current office and has a lease until December 31. Dotson and Ross advocated using the money from the sale of the present central office to purchase the bank building. According to appraisal figures, the board would be getting the property at a price considerably lower than the appraised value. But board members Carol Stumbo and Jody Mullins have suggested new roofs be constructed in schools which need them before the board purchases a building to house a central office. Stumbo also said she needed more time and more information about the building before she could vote for its purchase.

To give the board an estimate of how much roofing projects would cost, Greg Adams, maintenance supervisor, presented his

by Willie Elliott Staff Writer

On Tuesday evening, the Floyd County Board of Education met in a special-called session in an attempt to resolve an issue that has been a subject of much debate approval of the draft district facility plan and related items

The board held an executive session for about 30 minutes before returning to open session to deal with the plan and other topics.

At the last meeting, chairman Terry Dotson, in response to a question by Carol Stumbo, said it was his opinion that the board had erred in sending the plan to Frankfort before it was approved.

Shortly after the board returned to the open session, Carol Stumbo made a motion "that the plan be returned to the Local Planning Committee (LPC) for further work and revision." Stumbo said there were problems with the plan.

Jody Mullins interjected at this point that 40 Head Start students from the Right Beaver area go to McDowell and said the plan does not address that problem.

Dotson asked Jody Sword, chairman of the of the LPC, to discuss certain points about the plan before Stumbo finished her list of

A Knott County man was acquitted of criminal littering charges in Floyd District Court Thursday.

Burton Holland had been accused of bringing at least three truckloads of garbage into the county and dumping them.

It took the jury less than halfan-hour to acquit Holland.

He admitted to the court that he did dump the trash but he had permission to do it, said Floyd County Deputy Ray Bates.

Bates arrested Holland April 9 during the Floyd County PRIDE

In other district court matters: A hearing for Billy J. Shepherd, 26, of Martin, was held Wednesday.

Shepherd was charged with four counts of terroristic threatening after allegedly threatening to kill Floyd County Deputy Herman Morris, Motor Vehicle Enforcement officer Mark Duddleson, and Martin Police officers Dennis Hutchinson and Robbie Nickles.

He was also charged with drinking in a public place, possession of drug paraphernalia, failure time. It is an excursion to a time when diners served piping hot meals fresh from the grill; a time when the community gathered to meet in a familiar place; a time when value was put on your table and service wasn't just a word.

Burgers are the specialty at Billy Ray's. Made from a special recipe, they are plump, juicy and very tasty and, try as you might, you can't fill up on just one.

"They are all hand-patted with tender loving care," said Billy Ray Collins, owner and proprietor. Billy Ray's is not a fast food restaurant. You will be served quickly and receive your food fast, but the atmosphere, the quality of the food and the portions are not typical of fast food.

A quick look at the service windows may reveal a plate of roast beef and mashed potatoes with the steam wafting off them. The food is hot and made fresh. You will not find a heat lamp anywhere.

Billy Ray's has been an icon of downtown Prestonsburg for almost 20 years. The secret of the restaurant's success revolves around outstanding people, quality foods and generous portions.

"We give the customer more than what they are paying for," he said. "We buy the best hamburger, the best roast beef, the best chicken and the best potatoes. We enhance the flavor of everything."

Billy Ray's is one of the few restaurants left that prepares fresh hamburger daily he said.

"We are the only one still mixing our hamburger every day," he said.

Should you find something wrong with the product, he will replace it free and friendly.

The customers tend to be relaxed while in the establishment. The wait is not what you would expect either. Fast food has spoiled the masses. A person can go into a McDonald's and get his or her

The parents were air-lifted tommin the Cabell-Huntington Hospital burn unit in West Virginia. Phillip Cavens, 50, was listed in fair condition while Elizabeth Cavens, 33, was said to be in critical condition.

Kentucky State Police say the fire appears to have been accidental at this time, but Detective Paul Estep and Arson Investigator Don Parker are continuing an investigation intomina the cause of the blaze.

In addition to the state police, the Johnson County sheriff's and coroner's offices responded to the scene.

Future funding on minds of 911 board

by Randell Reno Staff Writer

The building and operation of the county's 911 system has been an atrocity according to some of the firefighters at the 911 Advisory Council meeting Wednesday

"It's been operated like a circus for 10 years," said Terry Triplett of the Garrett Fire Department and vice chairman of the board.

Triplett's concern centered around the renewing of the 911 surcharge on local phone bills by the county. The surcharge was supposed to be restored once the Enhanced 911 system went online.

"The system is for all intents and purposes already online," said Bill Dotson, coordinator of the county's disaster and emergency services. The only addition to the 911 system will be the posting of the fire, police and ambulance jurisdictions on the screen, he said.

But not everyone agreed that the surcharge is needed at present. Brett Davis, deputy county judge-executive, told board members that $200,000 was left in the 911 account and there is no immediate need to put the surcharge back in place.

ty of the business is that Collins greets many of his customers by name and bids them a hearty goodbye when they leave. This added personal touch shows the customers they are appreciated.

Many of the patrons are regular customers who have grown into the security of the restaurant and they meet quite often to discuss their lives with one another.

"Many retired school teachers come down and talk with one another about their careers, lives and things," Collins said.

A 93-year-old customer comes into the diner every day, said Collins.

'He serves himself," Collins said. "He goes behind the counter and gets his pack of nabs and a drink, then sits down. He pays 25 cents for the 30-cent package. He refuses to pay more than what he paid years ago.'

He tells Collins the girls did not have to be paid labor, so that part of the price is not needed.

Collins took over the proprietorship of what was then The Play House nearly 20 years ago. In 1980, he purchased the roughand-rowdy poolroom/grill from Bob Hughes and told the former

From The Playhouse where they could curse and carry on outside the presence of women, Collins said, adding that women would not even walk into the establishment unless they were very brave. Instead they would stand outside the door and ask someone else to get their orders

When Collins bought the place, the bathroom was "a hot water tank with a hole cut in the top of it," Collins said.

"I took a steam jenny and cleaned each and every one of these greasy grates out myself," he said. "I took the front door and the back door off. Back then the men would drink Skin Bracer aftershave. I had to bring an endloader in behind the store to remove all the bottles that were laying at the back door."

While Collins was trying to convert his new business to a family-oriented eatery, some of Hughes' patrons hung on. Collins said the men would stay there constantly until he finally had to health department inspection tell them to leave.

Because of the former poolroom's reputation, it took Collins awhile to build his customer base.

"No woman had ever worked owner things were going to here." said Collins, "Women would stand outside and let someone bring the order out. I changed it. I told Mr. Hughes, 'You will see the day when there are more women than men in this restau-

Eating habits have changed also. Collins attributed many of these changes to McDonald's. He recalled that when he was young a person took a bottle and poured the ketchup all over their fries and then ate the fries with a fork. Today's young people put ketchup in a corner of their tray and dip the fries into the ketchup, he said.

'They were geniuses," he says. "This simple idea solved the problem of giving the plastic forks out, saving the company lots of

Collins said that good people have always been a part of the business and will point out his manager as an example.

Sheila Collins (no relation) has been with him since she was 18 years old. She runs the business as if she were a partner.

"I trust her and depend upon her," said Collins. "She hires outstanding people with outstanding

"I have had over 200 girls try out for this job. Not all of them made it but the ones that do like the job.'

Nearly 20 years later, Collins hopes a new customer base is being built for Billy Ray's.

"A lot of little kids stay here and tell me 'I'm going to the ball court' or 'I'm going to the library, if mom calls tell her where I am," Collins said. "I love kids and I take care of them."

One child recently came into the restaurant wanting something to eat. One of the employees asked if he wanted a hamburger or hot dog. A hot dog was requested.

"How much is it?" the young

When asked how much money he had, the boy presented 11 cents. He was told that was just what it cost.

Billy Ray's is well-known in central Kentucky and it is very often visited by tour buses, Collins said. Presidential candidate Bill Bradley has been one of the visitors and many have dined there from Frankfort, where the restaurant is well-known.

Collins will tell you he is in the business to make money but he will show you the customer and their children are his biggest con-

While interviewing Collins a customer walked out the door and called back to Collins saying, 'Everything was nice and good."

"I like that kind of customer," said Collins.

Dotson suggested that the plan be approved and the board have a work session to iron out any differences and send those recommendations to the LPC.

Ross made a motion to pass the plan and within 30 days have a meeting to include board members and LPC committee members to work out the differences. The motion passed by a 4-1 vote, with Stumbo voting no.

Simple tips can make your holiday drive easier and safer

(NAPSA)-The holidays are country and auto maintenance tips. meant to be a time for renewing bonds with family and feeling good cheer. Unfortunately, the Grinch in us comes out when faced with high ticket prices, crowded airports, over-booked flights, and cancelled connections. That's why for many travelers there's no better way to go home for the holidays than the Great American Road Trip.

Yet even driving just a couple hundred miles can be a pain if you're not prepared. Weather, construction, breakdowns-they're the bane of the holiday road traveler's existence. So before you head over the river and through the woods, take a few moments to review this checklist and have a safe holiday.

First, find out if there's any construction delays or bad weather on your route. Fortunately, a new site called DriveThere.com (www.Drive There.com) has all this information in one place, so you don't have to surf all over the Web for it.

DriveThere.com, by the way, has lots of other travel goodies as well. It can offer you an alternate route if yours is affected, names of reputable repair shops across the

This useful site can also provide weekend road trip ideas; direct links to make hotel and car rental reservations; and activities for the kids. It's a great first stop.

Be sure your glove compartment has the following items: insurance and motor club cards; auto registration; a "call police" sign; a brightly colored cloth; message pad and marker; emergency phone numbers; and a flashlight with extra batteries.

If you have a problem, pull off to the side of the road in a visible spot. If you carry a mobile device with Internet access and browser software (for example, a laptop, mobile phone or personal digital assistant), you can access Drive There.com to quickly find emergency road service in any state. Fortunately, this service is free. If you don't have mobile Web access, consider joining a motor club that can provide these services for a fee.

-Editorial-

That's shore 'nuff good TV

Did you'uns catch that thar picture show on the HB and O the other night? Believe they called it "Amurkan Hollar." That shore was some good, family innertainment.

That show shore gave all of us around these parts reason for hope. A family of 15 making it easy on guvmint checks. Well, that right thar gives all of us who still have to work for a livin' reason to keep goin'. As Hollywood always reminds us, those of us who ain't yet livin' on the draw are jest waitin' for our crazy checks to come in.

That Kennedy woman shore did capture the spirit of life here in these hills. She showed the whole world how all of us 'round these parts live in houses held together with chicken wire, how we all got old fridges in the yard and chickens runnin' 'round. It shore is good to see that kind of programmin' on the TV. It's jest shameful we have to wait ever month or two to get to see one of these depictions.

Maybe we could git her to come back and shoot some more of them films. She never even got 'round to showing a cockfight or a service at the Our Lady of the Holy Copperhead church. She done missed out!

Heck far, they oughta jest give her her own reglur show. Put it on the TV ever Friday night, smack dab 'tween wrasslin' and the roller derby. She could make it funny-like, sort of like that Cosby Show, 'cept with incest.

But if she insists on makin' them, whatchu call'em, doccymintrees, we'll do that too. She could put it on that thar Larnin' Channel and make it somethin' useful. Show folks how to sleep seven young'uns in a twin bed, how to run a straight-pipe into the creek, how to eat corn on the cob with jest three teeth or how to empty the trash out of a loaded-down pickup in the dark 'fore a deputy come by, stuff like that. She could call it "This Here Outhouse," and folks'd beat their brains out tryin' to decide 'tween that and NASCAR.

But we ain't heard nuttin' 'bout her goin' make no more of them movies. That's a cryin' shame.

Means we'll jest have to wait a few weeks for the next carpetbagger to come down here and put us on the TV agin. -Ralph B. Davis

November was a busy month for the folks at Pleasant Home Baptist Church as we prepared for our first autumn "Free Coat and Clothing Giveaway." We knew what we wanted to accomplish with this outreach effort—getting coats and warm clothing to the people of this area who needed it most.

We received many donations from the members of the church, and we were able to provide for the 42 families who stopped by during the day, but, because of the generous donation from Wal-Mart in Prestonsburg, we were able to assist many others.

Coats, hats, clothes, and shoes were purchased for several people in the community, and we were thanked many times for what the church was doing.

Thanks to the generous nature of the management of Wal-Mart, we were able to do much more than we ever dreamed.

Again, thank you. You will never know how many lives you touched.

Guest Editorial -On trial: Football prayer

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to re-examine the contentious issue of prayer in public schools.

The outcome may well hinge in part on how the court regards a seemingly innocent part of American life: high school football games.

In Santa Fe, Texas, two families have sued to stop a high school from allowing student-led prayers to be over a public address system at the start of home football games. One of the families is Mormon; the other is Catholic. Nebraska is one of eight states that has filed a brief supporting prayer at the games.

Each side in the case will be able to draw on significant legal ammunition.

Opponents of the prayers will work to convince the court that permitting pubic prayers at the games amounts to "an attempt to employ the machinery of the State to enforce a religious orthodoxy. "That quote is from a

1992 Supreme Court decision in which the court majority said a Rhode Island high school had violated

Constitution's separation of church and state by allowing a clergyman to lead prayer at a high school graduation

Even merely standing in silence during the graduation prayer would have led a "reasonable dissenter" to believe that he or she had participated in prayer or approved of it, and such a situation would amount to unacceptable coercion, the court said in the Rhode Island case.

It made no difference, the court added, that the rabbi who delivered the prayer had kept it nondenominational. The nonsectarian nature of a prayer "doesn't lessen the office or the isolation of the objectors," the court majority said.

Lawyers for the objecting families could cite that

Pro prayer forces, on the other hand, will urge the court to conclude that football games are indeed just a game without any serious attempt at religious pros-

The Supreme Court stressed in the Rhode Island graduation case that a baccalaureate ceremony is "an event of singular importance to every student, one the objecting student had no real alternative to avoid." It seems unlikely the same can be said of football games. Texas may be famed for its enthusiasm for high school football but an attorney could certainly argue that a raucous contest played between two goal posts lacks the degree of seriousness found at a graduation ceremony.

The court may also find it relevant that the football game prayers were led by students, as opposed to clergy or school personnel. In 1993, the court let stand, without comment, a lower court ruling permitting student-led graduation prayers in Texas.

The high court has subsequently signaled that student-led prayer is not appropriate in some instances, however. In 1996, it refused to revive a Mississippi law that would have allowed student-led prayer at assemblies, sporting events and in the classroom; a lower-court judge had ruled the law was unconstitutional except in regard to graduation exercises. In 1998, the Supreme Court rejected an appeal to reinstate an Alabama law that would have allowed nonsectarian, non-proselytizing, student-led prayer at all

The current Supreme Court has seemed generally leery of approving sweeping changes in the law. It shows a preference for small steps, deciding cases quite narrowly. That may well be the case with the Texas prayer-andfootball battle.

It's a matter of pride

Foods stamps have been a part of many of our lives at one time or another. Some of us may have had a medical card or maybe received AFDC.

While I was attending Pikeville College, in order to keep my family alive and well, I received all three. I wasn't proud of it. In truth, I was ashamed that I had to depend upon the government to take care of my family.

But I look back now and see if the aid wasn't there, my children would have suffered. Instead, they grew and were well taken care of while their mother and I attended college.

"This is what the assistance is for," I was told then. I can see that now, but at the time it was shameful to me. It was intended for a stepping stone and I used it as such.

I was embarrassed to walk into a store and use food stamps. When I would shop, I would spend time checking out the store carefully just in case someone I knew was in there. Someone might see me using them. But across the county, the state and our great country too, Food stamps, AFDC and now KCHiP or Medicare programs have become ways of life for many. Back when "the civilized" part of the United States discovered Appalachia's impoverished state of being, these help programs were created and installed. They were intended to see our grandparents and parents through the hard times. The sad part of it is that most recipients thought "This isn't so bad, I can do nothing my whole life and get paid for it." Voila, we Appalachians enslaved ourselves in laziness. The ironic part of having all this time on our hands is the condition of our homes. With nothing to do all day long, all to often these homes are unkempt and some are even downright

Since the Great Depression, literally hundreds of ways have been discovered to receive this assistance. Even more ways have been created to stay on it. Generations have raised their children to want to live like this and they do.

When President Clinton promised to get people off this cycle of government aid, I was cheering. But, in my naiveté, I neglected to remember the creative mind of the lazy. I forgot how easy one can go from just receiving the aid to being declared disabled and gaining even more free money.

I know a man who has received disability for years, but in his "disabled" state he built a three-bedroom, twobath home from the ground up. But he could not be employed because he was a disabled coal miner. Kentucky Border makes smaller rolls of baloney.

It is all around us. I was recently told a story about a hard-working young girl employed at a local restaurant, a customer favorite. The girl apparently had to leave the job temporarily on a medical leave. Because of this she was able to get federal and state assistance while absent from work. Her employer could not get her

GOSPEL ACCORDING TO ME

by Paul Prather

The writer of Ecclesiastes makes an unusual statement for a fellow who's composing Scriptures.

In Ecclesiastes 7:16-18 he warns us, as you'd predict, against being terribly wicked and foolish.

But — and this is the surprise he also warns: "Do not be excessively righteous, and do not be overly wise. Why should you ruin your-

The secret to happy living, he concludes in one translation, lies in always walking "a middle course."

That, as I said, might seem an odd statement for a guy writing Scriptures. We would expect him to think there's no such thing as a person too righteous or too wise.

Still, the author's words make profound sense.

In life, balance is everything, whether we're talking about matters that are physical, emotional or spiri-

Some years ago a friend in Florida offered to let me take out his kayak, a one-person, covered canoe. It had only a single opening, barely big enough for me to slide my legs and bottom inside.

As soon as I started paddling it away from the beach into the Gulf of Mexico's shallows, I accidentally leaned a tad to my left. Instantly I found myself upside-down, underwater, still wedged in the kayak.

After extricating myself, I popped to the surface, dragged the kayak to the beach and started all

The next time as I paddled away, I over-adjusted and leaned maybe six inches to my right. Again I rolled underwater, my head scrapping the sandy ocean floor.

I found that it takes balance to

We should strive for balance master a kayak. You can turn it over Lord's kind intentions for them that surgeons easily could have by leaning too far toward either side.

I've come to consider that a metaphor for life itself. Lean too far either way and you'll always bang your head on the floor.

In Proverbs, for example, a wise man named Agur prays that he won't be blessed with too much money or cursed with too little.

If he becomes too rich, he says, he'll grow "full and deny Thee and say, 'Who is the Lord?""

On the other hand, he argues, if he's too poor he'll start stealing.

What he really needs, he says, is neither too much nor too little, but an amount in-between, a balance. That's as true of us today as it was of Agur many centuries ago.

Or consider our eating habits.

If you don't eat enough you'll become anorexic and ruin your health. If you eat too much you'll grow morbidly obese - and ruin your health. The secret is to consume what nutritionists call a balanced

If you're raising children there are two ways to destroy them emotionally. One way is to discipline them unmercifully, to beat them and curse them and allow them no free-

The other way, equally destructive, is to not discipline them at all, to let them run amok and mistreat their friends and sass you.

Healthy parenting takes the middle path. It provides consistent rules and firm discipline. It also provides a corresponding measure of freedom, rewards for good behavior and encouragement.

because they decided that God never divinely heals people anymore. Some of their members died needlessly because they refused to ask for the Lord's help.

I've watched other churches decide that God is obligated to heal every faithful Christian of every ailment, from head colds to bone cancer, without medical intervention.

Some of their people passed on while waiting for divine cures that never came. They died of ailments

The truth lies in the middle. Often God heals head colds and cancers. But sometimes, for whatever reasons, He doesn't. So if you're sick you should pray to be healed. And you should visit your doctor.

The wise maintain balance, you see, whether they're paddling a kayak, planning a meal, investing their money, voting for a political candidate, monitoring their health or worshiping their God.

Others need special attention during this season, as well. Elders may be uncertain of their roles. Recent widows and widowers need to redefine relationships and at the same time remember their lost part-

Seniors in particular have experienced significant losses in their lives and the holidays can be painful reminders. As we grow older, it may become more difficult to cope with the holidays.

For those suffering from serious illness, the holidays can be particularly challenging. Demands of caring for the seriously ill probably affect caregivers the most during this season. They may need more assistance than usual as they struggle for extra time to participate in the season's events.

Young married couples frequently report extraordinary stress. Families may compete for their participation as everyone struggles to about remembering the past year develop new traditions.

How can individuals survive this annual challenge? A strategy to minimize stress is needed.

Dr. Emmanuel Eze, medical director of the mental health program at Three Rivers Medical Center in Louisa, offers the following tips for those who need to juggle the demands of the season:

- · Delegate whenever possible.
- · Make "to-do" lists.
- Try to eliminate items from your "to-do" list.
- Plan ahead, and do ahead.
- Try not to be a perfectionist. · Reward yourself.
- Remember the KEY issue involved for each holiday, and maintain the reason for the season. Christmas is about celebrating the birth of Jesus Christ. Giving gifts and attending parties is secondary. Celebrating a New Year is not about pretty dresses or fancy parties but and welcoming the hopes for a New

Dr. Eze adds, "Remember to take care of yourself. Allow some decompression time. If you're staying with relatives, get away for a day on your own. They'll appreciate the time for themselves as well. Remember to reward yourself like you would during the other seasons.

"There is so much for families to do and it may seem that there are not enough hours in the day. Those who enjoy the season most are those who manage seasonal pressures most effectively. The really happy man is the one who can enjoy the scenery even when he has to make a detour."

If you, or someone you love, is challenged by holiday stress, or perhaps something more, call Three Rivers Medical Center Mental Health Unit at 1-800-249-3602.

"There may be a perception among many miners that, because the current program directly involves the mine operator arranging and paying for the X-rays, test results may somehow be used against them during the course of their employment," McAteer said.

"We believe this new program will address this concern and more will see that it's in their best interest to participate.'

Nationally, MSHA will annually designate about 20 percent of the approximately 100,000 active coal miners outside of Kentucky for participation in the new program.

MSHA inspectors will give Kentucky miners the name and location of all designated X-ray facilities. Miners will be able to take the free chest X-rays at any of the participating facilities, regardmay be used in some areas. Tested miners will be provided results within 45 to 90 days.

Mine operators will not have access to any results of the chest Xrays on any miners. However, the industry has expressed support for the program. McAteer added, "A number of mine operators will allow miners time during work hours to take the X-rays and will allow the mobile X-ray units on their property."

MSHA moved to implement the pilot program primarily in response to a 1996 federal advisory committee chartered to make recommendations for eliminating black lung disease among mine workers. The committee recommended that, like underground miners, surface miners should be checked for occurrences of work-related respiratory dis-

McAteer continued, "Once we can accurately determine the depth and scope of respiratory problems such as black lung and silicosis among working miners, MSHA, as well as industry and labor, can better direct and concentrate resources at the sources of this health hazard and eliminate them."

Since 1994, MSHA has been engaged in a multifaceted effort to end black lung disease and silicosis among U.S. mineworkers. Among these actions were the appointment of the advisory committee to study elimination of black lung disease; the development of a "black box," that would give continuous readouts of respiratory dust levels in the mine environment; the establishment of a toll-free dust fraud hotline for miners to report excessive levels of respirable dust in their workplace; and an effort to shift to a single-sample system of measuring dust levels for enforcement purpos-

Internet holiday shoppers should check this list—twice

Internet shopping already exceeds $62 billion annually and is destined to reach new highs as about 98 million Americans who shop online approach the holidays, according to UK cooperative extension agent Robert Flashman.

Flashman, whose job in the University of Kentucky College of Human Environmental Sciences includes advising Kentuckians about ways education and information can improve their lives, said today there are virtually no products a person cannot find on the Internet.

"Internet shopping does require a serious investment of time," he said, "and there are several things a person should do before they start shopping, and while they are shop-

Additionally, Flashman advises consumers to consider using the information they acquire while surfing for the latest Pokemon videos and the Barbie of the '90s to comparison shop and bargain with local merchants.

"In many instances, local merchants will beat or at least match a price a buyer finds on a Web site if the customer will only ask," Flashman said.

But whether you are comparison shopping or buying outright on the Internet, Flashman advises con-

After all this preliminary work is completed and before hitting the send button, this is the point where Flashman advises customers to do the local comparison shopping. "Remember, your local business contributes to many organizations in the community and creates local jobs that make your community more vibrant," he said.

But for those determined to become sophisticated Internet shoppers, Flashman adds one more Web site that he believes is crucial to smart Web buying: www.consumerworld.com.

Workshops provide free web training

(NU) - For teachers who don't have the time, money or instructional support to get high-quality professional training in using educational technology, or for parents interested in finding free educational resources on the Internet, help has arrived.

Teachers and parents can visit Cable in the Classroom Online (www.ciconline.org) and get short, self-paced, training classes. The workshops are sponsored by Cable in the Classroom Professional Development Institute, the nonprofit education training arm of local cable companies and cable networks.

The first workshop is already online and up to four other workshops are expected to be on the Web by December 1999. After that, officials plan to add three or four new workshops annually.

Upcoming workshop topics include: locating study guides to complementary, commercial-free videos, capturing text from Web sites and incorporating cable resources into lesson plans.

In addition to providing Internet training for the past 10 years under the Cable in the Classroom umbrella, local cable companies have partnered with 41 cable networks to provide schools nationwide with free access to over 500 hours each month of commercial-free, educational programs.

For more information about the programming or cable's Internet resources, call 703/845-1400.

The fun way to scrapbook digital images

(NAPSA)-Whether or not your photos have gone high tech, it's still possible to enjoy the pleasure that comes from capturing memories in a scrapbook-an electronic scrapbook.

Today's technology makes it possible for families to scan, edit, morph, organize, digitize and share their electronic images in ways that were unimaginable not long ago. Even the amateur can add sound and animation.

For instance, the company known as ScanSoft now offers a product called PhotoFactory which includes three of the most popular photo editing software tools: Kai's PhotoSoap, Kai's SuperGOO and Kai's PowerShow. The software is both MS Windows and Macintosh compatible

The PhotoSoap feature improves images loaded from a digital camera or scanner by putting the tools for professional photo retouching in what has been described as a "sleek, intuitive package."

The software will restore old photographs, removing scratches, fading and red-eye. It's even possible to create quality collages, calendars and other projects.

PhotoFactory SuperGOO makes it possible to mix and match images from different phospeed switch • Includes blade, Allen tos. Whether it's Dad's beard on wrench and manual #84931 Mom's face or the dog's ears on your friend's head, the possibilities are endless. Local student to present recital

Jimmy Daryl Shepherd, a senior at Morehead State University will present a trumpet recital, December 5, at 3 p.m., in Morehead's Duncan Recital Hall as part of the requirements for a bachelor's degree in music education.

The recital will include works by Kennen, Hummel, Plog, and an original composition by Shepherd. He will be accompanied by Jacquelyn Haywood of Belfry.

Shepherd, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, is the son of Judy Shepherd and the late Jimmy Shepherd.

While at Morehead, he has served as student director of the concert choir and director of the 45-member Rejoice

Wind Ensemble. He recently was hired as choir director for the First Christian Church in Morehead.

Shepherd will begin student teaching at Scott County High School in January and graduate from MSU in May 2000.

Christmas giving and receiving

Christmas is a time of enjoying the company of your family and friends around hearty meals and rooms filled with laughter. Unfortunately, not everyone gets to share in such festive holidays. Many families will spend Christmas in Highlands Regional Medical Center, McDowell ARH, and Our Lady of the Way hospitals where many patients are awaiting blood transfusions.

Double Kwik Martin and Central Kentucky Blood Center are joining together to sponsor a blood drive on Thursday, December 23, in order to protect these families from the pain of losing loved ones. To carry out this mission volunteer donors must step forward and give the gift of life.

By donating blood between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., in the CKBC bloodmobile located in the parking lot, you could aid up to three patients with a single donation. To donate you must be more than 17 years old and weigh in excess of 100 pounds.

This holiday season give the perfect gift to someone who will really appreciate your generosity. Give blood. It's a gift that will last a lifetime, but won't cost you a cent. For more information, contact Joy Amburgey at 439-2173. All donors will receive a special gift for volunteering.

Netting a free lunch

(NU) - It has been said that there is no free lunch. But that was said before the Internet came into being. Reportedly 12 million U.S. households currently shop online. More and more, people are discovering the wealth of services available on the World Wide

In fact, the Internet is so popular that analysts estimate that Americans will spend more than $7 million buying merchandise online during the fourth quarter of 1999. According to eMarketer, online spending is expected to increase 121 percent from last year's spending.

But you don't need deep pockets to enjoy shopping online. A new Web site is now offering free products and services to simply reward you for logging on. Users at FreeRide (www.freeride.com) just need to sign up on the site to become members eligible for free merchandise.

The President and CEO of FreeRide Media, Jordan Stanley, says the site has been designed to be the rewards program for the new millennium.

"There's a whole new generation of consumers on the Internet who don't see any relevance in old-fashioned rewards that come with heaps of restrictions and take forever to earn," Stanley said. "Given a choice, they'll take gasoline, groceries and gift certificates over frequent flyer miles any-

FreeRide awards points to members when they interact with the site's sponsoring retailers, both on and off the Web. Members collect those points and then can redeem them for merchandise, such as CDs, books, tickets, flowers, Internet access, travel and gasoline.

Members can choose from more than 1,300 sponsor offers from 182 brand-name FreeRide sponsors, such as: AT&T, Nabisco, Kraft, Kodak, The Disney Store, VISA, The ESPN Store, Johnson & Johnson, CDnow, Advil, Duracell, Bausch & Lomb, Tower Records, and Proctor & Gamble. FreeRide also offers gift certificates from many merchants, including Toys R Us and the Olive Garden restaurant.

Even more sponsors are likely to join the site, as it is proving to be a popular destination for users. According to Media Metrix (July 1999), FreeRide is the "stickiest" site on the Internet because it draws users in by offering them a reason to spend time on the site. (If a site is sticky, it means that users spend long periods of time on it.)

FreeRide is considered a "loyalty program," similar to airlines' frequent flyer mileage. A key difference, aside from the variety of choices available to members, is that it is much easier and faster for members to earn points, and possibly a free lunch, on FreeRide.

Success of internet registration evident on first anniversary

More than 250,000 men have registered with Selective Service using the Internet since the program's inauguration exactly one year ago. Agency officials say on-line registrations now account for about one quarter of incoming registrations. December 2, marks the first anniversary of the Selective System's popular Internet registration program. Its start-up received worldwide press coverage last year.

Federal law requires men turning 18 who reside in the United States, citizens and non-citizens alike, to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. About two million men are required to register every year. Male U.S. citizens reaching age 18 must register regardless of where they live, so Internet registration is especially convenient for American men who reside overseas.

"When Selective Service began the on-line registration program, it was an immediate success," says the Honorable Gil Coronado, director of Selective Service. "It is gratifying to see the number of young men who are responding by logging on and registering via computers at schools, libraries, and homes and from overseas locations. In fact, no other service we've provided has had more immediate impact than on-line registration. Its popularity surpasses our most optimistic expectations."

To register on-line, a man with a valid Social Security number must connect to the Selective Service Web Site at http://www.sss.gov. After keying in his registration information, he clicks on the "Submit" button and instantly receives his Selective Service number. Additionally, he receives a formal acknowledgeent postcard in the mail within two weeks. Men also can register by returning a mail-back registration form received in the mail, by registering at any U.S. post office, or by checking a box on government forms such as the student financial aid application. Even so, Coronado points out that the fastest and easiest way to register is through the Internet.

Although late registrations are accepted, a man cannot register after reaching age 26. Failure to register is a felony and causes a man to be ineligible for student loans and grants for college, most federal and many state jobs, jobs with the U.S. Postal Service, and federal job training programs. Moreover, male immigrants who are subject to the registration requirement also may be denied U.S. citizenship if they do not register.

Although the U.S. relies primarily on an all-volunteer military today, Selective Service continues to be a low-cost national defense manpower "insurance policy" that provides the means to reinstate a fair and equitable draft, if necessary. "Without Selective Service and the draft registration program, America would be far less prepared to respond in a crisis," Coronado explains. "The success of on-line registration is not only a milestone in our Agency's history, it is a milestone in America's history."

A Look At Sports

Jealousy: Does it belong in the game?

I have been at this position for 12 years and I enjoy watching the kids play sporting games. I enjoy when I see a long pass completed down the field and I am excited about writing about it. I love to see the baseball/softball sail over the outfield fence when a batter blasts a home run. I get excited about that when it is one of our kids. Basketball, I love the three-point shot. I have to admit that I didn't care much for it when they first implemented it. But now, I love to watch the ball arch high and settle into the net from 19-feet and 9-inch-

I love to watch the crowd as they get involved in the game (which doesn't seem too often in high school). I enjoy the mascots, the bands, the cheerleaders, the dance teams and still get chills when the Junior ROTC marches on the floor for the playing of our national anthem.

All this is part of the sports scene in Floyd County and throughout the state of Kentucky. You have to be a sports person to do this job. You had better love it and enjoying being around the kids.

But there is one part of it all that I do not enjoy and at times it turns my stomach, and that is all the jealousy that goes in high school sports. And you would have to be completely blind not to see it happening in our county.

Jealousy, mostly from parents, should have no place in high school athletics. I see it. I hear about it. I just don't enjoy it. Parents want to write the headlines that go in the sports section. That doesn't happen

Those who know me, really now me, know I do not favor school over another, nor do I favor one player over another. But when a player in our system has the talent to play at the next level, no matter the sport, we should be proud we have such a one in our midst and they do get recognition for being an outstanding athlete (boy or girl).

Jealousy will tear down it never builds up. Jealousy will create problems, problems breeds worry, worry causes ulcers and high blood pressure. Now who in the world wants any of that?

These kids, who perform on the football field, the hardwood or the diamond, do not need any added pressure from some parent who just can't understand why things are as

Parents are upset if their kid isn't on the starting five, or the 11 or the nine. Why the coach "hates their kid" when he or she is the best he has, they "can't understand that."

I mean, it borders on being ridiculous most of the time. If some of them could only see themselves when they get upset, they would crawl in a hole somewhere.

Athletics is for the kids. It was put in as part of the extra activities of an institution.

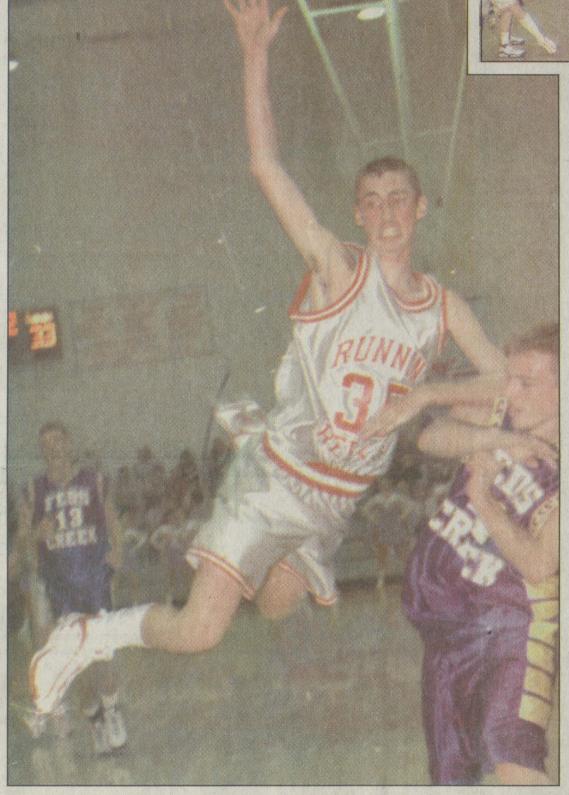

I support our kids all the way. When one is chosen for a scholarship, whether it is at UK, Eastern or Pikeville College, then I just want to rejoice with them. I think it is great that they get the recognition they do. I wish I could just write about all the kids and promote them, even if they don't accomplish anything on the field, court or diamond. But that is very difficult to do.

I am fortunate to have Karen Joseph working with me here in the Times sports department. She is part-time but it seems she is working more than part-time hours. If you see her, pat her on the back and tell her she is doing a good job. If you have a complaint, call me, don't address her with it.

Even with just the two of us, it is still impossible to cover everything. With more help comes more things put on us to do. And more is on the way. It is a job that requires long hours and late evenings. But we still enjoy doing it.

Until Sunday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Take the kids to Sunday School and church.

The Allen Central Rebels swarming defense played havoc on the Feds Creek Vikings and Coach Gary Walton this past Tuesday night as both teams opened their 1999-2000 basketball season.

Allen Central caused the Vikings to turn the ball over 21 times in the first half and 31 times for the game en route to a 83-51 win at the J.E Allen

The numerous turnovers had the Feds Creek coach scratching his head, wondering what his team was doing.

"If you got a complete stranger in and he looked at Allen Central in the first half, they would recognize what they were doing," said the Vikings second-year coach. "We practiced a whole week against them and they didn't do anything we weren't ready for. We still didn't make passes to the right place. We had people out of position."

Allen Central Coach Johnny Martin said his team has to play hard in order

"We need all we can get this season," said Coach Martin. "I believe they wore down. I saw where he was trying to sub more. I thought the last 10 minutes of the ball game, they just didn't have nothing left."

Betsy Layne advances in Lady Hawk Tip-off Classic

by: Karen Joseph Sports Writer

Betsy Layne took on the Phelps Hornets on Wednesday night in the second round of the Ladyhawk Tipoff Classic at Pike Central High School. This was the first regular season game for the Lady Bobcats and Coach Cassandra Akers was anxious to see how her Bobcats would perform when they got down to business. The Bobcats struggled a little at first. The game was close in the first quarter. The Hornets played very good defense. The Hornets led a couple of time in the opening quarter but in the second quarter the Bobcats took control and never let up. They easily defeated the Hornets

The Bobcats played most of the game without the services of Jenny Parsons. Parsons injured her ankle early in the game and failed to return to the game. "I think it will be all right by tomorrow night, I hurt it about three weeks ago and we have been taping it up before practice and the games, but we didn't tape it tonight. But I told coach, 'we'll just tape it up tomorrow and it will be fine, says Parsons after the game.

With the absence of Parsons the other players on the team had to step up and make up the difference. And they did just that. Amber Roberts came off the bench in place of Jenny Parsons and did a great job for the Lady Bobcats. Roberts pulled down rebounds for the Bobcats and finished the game with eight points. Shenna Akers went inside strong for the Bobcats and got some much needed rebounds. Devon Reynolds had some awesome moves toward the basket. Reynolds finished the game with 14 points. Freshman, Natasha Stratton came off the bench to score 15 points for the Lady

The Bobcats got off to a slow start in the first quarter. The Phelps Hornets did a good job putting the press on the Lady Bobcats and the Bobcats had a difficult time getting the ball down the floor. The pressure of the Lady Hornets forced the Bobcats to commit six turnovers in the first quarter. The Hornets took the led when they scored the first basket of the game. Bobcats shot very poorly from the Coach Brent Rose made his debut as the head coach of Betsy Layne in the season opener on Tuesday night, when the Bobcats Magoffin County.

Any time a team faces Danny Adams it is in for a fight. Adams always has a very competitive team. But this team at Betsy Layne is different this year, being very compet-

It was a close game from start to finish with the lead changing hands many times, but the Bobcats held on to come away with the victory,

While Betsy Layne had five in double figures, Magoffin County had four. It was a well-matched game. Both teams played good team ball.

The game was fast paced, as most of Adams' games are, but Rose's Bobcats kept up with the Hornets. The Hornets outscored the Bobcats only in the first quarter and that was by one point.

Magoffin County took the first lead when Arnett scored a basket to start the game. But Scott Collins soon answered for the Bobcats by scoring two to tie the score the first of four times in the game.

Russell hit a basket for Magoffin to give the Hornets back the lead after three minutes of neither team scoring. Magoffin County led the remainder of the first quarter.

Betsy Layne tied the score with a little over a minute remaining, but the Hornets quickly took the lead back and maintained a slim onepoint lead at the end of the quarter.

The second quarter was just as took on the very tough team from close as the first. Betsy Layne tied the score with 4:47 remaining in the half and then took the lead with three minutes remaining.

Allen edges Beaver in opening round of Shag Campbell Invitational tourney

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Allen Eagles had to hold their breath when they faced the Beavers of Beaver in the first round of the Shag Campbell Invitational Monday night at the Allen Elementary gym.

The Eagles slipped past the Beavers 32-30 behind the 11-point game of Nathan Lafferty.

Eric Cook, who had only six points in the game, buried two three-point baskets in the fourth quarter to make the game interest-

"We just about got it this time," said Allen Coach Jack Goodman. Diamont Caudill led all scorers with 19 points for Beaver. Nicholas Jamerson added nine points for the Eagles. Josh Crider scored three. Nathan Newsome netted two points.

Allen led 8-5 after the first quarter, with Jamerson and Lafferty scoring four points each in the opening period. Caudill had all five of the Beaver's first quarter

A 10-6 second quarter gave the Eagles a 18-11 halftime lead, with Bingham and Lafferty netting four Bingham tossed in six and Chris points each in the quarter.

Jamerson scored two. Caudill had five of the Beavers' six points.

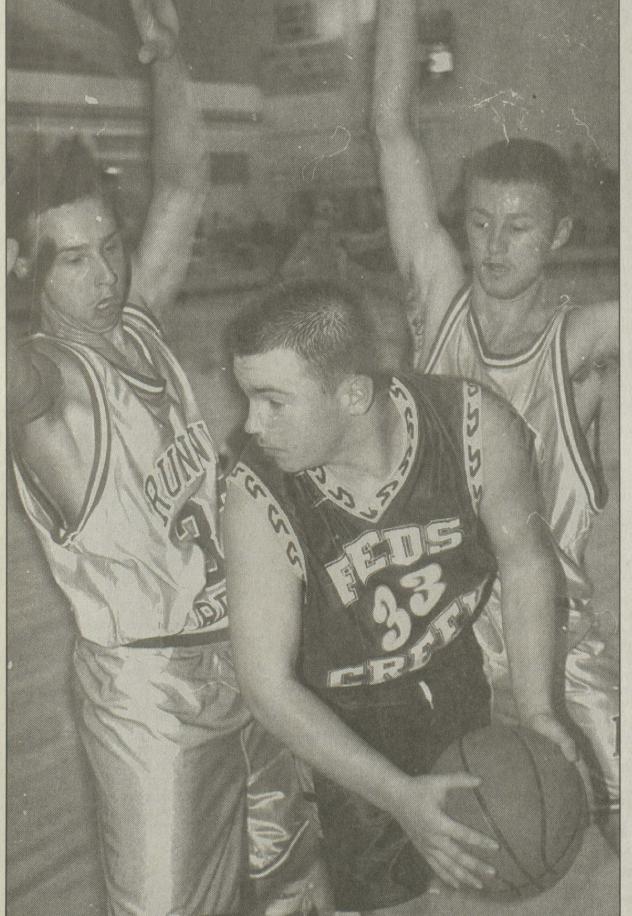

Allen led 25-19 heading into the final quarter when Beaver mounted their comeback. Newsome and Jamerson had the only field goals for the Eagles. Allen struggled at the free throw line as Beaver was forced to put them at the stripe. Allen attempted 12 shots and hit only three. Allen was very cool from the stripe hitting only 4-of-18

Jamerson pulled down eight rebounds for the Eagles, had two assists and seven deflections. Lafferty had five steals in the contest and eight rebounds. Newsome pulled in eight rebounds.

But it was the Blackcats coming away with the win over the Panthers, 57-50.

The Blackcats jumped out to an early lead behind the duo of Ramanda Music and Amelia Conley. Music and Conley made sweet music in the first quarter.

Conley scored the first basket on an assist by Music, who then scored the next eight points, all on assists from teammates.

Pikeville could not keep up with the fast break of the Blackcats. Amelia Conley had two blocked shots in the first quarter, as well as an assist and seven points. Music had 10 points, two rebounds and one steal for the Lady Blackcats in the first period of play.

Panthers 25-14 in the first quarter. In the second quarter, Coach

Maria Shockey changed her strategy and put a stop to the fast break of Prestonsburg. The Panthers held the Blackcats to only five points in the second period of play.

Jill Kimberlain scored her 1,000th point in the second quarter and was awarded the game ball.

Pikeville scored 15 points in the second quarter and went into the dressing room with only a one-point disadvantage.

Kimberlain had a shot at the buzzer that would have given the Panthers a two-point lead, but it just missed the basket and the first half ended at 30-29.

The Panthers came back out in the third quarter still fired up. They held the Blackcats to only nine points in the third period of play.

Brooke Coleman scored seven of those nine points. Coleman had two three-point baskets.

The Panthers took the lead for the first time with 46 seconds remaining in the third quarter on a three-point basket by Jill Kimberlain.

The third quarter ended with the score 40-39 in favor of the Panthers.

Scavenger Hunt will end nest week, winner get $500

The Courier's eight-week Scavenger Hunt will end next week. From all reports it seems to be a hit with readers. The winner will receive $500 in cash. In addition, all participants who turn in entry cards at the end of the eight-week contest will also be eligible to have their names entered in a drawing for a $100 gift certificate redeemable at one of the contest's sponsoring business places.

Sparkman is Hindman's water/sewer supervisor

On Monday, November 29, Michael Sparkman began his new job as City of Hindman public works supervisor.

Sparkman, a resident of Leburn, has worked for the city for seven years. He say, "I love this job. I like working with these people. They feel like family to Sparkman and the other employees of Hindman Public Works Dept. will be busy maintaining the everexpanding water and sewer system.

Confessed murderer could be released

The second man accused of the September 18 shooting death of Jimmies Creek man — and the one who actually confessed to police to shooting the man in the head — could be released from jail early next week.

According to Pikeville Police Chief James Justice, the case against Curtis Murphy was not brought by the police before a Pike Grand Jury during its most recent session Monday, leaving the 21-year-old Regina resident eligible to be released next week, because he has not been indicted for the crime within the 60 days required after he was taken into custody.

Murphy's release, which could fall Monday or Tuesday, would come a little more than a week after Tommy Dotson, 32 of Greasy Creek — the first man the police charged with murder in connection with the shooting death of 27-year-old Chad Ratliff — was released from the Pike County Detention Center for the same reason.—Appalachian News-Express

Jury gives Mills life for '98 murder

A Johnson County Circuit Court jury last Wednesday convicted Gary Mills of murder by complicity and two other crimes in the 1998 death of Lawrence County resident William Walker Ratliff.

When Novella Froman walked into Monday evening's public meeting in Pikeville on the proposed southeastern Kentucky corridor of Interstate 66, she was optimistic.

But after viewing several maps of the area where the road could eventually run, she admitted she was more than a bit uncertain about what could happen to what has been her and her husband's Brahnam Heights home for the past 10 years, once construction of the roadway nears.-Appalachian News-

> $1 million awarded to housing project Subpar homes to be replaced

Paul Patton announced Monday, Gov. Pikeville's Redevelopment Housing Program, which is slated to replace some of the city's substandard homes with townhouses and an apartment complex, will get a $1 million boost in funding.

The $1 million Community Development Block will enable the city to begin the first stages of the project to tear down substandard homes on Sycamore Street.—Appalachian News-Express death. Instead, the panel recommended a prison sentence that will require Mills to serve at least 25 years before being eligible for parole.

After deliberating for about two hours last Wednesday, the jury found Mills guilty of murder by complicity, first-degree arson and first-degree robbery in Ratliff's death. In convicting Mills, the jury agreed with prosecutors' claim that a codefendant, Melody Bowen, inflicted the knife wound that killed Ratliff on March 20, 1998, but Mills told her to commit the crime.—The Paintsville Herald

Council vacancy probable

Paintsville's city council will likely have one less member soon, following confirmation last week that councilman John Carroll has moved out of the city.

Carroll said Friday that he had accepted a job in Jacksonville Beach, Florida, where he will work for his uncle, former Paintsville Mayor Robert Wiley. He said he expected to officially resign his council seat soon.

HELP LEAD FLOYD COUNTY TO EDUCATIONAL EXCELLENCE

Kentuckians have an unprecedented chance to rebuild the state's school system, and local boards are central to the reform movement. Share a sense of pride with other citizens by serving the children of Floyd County. You are invited to nominate yourself or a qualified acquaintance to serve on the Floyd County Board of Education. There is a vacancy created by the resignation of a current board member.

Board members are involved in four main tasks; • Developing policy-making guidelines that govern the operation

· Providing visionary leadership and vigorous stewardship with long-range educational plans and programs. · Hiring the district superintendent and issuing annual evaluation

· Setting local tax rates and ensuring that public funds are spent wisely and efficiently. Requirements

· At least 24 years old.

· Kentucky citizen for the last three years.

• Registered voter in the School Board District Two. High school diploma or GED certificate.

• Except in limited circumstances, board members may not have a relative employed by the school district.

Pick up an application at the Floyd County Board of Education office at 183 North Arnold Avenue, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, or the County Court Clerks Office, Central Avenue. Mail the completed form to Wilmer S. Cody, Commissioner of Education, 500 Mero Street, First Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, KY 40601. Applications must be postmarked by December have its preseason favorites (both boys and girls), but I am sure there will be some surprises along the way.

The Kentucky Department of Education does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age or disability in employment or the provision of services.

Women's basketball has come a long, long ways since it was first implemented under Title IX back in the mid-'70s. The college game and formation of a professional league has helped in enhancing the girls game on the high school level.

It has been the Pike County schools that have dominated the regional tournament over the past five years, but that has a good chance of changing this sea-

Once a powerhouse in the early '90s, the Sheldon Clark Lady Cardinals (57th District) has to be considered the region favorite heading into the new millennium. Coach Robin Harmon Newsome leads a veteran and experienced team that has excellent chemistry on the court. Three players are considered Division I Belfry and Pike Central have been the queens of the hardwood over the past coached by Cindy Halbert, is an excellent program that continues to turn out one competitive team after another.

Last year the Lady Pirates upended the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats in the championship game and advanced on to the Sweet Sixteen. Again, this year, the Lady Pirates will have to be considered a regional contender.

But they will have to play this year without three of the leaders on last year's championship team. The big loss was the transfer of Ramanda Music to Prestonsburg, and that makes the Lady Blackcats a top contender as Pike Central still has Ashley Melvin and the Lady Hawks, who were champions two years ago, will still be a tough opponent for any team in the region.

Coach Phillip Wireman has a very good basketball team at Johnson Central. The Lady Eagles are set to fly and they are a junior oriented team. Watch out for the "wings of the Eagles."

If you want a team that can compete with the likes of a Sheldon Clark, then pencil in the Shelby Valley Lady Wildcats and alleverything Summer Jones. But Ashley Damron in the middle, makes the LadyCats a solid basketball team. Also they have an outstanding coach in Bobby Spears.

The surprise team of the new millennium? Try on the Betsy Layne Lady Cats. Coach Cassandra Akers has a very talented basketball team and they are ready to return to some of the notoriety they experienced in '93-94 when they won the regional championship.

Dark horses? Sure there are going to be some. Allen Central is just a point guard away from being a contender. Pikeville or a Paintsville could have something to say about how things work out.

The boys basketball picture is not as balanced as the girl teams. Three, maybe four, sit atop the rankings leaving a lot of parity among the remaining 12 schools.

On paper, the Johnson Central Eagles have to draw the top spot with all the experienced coming back on team that upended Paintsville in the district tournament last year.

Coach Johnny Turner's Eagles are deep and they can play the game of basketball. I like the chemistry and the smartness on the court the Eagles

But that doesn't mean you rule out coach Bill Mike Runyon and the Paintsville Tigers. They return virtually everyone from last year's team and the Tigers will be growling when they face district foe Johnson Central this year.

Pikeville took home all the marbles last year defeating Pike County Central in the championship game to advance on to Rupp Arena where they made a good showing. But can the Panthers overcome the loss of point guard and floor general John Mims?

Johnson Paintsville, and Pikeville deserve the top three billing.

But a "new kid on the block" has emerged this year that could challenge them all. Coach Henry Webb and the South Floyd Raiders are experienced, talented, big, fast, can score and play defense. They have all the ingredients to be an excellent basketball team and capture their first-ever regional title.

After the top four you could put them in a hat and draw from five on down.

"This year we will be a little bit more team oriented. We do return some veterans and they will get most of the opportunties out there."

Moore said some of his players put forth the extra effort this past summer.

'They worked hard to make themselves better basketball players," said the Allen Central coach.

How much Jessica Martin gets to play is unknown until the season begins.

In the summer Martin was treated for a heart ailment but with medication she should be able to play, according to Moore.

"We are hoping that Jessica will be 100 percent when the season starts," he said. "We depend on Jessica. She is our leading rebounder. Her scoring needs to come way up but I'm confident that she is going to bring it

Martin started to find her shot outside last year and she herself wants to be more aggressive on offense from the three-point line.

"I want to be able to step outside the arc and shoot the threes," she said. "I like to shoot outside.'

ask her to do so.' Allen Central lost their three-point threat in Jennifer Hopkins, but expects Risner to fill that void.

Senior Natalie Cooley has been a steady ball player all through high school but also has been prone to injuries as well. Coach Moore said he expects a lot of his forward.

"She is a veteran ball player," he said. "I do expect a lot from her this year. She is a really good shooter and hopefully we can find some shots for her. She is going have to help carry the load."

Another senior, Shanna Howell came on strong toward last season with her scoring and got the starting nod at the two-guard and small forward.

Shannon Sizemore, a sophomore, is another one who showed a lot of promise last year. Moore said much will be expected from her this season.

"I am expecting a big year out of Shannon," he said. "Probably one of the most athletic girls we have on the team. She has a lot of talent, we just need to get it out of her.'

Coach Johnny Martin has the Runnin' Rebels off and running again this year. Coach Rodney Rowe returns to Shelby Valley and the Wildcats could compete.

Watch out for the Belfry Pirates and big man Jonathan Wright. They would like to return to their glory days. It is hard to imagine a Belfry team being coached by anyone other Coach Raymond than Justice.

Pike Central returns three starters that led them to last year's finals. The Hawks will have a good shooting team arrive this year as well as playing defense.

Coach Brent Rose and the Betsy Layne Bobcats could cause some noise in the region. Coach Rose has a veteran team returning, although himself may be who plays hard-nose basketball and never complains," said the Allen Central coach. "She smiles all the time and works hard. Barb had some good games for us last year. We need a more consistent performance out of her this year."

Kari Osborne is expected to supply the needed help off the Allen Central bench, which should go deep this year.

"Kari is a good steady player," Moore said. "You can't but like her. She comes out every day and works hard. Even when you have to get onto her, she just looks at you with that big grin and just goes right on and works really hard."

Tonya Howard is the Lady Rebels "diamond in the rough" but is expected to come in and contribute.

"She is a big strong player," Moore said. "We're trying to work with her and she has come a long ways in two years for us. I expect her to

Jackie Brown had a reputation out of grade school at Martin as a shooter and, according to Moore, has been working hard this sum-

Freshman Jackie Martin comes to the Lady Rebels but her reputation as a rebounder in middle school preceded her.

"She is an outstanding freshman prospect," said Coach Moore. "She comes out every day and beats, bangs and works hard. She is a good physical presence on the floor."

One of the most improved players on the Allen Central team is Tiffany Turner.

"Last year she didn't play hardly any at all," said

Moore. She will start on the JV team and see some minutes on the varsity. She is quick and hustles."

If you like a player who has stamia, then Jenni Jo Spurlock is that caliber of player.

"A great athlete. A great athlete," said Moore. "She can run all day.

She is a strong kid who just needs to develop her basketball skills a little more and be more agressive out on the court."

Returning to the Allen Central team after sitting out last year is Leslie Martin.

"She didn't want to play last year," Moore explained, "but we are hoping she will be a defensive asset for us. She is a quick player."

Playing her first season as a junior is Misty Halbert.

"We are going to try and get some minutes for Misty and maybe she will help us next year," said Moore.

Transferring in from Prestonsburg is freshman

Erin Majakey, who Coach Moore said is a real find.

"A good steady player who seems to fit right in," Moore said. "She has adjusted to the other girls and she is learning our program. It is going to take her a little while to adjust to that."

Inspiration? Try Deana

Mullins who is a blessing in disguise and works very hard.

"She is a sparkplug on this team," said Moore. "She keeps the team going. She helps me keep things in line. Has a good basketball head and helps keep things organized." (Continued from page three)

Miranda Holthouse joins the Lady Rebels this year.

"She has good size and is going to be a project for us," said the Allen Central coach. "She will help down the road."

Assisting Moore this year will be Jalenda Howard and Wesley Case. "I can't say enough about Jalenda," Moore said. "Last year she worked with us. She will be a little bit more involved. She has a little more control over the JV team. She has a great knowledge of the game. She comes out here and works hard. Wes, he will be on the sidelines also."

Coach Moore said he is hopeful that his team can compete in the 58th District this season.

"Our district is going to be tough," he said. "But I rather have it that way. You play all your season games to get to the district tournament anyway."

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

It is here and the question is, are you ready?

Robbie Stevens

The high school basketball scene unfolded Monday night, November 28, and it will conclude with the state tournament at mid March.

So, for basketball fans, the season is here and look out, it could very well be an entirely different year for the 1999-2000 season.

58th District basketball has always been exciting and this season promises a lot of surprises. One of those, as well as one of the questions, is how will the Allen Central Rebels fair. If you ask Rebel coach Johnny Martin, he will admit to you that even he is in the dark how to how his team will perform.

"We're going to be a mystery team," he said. "Even I don't know how they are going to play. I can't wait to see them play."

The Rebels were winners of 26 games last year, conference champions as well as District champions. But the Rebels were a surprise team last year and not expected to go very far.

But, again, they surprised a lot of critics.

Coach Martin said if this year's team jells and some expectant players play up to their capability, they will surprise some more teams.

"If the players who have the potential to be good players, develop into good players, then we could be a pretty good team," said the veteran coach. "But people have to realize we have only one starter back from last year."

That lone starter will be junior Larry Mullins who is expected to lead a group of untested Rebels.

"I realize there will be a big load on my shoulders," said Mullins. "I also realize that I will have to pick up my game some.'

(See Rebels, page five)

Mullins will be joined by Josh Howell, Jeremy Sexton, Leslie Slone and probably Z.W. Chaffins as a starting unit. But Coach Martin said there are a combination of starting line-ups he could put on the floor, depending on the type of game he needs to

"We are going to be a small team this year," he confessed. "Maybe even smaller than last year."

The Rebels used hard-nose defense and some outside shooting in the successful campaign they enjoyed last year. But Martin warned this team will have to hit the boards.

'If anyone would have told me we could win 26 games and have our leading rebounder get only five a game, I thought they were crazy. But we had four different players average five rebounds a game and that a total of 20 per game.

"We can run in different line-ups. We have to if we are going to press. And we have to press to score."

Returning for the Rebels will be Mullins who was an All-Conference, All-District performer last year. Mullins averaged just over 11 points per game last season and was a surprising strong rebounder for the Rebels despite his stature. same on the basketball

"Larry is just a natural leader on the floor," said Coach Martin. "It doesn't matter what he does, he has to be in the forefront. He is like that in the classroom. He is a leader in the classroom and there is nothing wrong with that. He is the

At the two-guard will be Leslie Slone, who saw little time off the bench last season but is expected to make a difference this year.

Leslie can shoot the ball from anywhere on the court," said the Allen Central coach. "He is another one that didn't get to play much last year but we expect him to contribute this season.'

Slone is quick and plays a strong floor game. His ability to hit the three's can destroy a defense.

Josh Howell will be at the small forward slot. Howell was a starter last year early in the season and then was relegated to the

"He got to see some playing early last year but never played much after that," said Coach Martin.

It is not that Howell can't play, he can, but cracking the lineup last year was hard for many of the returning Rebel players.

Jeremy Sexton will be at the power forward position, but again, he lacks experience although he has the ability to hit from the outside.

"Jeremy just needs a lot of playing in games," said Coach Martin. "If he will just do what he is capable of doing, and he is capable of doing a lot, he will be a good one."

Coach Martin said this year's team should be a better shooting team from the outside than last year's.

"They do in practice anyway," he said. "But you never know how they are going to do in a game. None of them have proven they can hit in a game."

Jeremy Hayes will get a start in the middle but this year's team could be like last year's in they had no true pivot player.

"We ran a doughnut in the middle last year," said Coach Martin. "But this year we may be able to post up underneath."

Hobbling is sophomore Shawn Newsome, who was expected to supply the firepower from the three-point arch. Newsome was injured in football and required surgery to his knee. He is expected to miss most of the regular season, but he is optimistic about an early return.

"I think I will be back earlier than they say," he said. "I plan to be back by January."

Coach Martin would welcome an early return of Newsome but he is a bit more cautious about his

"It could be mid January or later," he said. "But who knows? We are hoping he can come back in January. Some people can play with pain. Some heal quicker than others. We are hoping we get him back in January."

Travis Francis will be one player quick off the bench for the Rebels.

"Travis has grown a lot since last year," said the Allen Central mentor. "But he still has a lot to learn."

Coach Martin does not plan to depart from his "run-and-gun" offense and will depend a lot on the pressure defense, a trademark of earlier teams.

"This will be a team that can run the floor and press full court," he said. "I think this year's team is more athletic than last year's. They are quicker and have better foot speed. The fact that we can run different line-ups in different games is a plus for us."

But the Allen Central coach said that coming out early in the season and "getting after it" may not be a reality early in the sea-

"We have Z.W. (Chaffins) hurt and Shawn is out," he stated. "We may not be able to do it early because it will take eight players to run the court and press. Last year, I had lost confidence in some players. They lost confidence in themselves and that caused me to lose confidence in them. But I intend to play eight or nine players. I have to,"

Allen Central's stingy defense caused the opposition all sorts of problems last year and Coach Martin is hoping for a repeat this year. Teams averaged close to 30 turnovers per game last year against the Rebels defense.

"Contrary to what folks thought, last year's team did not shoot the ball that well," he said. "Contrary to what you thought, they did not shoot the ball that well. But they scored because they caused so many turnovers per game."

While the other team was turning the ball over at such a rate, the Rebels were only averaging five per game.

"That was a difference of 25 shots. We didn't have to rebound then," he said. "But this year, if we don't get the same number of turnovers and don't rebound as well, when we do get the ball, we have to shoot better. I look for this team to be a better shooting team."

Allen Central shooting stats looked impressive because they scored off the turnovers.

Coach Martin agrees with most fans that, on paper, South Floyd looks to be the stronger team in the district this year.

"But they have to prove themselves," he said. "Just like us. We have to go out there and prove ourselves. You also have to be careful about "crying wolf" because they say it every year.

"But maybe Henry (Webb) has brought some stability to the program. They know he is going to be there. I'd say this is probably the hardest they have worked this past summer. They have a lot of height. That is what I like about their team, the height they have coming back.

"Prestonsburg. Well, I know Jackie Day (Crisp) and I saw what he did with the girls program there," said Coach Martin. "He did a good job with them. Brent (Rose) over at Betsy Layne, I don't know what they are going to do."

Allen Central has been one of the strong district teams since they became a school in the mid '70s. When you think of a Johnny Martin coached team, you never, never count them out.

Mystery? Maybe for now, but it won't take long for fans to solve this one as the Rebels will be for real and a strong regional contender.

"Shenna is a big force inside. She has the height, 5'9, and the strength to be tough inside. Hamilton will be in the guard position. Heather can get the ball down the floor and will average 6 or 7 assists a game. Heather and Shenna will be our leaders this year," Akers said.

Jenny Parsons, a junior, will be at the forward position this season. "Jenny was one of our leading rebounders last year. Jenny actually led in most statistics. She is a team leader. She will average over 10 rebounds and 15 points per game. She gives everything she has when she is on the floor," said the coach about Jenny.

It is back to basics for Betsy Layne

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Betsy The Lavne Bobcats will have a new look this year and you could credit to the fact they will have a new coach when the 1999-2000 basketball season tips off on November 30.

Coach Brent Rose will take the helm of the Bobcat program, one that used to be the premier team in the 15th Region. Last year Betsy Layne finished a dismal 7-19 as they never could overcome adversity through the sea-

But this year promises to be a "fun season" for the Bobcats and they are ready to meet all the challenges that are sure to come in the next three months.

Coach Rose said it didn't take long to find that the returning players for Betsy Layne needed to be instructed in the fundamental basics of the game.

"If I were to pick a theme for this year's team it would be 'back to basics," said Rose. "We have learned a lot of basic stuff so far. When we came in we tried to see what they knew. They sort of told us they knew certain things only to find out they didn't.'

Coach Rose said he was set to eliminate the backbehind-the-back passing that highlighted the season last year at Betsy Layne.

"It's hard when you only win seven games and come out and throw behind-the-back-passes," said Rose. "We want to eliminate that from the

While it is serious business as the Bobcats ready themselves for the upcoming season, still Coach Rose wants his ballclub to have fun. In fact, the doors at practice time have been closed to outsiders.

"It is going to be a fun season for all of us. We're having fun already," said the first year coach. "The players are having fun. They like the way we are playing.'

Junior Adam Collins echoes the sentiments of his coach and made a confession.

"It is going to be a fun year for us," said Collins. "All the players are getting along. Last year we didn't get along. We have a good coach this year and we get along with him. It is going to be a fun year. I think we will have a good season."

Coach Rose said Collins will be a valuable player under the basket.

"He is going to be a big surprise to a lot of teams this year," he said. "He plays all out and is a strong kid. He jumps well and rebounds well.

"I told someone the other day if he was sixfour or six-five he would lead the state in rebounding the way he works inside to get rebounds. He has been a big help since he came out."

"We have more respect this year," said Collins. "We have been going hard in practice and we don't take any days off. We either go hard or we don't go at all."

Justin Bartley will run the team at point guard this season. He is a senior and has the leadership ability to become a floor general.

"He has started three years," said Rose. "We have worked on Justin's shot selection. He seems to be taking better shots. He is a good three point threat and from the 12 to 15-foot Bartley, when he has his mouth open, will drive the lanes and challenge the timber inside.

"Some times he challenges too much," said the Betsy Layne coach. "We are trying to get him to do the things he is capable of doing. Justin is a good leader on the floor."

Big man Bradley Brooks is just that — a big man. Back from the football season, Brooks looks as if he hasn't lost a beat from last season. A solid player inside and out, leadership will have to come from the senior. It will be imperative that he stay out of foul trouble.

"He comes and works hard as he can," said Rose. 'We figure he is going to get us nine to ten rebounds a game. What points he gets are always a bonus because he plays such hard defense. He sets good solid screens and is around the basket battling. He gives us something positive every game."

Brock Keathley will play the two guard and he is a strong athlete that has a solid outside shot.

"He is going to be the other guard for us," said Coach Rose. "He is probably the most athletic kid we have on the team. He is coming around right now."

Keathley was set back a few days in practice because of illnesses but has returned with a lot of promise

"Brock had a good summer for us. He jumps well and handles the ball well," said Coach Rose. "He plays good solid defense."

Rose said he looked forward to next year when Keathley and Daugherty form the guard tandem for the Bobcats.

'Those two players playing the guard slots, it will be hard to find anyone quicker than those two,' he said.

Daugherty has excellent quickness and, like Keathley, was set back because of sickness.

"He is probably the quickest kid on the team,' said Coach Rose. "He is super quick. He is coming around for us right now after being sick. He got behind in conditioning but is getting stronger. He will be our sixth man off the bench. He is working hard and catching on to things.'

Senior Scott Collins, who had a disappointing sophomore and junior season, says things will be different this season.

"We have a whole new Another sophomore is Amy Keathley. Amy doesn't have a lot of experience, but she will see a lot of playing time on the junior varsity. Another sophomore that will be able to help this year, will be Tabitha Mitchell. Tabitha also lacks experience and will see a lot of playing time on the junior varsity. But of these girls will be able to help out toward the end of the season and both will be a big contribution to the team," said Coach Akers.

This young team has three freshman and an eighth grader and a seventh grader. The three freshmen will dress on the varsity but will play mostly on the junior varsity. "Tiffany Meade, Charlie Mullins, and Natasha Stratton are all just freshmen, but with a little experience under their belts will contribute to the team come next year," added coach Akers.

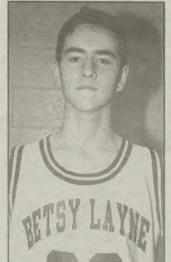

The Lady Bobcats have two players that will be around for a long time. These two girls are still playing at Betsy Layne Whitney Elementary. Lykens and Kim Clark. "Lykens is in the eighth grade and will more than likely start on the varsity. Whitney has the height and the ability to play the forward position. She will be a key player for the Bobcats. She can also play the guard position as well as score. She will see a lot of playing time on the varsity squad. Kim Clark is in the seventh grade and will dress on the varsity team. Kim will see a lot of time on the junior varsity squad, but will also help out on the varsity team," says the young players' coach.

attitude this year," said Collins. "We are working a lot harder in practice. We have a new attitude toward the coach. He has brought a lot of discipline to this team.'

As a freshman at Betsy Layne, Collins was pronounced a can't miss high school star. After faltering in his sophomore and junior season, Coach Rose has seen a new Scott Collins emerge this sea-

"The biggest thing about Scott is he gets down on himself when he is not shooting well," said Coach Rose. "But he is doing real well and playing harder defense than he has ever played. He is working hard and we expect good things from Scott.'

The bench should be long for the Bobcats this season. One off the bench and expected to contribute this season is David Johnson.

"David is a real good pure shooter," said Coach Rose. "He is a big kid and is playing pretty hard right now. We want him to get more aggressive and a little more stronger."

When you mention three-point shooting you have to utter the name of Robbie Johnson. He can light it up from the out-

"Robbie is a pure shooter," said the Betsy Layne mentor. "He is coming along real well. He is starting to get in condition after being sick.

Bartley's back up at point guard will be senior Robert Rose, a work-horse on the court.

"He will be our backup point guard. He seems to be handling the ball real well," said Rose. "With the way teams are pressing now we need all the guards we can get."

"Eric McKinney will play a lot of basketball for us off the bench," said Rose.

The new Betsy Layne

coach said this year's edition of Bobcat basketball will not be a half-court team but will run the ball.

"We are going to try and use our athletic ability, and get up and down the floor."

Coach Rose said he will be able to reach down the bench 10 deep.

"Once we settle on our rotation, I see us going that deep," he said. "I can see us playing a lot of players playing eight or nine minutes. We will be trying to put a lot of defensive pressure on the opposition. We want to tire the other team out.'

While Rose says there is no talk of last year on this team, the returning seniors want to prove they are capable of playing with anyone.

'Our seniors want to prove they are deserving all the notoriety they ship of last year's assistant

received last year when someone picked them fourth in the region," said Rose. "We are going to be a competitive team but it will take us into January before we are. There are some things we are not doing well right now and we need to work on."

Rose said no one should shed any tears for Allen Central because they lost so much from last year's district championship

"They are going to be a quick team," he said. "They're not going to be as tall, but they will be quick and that hard nose defense. They are going to be in your face all the time.'

Prestonsburg lost their first eight players from last year and will have a new

"They are rebuilding. They all their starters,' said Coach Rose. "Jackie Day (Crisp) is working hard right now. I see him about every day when I get home. Some are saying they are going to be weak but they are going to be pretty competitive by the end of the year."

The South Raiders carry the favorites role this year, and Rose says he agrees.

"They are definitely the favorite in the district this year," he said. "I have voted them as one of the top five teams in the region. They have four starters back and really a fifth in John Meade who played when Justin Paige was hurt last season."

A new attitude, a new coach all add up to having fun again! This could very well be a fun season for the Bobcats.

Everyone has high hopes for Lady Blackcats

by Karen Joseph

Prestonsburg Ladycats lost three very talented players last sea-They also lost a coach. But they have gained a new coach and several new players.

Brandi Wells

Coach Hamilton is pretty excited about his team. "This team really looks good on paper. We have some very talented young women on this team, but we still have a long way to People have high expectations of this team. But it is going to take time. We only have one senior and this team will really look to her for lead-look If you Prestonsburg you can find a whole lot of talent.

Brandi Wells in the only senior on the Lady Blackcats team and she will have to show leadership this year. "At times you can put Brandi in and she can pick up ten points for you very quickly.

Brandi just has to learn to stay calm and not get in foul trouble," says Coach Hamilton.

Prestonsburg has seven juniors on this team and each one has played ball and each will see playing time for the Blackcats. These are a very talented group of juniors. Take junior forward/center Amelia Conley. Conley has height and the strength to play inside. "Amelia is the best athlete on the team. She can and will do anything that you want her to," said coach Hamilton of Amelia.

At the forward position for the Blackcats will be Coleman. Brooke Coleman has been playing basketball since she was able to walk. Coleman is 5 ft. 8 in. and is very strong on the boards. Coach Hamilton says, "Brooke is a very solid basketball player. She uses her head and will give you all she has all the time."

Brooke and Amelia played together since attending grade school at Allen. They complement each other. They know what the other is thinking. With their height and strength they will be very hard to defend against inside the paint.

Angela Howell and Brittney Hites are two other fine guards. These two girls have played together since early grade school.. They know what the other will do. Both will see a lot of playing time for the Blackcats. Their coach had this to say about Howell and Hites, "Howell is a solid ball handler and Hites is a streak shooter. When Hites gets hot, there is no stopping her. Both of these young ladies will see a lot of playing time for ward position. She is 5 ft. 6 in. and goes to the board hard. "For her size Stephanie is the best rebounder on the team. She is small but she gets things done," commented her coach.

Lauren Majakey and Crissy Nelson are the two other juniors on the team. They both play the guard position. "Nelson and Majakey both play hard ball on the floor. They give you everything when they are on the floor. They will both contribute to the team before the year is out," added Coach Hamilton.

Coach Hamilton has six sophomores on his team. "Ramanda Music is back with the Blackcats this year and this is a big addition to the team. I just hope that people don't expect too much from Ramanda," says Coach Music is 6 Hamilton. foot and plays the center for the Blackcats. Coach Hamilton thinks, "Megan is a fine guard. She is only a sophomore, but she plays like a senior. Hyden makes very few mistakes. She really uses her head when on the floor."

Ashley Ousley is another strong player for the Blackcats. "Ashley is a fine young player. She goes to the boards strong and can also shoot the ball well. She will see a lot of playing time this year," added Hamilton.

The three remaining sophomores on the team are Rachel Mitchell, Cheresh Shepherd and Victoria Bowling. These girls will see a lot of playing time on the junior varsity but will also contribute to the varsity team. "Rachel Mitchell is a streak shooter. If she gets hot she will burn the opponent up. She can hit two or three three-pointers in a heartbeat and give you team a needed lift.

Victoria Bowling

Cheresh is a very strong defense player. She is in the opponent's face all the time. Victoria Bowling has the height and has really improved from last year. Victoria can go to the boards," said Coach Hamilton of these three sophomores.

The other two players on the team are Amanda

Stephens and Heather White. Amanda is a freshman and Heather is only an eighth grader. "Amanda plays the guard position and will see a lot of playing time on the junior varsity. She is going to be a very good guard. Heather plays grade school ball at Adams Middle School and will

Inexperienced Prestonsburg will look for right chemistry in '99

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats basketball team will return six seniors when the ball goes up in the air to tip off the 1999-2000

That is a lot of experience, right?

Not if you remember last season when the junior class watched as last year's seniors performed on the court.

"That wasn't the kids fault," said new head coach Jackie Day Crisp. "It really wasn't anyone's fault. The kids that played in front of them could have started for anyone in the region."

So that makes returning inexperienced this basketball

Crisp took over the program from former coach Jackie Pack. It was the immediate success that Coach Crisp obtained by turning the Prestonsburg girls program into a regional contender. In fact, he guided the Lady Blackcats to the 15th Region final game before losing to Belfry.

But that was last year and this is this year and no one will argue the fact that Coach Crisp has his work cut out as he enters the new season in a rebuilding year.

Coach Crisp will look to the underclassmen this season in hopes of molding his team into a competitive unit by district tournament time.

Coach Crisp said to pinpoint any team strength this team has is going to be tough.

"We have three kids inside who measure at 6-2, 6-3 and 6-4 and could probably match up with everyone in the district but not everone in the region," said Crisp. "In our two panoramas we looked > good against Phelps and not so against Tolsia Tolsia is an experienced team and our inexperienced really showed through over there."

Crisp Blackcat fans will have to show patience this basketball season. "It is going to be a process where it is going to take us a while," he said. "It is going to be up in the middle of January or late January before we really get to know each ty. They have two very good guards and it will be hard to press them. But, don't count Allen Central out, they have a very strong inside game."

The Blackcats are ready to start the season. They have practiced and played in several panorama and are ready to get down to business. Senior Brandi Wells thinks they will have a very good coach this year. "We have a very good coach. He don't have his favorites. He plays who he thinks can do the best job for the team. I am really excited about this team.'

Brooke Coleman is also excited about Blackcats. "We have Ramanda back this year and that is really going to help us. We have worked hard all summer and I think we are going to make it to state this year. We lost to Belfry in the finals of the Regional last year, but I think this year is going to be different." Coleman doesn't agree with Coach Hamilton on the strongest team in district. "I think that Allen Central will be our toughest competition this year in the district. They didn't lose much last year and (Continued from page ten) they are going to be tough this year," says Coleman.

Ashley Ousley thinks the Blackcats are going to be tough as well. "We did pretty well at camp this summer even though we didn't have all of our players there. Some of the players were at the state softball tournament. So I think we will be tough this Prestonsburg finished second in the season and probably the favorite in Floyd County and if the players have any say so about it, they will not stop Tournament.

a year or two.

"In game situations we need to know what each one wants to do," said Crisp. "We are going to be patient with them. I told them the other day I didn't know what to expect against an experienced team. I told them that will come and it will."

One returning senior who saw playing time last year was Seth Crisp.

"Seth will be our twoguard this year," said Crisp. "He is quick and handles the ball well. His shooting is not the best in the world but he is a good defensive player. He will draw the tough defensive assignment we have."

Running the ballclub at the point will be Ricky Powers. He will be asked to play at a position he is not accustomed to.

"Ricky has seen more time at the two-guard than at the point," said Coach Crisp. "But knowing that Seth is a senior, I would like to develop Ricky as my point guard for next vear.

Senior John Dixon will also see some playing time at the point.

Matt Tackett

"John has played a lot of point guard in he past," explained Coach Crisp. "He is going to see a lot of time at the point."

Matt Tackett has not played any organized ball for the past two years and returns this year to give the Blackcats some size in the middle.

"He sees the floor real well and will play the three position for us," said Coach Crisp. "He sees the floor better than any player we have. In our two panoramas, he had more assists than anyone on the team. He just needs to build his confidence. He is unsure of himself right now.

Every team needs a goto player and Coach Crisp is hoping that Dustin Music is that person.

"He may have to be the one who takes charge on floor." the the Prestonsburg coach said. "He has come out of the gates strong in the two panorama's. He may be the player we have to go to. He doesn't care to take the three-point shot. He is tough inside also. He ball fakes real well and handles the ball well. We are looking for some good things out of him.

In the five position will be Brandon Branham who, as a sophomore, saw some playing time last year.

"He is going to be a good player for 'us," he said. "He is just lacking experience and confidence. He has a real good touch. We may be looking to playing him at the wrong spot. We had been playing at the five but he doesn't look too good with his back to the basket. We want to give him some looks facing up to the bas-

Kyle Shepherd will lead the way off the Blackcat bench but he hasn't played since his freshman season.

"He runs the floor well. He can jump higher than anyone we have on the team," said Crisp. "He has a nice shot but it is just inexperience and playing time that is holding him back right now. He continues to get better every day. I am hoping that by late January, Kyle will be part of the mix.'

Piarist Knights still needing maturity

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

When you take in a basketball game pitting the Piarist School Knights against an opponent you may not see a victory for the Knights but you will take notice that they play extremely hard.

But for coach Darnella Bradley, she wouldn't have it any other way. Bradley could very well be part of the Kentucky basketball history as being the first and only woman to coach a boys high school basketball team.

"I feel pretty honored with the thought," she said. "I really don't know of any other woman who is coaching a boys team."

The Knights basketball history is not that old and is still in the infant stages but the program is growing and still trying to earn respect from the more established teams. In the three year history, Piarist has only recorded two wins and that came in their initial season. But Bradley said she is proud of her team.

Bradley said she has installed four new offenses as well as defenses to help keep the opposition confused. Bradley is realistic and knows it is going to be another tough season.

"It is going to be a hard season again this year," she said. "But we are more positive and optimistic this year."

As well as competing in the 58th District, Piarist will also compete in the 3 Rivers Conference.

"Our goal is to be more competitive this year," said Bradley. "Last year we finished 0-26 but we hope that all changes this season. It seems the third quarters and our inability to convert from the free throw line has killed us."

"He is our captain. He is our go-to man and leader on the floor," said Coach Bradley. "He has been our MVP the last two seasons. George really wants to play the game. He plays his heart out every night out. He is an excellent offensive player. It is no secret he is most of our offense."

Hall has the ability to hit the treys, pull up for the short jumper or just drive the lanes. He hits a high percentage from the charity stripe.

"I think he can play at the JUCO level," said Bradley. "He can play for a small junior college."

Matt Goeing has a nice touch from the outside and can hit the treys as well. He plays the point guard slot for the Knights.

"Matt is a good shooting guard even though he plays the point," said Bradley. "He has a beautiful shot from the outside. We just need to get

River Conference and we can compete. We have such a small school here, 46 students, that it is hard to have a athletic department, but we do now and the kids have a good time. And that is the

in the coming years that the program will grow and we conference, but until then playing and having a good time," added Coach Bradley

"We are just hoping that main thing," says Bradley.

Matt the open looks at the basket. He has been hustling and playing hard. One thing I am proud of this team is they are looking for their teammates and the open man. Our turnovers are going way down, meaning we are taking care of the basketball better."

The leading rebounder for the Knights is Brent Hall who has the knack of knowing just where the ball is coming off the rim.

"Brent will play the middle for us," said Bradley. "We are trying to teach him to be more aggressive under the goal. He just needs to be motivated and get a little angry so he will get out there and play harder."

Jason Griffith will be entering his first season with the Knights but has shown he can play the game.

"This is his first year of playing organized basketball," said Coach Bradley. "He has improved so much from the start of the season. He does not have that much athletic ability but he makes up for that in dedication. He works hard as he can in practices."

Robert Hall, brother to George Hall, will fill in at either a guard or small forward slot.

*Robert has the potential to be a really good player," said the Knights coach. "Robert is good enough he could have played at one of the district schools."

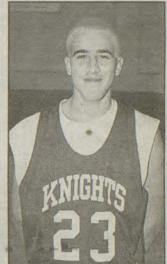

Point guard is an important position on any basketball team and the Knights have placed that responsibility in the hands of Shawn Rose.

"He is our main point guard and ball handler," said Bradley. "He is doing better this year in keeping his turnovers down. He is an excellent defensive player.

Like Prestonsburg, South Floyd made a coaching change this year in the girls basketball program. Paul Cline will be in charge of the Lady Raiders this year. The Lady Raiders lost four starters last year and this will be a rebuilding year for them, but Coach Cline thinks they will be ready come March.

"This a very young team, some of these girls are very inexperienced. I have a lot of skills on my team and my challenge is to pull those skills out of the young women. I only have one starter back from last year. Lindsey Hall is the only starter that I have that played last year. So this will be a rebuilding season for our team, but don't overlook these girls," said the Lady Raiders coach.

Lindsey Hall is the only returning starter. "Lindsey Hall is very determined this year. She will show a lot of leadership. Lindsey has a lot of drive and is going to be attacking. Her only problem will be keeping her confidence up. She gets down on herself rather quickly," says coach Cline.

Even though the Raiders have only one starter returning, they have three other seniors that will help carry the load. Sonya Tackett will be starting at the forward position for the Lady Raiders. "Sonya Tackett has more heart than anyone on the team. Sonya has had a lot of health problems. She has asthma and has been wearing a heart monitor, but there is no quitting for Sonya. Her desire will help us out a lot. She also has speed and some good moves. She has some quickness up the middle," says coach Cline of his senior player.

Another senior that the Raiders have is Martha Crawford. "Martha is another senior that will contribute to the team. She is a senior and will have to show leadership. She has height to play the forward or center position. Martha is a good rebounder plus she can hit from outside the circle.

She will also give you several assists in a game. Monica McKinney is another senior on the team. Monica has not seen a lot of playing time in the past, but I hope that will change this year," added coach Cline.

The Lady Raiders have three juniors on the team. Minnie Tackett, Monica Newsome and Stacia Stanley. All three played on the varsity team last year, but saw limited playing time. That will be different this year. "This is a very young team, but I

Knights

He loves to play defense. I think he would rather play defense than on offense."

Brian Yates saw limited playing time last year, but this year he will have to gain some confidence because he will be needed.

"His playing time last year was very limited," said Coach Bradley. "But this year he has gotten a lot of playing time. He has a nice outside shot. It is just a matter of building his confidence. He just lacks the experience. Brian needs to go out and look for his shot."

Adding height to the Knights game will be freshman Evan Mulliken, who also has never played any organized basketball.

"He is a very enthusiastic person," said the Knights coach. "He loves to go out on the floor. I look for very good things from Evan."

Coach Bradley also coaches the girls basketball team at the Martin based school. Finding time to do both is not as difficult as it may seem.

"There is not problem because both teams run the same offenses and defenses," she said. "Both teams have the same core offenses."

Bradley feels this year could be the season when "we make some people look at us."

"Other teams have seen and commented how much we have improved," said Bradley. "Everyone wants to win but I just want to see these kids get out there and do the best they can.

"I believe in moral victories. It is gratifying to see these kids go out and play hard and see they have made themselves better. I want to see a boost in their confidence that they actually played better. I still have them set their own goals."

While Bradley wants to see her team be successful, she also believes in being realistic

"We have to be realistic. We are not going to be a regional powerhouse," she said. "We are not going to be competing for a state title or anything like that. I just want them to go out and play the best they can."

Bradley remains optimistic about the future of the program at the Piarist School.

"I am always optimistic," she said. "I am always looking to the future. We have some very talented sophomores. They go out and play hard and that is all I can ask of them."

Can the Knights compete next year?

"I am confident they will because they have shown so much improvement this year," said Bradley.

on the bench. I have several young players, but they are talented players. Minnie Tackett is an excellent player. She has the speed and the ability to control the ball. Minnie can help from the outside by hitting the basket and she is also a good ball handler. Monica Newsome has had some knee problems this year, as well as several other players. If Monica can stay healthy she will really help this team.

"Stacia Stanley has seen very little playing time in the past. Stacia has a lot of potential. Stacia sees a lot of playing time on the junior varsity but toward the end of the season I think she will contribute to the varsity team," says Coach Cline.

Mr. Cline has four sophomores on his team. Four very good sophomores. Tessica Page will be at the guard position when Minnie needs a rest and she will be a big factor this year for this team. Sara Johnson is also just a sophomore, but she plays like she is older than that. Sara helps on the boards. She has speed to beat the press and can handle the ball and get it down the floor. Kandice Mitchell starts in the center position. She too is just a sophomore. Kandice has height and once I can get her to open up and feel comfortable instead of being afraid of making mistakes she will contribute a lot to this team.

"The other sophomore is Tabitha Berger. Tabitha is going to be a dandy. She has speed and court awareness. She has the height and will see a lot of playing time at the forward position," said the Raiders coach.

The two remaining players on the team are Stephanie Skeans and Valerie King. "Stephanie Skeans will contribute a great deal to the team this year. She is a great rebounder and blocks out well. She gives it her all and hustles all the time. Valerie King is a transfer student to our school and is an excellent ball player," added Coach Cline.

This makes the third coaching change for the seniors on this team and this is hard on a team. About the time you get used to one coach they bring someone else in. Coach Cline hopes he will be around for a long time. "When I came into this program I tried to follow Coach Patton's pattern so the girls would be a little familiar with it. I think the girls have adjusted fine. We are a TEAM. If I have a problem I take it to them, if they have a problem they bring it to me and this really helps the team concept," said the new coach. "We have a lot of speed and desire and I think we will be OK."

Cline think that Betsy Layne will be the team to look out for in the district and he thinks Shelby Valley will be one in the region. "It's early in season and things can change, so it is hard to say right now," says coach.

The Raiders have a tough schedule to start off. They played the Panthers in the season opener and then participated in the Lady Hawks Invitational Tournament at Pike Central on November 30.

South Floyd is a young team, but they have talent and skills and will mature as a ball team as the season progresses. Look out for them come March.

Raiders confident as '99 season gets underway

Webb wants to build off 13-11 finish in '98

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The 1998-99 basketball season was good for the South Floyd Raiders and only better things are expected this year from coach Henry Webb's squad as they set open the season against the Piarist School, an early district game.

In Floyd County basketball, no one returns the talent and experience South

Floyd will dress this season and that is why the Raiders are nearly everyone's choice to win their first-ever district championship.

But all that is on paper. Coach Webb knows all the preseason hype is for the fans and not necessarily for him nor his players.

"It's good for the fans to see their team ranked high in the district and region," said Coach Webb. "But you still have to go out on the floor every time out and prove you are the best."

South Floyd finished last year with a 13-11 record, the first winning season in the school's basketball history. Coach Webb said he hopes to take that positive and build off it.

"We stayed pretty busy over the past summer," he said. "We got some nice wins over the summer. I think the win against (Louisville) Fairdale helped our confidence more than any win we have had in this program."

Webb said with the win the "kids are starting to believe in themselves."

"What we try to do is put them in a competitive situation and let them see what they are capable of and they know the caliber of teams they are capable of beating," Webb said. "We will try and build on their work ethic. Build on what we had last season, a winning one, and getting our kids focused on what they can do when they play together."

Webb said the Raiders work ethic was good and the attitude of the team is very positive.

"You couldn't ask for a better group of players," he said. "They have a very positive attitude. If there was one thing I could point to that we are doing exceptionally well, it is that we are playing hard.

That is all we ask of our players, work hard, give a 110 percent and good things will happen."

South Floyd will be a senior led team this season and the floor general will be Ryan Shannon who will switch between the point guard and two-guard positions.

"Ryan has a lot of experience on the court," said Webb. "He has been playing varsity since he was a freshman. He is a lot stronger and a lot quicker than he was last year. He is playing more under control. We look for big things from Ryan this year. He is a leader on the floor."

Big, big, and big describes the inside presence of the Raiders this season. Jimmy Stumbo will measure at 6'5" and has dropped some pounds since last season making him more mobile around the basket.

"Jimmy is one of the most improved players we have," said Coach Webb. "He had a real nice summer for us. He is an excellent outside shooter and he can step out and hit the three."

Stumbo, while dropping the weight, has gotten stronger over the summer and become more physical.

"He has shown a lot more confidence and I look for Jimmy to have a good year for us," said Coach Webb.

Add Byron Hall (6'3") under the basket with Stumbo and you can see why the Raiders outrebound their opponents. But Hall is small in comparison to other teams but he is "a workhorse" on the boards, according to Webb.

"He is solid. A very, very good rebounder," said Webb. "We expect 10 to 12 rebounds a game from him. Hopefully he can be one of those threats inside when Stumbo is out of the game.

"We need for Byron to be more patient on offense. A lot of times he looks for the bump when he goes to the basket and shoots over the backboard. He is playing hard and we think he is doing an excellent job."

Kyle Tackett (6'1) should have his basketball legs by the time basketball season tips off. Coming out of football, Webb says he expects Tackett to be a big part of the offense this year.

"I look for Kyle to be more consistent for us this year," he said. "He plays hard and is very intense. He is a very strong kid and an excellent rebounder. Kyle is the type of player who is streaky with the ball.

"What we want from him is more consistency. Hopefully, when he gets used to the system we will get that consistency from him. He can average 15 points a game. He is an excellent three-point shooter."

Sophomore Dusty

Tackett will get a starting role this year and there is nothing but high praise of his ability to score.

"Rusty is an offensive threat any time he is on the floor," said the South Floyd coach. "He has a nose for the ball. He is the type of player who can score 10 points in the span of a minute."

Tackett, according to Webb, needs work on the defensive side of the ball. It has been a point of emphasis

Magoffin County preview: Respect

by Jason Blanton

One word that reflects what Danny Adams has earned with the time he has spent as head coach at Magoffin County High School.

Year-after-year, Magoffin County faces trying to replace most of its team from the prior season and yet find a way to be in the hunt come March.

Adams, who is closing in on career win 300, is the one coach around the 57th District and 15th Region that has the other coaches working hard because even the younger men won't outwork him, his staff, or his team.

The Hornets finished with an 11-11 record last year and lost in the opening round of the 15th Regional Tournament.

Five of the top eight players are gone from that squad, but Adams and staff are hard at work getting ready for another year.

"We were a competitive team last year. It's been difficult for us to get a group and have them two or three years," Adams said. "It seems like we have a big turnover (in players) each year."

"We, probably going back to the summer and the preseason, have worked harder (on the weights) and gained more strength-wise than any other year.

"We're not a big team physically, but we are a lot stronger and better jumpers."

With most of the Hornets not having a lot, if any, varsity playing time it has been a time to teach for the Magoffin County staff.

"We've had to break things down to square one. We've got so many kids that are inexperienced, they are trying hard, but a lot of things that they don't understand."

During the preseason, Magoffin County lost the most experienced player when Justin Williams was lost with a foot injury.

Williams missed a lot of games last year, but did come back for the tournaments and helped the Hornets "The biggest thing with Justin was that he was so versatile. He could play every position."

"With Justin's loss, it will limit us how we use our personnel until we get some experience."

Jason Back will be back at the point guard. Brandon Russell (6-0 guard) and Nick Arnett (6-0) round out the three Hornets with the most experience returning.

"We will be counting on those three for a lot of leadership, if they do that then they could make the rest of the team a lot better," Adams said.

"The kids are trying hard. You have to put kids in situations they don't understand before experience becomes a teacher and then they see things you trying to do. According to Adams, Ryan Montgomery, Scott McCarty, Robert Varney, Rocky Mullins, Joey Howard, and Matthew Whitaker will all be counted on as part of the main nine players to start the year

Adams also mentioned that Josh Minix, James Allen, Jonathan Wireman, Ryan Hensley, and Jamie Conley will push the other players and he needs to get this group some minutes

"We're hoping we can play 10 or 11 that way we can get some experience and improve during the season."

"We've got to try to develop depth not only for this year but next year as well," Adams said.

Magoffin County faces its usual tough schedule, something that Adams knows will

for the coaching staff.

"He is really getting down this year and playing defense," Coach Webb stated. "We are expecting a lot of minutes from him. I look for his to get us 15 to 20 points a game this year."

When you talk of defense, Coach Webb does not hesitate in mentioning the name of junior John Meade.

"By far our best defensive player," he said. "He plays extremely hard and takes pride in playing defense. He is very strong and quick. John handles the ball well. He is an all around player and is going to see a lot of minutes for us."

Now a freshman, Michael Hall got his baptism on the varsity level last year as an eighth-grader.

"He averaged five points a game for us and two assists as an eighth-grader," said Coach Webb. "As the year went on he just got better and better. We look for big things out of him this season. Michael is extremely quick and very strong. He handled the ball well and shoots the ball well. He may even end up starting for us."

Another Tackett may have been overlooked last season, but he could prove to be the spark this team may need. Dusty Tackett has been labeled as perhaps the best shooter on the Raider team.

"He is one fo the purest shooters you will ever see," said Coach Webb. "He has been working hard on getting his shot off on the dribble. He has a nice stroke on the ball." Zach Layne measures 6'3 and will give some relief under the basket area. Coach Webb is hoping the senior will become more physical.

"Zack can come in and give us some minutes and contribute this year," said the Raider mentor. "He shoots the ball well from the outside. His biggest thing is getting more physical and we have been working on that."

Josh Newman (6'0") will give help in making the Raider bench longer.

"He is a quick player," said Webb of Newman. "He is going to fit right in with our system. "He can knock down the shot and handles the ball well. He gets up and down the floor good. He can come and give us some good minutes."

James Slone returns to the Raider camp this season and Coach Webb said he is another one who fits the Raider's scheme of things.

"He is quick and a very good outside shooter," said Webb. "He plays hard on defense and fits in with our system."

Newcomers to the Raiders squad are Anthony Hall and Joe Platkus, who played football for the Raiders. Hall stands at 6'5" and is considered to be a project this year.

"Both Anthony and Joe are new to us this year," said Webb. "We are going to play them on the JV team but, possibly, by the end of the year, if they work hard, they could contribute to the varsity."

Wes Hyden, a 6'4" junior, is just another in the long line of over-six-footers the Raiders have.

"He has improved some," said Webb. "He has a decent shot but needs to get stronger.

"We have a couple of freshmen who could make the varsity down the road," said Webb. "Tyler Hall has been out and hasn't practiced a day for being out with knee surgery. But he is an excellent shooter and we look for good things from Tyler this year."

Leon Brown is the other frosh who has outstanding athletic abilities.

Webb said he plans to exploit the long bench the Raiders will show this season.

"We are going to take advantage of that," he said. "We do have some depth this year and in close games we will play nine to ten players. We want to get it up and down the floor. We are going to press a lot this year. We want to wear the other team down. More kids can play that way. Our kids enjoy that style of ball."

One of the problems of the past for South Floyd has been the "fourth quarter drools."

"One of the biggest problems we have had is not so much fatigue, but getting over the mental hump. Last year we lost 11 games and nine of them were by seven points or less," said Webb. "So we were in most every game down the stretch. A key play here, a key play there and it could have been different. A lot of it just knowing how to win."

Webb is hoping the success of the past summer has helped the Raiders along with the experienced coming back to South Floyd.

"In the fourth quarter, instead of losing, I think we are going to put some teams away," said Webb.

"I can't say enough of the job coach Johnny Martin has done the last two or three years," said Webb. "Those kids play hard if not harder than any team I have seen."

Webb and new Betsy Layne coach Brent Rose were teammates at McDowell and Webb feels he will turn the Bobcat program around

"He and I are good friends. I think he will do a good job there. I think the kids will play hard for him. They have a lot of talent coming back. They will be right in the hunt."

Prestonsburg is in a rebuilding season, but Webb said look for the Blackcats to be competitive.

"They also have a new coach in Jackie Day Crisp and I know he will have them working very hard. They lost a lot from last year but in a district game anything can happen."

Webb said it was nice for his team to get some respect in the region with high ranking in the 15th Region, but...

"We have to go our and earn respect," he told his players. "When the horn blows you go out and play for four quarters and see what happens. We will have the opportunity to go out and prove ourselves."

15th Region Girls Basketball Preview

By Jason Blanton

Over the past four years, Pike County has been the home of the 15th Region girls' champion.

Belfry, under coach Cindy Stewart, has won three of the last four titles, including last year's win over Prestonsburg.

Valley, Shelby Prestonsburg and Pike Central, the 1998 winner, are among the teams that the area coaches have placed at the top of the list in the preseason.

Sheldon Clark has two starters back and a wealth of young talent. Johnson Central and Paintsville should have strong teams and, along with Magoffin County, will all hope to improve during the season and be ready come March.

SHELDON CLARK

Gone are five seniors from last year's squad, but Cardinal coach Lady Robin Harmon-Newsome's cupboard is never bare.

One of the best players in the area is Mandy Harmon.

Harmon, a 5-9 junior, is back to anchor the Lady Cardinals for another season. Harmon, who has already gotten the attention of several NCAA Division I schools, averaged 25 points last season, which was fifth best in the state.

She hit 52 percent from the field and 78 percent from the free throw line.

The other returning starter is Nikki Copeland. The 5-9 sophomore has been out due to illness since early October, but could be back prior to the

"I think we have some talent," Newsome said. "What we need is to get some game experience and with each game try to improve. The way our talent develops will mean whether we'll be a good team or a very good team.'

At the point will be junior Crystal Ray, freshmen Kelli Jo Moore (6-0), sophomore Lauren Burke (6-0) and freshmen Desiree Cassady (5-9) are all battling for a starting

"Last year's group, because they were mostly seniors, were as good as they would get at the start of the year, but this group needs to learn each other and get some playing time with each other and we should be okay," Newsome said.

Sheldon Clark will take on all the top teams in the region. Shelby Valley, Belfry and Prestonsburg will highlight the schedule along with the Berea Invitational (Dec. 17-21), its own tournament (Dec. 27-30) and the Northern Kentucky Classic (Jan. 5-7).

The veteran coach sees Shelby Valley and Prestonsburg as two of the top teams in the region while not counting out Belfry or Johnson Central.

"Our goals are the same year-after year," Newsome said. "We want to win 20 games, the conference, then go into the postseason and win the district and region."

"This group is like a puzzle. We need to find the right pieces that will fit and make us a team."

JOHNSON CENTRAL

coach Phillip Wireman, he Shelby expects to get a lot of Prestonsburg from the players playing time.

Wireman and his Lady Eagles finished last year 18-12 and lost in the semifinals of the 15th Regional tournament.

The coach has only three part-time starters back, but does have some experience players in the

"We like to play as many players as we can through the season," Wireman said. "We don't have a set lineup. It's who's graded out well and works the hardest that are in the lineup.'

That lineup will start the season with only 16 points returning.

Goldie Wells, Selena and Becky Williams McKenzie all started at times for Johnson Central a year ago.

Add to the mix freshmen Melissa Murphy, Brianne Daniels, Rhonda and Ashley Adams Wireman

"We need to be more aggressive on the defensive end," said Wireman.

"They've worked hard and they've showed nice team work."

"We had probably the best summer overall since we been here. We finished 13-3 at camps at Transy University Tennessee. The Tennessee camp was a great experience for the coaches and the players."

Johnson Central will take part in the Berea Invitational and host its own Lady Eagle Classic.

The regular season includes games with According to ninth-year Sheldon Clark, Belfry, and Valley, 15th region and Ashland, Boyd County, Russell, Morgan County in the 16th region.

"You can't get any better, if you don't play the good teams. Like all coaches, I could schedule 20 wins but then we wouldn't be ready come the postseason," Wireman said.

"Our district has three teams that should have a shot at a championship, as far as the region goes Shelby Valley Prestonsburg has to be a couple of the favorites. Pike Central and Belfry also will be in the hunt."

"I think we'll be okay, if we can get our young players some experience and become more consistent."

PAINTSVILLE

Paintsville has its fourth head coach in the last six years as Mark Baldwin takes over for David Rice.

Baldwin is no stranger to the school, he is a 1981 Paintsville graduate and served as an assistant to Tiger boys' coach Bill Mike Runyon for the past nine years, which includes 1996 State Championship.

"After learning from one the best coaches in the state, I thought it was time for me to take that next step," Baldwin said. "I have been really surprised in just how quick the girls have picked up our sys-

Paintsville will have three - Stacy Patrick, Kim Kretzer and Leann Curtis starters back from last year's team.

All three are seniors and all averaged over 10 points per game last season, Patrick (5-10) and Curtis (5-10) grabbed eight rebounds per game while Kretzer (5-9) averaged six per outing.

Misty Sophomores Heather Meek and Staniford will begin the year at the guard positions.

"The key to our season is how we handle the basketball. If we can get it down the floor then we could be one of the better teams, if not, then it could be a long season," Baldwin said.

Seniors Leanna Wright and Penny Curtis will give the Lady Tigers some depth coming off the bench.

Paintsville will play a very demanding schedule. The Lady Tigers will play in two tournaments. Paintsville will play in the Sheldon Clark Tournament (Dec. 20-23) and the Johnson Central Classic (Dec. 27-30).

Along with the regular season games with district rivals Johnson Central and Sheldon Clark, Paintsville will play Prestonsburg, Pike Central and Shelby Valley all some of the best in the region.

Baldwin's team will also take Morgan County, Greenup County, Ashland and Russell from the 16th

"We will have to be ready each game. With the teams we will play I think it will only make us a better club come March. The girls have worked really hard since I've got the job and I think they really want to build a winner."

MAGOFFIN COUNTY

For the first time in his tenure at the helm of the Lady Hornets, Neil West can really have a competitive practice.

"We're able to go fiveon-five," West said. "We have a total of 18 and that will mean more people to work with and more players to push the others.'

West will be able to have an eight to 10 player rotation and begin to play a better brand of basket-

For Magoffin County, sophomores Lovely and Kelli Montgomery will be at the guard spots. Seniors Nikki Love and Jessica Powers (5-10) will anchor the forwards while junior Cassie Howard (6-1) will be the center.

Erin Stephens, Desirae Prater, Layne Davidson, Amanda Shepherd and Jessica Auxier will provide Magoffin County some much need depth.

"What we've been doing for the first hour of practice is to work on fundamentals.

"We work on dribbling, passing and shooting every day. We know that if you can't do those things then you can't win," West said.

The Lady Hornets' goals are simple. Magoffin County would like to have its first .500 season, improve and take its chances come the postsea-

"We had a very good summer. We would like to win 12 or 14 games and with some hard work, we hope to do that."

The Osborne Eagles ran their record to a perfect 8-0 on the season with a 44-43 victory over Virgie.

Osborne was led in scoring by John Hall with 20 points. Chad Slone added 14 points and Charles Johnson tallied eight.

Prestonsburg records 15th win with 61-48 defeat

Damion Stepp and David Gearheart combined for 37 points in leading the Blackcats to a win over the Bobcats. Stepp finished with 20 while Gearheart had 17.

Three players placed in double figures for Betsy Layne. Keith Hamilton led the way for the Bobcats with 19 points, while Ryan Ortega tossed in 12 and teammate C. Hunt had 10.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (NOVEMBER 28, 1979)

Wheelwright The Trojans won the annual Jenny Wiley Invitational Tournament by defeating Virgie in the championship game 57-54.

All-tournament team for the county included (from Floyd County) David Pitts of Prestonsburg; Ronnie Akers, Darrell Newsome and Paul Layne of Betsy Layne; Fred Armstong of McDowell; and Henry Isaacs, Monroe Jones and Tony Hall of Wheelwright.

THIRTY YEARS AGO (NOVEMBER 27, 1969)

The Maytown Wildcats rolled for wins number four and five by defeating Wayland 85-57 and defeating Betsy Layne for the homecoming game, 104-75.

Pat Talent maintained his 38.5 season average scoring record with 38 points against the Wayland Wasps. Collins for Wayland hit for 25 points.

In the Betsy Layne Mike Bailey, game, Maytown's junior guard, had his best scoring game of the season. Bailey finished with 41. Rodney Hicks finished with 20. Pat Talent scored 22 points.

In his fifth year at the helm of Sheldon Clark High School. Ronnie Evans begins a major rebuilding task.

Last year a senior laden squad finished with a disappointing 6-18 record that was finished with an opening round 67-55 loss to Magoffin County in the 57th district tournament.

"We are very inexperienced," Evans said. "We have some players who saw some action, but not a lot."

According to Evans, the Cardinals have been working very hard in the preseason workouts.

"The players' attitude have been just great. This is the best preseason since I've been here," Evans said.

"We know that we have to improve with each and every game. We need that game experience and we know that we can't change that overnight."

Evans expects to start a freshman point guard this year. Shane Stafford (5-10) has worked hard and earned that starting spot.

Blankenship (6-1) and junior Chad Howell (6-1) will be at the wings while seniors Nick Marcum (6-3) and Eric McCoy (6-5) will play the Sophomores Brandon Parson (6-0) and Shawn Moore (6-3) are expected to be the first off the bench for the Cardinals.

"We are not going to be very big, but we will be quick. Even with all the young players, we still want to play an up-tempo game," Evans said.

The Sheldon Clark coach hopes that he can still play eight to 10 players.

"What has been just great is that this bunch is very coachable and the attitude has been the highlight."

Sheldon Clark will have to get some experience in a hurry because the Cardinals have a very tough schedule.

The Cards will square off against Ashland, Belfry and Johnson Central in the first two weeks of the season.

Sheldon Clark will also take part in the Bath County and Pike County Central tournaments and have a pair of games with Paintsville and Johnson Central.

"Our schedule is pretty solid," Evans said. "If we can get a couple of wins early it will only help keep up the kids' morale. We've been very honest with our kids and they know what we need to do to improve and make us a better team."

Evans sees the 57th district with two of the top teams in the region.

"Johnson Central and Paintsville are two of the favorites not only in the district but also the entire

"But teams can't forget about Danny Adams and Magoffin County, I think his team will be ready come postseason

"The region is balanced at the top with those two -Johnson Central Paintsville - plus Pikeville and Beflry."

A key game will come in Sheldon Clark's season opener (Nov. 30) as they host Prestonsburg.

"Not many times a season opener can be an important game, but this one will be. Our kids need to come out and have a very good contest against them because they are in the same boat as we are (rebuilding)."

"In our first scrimmage (against Betsy Layne), we looked very good at times but we showed our inexperience. We made the mistakes that young teams will make, we just hope that by the end of the season that we will be a better team and won't make those same errors."

JCHS Preview

By Jason Blanton

If it were up to his players then Johnson Central coach Johnny Ray Turner would spend 24hours a day in the gym. Sometimes the Golden Eagle boss has had to chase the players out of Golden Eagle Fieldhouse.

"When we practice late, it'll be 10 o'clock and the players would still be shooting and playing," Turner said. "This bunch just loves being in the gym and that's a great part about this team.'

Coming off its first 20win season in eight years and its first 57th district championship since 1988, Turner is excited about the upcoming season.

"Last season was a great year because I think we got over that hump of learning to win the close

"The kids worked very hard this summer and want to take it to the next step."

Last March, Turner and the Golden Eagles ended a 17-game losing streak to its neighbors an opening round district win on Paintsville's home

Johnson Central beat Prestonsburg in the first round of the 15ht Regional Tournament before falling in overtime to Pike County Central.

The Golden Eagles return three starters off the 20-9 squad.

Two Tommy McKenzie and Mitchell Coleman - drew praise from the region coaches as they were tabbed among the top 10 players in a preseason poll.

McKenzie, a 5-11 guard, is the catalyst for Johnson Central. He has drawn a lot of attention from state colleges.

"He seems to make everyone better," Turner said. "Tommy can do it all and worked hard to get better over the summer."

McKenzie averaged 16 points, six rebounds and assists last season.

Coleman, who had great leaping ability, hit for 15 points, eight rebounds and four assists a year ago.

Add to that 1-2 punch, Jimmy Burchett. Burchett, a 6-3 forward, shown great improvement late last year and even have played." turned in a 20-point effort against Pike County Central in the regional semifinal.

For the season, he hit for 11 points and grabbed six rebounds per outing.

One of the strengths of this year's Johnson Central team will be its Seniors Dustin Ellis (6-1), Brett Butcher (5-10), Heath Castle (6-0) and Adam O'Bryan (5-9) will give Turner an experience bench.

"That has to be one of our strong points," Turner said of his bench. "We have nine seniors and all

Johnson Central likes to get it up-and-down the floor and with the tempo of the games will call upon Turner to use all of his seniors.

"With the style (of game) we want to play, we'll need our eight or nine players to be ready.

"What has impressed me about this team that the players don't care who is on the floor as along as we win.

"This bunch really has a goal of trying to get to that next level (of playing in a state tournament). They like to spend time with each other on and off the floor. This is a very close group of young men.

Besides its Clarence Rice Tip-Off Classic, Johnson Central will have a chance to showcase its talent in two other tournaments.

The Golden Eagles will take part in the Invitational Ashland Tournament (Dec. 27-29) WYMT-TV and the Classic (Jan. 5-8).

"Those are two great tournaments. We feel very good that our program was asked to take part in those events.

"We will have to be ready every night and every game this season."

Other highlights of the Golden Eagle schedule will be meetings with Paintsville, Pikeville, Belfry, and Simon

"We feel that is it a very tough schedule.

What Turner's club has been working on in the preseason is its half-court

"That's what we have working Sometimes, we gamble too much and I think that is part of our up-tempo game. We look forward too much of getting the ball back so we can get it up the floor."

Pikeville Paintsville are among Turner's top 15th Region

"They both have a lot of talent coming back and both have been there before. I think that you can add South Floyd and Belfry into the mix because they both have talented players."

"We feel like we have a very solid team and with this group being unselfish as they are we could have a great season."

"I know at times, we could schedule four or five more wins per year. We feel that the kids have to understand to what level to climb to be able to compete.

"We like to challenge our kids with a tough schedule, it doesn't only challenge them but us as a staff. Most times playing a very tough regular season helps come postseason."

In his decade, Magoffin County has made two trips to the 15th Regional championship and has earned the admiration of the rest of the area teams.

"You learn being a winner from understanding the fundamentals of the game and understanding game," Adams said.

"You can learn from losses, many times the hardest lessons are taught with losses. We are very proud of what we've done this decade. We are a very demanding program and our kids have for the most part represented the school really well."

Paintsville Tiger preview

Paintsville coach Bill Mike Runyon, is not used to getting the month of March

After four consecutive Sweet Sixteen appearances, including a state title in 1996, last season ended with disappointment.

The Tigers won 16 games but failed to advance beyond the district tournament when they were beaten by cross-town rival Johnson Central in the opening round 57th District the Tournament - level for the first time since 1993.

"It was probably harder on me than the guys," said coach Bill Mike Runyon.

"I've always been accustomed to playing an extra week or two. It was disappointing. I hope we learn Paintsville looks like a team that could be back in Rupp Arena in March.

The Tigers are coming off an outstanding summer in which they won 20 of 23 games. Paintsville went 14-3 at the Georgetown team camp, beating Paducah Tilghman in the tournament finals. Also included was a 6-0 finish at Pikeville College as the Tigers defeated defending 15th Region champion Pikeville.

"I expect this team to be very good," Runyon said. "I really do.

Runyon calls Paintsville seniors Mitchell Grim and Ben Trimble the top two players in the 15th Region.

"That's being a little selfish, I'm sure," Runyon said. Grim, a 6-foot-2 shooting guard, averaged 16.5 points last season.

"He's a great shooter, a good competitor and plays great off-the-ball defense," Runyon said. "Mitchell anticipates on defense extremely well."

The 6-5 Trimble provides excellent production at forward. He averaged 15.5 points and eight rebounds as

"Ben has improved his strength tremendously," Runyon said. "He really doesn't have many flaws in his game.'

Paintsville Overall. returns four of its top five players.

Trimble and 6-7 Kyle Meade give Paintsville a solid inside game. Meade has also added muscle after averaging 13.5 points, eight rebounds and two blocked shots a year ago.

"He should really be a force inside," Runyon said. Dustin Ratliff returns at point guard and will make sure the Tigers stay in motion. The 5-10 senior averaged 8.2 points and 4.5 assists last season.

"He's extremely quick and makes good decisions," Runyon said. "Dustin makes your team play fast the way he pushes the ball.'

The only new starter is 6-2 Jeremy Hall, who was the team's sixth man last season. Runyon will mostly count on Hall for solid defense and rebounding.

Senior Robbie Holbrook, a 6-1 transfer from Prestsonsburg, could step into Hall's old role.

Also helping off the bench will be juniors Brad Austin, Ben Hale, Brian Hale and Matt Sammons, along with two or three sophomores.

"I don't think there's any question that we will be extremely deep this year," Runyon said.

As usual, the Tigers have a high-profile out-of-state tournament on the schedule. They will travel to Lebanon, Pa., this week to compete in the Keystone Roundball Classic.

Busy week at the MAC

The seats will be rocking next week at reserve a seat and have a ticket for admisthe Mountain Arts Center.

In addition to the always-rollicking, always-pleasing Kentucky Opry and Jr. Pro performance on Friday night, The Bishops and Legacy Five will be in concert on Tuesday, and comedian Carl Hurley will appear on Saturday.

For the Tuesday program, which starts at 7:30 p.m. — and is free, the audience will be part of a live video recording.

The Bishops, originally from Waco in east-central Kentucky, have been performing for 15 years, the last four on the Homeland Recording label.

The group's debut on Homeland produced a number one song, a top-five song and a top-ten song.

Since then the group has recorded four other Homeland projects, including an a cappella recording and a live recording, featuring their hit songs of the first dozen years and an evangelistic production, titled "Reach the World."

Members of the group are Kenneth Bishop, Mark Bishop, Kenny Bishop, instrumentalist Carl Williams Jr. and pianist Michael Lee.

Legacy Five, Homeland Recording's newest group, made their debut at a special showcase during the 1999 National Quartet

They were founded by two members of the Cathedrals, Roger Bennett and Scott Fowler. Legacy Five begins its touring schedule in January in Marietta, Georgia.

Known as "America's funniest professor," the comedian was discovered in 1971 when he gave an enlivened report at an otherwise boring school conference. A businessman at the conference was impressed and invited Hurley to speak for his compa-

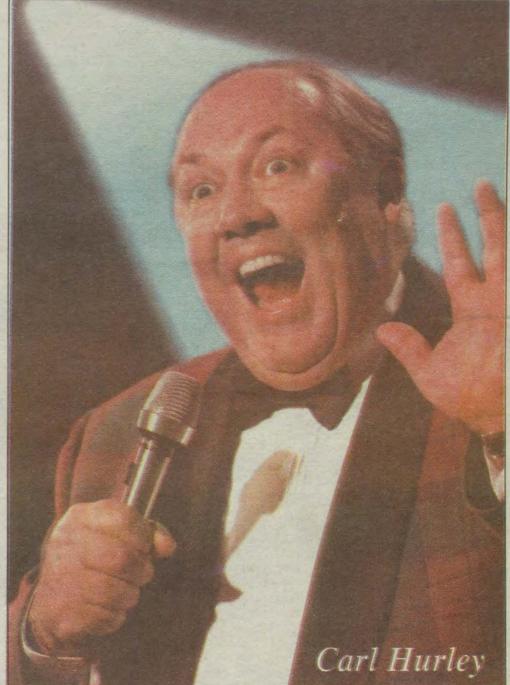

Other invitations followed, and in 1982 Hurley traded in his grade sheets for the comedy circuit. Today, his more than 150 appearances a year range from stand-up comedy to conventions to seminars and workshops.

Hurley said his first audience was at his country church when he was eight years old. He was called on to recite a scripture verse in front of the congregation.

"I walked to the edge of the pulpit and said, 'Jesus fed the multitudes with three fishes and five loaves of light bread. For a minute, I didn't know why they laughed, but I knew I enjoyed it," he said.

Born in a two-room cabin in Laurel County, Hurley says he came from a family of "talkers," and he spent hours listening to

The Mountain Home Place in Johnson County, near Paintsville Lake, has already begun its old-time Christmas celebration.

Lantern-light walks and carol singing are part of the evening's activities every Thursday, Friday and Saturday, through December 18.

The celebration begins with Christmas carols in the visitor's center, after which participants walk by lantern light to the old church on the grounds of the 1850s mountain farm.

Each evening a choir from a different church in the area will perform for the visitors. Members of the church of the day will participate in a live nativity at the barn.

After the concert, the group will go to the farmhouse, which is decorated for the occasion, and "beg" for gifts.

Then, they'll all gather in the field for a bonfire with hot cocoa and cider and cookies.

The gift shop in the visitor's center is now stocked with works by eastern Kentucky crafters, and it will be open during the evenings, as well as regular daytime hours

Participants are advised to dress appropriately for the weather — remember, heat was less available in the olden days. Also, wear comfortable shoes, since walking is necessary.

Admission is $5 per person. The number of guests is limited for each evening, so reservations are required. Call 606/297-1850.

White Hall to sponsor Victorian Christmas

Enjoy a Victorian Christmas celebration by visiting White Hall State Historic Site near Richmond on Dec. 10-12.

The stately home of Cassius Marcellus Clay will be decorated in the opulent style of the early Victorian era. Visitors can explore the house at their leisure through self-guided tours. Refreshments will be served.

The event runs from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. nightly. Admission is $4.50 for adults, $2.50 for children.

White Hall is located off exit 95 of I-75 north of Richmond. For more information, call the park at 606/623-9178.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

by Chuck Shepherd

- In October, Derek Farmer, 42, who served 18 years in prison for the murders of a civil rights activist and a police officer in Dayton, Ohio, passed Ohio's bar exam and was sworn in as a lawyer. However, two weeks earlier, Kevin Kapel was denied permission to take the same exam because of insufficient "character and fitness" to become a lawyer; Kapel's criminal record consists only of charges that he stole a girlfriend's cat and once tried to take his car back illegally from a mechanic. (Farmer's application was helped by the strong support of his presiding judge and two other

According to a November Boston Globe story, upper-crust restaurants in New York and Boston have taken to adding genuine gold flakes to some dishes, not merely as garnish but with the expectation that they be eaten. Boston's Riba restaurant recently offered "risotto of summer's golden squashes with leaf of 24-carat gold." Said the owner, "It's so thin and weightless that by the time you eat it, it's gonzo." She added, "There's a feeling of plenty around. People are feeling rich."

Latest Bra Technology

-In July, London art student Kursty Groves told reporters she had developed a prototype "Techno Bra," which houses in its lining a Global Positioning Satellite locator, heart-rate monitor and cell phone transmitter, to be activated if the wearer is attacked (which supposedly produces a heartbeat distinct from that produced by exercising or passion). Also in July, a report of an American Society of Aesthetic Plastic Surgery study indicated success with the battery-operated vacuum bra that removes air from its two domes so that breasts are sucked forward; 15 women testers grew by an average of one cup size after 10 weeks.

Latest Religious Messages

- Tensions grow daily in rural Eatonton, Georgia (60 miles southeast of Atlanta), between the Putnam County sheriff intent on enforcing agricultural zoning laws and the 80 African-American disciples of Chief Black Eagle Malachi York, who has built a religious retreat, with shops and 40-foot-high pyramids, called Tama-Re: Egypt of the West. York, a convicted felon who says he was born in the galaxy Illyuwn and who invented the group's Arabic-English-blend language, Nuwabic, teaches that a spaceship will land in 2003 and take away only 144,000 chosen people.

- According to an October report in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, a national Christian "lighthouse movement" seeks to pray for every single person in the United States by the end of next year. Among the techniques suggested: praying for the 10 households to your left and right and to the five in front; praying for people listed in telephone directories; and, in rough neighborhoods, "drive-by praying." In late August, a convention of related groups met near Dallas to assess how they could best spend the remaining months on their particular goal of exposing every single person on Earth to Christianity by the end of next

The Wall Street Journal reported in September on efforts by the United Society

Ever since the Mattel Toy Company began manufacturing Barbie dolls back in the late '50s, these dolls have been the Christmas gift of choice, sanctioned by generations of little girls.

As sophisticated as the dolls were back then (the first equipped with breasts), the newer versions boast an even more realistic physicality. According to an e-mail I received last week from a friend, Alison Kothe, in Indianapolis (who received it from a friend, who received it from a friend, etc.), our favorite plastic blonde with the impossible physique is starting to show her age.

This is what she had to say: Now at long last there are some NEW Barbie dolls that coincide with her aging gracefully. These are a bit more realistic...

1. Bifocals Barbie. Comes with her own set of blended lens fashion frames in six wild colors (half-frames, too)! Neck chain and large-print editions of Vogue and Martha Stewart Living.

2. Hot Flash Barbie. Press Barbie's bellybutton and watch her face turn beet red while tiny drops of perspiration appear on her forehead! With hand held fan and tiny tissues.

Facial Hair Barbie. As Barbie's hormone levels shift, see her whiskers grow!
 Available with teensy tweezers and magnifying mirror.

4. Flabby Arms Barbie. Hide Barbie's droopy triceps with these new roomier-sleeved gowns. Good news on the tummy front, too: muumuus with tummy support panels are included.

5. Bunion Barbie. Years of disco dancing in stiletto heels have definitely taken their toll on Barbie's dainty arched feet. Soothe her sores with the pumice stone and plasters, then slip on terry mules.

6. No More Wrinkles Barbie. Erase those pesky crows feet and liplines with a tube of Skin Sparkle-Spackle, from Barbie's own line of exclusive age-blasting cosmetics.

7. Soccer Mom Barbie. All that experience as a cheerleader is really paying off as Barbie dusts off her old high school megaphone to root for Babs and Ken Jr. With minivan in robin's egg blue or white, and cooler filled with doughnut holes and fruit punch.

- 8. Mid-life Crisis Barbie. It's time to ditch Ken. Barbie needs a change and Fred (her personal trainer) is just what the doctor ordered, along with Prozac. They're hopping in her new red Miata and heading for the Napa Valley to open a B&B. Comes with a real cassette tape of "Breaking up is Hard to Do."
- 9. Divorced Barbie. Sells for $199.99. Comes with Ken's house, Ken's car and Ken's boat.
- 10. Single Mother Barbie. There's not much time for primping anymore! Ken's shacked up with the Swedish au pair in the Dream House, while Barbie's across town with Babs and Ken Jr., in a fourth-floor walkup. Barbie's selling off her old gowns and accessories to raise rent money. Complete garage sale kit included.

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN:

After seeing Greenlee tormenting Becca, Stuart prepared to set her (Greenlee) up for a fall. David was upset that Erica talked to Palmer about getting David appointed to the Foundation. As Palmer prepared to toast Vanessa at his party, his gunman prepared to take a shot at her. At that moment Leo burst into the room calling out to her. Leo collapsed, and Vanessa called out to David to save his brother. Realizing his mistake, Palmer threw himself over Vanessa as the shot hit him. Adam begged Liza to free him from the safe room. Sophie threatened Amanda. Wait To See: Jake has an admission for Liza

AS THE WORLD TURNS:

Although Margo decided not to come clean with Tom, Emily had a different view of the situation. Jake and Julia's "mystery man" could shed light on Alec. Holden's idea could change many lives. John challenged Camille's priorities. Wait To See: Margo's memory begins to return, but it may be too late for her. Jake begs Isaac for help. Molly comes up with a realization about Chris and Abigail.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL:

Brooke asked Taylor for advice on how to make Stephanie accept her and Thorne's relationship. Meanwhile, Stephanie assured Eric she will recover in time to see Macy and Thorne get married. Later, Stephanie was infuriated with Sally's attitude until she realized Sally had provoked her into standing up. Kimberly told Rick she knows Amber's been lying but can't prove it yet. Later, Tawny threatened Kimberly. Wait To See: Brooke makes a decision that could change her life.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES:

Nancy was unsure about telling Craig about her daughter. Meanwhile, "Hope" prepared herself to tell Greta she's her mother. Claude called the police, forcing Kurt and Hope (the real one) to go on the run. Philip pawned his stereo and watch to pay off his gambling debt. Kate fumed when Victor publicly praised Vivian for helping to break the hospital scam. Brandon told an infuriated Sami that Austin will never marry her. Wait To See: Marlena makes an important decision.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

Stefan gave Mac photos showing Helena on the parapet at the time of Katherine's murder. Helena then told a stunned Laura that Stefan poisoned her. Mac confronted Luke about Felicia. Laura told Lesley she loved Stefan but feared what he's capable of. Luke told Bobbie Felicia's marriage to Mac was not authentic. Alexis learned Uncle Herbert's will provided for Gertrude to lose her claim to the design company if she remarries. Faison made a candlelight dinner for Felicia. Roy agonized over his part in Jerry's arrest. Wait To See: Jax gets help for Jerry from a surprising source.

GUIDING LIGHT:

As Alan and Harley searched for the missing plane, Beth and Phillip were caught in an avalanche. Jim came face-to-face with Edmund. Drew asked Michelle abut Ben's death. Reva feared she was losing Josh to Olivia. Blake moved in with Holly and Ross. Wait To See: Phillip and Beth's secret was discovered. Buzz reached out to Serena.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE:

Kevin continued to taunt the gunman in the diner who fired a shot before being disarmed by R.J. and Cristian. Sophie was shocked

Keeping the past from being lost in the present

Restoring old movies so that the past is not lost in the present is Nick Clooney's passion. Restoring that old Christmas feeling in the hearts of the young and old will be his main focus at this year's 12th annual Kentucky Christmas Chorus.

Nick Clooney, the radio personality and former host for the American Movies Classics (AMC), who is also the father of actor George Clooney, will read the Christmas classic, "Twas the Night Before Christmas" at the free sing-along held in Lexington's Rupp Arena, from 6 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, December 14.

A Maysville native, Clooney lived in Lexington once upon a time and even worked in the broadcast business (WKYT-TV and WLAP-AM). He will return to warm the hearts of all at Kentucky's 12th holiday singalong.

To lead the singing portion of the program, the Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by George Zack, and the Lexington Singers, directed by Jefferson Johnson, will perform several Christmas favorites. Choral groups from across the state are also asked to participate in this annual holiday tradition.

Any group interested in singing at the Chorus should call 606/258-3026. A local soprano, Vertrelle Cameron-Mickens, and the Glendover Global Studies School Chorus will also perform special songs.

Vertrelle Cameron-Mickens will sing "Jesu Bambino" and "O Holy Night." Cameron-Mickens is completing her Doctor of Musical Arts degree at UK and has performed several recitals at Centre College, Northern Kentucky University Governor's School of the Arts and with the Lexington Philharmonic. She has also performed the Verdi Opera Arias with the Ost-West Internationale Orchestra at the Scholossburg Castles in Leipzig, Germany.

The Glendover Global Studies School Chorus will perform "Ding Dong!, "Merrily on High," and "It's Beginning To Look A Lot Like Christmas."

The singing begins at 7:30 p.m., and the Kentucky Christmas Chorus will be televised LIVE on WKYT-TV, Channel 27, in Lexington and WYMT-TV, Channel 57, in Hazard, from 8 to 9 p.m. The program will be replayed on both channels on Christmas Day, from 5 to 6 p.m.

"The Kentucky Eye Institute loves participation with the Lexington Philharmonic and Lexington Singers," said Dr. William Collis, Surgical Director at the Kentucky Eye Institute, sponsor of the event. "All three of the organizations have the same goals: excellence, taking their services throughout one-half of Kentucky, and we all love Kentucky people."

Doors open for the sing-along at 6 p.m., and pre-show entertainment and activities begin at 6:15 p.m. Individuals, families and singing groups are all encouraged to participate in the event.

Entertainment includes: Main Street Brass; Porter Memorial Bell Choir; Elvis; and the Kentuckians Barbershop Quartet. The Headley-Whitney Museum and the Living Arts & Science Center will help the attendees do holiday crafts. In addition, Frosty, Cat in the Hat, and other holiday mascots will be on hand for more holiday enjoyment.

Representatives from Southern Belle Dairies will provide free eggnog samples during the preshow activities and the concession stands on the concourse will be open during the program.

Kentucky Christmas Chorus programs will be inserted in the December 13 Lexington Herald-Leader and handed out at the event

The Chorus is sponsored by the Kentucky Eye Institute and WKYT-TV, Channel 27, in cooperation with the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government and many community volunteers.

Last year, more than 80 choirs and thousands of individuals from across the state participated in the Kentucky Christmas Chorus.

Anyone interested in volunteering as an aisle monitor or an usher, should call 606/258-3905.

Bluegrass Journey explores the Tall Stacks

Cincinnati's Tall Stacks '99 celebration—a steamboat lover's dream—is quite a spectacle. But the festivities go well beyond these majestic vessels of yesteryear.

Airing on KET Monday, December 6, at 10:30 p.m., and on KET2 Thursday, December 9, at 9:30 p.m., "Bluegrass Journey: A Steamboat Celebration" looks at the various land-based activities that have cropped up around the big steamers.

Fifty families make up the Campbell County Heritage Association, and their recreation of life in the period of 1740-1840 is impressive. Their purpose is primarily educational, showing school children how their ancestors lived as blacksmiths, candlemakers and spinners.

It isn't all work, however, as the group enjoys the fun of cooking, storytelling and the wailing sound of a dulcimer

Just down the bank is a Civil War re-enactment camp. Soldiers from north and south dress in costume and recreate the sights, sound and smells of Kentucky's history.

A tour of the last steam-powered tugboat in existence shows the cultural riches of Covington's riverside historic area. And in Newport, revelers can tour the refurbished East Row neighborhood.

"Bluegrass Journey" also offers a firsthand look at the "Peace Bell," a large bell that is to be permanently installed in Newport as a symbol of world peace in the new millennium.

"Bluegrass Journey: A Steamboat Celebration," produced by Joe Hackman, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web

CRITTERS CORNER

by Carol Combs-Morris, D.V.M

If it seems that I'm dwelling on the subject of house-breaking puppies an inordinate amount of time, remember that this is something that will affect this animal and your relationship with him for years.

If you've followed the recommendations in the previous two articles, you have set Puppy up to succeed, and you understand "housebreaking" ("keep the den clean") from the dog's point of view. Compared to these, the actual act of taking the pup outside becomes just one of several crucial details.

You may have to carry the puppy to his potty area if he's really small, but he should be on leash so you can keep him in the general vicinity once you get there. He won't understand the purpose of the trip outside at first.

With his short attention span he will be distracted by every new sight, sound and smell, so give him time. Use a word—"go potty," "get busy," etc., which he will eventually learn to associate with the act of elimination

If he does not eliminate within a reasonable amount of time (5-10 minutes), he should go back into his "den" for a little while and then taken back out to try again. Praise the pup as it eliminates. (You are praising for the location of elimination. The act of elimination is self-rewarding; it relieves pressure and makes the pup feel better.)

What about the inevitable accidents in the house? How should you handle those? If you didn't actually catch the puppy in the act, about the only thing you can do is to roll a newspaper up tight, whack yourself over the head, and makes a commitment to be more observant

If you do see him eliminating in the wrong place, DON'T yell, run at, or hit the puppy. This obviously will scare him, and fear says to the body, "drop this load and get out of here!" so it will be counterproductive.

If you can distract him with a sharp hand clap or by tossing something like an empty pop can or a beanbag near him (not AT him), it may buy you a few seconds.

Just say, "no, no, not here" or something similar in a normal tone of voice, scoop the pup up gently and take him out to his spot. If you're lucky, he will finish his business in the proper place and you can praise him.

I have read in several books that you should not let the puppy see you clean up his accidents, but I honestly can't understand the logic behind this. As far as I know, the mother wolf doesn't take any pains to be secretive, so I don't see why we should.

As puppy grows and gets a little more control over his body, you should start to see him looking for a way to get out to his bathroom

You need to watch for these signs, because while some pups will make a racket if their "doorman" is not

out, others will stand quietly near the door
until they just can't wait any

at least a few more weeks to confirm he's not just chasing butterflies while he's out there.

What about those less-than-ideal situations I mentioned earlier? No one can get home several times a day, or for whatever reason you prefer to paper-train the pup. It's actually easier to teach a pup to use p easier to teach a pup to use paper; it just complicates things if you need to transfer him to an outdoor potty area later.

I paper-trained several litters of stray pups when I was in general practice. By keeping them in a small tile-floored room (about the size of an average bathroom) their choices were limited.

In half the room they had their food and water, their beds and their toys; the other half was covered with newspaper. Yes, they shredded paper, had accidents in the wrong spots, and in general made a mess.

But soon the mess was more often on the paper than not, and gradually I reduced the area coveted by the papers until they were located in one corner of the room away from the sleeping and eating areas. The mess moved with the papers.

When they went to their new homes, at least they knew the basics. A note about those commercial "housebreaking pads." They have the advantage of a plastic backing that keeps moisture from leaking through, and if this is what you're looking for, they certainly serve their purpose.

If you're buying them because they claim to have this magic scent that attracts puppies, don't waste your money. You have ample supply of the most potent chemical available, in the form of his own urine, to tell your puppy "this is your spot."

This method works for older dogs also. You will need to start from scratch, and make sure the carpets are very well deodorized. And remember, it takes longer to relearn something than to learn it correctly the first time.

It's also a good idea to have an older dog checked by your vet if he's suddenly had a lapse in his bathroom routine. Many diseases, including bladder infections, diabetes, colitis and "senility" (canine cognitive dysfunction) can cause this.

I hope this series has helped clear up some misunderstandings about housebreaking. Good luck!

'Paper Rose': a tale of passion, intrigue

Cecily Peterson's love for Tate Winthrop "was like a paper rose, which longed for the magic to make it real." The fiercely proud Native American had once come to her rescue - and Cecily has never forgotten his kindness ... nor has her attraction to him lessened with the passing

When Tate finds himself embroiled in a political scandal, he and Cecily realize that they need each other more than ever. But the airing of a devastating secret may destroy the couple's one chance for happiness together.

"Paper Rose" (MIRA Books, $5.99) is available wherever paperbacks are sold, or through www.mirabooks.com.

Now that "Sunset Beach" is facing its last few weeks on the air, some at NBC, we're told, have suggested moving Mrs. Moreau, the voodoo-practicing character, to a renewed life on "Passions." The idea would suit the wonderful Joyce Guy just fine. She's been doing great work as the potion lady, and it would be lots of fun to see her share the canvas with Tabitha (Juliet Mills). Would they be cooperative or competitive? Either way, the hapless folks of Harmony would have to pay the price for their hoodoo hijinx.

Tasia Valenza, who earned an Emmy nomination for her work as Dottie Thornton on "All My Children," has been cast as Suzanne on "The Bold and the Beautiful." Her first airdate is December 15.

Disney/ABC Cable's SoapNet Channel will be launched in January, and is being touted as a dream-come-true for soap fans.

"Another World" may be history, but fans of the venerable series might like to know that Mindi Schulman, who headed the soap's fan club for years and arranged their super successful annual fan club luncheons, has moved to do ditto for "As the World Turns." If you'd like to see how she does, open your new Y2K datebook to Saturday, April 1, the date of Mindi's first "ATWT" luncheon, which will be held at New York's Marriott Marquis. For fan club information, you can reach Mindi at ATWTFC1@aol.com. If you prefer snail mail, write to her at P.O. Box 647, Merrick, NY 11566-

For Jeri G: The third actor, along with Robin Strasser and Victoria Wyndham, to play Rachel on "Another World," was not Elaine Princi. She was Margaret Impert, who appeared in the role in 1971, the year Robin left for the first time. Robin returned for a short run in 1972 and left when Victoria stepped into the role and kept it for the next 27 years. Elaine, who did a guest run on "AW" a year ago, replaced Robin as Dorian on "One Life to Live" from 1990 to 1993 when Robin returned to the soap.

of Believers (better known as the Shakers, named for the way they tremble while worshipping) to recruit new members. By the mid-1800s, there were 6,000 members, but since part of their philosophy is celibacy, there are now only seven, living near New Gloucester, Maine. Though their original philosophy was built on "separation from world," the Shakers now have a Web site, give musical concerts and sell CDs.

Police Blotter

Police in Stockton, California, arrested Tina Watts, 28, in June and charged her with cruelty to an animal after she shot a neighbor's dog. claimed the dog had just bitten her four-year-old son, but she later admitted that wasn't true after police discovered that the bloody dog-bite wound was just a bandage she had saturated with ketchup.

Thieves Living Large: In July, thieves stole more than a mile of natural-gas pipeline, weighing 250 tons, near Kotovskoye, Russia. And in August, thieves stole an entire neighborhood garden in London's West End. And in March, thieves stole a prefabricated high school building, along with its security fence, in Port Elizabeth, South Africa. And in July, thieves stole every single thing (except a few clothes) out of a townhouse in Montreal, including toilet paper on the hold-

Two thieves abandoned their rental car in Port of Spain, Trinidad, in May and escaped, leaving a sheep and three goats in the car, allegedly rustled from a farmer. The sheep was wearing a dress, and the goats wore shirts, pants and hats. Police guessed the thieves had dressed the animals to avert suspicion, but with nightfall approaching, the driver actually created suspicion when he failed to turn on his headlights.

- Paul Faglin, 87, was sentenced to 10 years in prison for strangling his wife (age 83) out of jealousy (Rouen, France, in June). Brose Gearheart, 90, was sentenced to four years in prison for trafficking in crack cocaine (Saugerties, New York, April). J.L. Hunter Roundtree, 88, was arrested and charged with bank robbery (Pensacola, Florida, October). Driver Warren Collins, 83, critically injured his wife and himself by plunging over an embankment into the Pacific Ocean after doing "doughnuts" with his car showing it off to a prospective buyer (Long Beach, California, October).

Recurring Themes

News of the Weird reported in 1996 on a hospital in Kinshasa, Zaire, that was detaining newborn babies and their mothers until they paid their bills. In September 1999, Reuters reported that the government's Sina hospital in Tehran, Iran, earlier in the year created a detention cell in the building, staffed by three guards, that has housed about two dozen patients a month who had not paid their bills. Said the hospital's director, "We had no other choice."

Least Competent Criminals

In September, Roland Tough, 22, and five colleagues, convicted of theft in Greater Manchester, England, were given prison sentences of from three to six years. The men had burglarized a Tesco's department store in Walkden, with Tough commemorating the heist as the gang's official photographer. However, Tough later dropped off the roll of film for processing at the very same Tesco's, and employees recognized some of the stolen items.

Also, in the Last Month ...

- A jail warden accidentally fell to his death from the ceiling on top of a conjugal-visit couple he was (Tapachula, spying on Mexico). The year-old investigation of a used-car salesman's murder was stalled when police discovered that the man was hated so many (Edmonton, Alberta). A 40vear-old suicide, rigging a gun to shoot himself in the head, missed, sending a round into his groin (Glendale, Arizona). A woman serving a life sentence for stomping another woman to death broke down in tears as she told prison authorities how a fellow inmate had killed her two pet fish (Kingston, Ontario). A 270-pound University of Kansas football player got stuck in a Taco Bell drivethru window when he climbed in after a clerk who had screwed up his chalupa

Natasha's Stars

Here's a quick way to forecast your horoscope with 10 being the best possible week and 0 the most difficult.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

Being a busy bee is probably not in your best interest. You are likely to get stung if you throw yourself into this role. Stay with your swarm in order to maintain support. This week is a 6.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

A game of tug-of-war seems to have erupted, and you could be the one who is trying to keep the flag in the middle. If you keep both extremes strong, it all evens out. This week is a 6.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)

The people and places inside of you merge and mold until they become quite hard to even recognize. Try to remember what they started out as, and interpretation becomes more distinct. This week is a 4.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)

The advantages you have been given show themselves in obvious ways. You realize how lucky you really are. Your efforts allow you to excel to a whole new level. This week is a 10.

(July 23 to August 22)

Your flamboyant side could be aiming to flaunt itself in almost any venue. You need to figure out the best way to tame the temptation. Make sure that your audiences are appropriate. This week is a 6.

VIRGO

(August 23 to September 22)

Others agree with you even if the issues you propose are a bit outlandish. With your thoughts being taken into consideration, you have a little time to expand them even further. This week is an 8.

LIBRA

(September 23 to October 22)

The action around you may not only be uncanny but could also be a bit out of control. Hold on tightly to the pieces that are yours so that they don't get blown away by the hoopla. This week is a 5.

SCORPIO

(October 23 to November 21)

The vibrant colors of your face reveal a sense of achievement that no one can ever touch. You place yourself in the realm of master with your careful interpretation of the scenery that surrounds you. This week is

SAGITTARIUS

(November 22 to December 21)

Showing off could be your first impulse as you begin your week. In order to receive a better reception, make sure that your antics are not at the expense of someone else. This week is a 7.

CAPRICORN

(December 22 to January 19)

People have no problem making their opinions known, and this makes for some magical debate. The pros and cons create a whole dialogue that enriches all who are witness to the wonders. This week is a 9.

AQUARIUS

(January 20 to February 18)

Deflate your ego and don't give negative thoughts any further assistance. They seem to be taking off on their own. Engage in a form of mutiny before they make themselves your dictator. This week is a 7.

PISCES

(February 19 to March 20)

Cupid's arrows are flying through the air, and you are part of their ultimate destination. The points don't hurt, and the results make it all worthwhile. This week is a 10.

YOU BORN THIS WEEK: Accepting people for who they are is a knack that you hold above all others. This allows others to let down their guard and be real in their encounters with you. The insight that you gain through these interactions makes you a rich teller of stories. The benefit of the doubt usually ends up going in your favor.

The Asian Internet, Mail Tracking opossum@ ix.netcom.com

North American computerists regard Internet connections as little more than dull, though occasionally troublesome, utilities. It's usually true, but by no means is it the case internationally. Take Asia, particularly Thailand, for example. In that tropical land, a Far Eastern tapestry of prosperity and poverty with no Occidental parallel, access to the world's greatest information resource is limited ... and expensive! The Thai government, a constitutional monarchy, keeps a tight hand on the 'Net's helm. It licenses just three Internet providers, all of which uniformly charge about $40 for just 20 monthly access hours. Though plans are afoot to change this, no one knows if it'll really happen. Access from Thai hotels is limited, with "log in" fees of about $7 hourly. One can also access the 'Net in major cities through a few sidewalk kiosks, though the price isn't much cheaper and their computers are mostly from the 486 era. Net research shows such conditions are common in many nations, a fact travelers those on pleasure or business - should consider. Email has become much more than a business tool, but accessing it from outside the U.S. may not be easy! Another point: if you plan to use your own computer consider most European and Oriental countries use different voltage than what light sockets. That means an adapter, a device available for between $12 and $50 at Radio Shack or any large electronic chain.

E-MAIL TRACKING: Internet Explorer and Navigator offer a putative email receipt service. Akin to SnailMail's certified or registered delivery services, there's a huge caveat. It's the server at the OTHER END that determines whether this service works at all, not only your browser. In many cases it's a dead end! Because of this numerous free delivery tracking services have sprung up, the www.certifiedmail.com. Using it is simple: establish an account, log on, and receive FULL information about who received your missive, when it was details. No longer can that troublesome co-worker say he didn't get an important message, no longer can one's "significant other" use a "bad server" as an excuse for not showing up for your date! The Internet is maturing, and with it comes the tedious burden of responsibility!

11. Recovery Barbie. Too many parties have finally caught up with the ultimate party girl. Now she does 12 steps instead of dance steps! Clean and sober, she's going to meetings religiously. Comes with a little copy of The Big Book and a sixpack of Diet Coke.

12. Post Menopausal Barbie. Poor Barbie forgets where she puts things, cries a lot, and wets her pants when she sneezes. She is sick and tired of Ken (yes, they're back together) sitting on the couch watching the tube and clicking the channels. Comes with Depends and Kleenex. As a bonus this year, she comes with the book, Getting in Touch with your Inner Self.

Of course, as the original Barbie generation continues to march into their retirement years, I'm sure it's only a matter of time before Mattel decides to market their Rest Home Barbie complete with bed pan, hearing aid and cable TV

Kentucky Author Forum Frances Mayes loves to travel across the boundaries of culture and language. She left her native Georgia to settle in San Francisco, and from there made a new home for herself in Tuscany, the ancient homeland of Michelangelo, Dante and Leonardo.

With great wit, Mayes talks about her Italian adventures on "Kentucky Author Forum Presents: Conversation with Frances Mayes." The one-hour program airs on KET, Wednesday, December 8, at 10 p.m. Mayes is interviewed by Rebecca Bain, of Nashville's NPR station, WPLN.

Mayes first wrote of her discovery of Tuscany and its people in "Under the Tuscan Sun," a surprise bestseller of 1996.

She continued her account this year with "Bella Tuscany." Both books celebrate the sensual delights of Tuscany-the cultural density, the slow savoring of everyday life, and the seasonal bounty that makes the food so extraordinary.

Frances Mayes featured on

Mayes and her partner, poet Edward Kleinschmidt, are in the process of restoring Bramasole, an 18th-century villa that is surrounded by ancient Etruscan walls. For now, the two divide their time between Italy and San Francisco, where Mayes is professor of creative writing at San Francisco State University.

Her poetry and autobiographical essays have been published by major national magazines, and she has written five books of poetry.

"Kentucky Presents: A Conversation with Frances Mayes" is a KET production, produced and directed by Duncan Hart. Nancy Carpenter serves as executive producer.

The author's appearance in Louisville was produced by the Kentucky Author Forum (Mary Moss Greenbaum, producer) and sponsored by the University of Louisville in cooperation with Hawley-Cooke Booksellers and the Kentucky Center for the Arts.

Ralph Stanley in person at Historic Sipp Theatre

The Historic Sipp Theatre's "Bluegrass at the Sipp" concert series begins anew for the 1999-2000 season in downtown Paintsville, Saturday, December 4, at 7:30 p.m. with Ralph Stanley & The Clinch Mountain Boys who will be joined by The Lonesome Hollow Boys.

Stanley, one of the last surviving "Founding Fathers" of Bluegrass Music, began his career in the 1940's, performing with his late brother, Carter. Together, they made country music history and made The Stanley Brothers.

Ralph Stanley, though now in his 70's continues to perform more than 200 personal appearances annually, including national TV performances and appearances on The Grand Ole Opry. He has released two Grammy-nominated albums in the past two years, featuring duets with the major stars of our country music.

His singing and playing are among the most copied in bluegrass music, based on his legendary banjo playing and tenor singing, which harkens back to the style of singing he learned as a child, attending "Primitive Baptist Churches" in his native Virginia.

Critics call his current band "one of the best" with a sound which resembles the original "Stanley Brothers" sound more than any in recent memory. This will mark Stanley's fifth appearance at The Sipp Theatre in as

Also appearing with Stanley, The Lonesome Hollow Boys, are a traditional group from Paintsville.

They are often found performing on local TV or at the Paintsville Community Center, where they regularly perform on Friday

Anita Bellhasen, music coordinator at The Sipp, stated that additional concerts are already booked for year 2000, including Doyle Lawson & Quicksilver, J.D. Crowe & The New South, Blueridge and Larry Sparks.

The Sipp Theatre is operated by The Sipp Theatre Foundaton, a non-profit organization, established for the purpose of restoring the theatre and providing quality entertainment to the citizens of Eastern Kentucky.

Tickets for the December 4 show are available at Wilma's Court Restaurant, Paintsville; WRLV Radio, Church Street, Salyersville; Custom Cleaners, South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg; and The Sipp Theatre, Main Street, Paintsville. Ticket prices are $8 for advance tickets; $9 for advance reserved tickets and $10 at the door.

COMMENTARY

Americans ought to be profoundly troubled by FBI warnings that antigovernment militias and hate groups may plan to celebrate the new millennium with deadly violence.

We all must ask what is happening in this society if there is a real chance that some of the 500-or-so militias are stockpiling arms for assaults on authorities, or that even a few lone haters are likely to use Y2K as their signal to shoot, maim and kill people they do not like.

Apparently the danger is real that some cult leader will see in the stars, or some deranged person will think he reads in the Bible, a message to go forth and murder under a new millennium commandment. Or so the FBI is telling local law-enforcement officials and a few newsmen.

There is terrible irony here. The FBI, which has a mandate to gather the intelligence and take the actions that will foil any such plans for violence, is cited as foremost among the agencies that make the government the "enemy" of the "people" and thus deserving of such violence.

The FBI has for some come to symbolize the supposedly tyrannical government that the militias are created to fight because of highly questionable FBI actions like the siege of the Branch Davidian compound in Waco, Texas - plus many lesserknown moves to disarm what once was more than 800 militia groups that spread fear across much of America.

But the FBI is a mere part of a larger problem that is exploited by the extremist haters: the tendency of all levels of government to try to keep serious mistakes secret, and to pile lie on top of lie when the cover-ups begin to unravel. Add the callous and secret exposure of workers at nuclear facilities, the repeated denials that our GIs have been exposed to diseases and many other cover-ups to the Branch Davidian scandal, and you get a sense of the ease with which haters of the federal government are recruiting these days.

The grimmest of ironies is that the FBI is not remotely the menace to the people or to individual liberty that it was in the 1960s when then-Director J. Edgar Hoover thought the agency was to not only enforce the laws, but to sit as master of the manners and morals of everyone - especially those trying to provoke social change.

We ought never rush to give up our freedoms as the price of controlling hate groups. Yet I know that most Americans would surrender many liberties to prevent another terrorist atrocity, such as the 1995 bombing of the federal building in Oklahoma City in which 168 people died.

All of our institutions of freedom already face grim tests of survival. How dismaying that, with all its other problems, Y2K should become a catalyst for the crazies and the psychopaths of America.

We have become a nation obsessed with polls.

Recently, an Associated Press reported that Arizona Republican, Senator John McCain, was in a statistical dead heat with Texas Republican Governor George W. Bush in New Hampshire. McCain was at 35 percent with Bush at 38 percent. From that story, the AP concluded that Bush's nomination is no longer inevitable. The story also went on to say that despite being favored by most voters around the country in an overwhelming fashion, people really don't know all that much about Bush.

The fact of the matter here is, McCain has been running hard in N w Hampshire, hoping to gain some sort of traction against the B h juggernaut, Apparently, he's ceding. However, I'm sure that change once Bush himself goes w Hampshire and begins some resetooth-and-nail campaigning. So again, what will the stories read?

Polls taken in New York have First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton lagging well behind Republican Mayor Rudy Giuliani of New York City for the Senate seat in New York. The first lady's people are poohpoohing this, saying that it's too early to take these polls seriously. Now that's a remarkable turnaround. Back in July, when Hillary was handily beating Rudy in the polls, these same people were positively crowing about how she'll be a shoo-in for the

It just goes to show how ridiculous this has all become. Polls no longer are looked at as just interesting data. They actually drive the news. How often have you turned on some news show to have some anchor hit you square in the eyes with some poll results? These days, it seems to be a daily occurrence.

Look at what happened after the Microsoft court case. The federal government won its case against Bill Gates and his company on charges of when the polls turn around once monopoly. So what did the news organizations do? They took polls to find out what Americans thought of Gates. The very next day after the decision, newspaper headlines screamed, "People favor Gates, despite court case," or some other version of that. It's astounding. Bill Gates, nice enough guy that he is and a genius at that, is no politician. Yet here we were, being bombarded with some poll results.

Last week, I wrote about a Zogby poll that pointed to soft support for Al Gore and Bill Bradley among the minority community. However, bear in mind that at the end of that column I warned you that polls are going to change over the next months. That's why you really can't put too much stock in them. As someone once said, the only poll that counts is the one taken on election day!

KET documents history, tradition of boys' high school basketball

Great basketball tradition has been synonymous with Kentucky and the legions of fans that follow the game on practically every level.

And while men's college hoops typically grab the national spotlight, it is the high school teams—all vying for a shot at the annual state championship—that bring individual communities within Kentucky together for love of the game.

Kentucky independent producer Morgan Atkinson has documented the phenomenon that is boys' high school basketball in Kentucky and presents it in the 90-minute film "A Way of Life: Basketball in Kentucky." The program airs at 9 p.m., Monday, December 6, on KET, and at 8 p.m., Thursday, December 9, on KET2.

As one of the few states in the nation still allowing all schools, regardless of size, to compete for one unquestioned championship, Kentucky's "Sweet 16" captures the imagination of fans from one end of the state to the other.

But "A Way of Life," looks beyond this annual event and examines the many aspects of the game that make it almost a life and death matter in the eyes of many.

From the perennial urban powers of Louisville and Lexington to the "Cinderella" teams from small rural towns to the many events that have transformed the game throughout the century, the film is an appreciative nod to one of Kentucky's most enduring traditions.

'A Way of Life: Basketball in Kentucky," produced by Morgan Atkinson, is closed-captioned for the deaf hand hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate.
