Council okays mayor's plan for golf board

Compromise gives veto power to mayor, council

by Randell Reno
Staff Writer

The city of Prestonsburg now has a golf advisory board.

Despite last-minute lobbying by Councilman Gorman Collins in favor of his own plan, the Prestonsburg City Council gave final approval Thursday to an ordinance which places control of an 18-hole golf course planned for the city's mountaintop project in the hands of an advisory board, subject to veto power by the council and mayor.

The measure was drafted by Mayor Jerry Fannin. Under terms of the ordinance, the advisory board has charge of the general supervision and control of the operation and maintenance of the golf course.

The board will determine programs, improvements and rates, and may establish rules and regulations of the course. The board will keep a complete record of all meetings and actions taken and shall make reports to the city council.

The ordinance states that the purpose of the board shall be to handle the daily operations of the golf course and that the mayor or the city council shall retain the right to overrule any action taken. Passage of the ordinance came just three days after a heated council session in which members rejected another proposal drafted by the city's ordinance committee. That proposal, some members said, would have left the council powerless over the course.

Collins wanted the council to table the second reading of the ordinance passed Thursday until another special meeting could be held. He also asked to have a first reading of yet another ordinance.

Collins drafted the third measure, which proposed the creation of a golf department in the city. The department would have made recommendations to the city council concerning programs, improvements, rates, rules and regulations,

Court OKs changes to sheriff's budget

by Randell Reno
Staff Writer

The Floyd County Fiscal Court gave its approval to an amended budget presented by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department during a special meeting held Wednesday.

The budget okayed by commissioners increases expenditures for the department by $293,121.99, as well as reflects unanticipated revenues of $166,095.56.

The revenue increase stems from a $74,794.49 state advancement to the office and $91,301.07 from a 10 percent fee on delinquent taxes.

The office will increase expenditures in clerks' salaries by $77,527.88; office supplies by $14,000; postage, $850; auto expense, $88,050; and uniform expense, $15,250, for a total of $195,677.88.

Additional expenditure accounts for transporting prisoners, $4,000; state advancement, $74,794.49; miscellaneous expense, $1,000; start-up money, $1,000; radio equipment, $5,559.85; conventions and training, $1,500; dues, $1,698.58; bond, $1,636.19; accounting fees, $2,000; and CCDW, $4,255, were added into the sheriff's budget.

The new line items total $97,444.11, bringing a total increase in spending of $293,121.99.

The difference between the unanticipated receipts and increase in expenditures will be

The standing-room-only crowd indicated a high interest in the Wheelwright City Commission's special-called meeting Tuesday night.

A quick glance at the first two items of a three-item agenda —

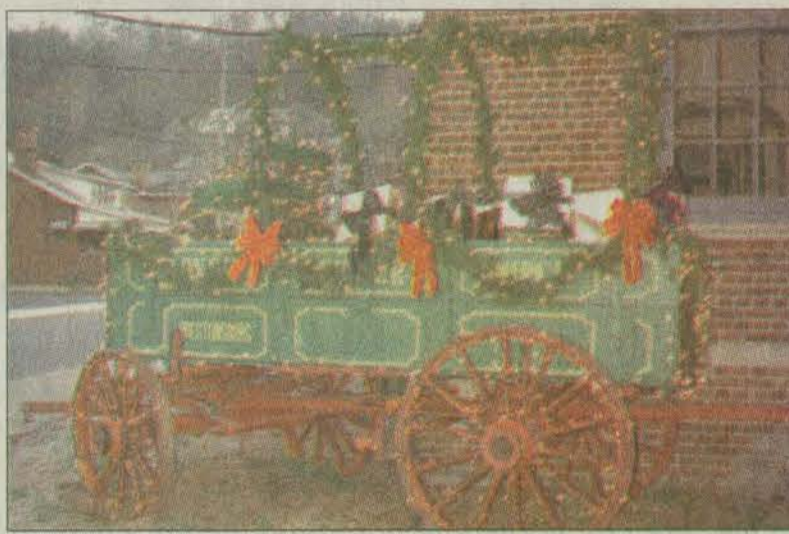

a resolution regarding purchase of body armor and cancellation of the regular December meeting, left little doubt that the people were out to hear what was said about the situation at Otter Creek Correctional Center (OCCC) and to have their say about the matter.

Officials at the correctional center have announced that it must either bring in out-of-state prisoners to the facility or face the prospect of having the prison closed.

Allen council discusses curfew

Members of the Allen City Council discussed enforcement of the existing curfew law during a meeting Monday night.

Young people who are not "home grown" have been wandering the city during the wee hours of the night, said Cindy Parsons and Police Chief Virgil Conn.

Council members and city attorney Stacey Marshall will be researching ways to stop the evening roaming.

Parsons told the council "We should tell them, take them and send them."

Parsons meant telling the offenders of the 9 p.m. fall/winter curfew, taking them home, and then sending them to the juvenile detention center if they continued to remain out after hours.

The council discussed the continuing progress of water and sewer projects Monday evening.

Marshall told the council that crews are on schedule and he could not foresee any problems.

In other news, Santa Claus will make an early visit to the city, appearing Wednesday, December 15, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Sharon Woods, council members Parsons, Larry Castle and Deanna Slone, city clerk Bill Parsons and Marshall.

Clarification

The James Hall quoted in a story about proposed changes at Otter Creek Correctional Center in the Sunday, December 5, edition of The Floyd County Times is not the same James Hall who lives in Hi Hat and operates B&M Automotive. It is also not his father, who has the same name and also works at B&M.

Wednesday drives to Georgia became a 27-year business

by Willie Elliott
Staff Writer

When you hear the word "carpet," what city comes to mind? You probably said, "Dalton, Georgia." If you said the word and had to think locally, many of you would come up with Kentucky Carpet Factory Outlet in Allen.

Paul and Pluma Branham have operated the business in downtown Allen for the last 27 years, with their son Tony helping since the age of 13.

Branham said he used to be a barber in Prestonsburg and used the customary Wednesday off day to drive to Dalton, Georgia, for Donald "Dookney" Horn to pick up carpet.

As the trips increased, Branham caught the "carpet bug" and wound up running the third-largest carpet store in the county in Jessup, Georgia.

But his success was not enough to ward off his love for the mountains, so he and his wife moved back to Allen and opened their own carpet store.

Branham said to survive the competition from the big stores, he had to be competitive and make the installation of the carpet personal. He said his son taught installers the art, and he had a lot of confidence in their work.

Branham said he could be competitive because he owns his own building and has little overhead. His trust keeps workers on the job, as Orville Powers has worked for Branham for 11 years, while Clyde Endicott has been employed for nine years.

The store has six crews to install carpets and it has business in a 200-mile radius of the store, going to such places as Matewan and Williamson, West Virginia, Morehead, Louisa, Hazard and the counties surrounding Floyd.

In addition to carpet, the store sells and installs wood and vinyl products.

Branham still buys some of his carpet in Dalton, Georgia, but he and another carpet owner produce some of their own carpets.

Branham said his store was the fourth-largest in-stock carpet store in the state. That is rather impressive considering that Allen has a population of about 500.

If you visit the store, you may have to sit next to Morris the cat. Morris has his own recliner and doesn't take kindly to being deprived of his sleeping site.

Pluma is proud of the fact that the store was voted "Best in The Valley" in a survey conducted by The Appalachian News Express.

Court

He remains in the Floyd County Detention Center under a $5,000 cash bond. He is currently serving 30 days on a bench warrant for failure to appear in a separate case.

A preliminary hearing for Newsome is set for Monday December 13.

In other action in district court this week:

■ William Ray Johnson, 28, of Auxier, pleaded not guilty in his arraignment on Wednesday in Floyd District Court.

He was arrested November 26 and charged with second-degree possession of a controlled substance, possession of drug paraphernalia, and possession of a controlled substance not in a proper container.

He was released on a $2,000 partially-secured bond. A preliminary hearing in the case is set for Monday.

■ Jeff Jones, 37, of Hueysville, was arrested December 2 and charged with second-degree burglary and theft by unlawful taking.

A bench warrant was issued for his arrest when Jones failed to appear for his arraignment Wednesday.

Jones allegedly entered the home of Teresa Baldrige of Garrett on November 8, taking a one-carat, eight-diamond anniversary ring.

He was released on a $5,000 surety bond. That bond was changed to a $5,000 cash after his failure to show up for court.

■ Also arrested on December 2 was Clyde Boyd, 43, of Banner.

Boyd is charged with obscuring the vehicle identification numbers of a 1992 Ford flatbed truck and a 1996 Toyota pickup, and three counts of receiving stolen property related to the Ford and Toyota, as well as a 1997 Mack truck.

Boyd was released on a surety bond.

He was arraigned on Wednesday and pleaded not guilty. His preliminary hearing is set for Monday, December 13.

■ Raymond Ratliff, 22, of Honaker, was arrested and charged with third-degree criminal mischief, theft by unlawful taking, and third-degree criminal trespassing.

Ratliff allegedly destroyed the property of Beulah Leckrone when he cut 16 trees off her land. He is accused of knowingly entering the premises of Leckrone without her permission.

Ratliff was arraigned on December 1, pleading not guilty. His preliminary hearing will be Monday, December 20.

■ Eddie G. Kidd, 39, of London, was arraigned in Floyd District Court on Wednesday.

He was arrested November 18 on a single charge of theft by unlawful taking. He is accused of taking $300 in food stamps, $200 in cash and two bottles of prescription medication from Holly Kidd of Dana.

Kidd posted a $10,000 surety bond for his release.

with final saying lying with the council.

Collins argued for another meeting so that council members could decide which proposal they liked best.

Control of the golf course has been a subject of debate between council members. Councilman Billy Ray Collins said the debate has left "a bad taste" in everyone's mouths.

The first measure was voted down by the council on Monday, largely through the efforts of Gorman Collins, who argued the ordinance would have created a management team instead of an advisory board.

But Carter, who had been for the original proposal, argued against delaying the vote any longer.

"I came here today to vote for the second reading of (the mayor's proposal)," said Carter. "I don't agree with all of it. I don't agree with the part that says he (the mayor) has autonomous control over the board, because that really says if the board votes seven to one they want to do something and he's the one that doesn't want to do it, then he says we don't do it. I would have a little problem serving on a board like that."

With the golf course being half-completed, Carter prodded the council to vote for the mayor's proposal.

"I think at some point we need to have a little trust here," he said. "We have worked on a committee way of doing things since we have been in office. I have not always agreed."

As for control, some members question the amount of power the mayor has over the course.

Carter said the ordinance was the nearest thing to complete control the mayor could have.

"He has 100 percent veto power," said Carter. "I'm for that if we can get an ordinance and get this behind us and do things this town needs to be doing instead of sitting here talking about this ordinance."

Although Bill Collins was in favor of giving the power of decision directly to the council, he was in agreement with Carter on the vote.

"I think everybody here had a bad taste of the Mountain Arts Center," Collins said. "We have no control. But any committee I would vote for would be under the mayor and the city council. If we are going to be responsible for debts and procedures in any part of the city, we ought to be in charge of it because we are responsible for it."

"We have made a mountain out of a molehill," said Carter. "(Gorman Collins' proposal is) so restrictive the council may have to approve soap and toilet paper."

The council decided to pass the mayor's proposal 6-1.

The single no vote came from Gorman Collins.

In other topics the council approved a contract with Big Sandy Area Development District.

BSADD does the city's paperwork for projects such as the golf course.

Bids are still open in the city's quest for a street sweeper and pickup truck.

A special called meeting for the council will be held on Tuesday, December 14, at noon.

made up by a $127,026.43 cut in the deputies' salaries.

The sheriff's office was also given a federal grant in the amount of $23,524 to establish a Sheriff's Junior Mentoring Program.

The money will be matched by contributions from the sheriff's office of $32,007, for a total of $55,531.

The program will run from January 1, 2000 to December 31, 2000.

In other news, Bill Dotson, E-911 coordinator, presented a resolution containing a completed list of current road names and names of road segments for use in the county.

After court gave its tentative approval to the changes, the list will now be sent to the United States Postal Service and BellSouth Telecommunications for final approval.

Once the names are accepted, the list will return to the fiscal court for final approval.

In other business before the court:

■ A sale of a half-acre of property was approved. The property is located near the intersection of KY 1428 and US 23 on Abbott Mountain.

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet shared a half interest in the land that had been appraised at $15,000. The cabinet was willing to sell its half to R & J Development Inc. for $7,500. The fiscal court approved the sale of its half for the same amount.

Said Floyd County Judge-Executive Paul Hunt Thompson, "I didn't even know we had it."

■ The engineering firm of Howard K. Bell Consulting Engineers will be paid two checks in the amount of $12,399.46 and $8,789.37 when funds become available. The company is performing a groundwater study on Turkey Creek.

Staying connected: No nonger confining

(NAPSA)-E-mail has quickly grown into one of the most popular forms of communication in the 20th century. As we move into the next millennium, more and more people will have an e-mail address that is as common as having a home address or telephone number.

Regular surface mail, or snail mail, as the computer community calls it, will not disappear. But the promise of speed and convenience that e-mail offers is irresistible to some. A recent survey found that 60-70 percent of laptop users carry their laptops to send and receive e-mail only. And although toting a heavy laptop while backpacking in the Grand Canyon or Europe may seem like a silly idea, a recent America Online study found that 47 percent of subscribers take their laptops on vacation and 26 percent check their e-mail on vacation.

But despite the high number of laptop-toting travelers, there are still some obstacles with this form of staying connected. Although there may be laptop modem connections at airports or even at hotels, connection costs can be extremely high. Sending a three-sentence e-mail to Aunt Hilda in Maine from Hawaii can cost as much as a 20-minute phone call. Even in urgent situations, when cost may not be an issue, it may seem impossible to find a phone or data line. There are also potential problems with connections. Few things are more upsetting than getting disconnected from your e-mail service provider, which bills you $20 per month, in the midst writing a three-page e-mail to your long-lost friend. Your words are lost instantly, along with your momentum, without warning.

Fortunately for people without computers there are less expensive and less frustrating options for staying connected.

Tips for Staying Connected

Here are some new, cost-effective and simple ways to communicate by e-mail without even owning a laptop or computer:

- Subscribe to an e-mail service such as Yahoo, Excite or Hotmail, which is available free from any computer that has Internet access. You can then access your e-mail from cybercafes, airport lounges and other places with Internet access. However, you may pay up to $12 an hour at a cybercafe for connecting.

- Try a low-cost mobile e-mail service that doesn't require a computer. Purchase a Sharp TM-20 device for $100-$150 and then activate PocketMail service for under $10 per month or $99 for one year. Unlike laptop computers, PocketMail devices are easy to use, highly portable, inexpensive, and don't need a telephone jack or data line to send or receive e-mail. You use the device with almost any telephone by dialing a toll-free number to transmit information.

- New gadgets are always hitting the market such as two way pagers, text pagers and cellular telephones with text messaging. These provide consumers with a great deal of options on technology and price. Simply figure out what you need and how much you can spend and you'll be on your way to stress-free e-mail.

For more information and tips for staying connected, visit www.pocketmail.com or call 800-390-5034.

Prison

remarks by requesting that those in attendance remain in order and talk one at a time, asked Warden William Wohlford to address the crowd about the implications of the lack of prisoners at the center.

Armed with charts that indicated that the prisoners brought in from Indiana were no more violent than the ones at the prison now, and in some cases are less violent, Wohlford said keeping the prison open would be beneficial both to the prison and the community of Wheelwright.

Wohlford said Corrections Corporation of America (CCA) could handle the extra prisoners with the facility as it is, but said to alleviate some of the fears expressed by citizens in Wheelwright, the company planned stricter security measures including a second fence and either an electronic detection device or a tower that would be manned 24 hours a day, plus other improvements in security.

Wohlford said $4.5 million a year in employee salaries would be lost if the prison were closed. He said typically these monies turn over in the community four times, resulting in an $18 million impact on the local economy.

"All of us here understand this, but what about the older people?" asked commissioner Andy Akers.

Wohlford explained that he and other prison officials were going to the Wheelwright Senior Citizens Center the next day (Wednesday) to explain the situation to seniors.

Wohlford said there was "no way to convince everybody. That's why we all have to work together. It involves us all. I'm a citizen of Wheelwright."

Charles Johnson, who recently became the city policeman, asked about extra police protection for the city. Wohlford said the city would realize extra revenue if the prison accepted out-of-state prisoners.

Johnson asked if that meant the city could have an extra police officer. Wohlford said that would have to be decided by the commission, indicating the commission could use the extra money for the police department if it desired.

Wohlford said the prison was training a special emergency-response team that would handle situations where prisoners became a problem. He said the center has not had an escape since 1997.

Wohlford said the Lexington and Louisville media "would make a big deal out of this," and suggested that the local people should work to see that the area has "more jobs, better security and more revenue."

Wohlford said the center didn't really need the city's approval, but wanted a sense of unity in the decision.

By a 5-0 count, the commission passed a resolution in support of the expansion of the prison. The decision was greeted with applause from the crowd, many of whom were employees of the center.

The item about armor dealt with a grant of $388 dollars to buy special clothing for the city police. The city will not be required to expend any funds for the clothing.

The next scheduled meeting will be in January.

Meliorism: A Victorian idea worth remembering

Many worthy writings were left to us by Mary Anne Evans, the English novelist born in 1819, but a single word among them merits special note. The word is meliorism, which she invented to describe an outlook that the world may be bettered by individual endeavor.

It may seem such a simple idea, almost an assumption, a notion too small or commonplace to voice. It is anything but, and a glance at its origin shows why.

Evans lived and wrote in the first half of the Victorian era, an age of great achievements and relentless turmoil that offers some obvious parallels to our own.

Scientific discovery, rapid industrialization and moderate political reforms gave many in England the basis of a great optimism — a sense that the world was the best it could be, or at least moving toward that ideal state. But accompanying upheavals in social order, economic structure and religious adherence inclined others to the opposing stance of pessimism. The importance of individuals, and their efforts, seemed to be both shrinking and expanding.

Evans was no detached observer of these trends. Her rejection of religious practice cost her the affections of her father, to whom she was especially devoted. Old friends deserted her when she decided to live openly as the lover of a man she never married. A woman in a world owned by men, she found it necessary to present such works as "Silas Marner," "The Mill on the Floss" and "Middlemarch" under the pen name George Eliot. She struggled with the world, and frequently with depression.

Asked once if she considered herself an optimist or a pessimist, she chose a third alternative and gave it a name, drawing on the root shared by "ameliorate" and other words.

Meliorism has sometimes been described as a sort of a compromise, a midpoint in a spectrum ranging from pessimism to optimism, but in its inventor's mind, it had the additional and important quality of personal involvement. Optimists and pessimists can remain inert, disconnected from the world they survey; a meliorist cannot.

"Our deeds determine us as much as we determine our deeds," she wrote, and here she referred not only to the accomplishments that might be measured as heroic, historic or grand. Meliorism is also an everyday, everyman kind of thing, and a lens we might use for examining our daily lives, in search of opportunities to try.

"The growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts," she wrote as "Middlemarch" came to an end, "and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been, is half owing to the number who lived faithfully a hidden life, and rest in unvisited tombs."

Hopes 911 surveying doesn't follow history

Editor:

A few days back, My wife and I were out doing some errands when we came up on a car with a swirling yellow light and a man with his arm out the window of the car and his car was on the main highway. When I stopped he didn't say anything, so I asked if anything was wrong. All he said was "911".

This business of 911 surveying reminds me of my much younger days when they were surveying the river banks of the Big Sandy for lock and dam consideration.

I hope the 911 system will turn out better because they wore the river banks out and nothing ever became of it. I see a great deal of similarity on the 911 circuit.

Many responsible for doll exhibit success

Editor:

Well, the 1999 International Doll Exhibit, held in PCC's Magoffin Art Gallery last week, has come to an end, and I have so many individuals to thank for making it one of the most successful cultural and educational community events at PCC in recent years.

More than 700 people attended, which included scores of area school children, and few left without feeling that their time had been very well spent.

The 140+ dolls, representing more than 60 countries and Indian nations, looked beautiful and intriguing within the decorative background of various artifacts, pictures, maps, handmade fabrics/clothing, and national flags (made by local high school students) adorning the walls.

As one PCC student, Rob Marcum, put it, the Exhibit was "...an awesome collection...I could not believe the diversity of the dolls...they represented the heritage and pride of many peoples."

"I couldn't help but feel a little like a child again and let my imagination take me to the places the dolls were from," remarked another student, Sherry Hilton.

"Dolls give a physical identity to people thousands of miles away," PCC student Jolean Goble added. "People can observe them without feeling like they are 'staring' and learn more about different cultures in a more relaxing way."

Those responsible for providing most of the dolls for this wonderful exhibit were Paintsville High School English teacher Dottie Lewis of Staffordsville; PCC student and Mountain Manor Nursing Home employee, Rebecca Estep of Flat Gap; Annette Williams, missionary to Togo, West Africa, for the Baptist Association for Worldwide Evangelism; Johnson County Clerk Betty-Jo Conley; and Barb Burke of East Point, who teaches art and music at Our Lady of the Mountains School in Paintsville.

Their collections of dolls from around the world, together with donations from various foreign embassies and numerous local individuals (Terrie, John and Josh Wells, Jean and Dennis Dorton, and Mauro Perez—all of Paintsville; Donna and Gary Lewis of Van Lear; Barbara Estep of Flat Gap; PCC students Christy Johnson, Bessie Morrison, and Melissa Johnson; and PCC teachers Tom Matijasic and Arif Azeem) certainly gave a true "community" flavor to this event.

Adding to this community spirit was the generosity of many local businesses and restaurants as well:

Text of Gov. Paul Patton's inaugural address

Editor's note: On Tuesday, Gov. Paul Patton became the first governor in two centuries to be sworn in for a second consecutive term of office. What follows is the text of his address after accepting the oath of office.

Thank you, Secretary Riley for your kind words and for your presence here today.

Justice Lambert and members of the judiciary; Speaker Richards and members of the General Assembly; Lieutenant Governor Henry and other constitutional officers; former governors and other distinguished guests; family; and my fellow Kentuckians.

I stand here humbled with the knowledge that, knowing full well my strengths and weaknesses, you have again placed upon me the responsibility of chief magistrate of our Commonwealth. Your expression of confidence in our administration compels me to rededicate myself to your service; to recommit myself to work for you every waking moment; to redouble my efforts to seek your advice and counsel.

Four years ago, when Judi and I stood before you to accept this office, we set the bar high for our administration. It's been a good four years — for Judi and me; for the people we've worked with; for the people of Kentucky. We're proud of what we've done, but this is not a day to revel in the accomplishments of the past. It is rather a day to set new goals; a day to look for new horizons; a day to renew our commitment to make Kentucky the very best that it can be!

We're assembled here to celebrate once more the heritage of our homeland, the land we call Kentucky. Our state is more than just 40,000 square miles of majestic mountains and sparkling streams and golden cornfields and rolling bluegrass pastures. Kentucky is a people unique in their gentility, devoted to family, with a sense of place, willing to work from dawn's Band aid?

'Tis the season of brotherhood and joy. Here we are once more in mid-December in a season that has been labeled a time of giving, a time for sharing, and for brotherly love. It is a time of brilliant colors and of wishing and hoping. I would like to share with the readers a few thoughts on this week's observations.

• When I was much younger, I was blessed to be a part of the Boy Scouts of America. I can remember precious few things from that period of my life. But I remember vividly marching in a Thanksgiving and a Christmas Parade. I loved it. It was such an honor to march before my city.

A Christmas parade has been scheduled for the 22nd, and the entire county is invited to participate. It is scheduled to take place here in Prestonsburg. Thus far, we have had two businesses committed to having floats in the parade. And one elementary school has committed its forensics team. One elementary school.

The best part of a parade is the marching bands who sport their school colors, playing loud and cheerfully, stepping with pride before the crowd. But not one school has offered to share its band with the county. None. All have passed on the chance to show off their school pride to the county.

Less than a week ago many of the area bands went to Lexington. There our kids played in front of people who care little about them or their efforts. Here in their home county these same bands refuse to play. It is too close to the holidays.

Do the bands play Christmas songs during the winter season? Do they still practice marching when the weather is cold or inclement? Basketball teams play during the winter break; can bands? Have the band directors even asked the kids, or have their plans to leave during the break superseded the county's pride in seeing their kids perform?

I don't know. I just think it is a shame that the schools have so little confidence and pride in their children they won't give them the opportunity.

• This past Tuesday was Pearl Harbor Day. Did you know that? Such an awful day in American history should be remembered by all. Because of what happened in Pearl Harbor many of our relatives gave up a part of their lives for our nation. Some gave all. But as I look at my desk calendar the date wasn't even noticed by the makers of my calendar.

What a nation we have become when we refuse to see our past. Because when we look at our past we can remember those who kept the world free.

A number of World War II vets still live. It is these men and women who made the world a safer place to live. It is a shame we have already forgotten them.

• The flags at our county courthouse and at the Justice Center are in poor-to-sad condition. While efforts are being made to replace these flags, I have to wonder, are there still people who sigh with pride when they gaze up at the United States flag?

I noticed the flags' sad state almost three weeks ago. I was a flag bearer for my elementary school. It matters to me. And it should to you, too.

• And finally, after speaking casually to our county attorney, I found out that last year our tiny, insignificant, small populated county was third in the state in crimes prosecuted in district court. A comment here could go either way. Do we have that much crime? Do we have that good of a police force? Or are the prosecuting attorneys that good?

I don't know, but it is something to ponder.

Success

The Mandarin House Restaurant, Fazoli's, and Fiesta Place (all in Paintsville), Sam An' Tonio's, Rite Aid, Reno's Roadhouse, L'il Caesar's and Chinese Harvest Restaurant (all in Prestonsburg), each of whom contributed something for the International Food-tasting Table at the Friday evening reception for contributors.

Special thanks also go to Amy's Hallmark of Paintsville for lending the doll stands, The Strong Museum of Rochester, New York, for lending transparencies and slides of their doll collection, and to the Yokahama Doll Museum, of Japan, for their donation of a lovely illustrated book of dolls they have in their collection.

The "Mountain Outreach" girls, Donna, Tara and Tasha Church and Christine Perkins, must be gratefully acknowledged for donating a doll for our future use, which is representative of North Africa. In addition, Tasha graciously agreed to appear several times during the week in the Native American Indian costume that she had made herself. She is a PCC student of Cherokee extraction and is proud of it.

Others who helped to make this event successful were PCC students Cindy Rodrigues-Risner, Vicki King, Heather Witten, Jill Horton, Debora Lewis, Bobby Baldrige, Jennifer Johnson, Rob Marcum, Michelle Lowe, Elsie Bailey, Rita Ratliff, Kathy Fitzpatrick, Linda Fyffe, James O'Bryan, Lisa Gibson, Scott Williamson, Mary Jackson, Jennifer Henson, Mallory Wright, and Melanie Davis.

PCC's Della Pack and our M&O staff ought to be thanked for helping to set things up, and the girls from the Johnson County Public Library (Esther, Mary-Ann, Pat, Karen, and the others) were most generous in providing books and information needed to provide some hands-on and visual materials for visiting school children.

I would also like to thank the local radio stations, especially WSIP, WKLW, and WQHY, and newspapers for announcing the event and particularly Mike Goins, of WSAZ-TV, out of Huntington, for taking time to come and do a feature presentation on the Exhibit for Channel 3's six-o'clock news program. He and cameramen, Jim Beckus, did a great job.

Most of all, much appreciation is here expressed to my wife Elaine, son Tony, daughter Linda, and to PCC work-study student, Lura Thompson, for all the help they gave on a daily basis to make this fantastic event possible.

To wind this letter up, here are a few comments PCC students made after having visited the 1999 International Doll Exhibit:

"It was an excellent chance for people in eastern Kentucky to witness international versions of the most popular and enduring toys ever." (Darrell Stone)

"...It brings culture to the college, and the plus part is that the community, students, and PCC faculty were all involved." (Cindy Rodriguez-Risner)

"Even though I do not care for dolls, I really enjoyed it." (Justin Hopkins). "I think that it is very important for us to take a look at different cultures and their ways of life, to see if there are ways we can improve ours." (Melanie Davis)

"Regardless of where you are, the language of dolls seems to be known by everyone. The exhibit shows the public the diversity that surrounds us." (Heather Witten)

"The dolls told a story of their homelands...I hope the show returns again next year...it has touched many people, including children. I am glad I was one of those people." (Chastity Trador)

"The International Doll Show was wonderful!" (April Meek-Kestner)

Again, many thanks to everyone!

God's creation reveals His genius

GOSPEL ACCORDING TO ME

Someday, if you're not feeling particularly enthralled with God, take a few minutes to consider the magnificence of His creations.

I don't know whether the Lord made the universe in six 24-hour days, or whether those "days" in Genesis are symbols for six eons. I can't say; I wasn't present.

But I am sure that however He did it, God is the Maker. You'll never convince me that our incredible cosmos just happened by accident. It's too complex, too vast, too interconnected.

It lifts my spirits to think about such matters.

The author of Psalm 33 exhorts us to praise God because "the Lord merely spoke and the heavens were created. He breathed the word and all the stars were born."

Here are some facts about God's planets and stars:

Our sun is merely one average-size star — yet it's 300,000 times as large as Earth. Earth is 92.7 million miles from the sun.

If Earth were a golf ball on the carpet in a large room, Pluto, the most distant planet in our solar system, would be a pea eight miles away. The sun would touch the 8-foot ceiling. And that's just our own dinky solar system, which revolves around our one star.

Outer space is so enormous that its distances must be measured in "light years," or the distance light travels in one earth year — 6 trillion miles.

Other than our sun the next nearest star to Earth, Alpha Centauri, is 4.3 light years, or 25.8 trillion miles, away.

Our sun is a tiny part of the Milky Way galaxy. Our galaxy alone contains 400 to 600 billion such stars. There are up to 100 times as many stars in our galaxy as there are people on earth.

The observable universe holds about 100 billion galaxies. That's roughly, say, 60 trillion stars altogether. That scientists know of.

So how powerful is God? The Psalmist tells us that the Lord merely breathed the word and all the stars were born.

But I also like to consider the flip side of all this: the minuteness of God's handiwork.

In Psalm 139, the Psalmist says to the Lord, "You made all the delicate, inner parts of my body and knit me together in my mother's womb. Thank you for making me so wonderfully complex!"

You see, although people might appear to be only specks of dust among the great cosmos, we were created more carefully than the galaxies.

Every human body contains 75 trillion cells. Cells are so small that it would take 10,000 of them to cover the head of a pin.

Yet each of those 75 trillion cells is itself a microscopic universe. Each cell contains 46 chromosomes and five to seven feet of DNA. The DNA in each cell is made up of 3 billion pairs of chemicals.

Every individual cell contains enough information to fill 100 million pages of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. (My source for this? The Encyclopaedia Britannica.)

Each cell is capable of digesting its own nutrients, providing its own energy and reproducing itself. It's composed of even smaller units that serve as its skin, skeleton and digestive tract.

Each cell communicates with its neighbors and cooperates with them in assemblies that form tissues and then organs.

The brain alone contains 30 billion special neuron cells and 250 billion other cells that help the neurons communicate. Every neuron is connected with 50,000 other neurons.

The Grand Canyon is about a mile deep, two to 20 miles wide at various points and 200 miles long. I heard one scientist, who holds a Ph.D. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, estimate that the information contained in the cells of one human body — if printed on standard sheets of paper — would produce enough books to fill the Grand Canyon at least 20 times.

The Lord who made us is an awesome God. He's the One the prophet Isaiah referred to as "the Mighty Almighty."

Now I know what Isaiah meant.

Spiritual care for caregivers

(NAPSA)—The Lord is merciful and will not reject us forever. He may bring us sorrow, but his love for us is sure and strong.

Lamentations 3:31,32
The Bible continues to provide strength for people facing the physical and emotional stresses of various diseases.

In addition to those who are ill, most diseases present special challenges to those who are caregivers. Alzheimer's disease, which affects about four million Americans each year, is one such condition.

Studies show that more than 80 percent of Alzheimer's caregivers say they frequently experience high levels of stress, and nearly half say they suffer some form of depression.

To promote awareness of the toll that Alzheimer's disease takes on both patients and caregivers, the American Bible Society is offering the Scripture Portion, God's Love For Us Is Sure & Strong. This publication uses Scripture passages to examine the feelings that caregivers may experience when caring for loved ones.

The chapters are organized around six topics: facing your feelings; facing day-to-day care; facing difficult decisions; facing death and loss; God's caring for you as you care for others, and a parting word. Key Scripture verses are highlighted to provide caregivers with reminders that God cares for them and their loved ones and promises to support and sustain them in their caregiving work.

It's recommended that this Scripture Portion be shared with caregiver support groups, churches and friends of caregivers.

To obtain a free copy of this Scripture Portion, contact the American Bible Society at 1-800-322-BIBLE (1-800-322-4253) and mention source code #99GRU68AN for item #107869. Organizations that want multiple free copies can fax quantity requests on official letterhead to the American Bible Society, Scripture Grants Program at 212-408-1554.

first light 'til day's last rays to create a better life for themselves and their children. We're bound together by more than just geography. More than the people of almost any other state, we share a common ancestry, a common heritage, an uncommon pride in our Commonwealth. And we understand full well that it's up to us to forge a better future.

Two hundred years ago, we were a land of promise, leading a new nation as it expanded into the heartland of a virgin continent, rich in resources beyond imagination. We were leaders in commerce, religion, medicine, education and political wisdom.

We have not always lived up to our promise.

A hundred years later, at the turn of the last century, our state was in chaos — a governor assassinated, partisan politics destroying all vestiges of statesmanship, troops in the streets just to keep order, the very brink of civil war. Where did we go wrong? Let us not brush over the raw truth that the middle 100 years of our common journey as a people were an abysmal failure — resources squandered, talents wasted, opportunity lost, a failure of leadership. But I see a ray of hope in this last half of the 20th century when we've been willing at times to face up to our responsibilities and do the things that any progressive society must do.

Let us learn from history but let us not dwell on the past. The past is prologue; the present is transient. It's the future we're assembled here to contemplate. And we can have a good future, if only we take advantage of the opportunities that are before us. But that requires action on our part. We cannot afford to tolerate the status quo.

An old proverb reminds us of four things which, once gone, cannot be recalled: the spoken word, a spent arrow, a life lived, a neglected opportunity. Let us not squander the opportunity that is at hand. Let that not be the legacy of this administration, of this group of leaders, of this generation of Kentuckians!

Let us not for one minute forget that for all the attributes of a great society, it's leadership, and only leadership, that can bring all the assets of a people together to create a prosperous and compassionate community. That is our challenge today, to maximize the talents, the labor, the intellect, the energy of our people through a government which can create the framework for a society where every individual can reach their maximum potential and where, working together, we can make the whole greater than the sum of its parts.

During these next four years we will address the educational needs of all our people, from our youngest children to our adult workforce. We'll invest in more infrastructure, we'll seek solutions in health care, we'll protect the environment, we'll punish criminals, we'll improve our economy, we'll make our tax system more fair and we'll address a hundred other important topics; and then we'll gather here again in four years to renew our commitment and to resolve to do even more.

Governor Jones had intended to be here with us today but a family illness has prevented him from attending. I'm honored to share this platform with the other seven living governors who have preceded me. Each has made their contributions to improving our society. My challenge is to build upon the foundation they have laid and deliver to my successor, as they have delivered to me, a Kentucky better prepared to meet the challenges of the 21st century. The famed journalist Walter Lippman wrote the final test of a true leader is that he leaves behind him in other men the conviction and the will to carry on.

Let me reassure you here today, our resolve to carry on, our resolve to do more, our resolve to stay the course has never been stronger!

Today we begin a new term and I am determined that we'll begin and execute these next four years with all the enthusiasm and vigor of the past four. We bring to the people of Kentucky a seasoned and experienced leadership team, its ability unquestioned, its integrity impeccable, its commitment unequalled, its knowledge of state government unique in the annals of the Commonwealth. As much as we've done these past four years, we're committed to do more in this second term. Our efforts to improve can never end. It was President Eisenhower who reminded us that accomplishment is a journey, not a destination. Let us never say that we have gone so far we can go no further. The question is, how far along that journey will we go these next four years? It is my determination that we go further than we have ever gone before!

As we respond to the pressures of today, let us not ignore the needs of tomorrow. As we enjoy the investments made and the infrastructure built by our predecessors, let us commit ourselves to invest in the capital needs of the future. And the new capital of the knowledge-based economy of the 21st century will be the intellectual capital of our people. It's not the kind of capital you get at the bank or on Wall Street. It's the capital we put into the minds of our people day by day, in the classrooms of our common schools and our colleges, with the labors of our teachers, with the efforts of our learners. Let us invest in the intellectual capital of our people and the physical capital of our communities. Let it not be said of us that we failed to build a brighter future for the people of Kentucky!

This is truly an historic occasion, not because we're inaugurating the first governor to serve consecutive full-terms in 200 years but rather because we've selected a group of leaders who've shown by their past actions that they have the capacity to rise above partisan posturing, to put the welfare of Kentuckians above their own political fortunes, to see that distant horizon that promises a new dawn for the Commonwealth.

As we close the book on the 20th century, a century of mixed achievements at best, let us rededicate ourselves to the proposition that men and women of good will, working together in common cause, can resolve their differences, can recognize the wisdom of those who hold opposing views, can overcome their biases and prejudices and can reach a common ground which will move Kentucky forward!

Some are concerned about our ability to work together these next four years. I believe we can. I have the faith of my mother. Almost two years ago, she completed her mission here on earth and if I've made a contribution it is, more than anyone else, her effort manifested in me. She was an optimist. No matter what happened, no matter how bleak the future, no matter how dire the consequences, it was, in her view, God's will.

I'm the optimist today. I've come to know the members of the Kentucky General Assembly as well as any Governor in modern times. I fully understand that they speak for the people of Kentucky. I know that they're just as knowledgeable, just as hard working, just as committed to the future of Kentucky as I. And I believe we can come together to move Kentucky forward. Let us do in our actions what we know in our hearts is right!

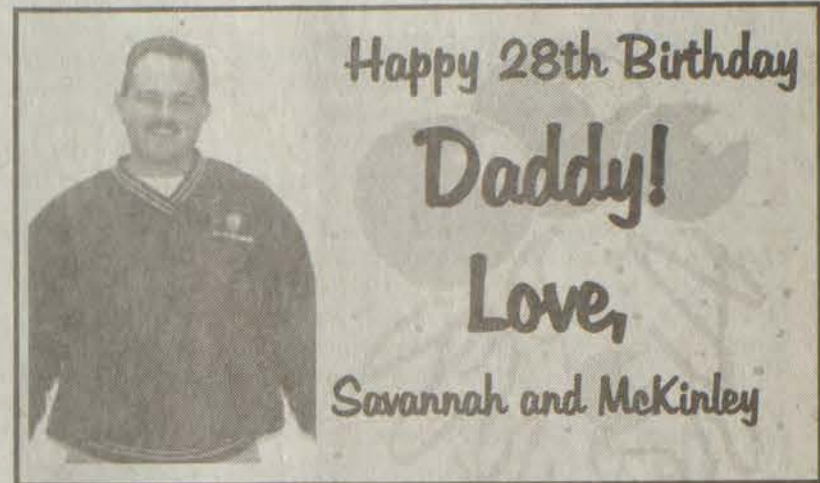

Thomas Jefferson once said, "Honesty is the first chapter in the book of wisdom." Let us be honest with the people of Kentucky. — Abraham Lincoln once said, "Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it." Let us have faith in the ultimate wisdom of the people of Kentucky. Let the party of Jefferson and the party of Lincoln today here assembled in common cause, commit ourselves to look only at the future of Kentucky!

To the members of the Kentucky General Assembly, again I offer the hand of partnership, a commitment to work with you as an equal, independent in responsibility but one in objective as we struggle to find that path to a brighter future.

To the people of Kentucky, I pledge to you that I will wake up every morning and I will go to sleep every evening committed to doing all I can to make your future brighter as God gives me the insight to see and my health gives me the strength to do.

You are a valiant people. You deserve a better future. I commit to you my all, my intellect to its maximum effectiveness, my strength so long as it shall endure, my honor as my most sacred possession. You deserve no less. I can give no more. Good day and God bless you.

Happy 28th Birthday

Floyd receives award from the National Panhellenic Conference

The National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) foundation announced Dr. Deborah L. Floyd of Lexington, as the first winner of the Women in Higher Education Achievement Award. The award is designed to recognize an outstanding woman who has made a significant difference in higher education through her scholarship and leadership. The NPC represents 26 women's national sororities including collegiate members, alumnae, and advisors. The award was competitive as 18 outstanding finalists nominated by different national sororities were considered. The Selection Committee noted that Dr. Floyd's personal and professional life exemplified the values of the NPC and that she fit the criteria to perfection.

Dr. Floyd earned a doctorate in education at Virginia Tech and a bachelors and masters degree at Texas A & M University-Commerce where she was a member of the Gamma Zeta chapter of Gamma Phi Beta. For the past 25 years she has distinguished herself as a progressive leader in administration, teaching, and service and is a visionary in higher education administration who is committed to student success.

"I would advise a young woman graduating with a Bachelor's degree," says Deborah, "to embrace the fact that her graduation is merely one step toward a journey of career development that will likely include additional higher education. To be effective, all of us must focus on learning new skills, knowledge and understanding every day of our lives. I would also encourage her to carefully think about what kind of difference she would want to make in her life. All too often young graduates think mainly of earning money. While financial stability is an important part of our development, a young woman who is truly 'educated' will want to strive to give back to those who helped her achieve her accomplishments."

In recognition of the significant difference Deborah has made in higher education through her scholarship and leadership, this award was presented to her at the biennial meeting of the National Panhellenic Conference in October 1999 at the Saddlebrook Resort in Tampa, Florida. She delivered an inspirational luncheon session speech where she told stories about her career experiences, thanked her mentors and sisters, as challenged women to positively persist through challenges in life.

A 1978-79 recipient of a Gamma Phi Beta Foundation Fellowship, Dr. Floyd credited Gamma Phi Beta Sorority with helping to fund her doctoral education. To help the sorority celebrate their 25th anniversary this year, she donated $1874.00 to the Gamma Phi Beta Foundation in celebration of the 1874 founding. Dr. Floyd said that the donation was an opportunity to give back to the sisters who helped her and that she hoped her gift would help another sister succeed and perhaps, in the future, stand before the group as the recipient of the Woman in Higher Education Achievement Award.

In July, Deborah stepped aside as President and Chief Executive Officer of the Prestonsburg Community College of the University of Kentucky (UK) to take a sabbatical that allowed her to study and consult. Upon completion of her sabbatical, including study at Harvard University, Deborah started a new assignment in her University. Effective November 16, she is Executive Assistant to the Chancellor for Special Projects at the University of Kentucky. The Chancellor is in charge of all undergraduate and graduate programs and services, except medical and athletics at UK.

She additionally serves as a speaker at various institutions, has published more than 25 articles and books, and is active in state and federal organizations.

YOUR ATTENTION PLEASE:

Fletcher & Halls, your Chevrolet, Buick, Oldsmobile dealer in Pikeville is proud to announce that we have had another record breaking year. We sincerely thank all our customers and staff for once again making us the market leader.

But, we have a problem. . . Truckloads of new 2000 models have arrived earlier than expected giving us a THREE MILLION DOLLAR inventory of brand new 2000 model cars and trucks at year-end. So, what's wrong with that? It's great for the customer — a huge selection of Chevrolet, Buick, and Oldsmobile cars, trucks, vans and sport utilities. The problem is year-end taxes on a three million dollar inventory.

We know it's a busy time of year for you. But, if you can take time to give some thought to your vehicle needs and you determine that you will be in the market any time soon, NOW is the time to get an incredible deal. We must reduce inventory by December 31.

Now through December 31, Fletcher & Halls will be selling all new 2000 model cars, trucks, vans, and sport utilities at factory invoice and you can keep any rebate that may apply. This is not a hoax. We take pride in being a no-gimmicks, no tricky-fine-print kind of dealership. This is the real thing. It is also not a "cash and carry only" offer. All of our many financing options are still available with flexible credit terms to suit your needs. We still welcome trade-ins, all warranties still apply, and we will continue to provide the high level of customer service that has made us the market leader.

Please stop by our North Mayo Trail location and browse around. Our construction project is nearing completion but we still have a way to go, so please pardon any inconvenience it may cause. We thank you for your business and we sincerely wish you and yours a safe and happy holiday season and all the best in the new year.

School board clears way to add elementary principal's position

To hire or not to hire... that was the question. And now, after three months of debate and disagreement, members of the Magoffin County School Board may have finally settled the dispute during a special session meeting, Tuesday, November 30, at the school system's central office.

In its initial meeting after the start of the current school year, an effort was introduced by board member Gerald Howard to hire another full-time grade school principal.

At that time, the board voted unanimously for the proposal, but later voted to rescind the action as members Vince Minix, Carolyn Isaac and Larry Carpenter followed board attorney advisements that the initial action had not followed proper procedure.—The Salyersville Independent

Brown to serve as top official for assembly

It is time for Governor-elect Lindsey to fulfill her duties as the state's highest office holder. Brown, a student at Magoffin County High School, was elected last December as Governor of the Kentucky Youth Assembly by more than 700 delegates from schools across the state, and is now preparing for the KYA conference. Brown will attend the conference, December 9 through 11, to complete and serve her term as KYA's highest ranking official. She is the first Governor of KYA to be elected from Magoffin County.—The Salyersville Independent

Gibson balks at center's request for $1.3 million

Pike Judge-Executive Karen Gibson yesterday said Gov. Paul Patton's request that the county contribute $1.3 million toward the acquisition of property in Pikeville to make room for construction of the Eastern Kentucky Exposition Center would jeopardize other county projects, and that Patton and others should seek the funds elsewhere to help pay for the facility.

In a fiery statement released on December 4, Gibson said the request — made last week in writing by Patton — amounted to the money being "raided from (the county's) budget," and that allocating such a large portion of the county's surplus fund would delay plans to extend water lines to Pike's outlying areas.—Appalachian News Express

County delays its decision on center $1.3 million issue resurfaces Friday

After more than four hours of colorful and oftentimes heated debate, a final decision on whether to grant Gov. Paul Patton's request that the county dip into its budget surplus and allocate an additional $1.3 million toward the completion of the East Kentucky Exposition Center got temporarily shelved Monday night.

The delay followed Assistant County Attorney Roland Case's determination that the fiscal court could not vote on the matter during Monday's regularly scheduled meeting because it had not been included as part of the agenda, and that a waiting period of at least 24 hours had to be observed before the item could be taken up and voted on again.—Appalachian News Express

ATV accident claims life of area teenager

An investigation continues into a four-wheeler accident that claimed the life of a 15-year-old Wayne County (W. Va.) boy.

According to West Virginia State Police, Anthony Waller, of Jennies Creek, died from injuries and was found lying over a hillside by West Virginia Tpr. W. E. Muncy, who had been searching for the four-wheeler.

A press release states that the trooper spotted Waller, who was not wearing a helmet, driving an ATV at a high rate of speed on Jennies Creek Road. After observing Waller violating a state law, the trooper made a U-turn, activated his emergency lights and siren but failed to get Waller to stop.—Mountain Citizen

Endicott assaulted

Two bizarre assaults occurred in Inez recently, and Inez City Police Chief Mitchell Williamson says he will not tolerate this type of violent criminal activity.

Williamson is investigating an assault that occurred Thursday evening (Dec. 2) on the parking lot of Inez Shoprite. According to Williamson, Toby Endicott was putting groceries into his vehicle when he was attacked by three males.

The assailants, who were parked in an extended-cab S-10 Sonoma pickup truck in front of Rite Aid, came across the parking lot and began assaulting Endicott, who was kicked repeatedly and knocked unconscious.—Mountain Citizen

Utility expansions to ring in new year

Utility Superintendent Larry Herald told commissioners Monday that most of the expansion projects — including the northern growth sewer project, the Jenny's Creek water line project, the central system water main replacement project, and the Greentown sewer project — are all awaiting okay's for the state's Division of Water. Once that approval arrives, the bidding process on those projects can begin.—The Paintsville Herald

As he prepares to hang up the robe he's donned for nearly 20 years, Circuit Judge James A. Knight was given an early and tearful farewell party Monday by his colleagues in the 24th Judicial Circuit.

Many Hazel Green route patrons in Morgan opt for new local addresses

The results of a U. S. Postal Service survey to select Morgan County addresses for postal patrons in this county served by the Hazel Green Post Office in Wolfe County are in, according to John Conley, chief communications officer at the West Liberty Police Department.

Conley, who is in charge of mapping for the county-wide E-911 system, said the announcement of the address changes means that mapping for the emergency dispatch system can now be completed. He said the new addresses will become effective sometime shortly after the first of the year.—The Licking Valley Courier

Morgan

State Police said the boys, ages 10 and 15, were sitting next to each other enroute to school at Ezel Elementary when an argument erupted.

The older youth allegedly pulled out a knife, poked the 10-year old in the leg and threatened to "cut his guts out," the KSP said.

The bus driver was unaware of the situation until the younger boy mentioned it as he was disembarking the bus shortly after 6:30 a.m.—The Licking Valley Courier

Students are awarded for proficiency in mathematics and for technology skills

More and more, students are learning that getting an education pays. In recent days, competence in math earned cash awards for a group of Morgan County High School freshmen who excelled in math on the 1998-99 CATS test.

A group of fourth-grade technology students at West Liberty Elementary earned an opportunity to demonstrate their interest and proficiency in science before a statewide group of educators and students at a state showcase in Louisville in March by winning the Region 7 Showcase in Maysville on November 20.—The Licking Valley Courier

Four buildings now on track

Steering committee members learned last week that the Community Development Initiative plan has moved several steps closer to reality — not only will the city hall/welcome center go out for bids December 14, but major progress has been made on two other components, the education complex and artisan center.

Two buildings in downtown Hindman have been chosen and are now under contract for purchase by the Knott County Arts and Crafts Foundation. Louisa man, 88, dies after 'freak accident'

An 88-year-old retired school teacher died last week when he suffered a heart attack after the porch of his Louisa home collapsed, injuring his wife.

"It was a freak accident," Louisa Police Chief Kevin "Tim" Adkins said in describing the incident that unfolded last Wednesday at the home of Homer and Edith Moore.

Adkins said that the Moores were attempting to carry an exercise treadmill that had been delivered to their South Jefferson Street home into the residence at 10:22 a. m. As they were carrying the package across the concrete front porch, the structure caved in and the Moores fell into a hole caused by the collapse, Adkins said.—The Big Sandy News

Success of internet registration evident on first anniversary

More than 250,000 men have registered with Selective Service using the Internet since the program's inauguration exactly one year ago.

Agency officials say online registrations now account for about one quarter of incoming registrations.

December 2 marked the first anniversary of the Selective System's popular Internet registration program. Its start-up received worldwide press coverage last year.

Federal law requires men turning 18 who reside in the United States, citizens and non-citizens alike, to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. About two million men are required to register every year.

Male U.S. citizens reaching age 18 must register regardless of where they live, so Internet registration is especially convenient for American men who reside overseas.

"When Selective Service began the online registration program, it was an immediate success," says the Gil Coronado, director of Selective Service. "It is gratifying to see the number of young men who are responding by logging on and registering via computers at schools, libraries and homes, and from overseas locations. In fact, no other service we've provided has had more immediate impact than online registration. Its popularity surpasses our most optimistic expectations."

To register online, a man with a valid Social Security number must connect to the Selective Service Web Site at <http://www.sss.gov>.

After keying in his registration information, he clicks on the "Submit" button and instantly receives his Selective Service number. Additionally, he receives a formal acknowledgment postcard in the mail within two weeks.

Men also can register by returning a registration form received in the mail, by registering at any U.S. post office, or by checking a box on government forms such as the student financial aid application.

Even so, Coronado points out that the fastest and easiest way to register is through the Internet.

Although late registrations are accepted, a man cannot register after reaching age 26. Failure to register is a felony and causes a man to be ineligible for student loans and grants for college, most federal and many state jobs, jobs with the U.S. Postal Service, and federal job training programs. Moreover, male immigrants who are subject to the registration requirement also may be denied U.S. citizenship if they do not register.

Although the U.S. relies primarily on an all-volunteer military today, Selective Service continues to be a low-cost national defense manpower "insurance policy" that provides the means to reinstate a draft, if necessary.

"Without Selective Service and the draft registration program, America would be far less prepared to respond in a crisis," Coronado explains. "The success of online registration is not only a milestone in our agency's history, it is a milestone in America's history."

Transy offers students summer academic camp

Transylvania University is offering junior high and high school students a summer academic camp with computer emphasis.

As participants in this program, students will learn about computer fundamentals as well as acquire proficiency in several computer languages. In addition, students will explore four other academic areas and attend standardized test preparation sessions daily.

Two sessions of the camp are offered: Session I, June 11-16, is for eighth, ninth and 10th graders; Session II, June 18-23, is for 10th-12th graders. The cost is $250 per camper and enrollment is limited to 50 students per session. There is no deadline to apply; however, applications will not be accepted once the limit is reached.

For more information or to register, contact Donna Ellis at 606/233-8228.

Transylvania, founded in 1780, is the nation's 16th oldest institution of higher learning and is consistently ranked in national publications as one of the top liberal arts colleges in the country.

A Look At Sports County sports

• The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats, winners of the Lady Hawk Invitational last week, will be taking part in yet another tourney when they journey to Lexington for the Queen of the Bluegrass invitational beginning Saturday, December 18.

Coach Bobby Hamilton has an outstanding basketball team that is well balanced and playing well. I am sure they will face some good competition in the event and that's what makes you a better team — good competition.

• Coach Bobby Spears has a winner at Shelby Valley. Summer Jones, Ashley Damron and company had little trouble handling Pike Central last week.

I still say it is going to be one of the best basketball seasons ever in the girls 15th Region. There are so many good, good basketball teams.

• Allen Central assistant basketball coach and football mentor Kevin Spurlock will host the annual Dog Campbell Classic (Christmas tournament) beginning December 22.

The tournament is always a big draw and held at a time when the high schools are not in regular play.

• Early season success. Three of our four county teams are in the win column with the exception of Prestonsburg in the boys ranks. But the way the Cats played Elkhorn City, look for this ballclub to come around by tournament time. There is a lot of talent on this team and it will surface before long.

The South Floyd Lady Raiders are two wins deep into the season. Kandence Mitchell and Martha Crawford are playing great basketball.

• Coach Cassandra Akers will board her team on a bus this Saturday night and head to Madison Central (Richmond) for the team's first game since falling to Pike Central last weekend in the Lady Hawk Invitational.

When it gets later in the season, Betsy Layne would be one team I would not want to play.

• Is there hope for all the other regional teams? Paintsville fell by 16 points to Perry Central Tuesday night and the Tigers loss should give some hope to the other regional schools.

• Pike County Central Coach David Rowe may have lost four starters from last year's Hawks team, but he has a pair of dandies in Shawn Scott and Tristan Davis.

Coach Rowe said, "We are coming along. It is going to take us some time. We have some young players. Our juniors are going to have to step up and fill some big shoes."

• Stepping out of the local sports scene, the UK Wildcats picked up a win over UNC-Ashville Tuesday night. It wasn't really a team you wanted to go out, beat and say you are getting better. When the Cats whip a Michigan State, Louisville or Missouri, then you can say they have improved.

I guess we sometimes lose sight of the fact UK is a very young team. We have come to expect them to win every time out and anything else is unacceptable. But this could be the year they will struggle in order to get better. They may lose 10 games, but if they improve, then next season we can have higher expectations of them. No one wants to win as bad as they do.

• One bandwagon I have gotten on is that Saul Smith should be replaced by J.P. Blevins. I think Blevins, with more time on the court, will eventually make a good point guard.

Jamaal Magloire doesn't have to worry about being a lottery pick come June.

• Don't forget, the Magoffin County at Prestonsburg game has been moved back to tonight at Prestonsburg. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday night.

Until Sunday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Take the kids to Sunday school and church this Sunday.

Shots won't fall, but Rebels do in 67-63 loss

Slone scores 17 in loss to Pike Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central Runnin' Rebels could not get their shots to fall, from the floor as well as the charity stripe, and it cost them their first setback of the still-young basketball season.

The Rebels dropped to 3-1 on the season when they lost a 67-63 decision to a good Pike Central team Tuesday night at Allen Central.

Allen Central dropped the game because their shots would not drop even though they had good looks at the basket all night long.

Not only did the Rebels fail to connect from the floor, but they shot less than

Meade, Tackett combine to lead South Floyd past Millard, 94-75

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The South Floyd Raiders just missed the century mark, but did score a 94-75 win over the Millard Mustangs Tuesday night at Raider Arena.

Millard came into the game with their best start in several years, as Joe Marson's ballclub has been playing good basketball this season.

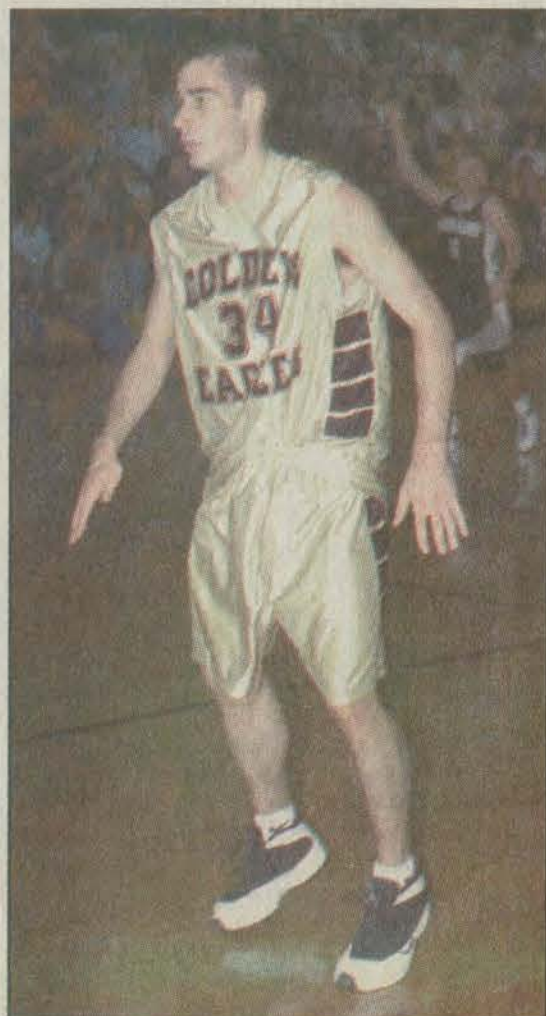

The loss was the first for Millard, and South Floyd won for the third time this season to go with one loss.

John Meade continued to burn the nets for the Raiders, finishing with 24 points to lead the offense. Sophomore Rusty Tackett netted 16, and guard Ryan Shannon shook off his scoring slump with 16 points.

Jimmy Stumbo and Byron Hall just missed double figures, finishing with nine points apiece. Freshman Michael Hall added eight and Dusty Tackett had five. Josh Newman came off the Raider bench and scored five.

Adam Coleman led the Mustangs with 18 points. Brandon Ward tossed in 14 with Mark Tackett netting 12. Chris Coleman finished with 11.

Preview... Coach Turner brings Eagles to Allen Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Two weeks into the 1999-2000 high school basketball season and already we have had some very close encounters throughout the 15th Region.

Early in the year, most of the games pit the regional teams against one another or some out-of-the-region ballclub.

Tonight at the J.E. Allen Arena, another top region game tips off when visiting Johnson Central will try to solve the pressure defense of the Allen Central Rebels.

Johnson Central is coming off winning its own preseason tournament and had a battle with Betsy Layne and South Floyd in pulling out the victories.

But tonight, they will face one of the quickest teams in the 15th Region, but also one of the smallest.

Allen Central can expect much of what they experienced Tuesday night, when they fell to Pike Central, 67-63. The Hawks

MITCHELL COLEMAN will be the focus of attention for the Allen Central defense tonight when Johnson Central visits Allen Central tonight (photo by Ed Taylor)

50 percent from the free throw line and missed some crucial tosses down the stretch.

Where Allen Central could not connect, Pike Central did. Junior Shawn Scott hit four straight charity tosses to seal the win for the Hawks.

"We also missed some down the stretch, but Shawn stepped up and hit some big ones for us," said Pike Central Coach, David Rowe. "On that last play of the game we wanted to put the ball in his hands in case he got fouled."

A free throw by Jeremy Sexton pulled the Rebels to within two points of the Hawks, 61-59 with 4:12 left to play. Both teams struggled in the next two minutes, with the Rebels missing some easy uncontested shots underneath.

"Their shots were not falling," said Coach Rowe. "I don't think it was because we played such great defense."

Allen Central's failure to connect from the outside inspired the Hawks to stay in their 2-3 zone the whole night. Coach Rowe said that was the only way his team could play the Rebels.

"We couldn't match up with them man-to-man," he said. "They are so much quicker than we are. We tried to push them out on the court and stayed with our zone. I feel that hurt them."

Tristan Davis ripped the Allen Central defense with 15 first-quarter points and finished the game with 23. Davis scored the first 10 points for Pike Central, staking them to a 10-4 lead early. His three-point basket with less than a minute to play in the first quarter gave the Hawks a 19-6 lead. A three-point basket by Larry Mullins and Jeremy Sexton's lay in made it 19-11 at the first stop.

"Davis did a good job for us tonight," said the Pike Central coach. "He hit the base line jumper. He and (Kevin) Looney both played well and that really helps you out. It was a super effort by the whole team. Shawn is just a junior and I think he is going to be one of the best players in the region by the time he graduates."

Looney scored 13 points in the game and Scott finished with 15. Chris Clevenger, who played in foul trouble most of the night, had 11 points.

Allen Central never did quit and came back to within one point, 30-29 in the second quarter. Allen Central's defense forced Pike Central into 11 first-half turnovers and seven of those came toward the end of the second period.

"Allen Central is an excellent ballclub," said Coach Rowe. "They kept the pressure on all night. They forced us into some costly mistakes."

Coach Rowe said he thought his club did good overall in handling the pressure defense of the Rebels.

"We tried to attack it from the other end, and we ended up shooting some layups," he said. "We moved the ball good against their press early in the game and got a lead, a cushion to work with. But it seemed like at the end of the quarters we were tired."

Allen Central trailed 53-46 entering the fourth quarter. Pike Central stayed in front by five-to-seven points until Mullins buried his second three-point basket and Sexton hit a free throw to make it a two-point game.

With 2:56 to play, Rodney Scott missed the front end of a bonus foul. Trailing 63-59, Sexton missed an uncontested layup. But Sexton, on a strong move underneath, scored with 1:49 to play to cut the lead to two, 63-61.

Allen Central's press started to cause the Hawks problems, as Mullins made a steal and flipped the ball up the floor only into the hands of a Pike Central player. On a blocked shot by Scott, Allen Central came up with the loose ball and, in a run up court, took a forced shot.

Two free throws by Shawn Scott with 32 seconds to play gave the Hawks a 65-61 lead. Sexton scored again underneath on a rebound basket with 20 seconds to play for a two-point difference, 65-63.

Leslie Slone attempted a three-point shot that missed bad, but Josh Howell came up with the long bounce and tried to go back up but was fouled, standing at the line with :02 on the clock needing two to tie the game. Howell missed the first, hit the second for a 65-64 game. With one second to play, Scott hit two free throws for the Hawks to put the game away.

Allen Central hit only 7-of-15 free throws. Pike Central was a little better with 11-of-17.

Slone led Allen Central's scoring with 17 points, including two treys. Sexton scored 15 after a slow start. Mullins finished with nine points and two three-point baskets. Scott scored eight and Jeremy Hayes scored six. Z.W. Chaffins added five points, Howell had three.

After lay off, Betsy Layne entertains Fleming-Neon

by Ed Taylor
 Sports Editor

It has been a week since Coach Brent Rose and his Betsy Layne Bobcats (1-1) have hit the hardwood for game conditions, but that will end tonight when Fleming-Neon arrives at the D.W. Howard Fieldhouse.

Betsy Layne has been impressive in its first two outings, even though the team did drop a 57-55 decision to the Johnson Central Eagles in the first round of the Clarence D. Rice Invitational last Friday night.

Betsy Layne won over a good Magoffin County team in their season opener.

Whether Scott Collins will be able to play is not known after he jammed the thumb on his right hand in the final seconds of the first half against Johnson Central.

It is a new-look Bobcat basketball team which has showed up for the first two games.

Adam Collins has been the big surprise for the Bobcats through two games. Not that Collins is not talented, but he has given more than expected on the court. He rebounds very well for his size in blocking out on the board. His inside play makes him a threat every time he touches the ball in the paint area.

Bradley Brooks is also a solid rebounder. Brooks is the garbage man on this team. He gets the loose balls and put-backs, a hard worker underneath the goal.

Justin Bartley runs the point for the Bobcats and against Johnson Central seems to have found the range behind the three-point arch.

Another surprise for the Bobcats has been the outside shooting of Brock Keathley, as well as his defensive effort. Keathley gives the Cats quickness and another strong play on the boards.

How much the week layoff will affect the Bobcats remains to be seen, but you can be assured that Coach Rose is not letting his team lose focus on what it must do against a good Fleming-Neon team.

The Bobcats get good bench play from Brad Daugherty and Shawn Rose. Rose relieves Bartley at the point guard slot while Daugherty will fill the position of either Keathley or Collins.

spread the court and had good execution in getting past the Rebel pressure.

The Eagles are perhaps one of the better passing teams in the region and bring a deadly outside shooting team to the hardwood.

Allen Central needs more point production from point guard Larry Mullins. Mullins has struggled offensively through the first three games but did manage nine points against Pike Central. However, he has played a solid floor game up to the Pike Central loss.

But as a team, the Rebels did not see their shots fall against the Hawks like the first three outings. Allen Central (3-1) will have to find a way to contain the quickness of the Eagles on offense.

For the Rebels, they will have their work cut out for them defensively, as they devise a way to slow down Mitchell Coleman, the high scoring forward of the Eagles. Coleman had strong outings against both Betsy Layne and South Floyd.

Tommy McKenzie gives the Eagles strong outside scoring. Marvin Fannin gives the Eagles a trio of double-digit threats.

Leslie Slone leads the Rebels scoring along with Jeremy Sexton. Slone is a three-point threat along with Mullins. Scott seems to be getting stronger under the basket and Sexton has been consistent in all four games for the Rebels.

This should be a good one at Allen Central. Tip off time is set for 7:30 p.m.

Tackett

The Raiders led early, building a big lead in the first half. Coach Henry Webb was pleased with the effort of his team.

"We played hard," he said. "We played well but not real well. We led most of the game and led by 20 points most of the time."

The Raiders owned a 17-8 lead at the first stop. Shannon scored six of his 16 in the opening period. Millard had trouble getting on track at the onset.

The Mustangs picked up their offense in the second quarter behind Coleman and Jason Sykes. Both had five points in the second period. Meade drilled two three-point baskets in the second quarter in scoring eight points. South Floyd went to the locker room with a 41-27 advantage.

Meade scored eight third-quarter points and Tackett added six in the period, as the Raiders began to pull away from the Mustangs. Dusty Tackett buried a three-point basket in the quarter.

In the fourth, Rusty Tackett drained two treys and had eight points in putting Millard away.

South Floyd continued to struggle at the free throw line, hitting only 16-of-29 attempts in a game where the whistle was heard often. Millard connected on 20-of-30 attempts.

South Floyd hit six three-point baskets. Millard outscored the host Raiders 31-26 in the fourth quarter. Mark Tackett had 10 of his 12 points in the fourth for the Mustangs.

After shooting a cool 39 percent in the first half, South Floyd heated up in the final two quarters and shot a sizzling 58 percent, making 21-of-36 attempts.

Stumbo pulled in 13 rebounds for the Raiders and had nine blocked shots. Shannon had five assists, with Dusty Tackett dishing off for four. Kyle Tackett, who finished with two points, was all over the floor defensively and had eight deflections, three assists and three rebounds. Hall and Rusty Tackett had five steals in the game.

Millard outrebounded the Raiders in the game, pulling down 51 team rebounds.

Blackcats looking for first win as Magoffin County visits

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ricky Powers had the last look at the basket Tuesday night when the Prestonsburg Blackcats hosted the Elkhorn City Cougars. Powers put the last-second shot but the ball would not fall.

Tonight, the Blackcats are hoping for a different ending in their quest for their first win of the still-young 1999-2000 basketball season.

The Magoffin County Hornets will visit the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse and, like Prestonsburg, are in a rebuilding year.

Coach Danny Adams always dresses a competitive team and this year's team, though young and inexperienced, did pull off a big win over Perry Central last week.

Coach Jackie Day Crisp's ball-club is 0-3 on the season but the Cats have played hard the three times out this season. They lost to Elkhorn City by one point in a game that could have gone either way.

Powers leads Prestonsburg in scoring but needs for someone else to step up his game and contribute offensively.

Brandon Branham is the big man in the middle for Prestonsburg and is flanked by Dustin Music and Matt Tackett. Kyle Shepherd starts at a forward slot.

John Dixon has played well for the Cats off the bench.

Magoffin County brings a 2-1 record to the fieldhouse tonight with tip off scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

South Floyd Middle routs Adams, 57-17

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Landon Hall scored 14 points and Brian Meade added 10 as the South Floyd Middle School Raiders defeated Adams Middle School 57-17 in grade school basketball Wednesday night at Adams. Ryan Johnson netted eight points.

Mullins led Adams with six points and Meade scored three for the Blackcats.

South Floyd jumped out to a 20-4 first-quarter lead, with Hall scoring six of his 14 points in the period. Clinton Meade, Brian Meade and Adam Tackett had four points apiece in the first period. Adams lived at the free throw line in the second stanza and attempted 15 in the period, hitting only six. The team did not have a field goal in the period. The Raiders led 34-10 at the half.

Jason Hughes had the lone field goal for the Blackcats in the third quarter, as South Floyd went on a 16-3 run that netted them a 50-13 lead after three quarters.

In an earlier game, South Floyd won over the Mountain Christian Academy Falcons 67-31 behind Adam Tackett's 18 points. Landon Hall finished with 13 and Brian Meade tossed in eight. Shaun Reed came off the bench and scored six points for the Raiders. Ryan Johnson, a sixth-grader, scored seven points, including a three-point basket.

Clinton Halbert finished with 11 points to lead Mountain Christian Academy.

Girls Three Rivers Tourney, Buchanan rolls past Piarist

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Former Allen Central Middle School freshman guard Amber Scott, who took her act on the road to June Buchanan this season, was one of four players who scored in double figures for the Lady Crusaders in a 56-22 win over The Piarist School in the Three Rivers Tournament.

Megan Smith led all scorers with 19 points, while Scott added 13. Kara Caudill and Jonda Conley scored 12 apiece.

Sophomore Kari Ross scored 10 points to lead Piarist. Clarissa Mulliken added five. Heidi Caudill, Nora Traum and Tai England scored two points each.

Smith scored 12 of her 19 points in the first quarter to stake Buchanan to a 27-2 first-quarter lead. Scott hit a three-pointer and scored seven first-quarter points. Conley had six in the first period. Ross had the lone field goal for the Lady Knights.

Piarist trailed 37-8 at the half. Buchanan failed to even score in the fourth quarter but Piarist could not take advantage of the Buchanan drought.

Chasity Ison pulled down seven rebounds for the Lady Knights. Ross hauled in eight and Rachell Hall had six.

P.S. Thanks Santa for making all of us children, so happy, especially me.

Dear Santa Claus,
Mommy and Daddy say I've been very good this year and I agree. I took out the trash when they asked me. I didn't beg Mom to buy me candy at the grocery store (too much). And best of all, I only argued with my brother three times. I think I've been so good this year that I deserve a whole lot of toys, so here's what I want:

Dinosaur, Small So Laier, Gorgynite, Soldier, Robot, Helicopter, Cars, George of the Junge, Space Toys and Big soldier.

Dr. Saifullah Treats a Special Friend

Dr. Saifullah, the pediatrician at Mud Creek Clinic in Grethel, knows that children are special people. Just ask him--

"I love children. I love to interact with kids...playing with them and seeing their smiling faces."

From newborn checkups to immunizations, your child's health and well-being are his greatest concerns. Dr. Saifullah is a Board Certified physician specializing in pediatrics. He has hospital privileges at both Highlands Regional Medical Center and Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

For your child's sake, you want a person that makes them feel comfortable. For your sake, you want someone who is experienced.

Dr. Saifullah is now accepting new patients. So bring your child and have your child bring his/her "special friend." Dr. Saifullah will treat them, too.

Cruising big time

by Nivia Bruner

Taller than the Statue of Liberty, longer than a 17-car freight train, larger than four 747's, wider than an eight-lane freeway. It's the world's largest passenger ship—142 thousands tons—Voyager of the Seas.

The Voyager of the Seas arrived in Miami on November 11, in preparation for its maiden voyage on November 21. The 142,000-ton vessel, with a total cost in the area of $700 million, was completed at the Kvaerner Masa shipyard in Turku and handed over, October 29, to Royal Caribbean chairman Richard Fain.

The ship, with a capacity of 3,838 guests in 3,114 lower berths, is 1,021 feet in length and 157.5 feet in the beam, or more than 50 feet too wide to pass through the Panama Canal.

On November 15, I was fortunate enough to view the Voyager of the Seas during a Pre-Inaugural Tradeshow overnight sail to sea. There, of course, was a limited amount of time to inspect every inch of the ship, but believe me, I tried. To my amazement, I have never experienced such a master-piece.

Preparing for its entry into year-round, seven-day service from Miami to the western Caribbean, Royal Caribbean and the Port of Miami are completing the world's largest terminal facility, a total of three terminal structures with about 250,000 square feet.

Royal Caribbean is promising that its new facility will provide fast and streamlined check-in procedures, despite the large number of passengers who will board the ship. Late this summer, Royal Caribbean sent nine of the ship's top officers, including Captain Sven Pettersen, to spend 10 days in a training facility in Dania, Florida, with a $2 million simulator of

Natasha's STARS

ARIES

(March 21 to April 19)

Meditation puts you in touch with the philosophy of your feelings. You realize that your imagination is based on the great ideas that people have pondered in the past.

TAURUS

(April 20 to May 20)

You feel as if you are dragging more than your fair share of baggage around with you everywhere you go. Learn to maximize your capacity rather than passing it all off onto an unsuspecting person.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20)

Your power is most strongly based on your ability to draw from within yourself. A challenge brings your skills to a new level, and you leave the field of competition with respect from all who are involved.

CANCER

(June 21 July 22)

You may feel a sense of shyness that makes you want to be alone. Know that being alone and being lonely are two separate things. Use the silence to soothe your emotions.

LEO

(July 23 to August 22)

An energy is being exuded from you in wavelengths of incredible frequency. Perhaps you are able to convert the sunlight in your favor. Share your spirit with those around you.

VIRGO

(August 23 to September 22)

The generosity that you contain within could come head-to-head with a certain stinginess. The battle that ensues is enough to knock anyone out.

LIBRA

(September 23 to October 22)

The ability to analyze the unseen allows you to read into the actions of others. The stories you are able to accumulate make for a novel that could hit the best-seller list.

SCORPIO

(October 23 to November 21)

Watch for those who may be plotting and planning against you when you are looking the other way. Do your best not to stoop to their level when you discover their antics.

SAGITTARIUS

(November 22 to December 21)

Creativity bubbles up from the depths of your soul to surprise you in weird and wonderful ways. Go with the flow that is led by your childish and imaginative intuitions.

CAPRICORN

(December 22 to January 19)

Probing the unknown leaves you with a bad taste in your mouth. Even the known can be a bit unsettling. Make sure that the light is adequate enough for the job you've undertaken.

AQUARIUS

(January 20 to February 18)

The intensity with which you find yourself going through your week almost amazes you. There are extremes in many different areas that are vying for you to apply it toward them.

PISCES

(February 19 to March 20)

If you are standing by the sidelines, people may assume that you are not an active part of the game when that couldn't be further from the truth. The team captain does not necessarily have to be the best player.

YOU BORN THIS WEEK: Your ability to steady the ship even when the sea throws up a storm makes you an extremely desirable shipmate. You have the potential to shine whether you are a deckhand or the captain. The equality with which you treat people is the envy of others.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

by Chuck Shepherd

Life Imitates "Weekend at Bernie's": In November, government officials in East London, South Africa, thwarted an attempt by two men and a woman to register a corpse for pension benefits. According to the South African Press Association, the three propped up the recently deceased man (who they said was merely ill) at the window serving the illiterate and held his hand out to be fingerprinted before a clerk got suspicious.

— A November feature in Toronto's Globe and Mail newspaper recounted the exhibits in Philadelphia's Mutter Museum of medical oddities, including the preserved corpse of a woman with a condition that turned her fatty tissue, upon her death, into a soap-like mass that halted decomposition; the "Muniz collection" of circular-sawed Peruvian human skulls; the extensive, 70-year-old Chevalier Jackson Collection of Objects Swallowed and Inhaled; and the huge colon (described as "about the size of a large basset hound") that caused fatal constipation.

Latest Inappropriate Nude Activities

Parishioners at Saint Andrew's Church in south London, England, overpowered a naked, sword-wielding man after he had attacked nine people during a children's service (November). Two former Rutgers male basketball players filed a lawsuit against the school and its coach for making them run laps naked during a practice two years ago (November). A naked University of California at Santa Cruz student was hit by a car, commandeered it, drove off, and promptly crashed into a tree (October). A judge released often-nude gardener Robert Norton, 76, of Pekin, Illinois, after his 19th arrest, but said he will go to jail if he is seen naked again (August). ("I can't (promise) anything," Norton said.)

Compelling Explanations

— Douglas Alan Feldman, 41, was sentenced to death in Dallas in August for two road-rage murders, based in part on letters he had sent to a former girlfriend after his arrest. Wrote Feldman: "I found it quite pleasurable to kill those two men. If you are an angry person and someone provokes you to violence, (it) feels wonderful to cause their death and to watch their pain."

— When Lawrence Russell Brewer Jr., the second defendant to go to trial in the 1998 Jasper, Texas, racial dragging death, showed up in a Bryan, Texas, courtroom in September 1999, the arresting sheriff had trouble recognizing him because Brewer was so much heavier (having gone from a 30-inch waist to a 40). Brewer's explanation was that he so feared that a Y2K computer crash would wipe out his prison commissary account that he had decided to spend down all his money right away on junk food.

— In August, an 87-year-old woman, pursued for 30 miles along southern California's Pacific Coast Highway by siren-blaring sheriff's deputies who wanted to stop her for a traffic violation, said when she finally pulled over that she had kept driving because the deputies never did what cops do in the movies: overtake her and force her over. And one month later a jury

On tap at Wildlife Education Center

Frankfort — The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) is holding several seasonal classes at the Salato Wildlife Education Center this month.

The center will be closed December 23-27, 1999 and December 31, 1999-January 3, 2000 for the holidays.

Create holiday centerpieces out of natural materials found in your own back yard. "Seasonal Centerpieces" will be held at the wildlife education center Saturday, December 11, 1-3 p.m. Responsible collection techniques and the importance of native plants will also be discussed.

Make special treats for wildlife this winter. Geared toward anyone five years old and up, "Decorating for Wildlife" will be held Saturday, December 18, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. The class teaches participants how to feed winter wildlife with special holiday decorations including garlands of popcorn and fruit, peanut butter pine cones and uniquely shaped treats for our feathered friends.

Participants will also learn about the common backyard animals that appreciate these edible gifts.

Learn the basics of tree identification on a "Winter Tree Walk," Saturday, December 18, 3-3:30 p.m. Participants will learn how to identify trees common in Kentucky using leaf type, arrangement and scars, along with buds and bark characteristics. Caring for back yard trees will also be covered.

Need to do some holiday shopping? Be sure to check out the Holiday Sale at the Kentucky Afield Gift Shop through December 22. During this sale, guests receive 25 percent off regularly priced merchandise. (The sale excludes collector art.)

Receive an additional 10 percent off by showing your paid Kentucky hunting/fishing license.

The Kentucky Afield Gift Shop is open Mondays in December, 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Telephone and Internet sales are also available. Call 1-800-858-1549 or visit the KDFWR website at www.state.ky.us/agencies/fw/kdfwr.htm.

The wildlife center is located on the KDFWR Game Farm on US 60, just west of Frankfort.

Highlights of 1999 Shakertown roundtable feature rising young Kentucky leaders

For more than two decades, the Shakertown Roundtable has provided a forum for leaders in various arenas to engage in an open dialogue about opportunities and challenges facing Kentuckians.

This year's Roundtable features 40 rising young leaders from across the state who gathered for the 1999 Conference on Kentucky Leaders for a New Century—exchanging ideas with past and present Kentucky leaders.

KET presents highlights of the conference in the annual series on public issues sponsored by the Shakertown Roundtable of Pleasant Hill. Kentucky Leaders for the New Century: The 1999 Shakertown Roundtable airs on KET Wednesday, December 15, at 10 p.m.

The same young people also attended one of two preliminary briefing sessions at General Butler State Park and Barren River State Park in October to ready themselves for the Roundtable event. Highlights of these sessions will also be featured in KET's broadcast.

Kentucky Leaders for the New Century: The 1999 Shakertown Roundtable is a KET production, produced by Renee Shaw. The program is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Colorado symphony jazz special on KET

The jazz stylings of piano virtuoso Marcus Roberts and the award-winning sound of the Colorado Symphony Orchestra combine for an unforgettable evening of musical entertainment with "The Colorado Symphony: Jazz for Orchestra."

The 90-minute program, recorded in 1998 at Denver's Performing Arts Complex, airs on KET, Wednesday, December 15, at 8:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Marin Alsop, the Colorado Symphony performs compositions by James P. Johnson, Duke Ellington, George Gershwin and Scott Joplin. Selections include Johnson's "Yamekraw," penned in 1927, as an African-American response to another featured selection, Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

Blind since the age of five, Marcus Roberts began playing piano at age eight. He has recorded a wealth of original solo and band arrangements. His first three recordings reached number one on Billboard's traditional jazz chart.

The recipient of numerous awards, Roberts was the winner of the first Thelonious Monk Competition in 1987. He has toured extensively with Wynton Marsalis and served as music director for the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra.

"The Colorado Symphony: Jazz for Orchestra" is produced by Rocky Mountain Public Broadcasting Network in association with Brandenburg Productions Inc., and Colorado Symphony Orchestra. The program is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Talking Turkey

If you're like the majority of people who celebrated the Thanksgiving holidays by eating turkey and dressing with all the trimmings, you're also probably one of those thousands of people who uttered the words, "I am stuffed." And, of course, if you live close to relatives you also probably had more than one meal that was cooked by many hands.

Actually, we participated in three big meals. Armed with one of Ronnie's homemade pecan pies we went out to the Fergusons at Slate Branch and joined them and the Blairs, the Hills, the Mullins and at least 40 friends and family in what would have to be described as a feast.

This was around 12:30; so, after the pie (and much socializing centered around two beautiful newborn babies within the clan), we headed back to Turner Branch for the Wheeler pig-out.

Once again, there was turkey and dressing, chicken and dumplings, and the rest of the trimmings. This second meal occurred around 4 o'clock and lasted the rest of the evening. As you can imagine, this is when we uttered these famous words mentioned at the first of this column.

Being the gourmet cook I've always been, I prepared almost everything with the exception of the turkey, dumplings, dressing, gravy, pies and rolls, because in my opinion anyone can cook a bird. In fact, I don't think it's much of an accomplishment.

SMILE AWHILE...

All you do is put it in the oven, bake it, and take it out when it's brown. Why, they even baste themselves. So, I ask you — what's the big deal?

But, it was the third meal that provided the drama. Most people eat leftovers on the day after Thanksgiving, but since we had never invited my new in-laws and their relatives to dinner at our house, we thought that throwing a post-Thanksgiving dinner on Friday for both our families would be fun.

Everything went fine until the bread went into the oven.

"When will the rolls be done?" Ronnie inquired.

"They'll be ready to eat when you smell them," I replied.

"Well, then what do I smell now?" he questioned.

"The rolls can't be done already, you just put them in," Amanda stated.

"Is that smoke coming out of the oven door?" Willy asked.

Mother slowly walked over to the oven, casually opened the door, looked inside, and just as casually closed it and walked away as she said, "It's on fire."

At this point, Ronnie ran to the oven to take a peek. "It looks like a scene from the Towering Inferno!" he exclaimed amidst the smoke that was now billowing out. "It's going to set off the fire alarm!"

"Oh, no it won't," I calmed him. "Just open a window."

That's when the fire alarm went off and my sister's neurotic German retriever started howling.

"Where's the fire extinguisher?" I asked, as Ronnie assured the curious guests that all was under control.

Derek threatened to kill Maria unless Casey followed his orders. Carmen's cards showed her daughter to be in great danger. Wait To See: Maria faces her arch enemy.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS:

Paul felt increasingly uneasy about Chris. Later, he got some information about the letter from Victoria's "number one fan." Brad wondered about Victor's reaction if he learned about him and Nikki. Meanwhile, Nick pushed Ramona for information on Victor's whereabouts. Billy brooded over Mac's decision to go to the dance with Raul. Wait To See: Nikki gets an upsetting call.

Fans are perplexed that "All My Children" allowed James Kiberd's (Trevor) contract to expire because they couldn't reach a meeting of the minds. As any contract law professor will tell you, there is always a point at which both parties will agree. You simply have to stay with it until they do.

One bright note: There are rumors Kiberd could return to the soap later on. And unlike real life, the manner of his departure would probably have no bearing on that eventuality.

Apropos of the law professor's dictum about contracts, Victor Newman, Eric Braeden's character on "The Young and the Restless," left Genoa City on a mysterious trip. We've now learned that rumors that Eric wasn't happy with the renewed contract he was offered proved true. There was a point at which he reportedly decided he would simply leave the show rather than settle for something he didn't want. But fortunately, both sides "took" a mind meeting and Victor will be back with Eric still playing him..

By the way, did the rumors that Michael Nader (Dimitri, "All My Children") was being wooed to step into the role of Genoa City's magnetic magnate hasten the final negotiations? If so, it wouldn't be the first time this has happened to an actor. One long-time star on "One Life to Live" told me that during a drawn-out contract negotiation, she came to work one morning to find the reception area filled with her look-alikes. She called her agent and came to terms with the soap a day later.

Cast Notes: On "Port Charles," Erin Gray ("Silver Spoons," "Buck Rogers," etc.) has assumed the role of Nicole Devlin, last played by Barbara Stock ("Spenser: For Hire") É Melissa Reeves and Lisa Rinna are reportedly being wooed by "Days of Our Lives" to resume their respective roles as Jennifer and Billie É Jacob Young (ex Rick, "The Bold and the Beautiful") may soon join "Dawson's Creek" É Greg Evigan's ("Melrose Place") daughter, Vanessa, will play Brittany on "The Young and the Restless."

The Washington Opera presents a new version of Puccini's La Rondine on KET

A new tragic ending, rediscovered text and stunning sets and costumes highlight "The Washington Opera Production of La Rondine," a two-hour special airing on KET Monday, December 13, at 9 p.m.

Soprano Ainhoa Arteta stars as Puccini's beguiling heroine, Magda, "The Swallow" of the title. The Washington Opera production of this poignant work, written by the composer of "Madame Butterfly" and "La Boheme," features the concept and stage direction of Marta Domingo, the scenery and costume designs of Michael Scott and the conducting of Emmanuel Villaume. Actress Dixie Carter hosts.

Marta Domingo mounted this version of the opera with exquisite sets and costumes that recapture the Belle Epoque France of sumptuous salons, fashionable dance halls and misty villas on the Cote d'Azur. Puccini's evocative score chronicles the romantic tale of a beautiful young courtesan who masquerades as a working-class girl to pursue her dream of true love.

The story unfolds as Magda, who has settled into a life of luxury as the companion of a wealthy banker meets Ruggero, an earnest young gentleman from the provinces, and is immediately entranced by him.

Risk, romance and passion take center stage as Magda's sprightly chambermaid Lisette carries on a parallel secret affair with Prunier, a cynical poet. Taking refuge by the sea, Magda and Ruggero live in bliss, poor but happy, though Magda still fears revealing her past.

Love is put to the test when Ruggero offers marriage, and fate steps in to bring the opera to a powerful, tense and moving close.

"The Washington Opera Production of La Rondine," produced by The Washington Opera, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at <http://www.ket.org>, a Kentucky.com affiliate.

Priority treatment when cruise ship runs aground

(NAPSA) - When Norwegian Cruise Line's newest ship, the Norwegian Sky ran aground at the juncture of the Saguenay River and the St. Lawrence Seaway in Quebec, no injuries were sustained by the 1,924 passengers and 787 crew members who were on board for the 10-day Canada/New England cruise.

Repairs to the hull of the 77,104-ton Norwegian Sky were required and the tour was cancelled. Passengers were just three days away from the end of their cruise. The cancellation also affected scheduled vacationers who had just begun the land portion of their tour in Washington, DC, and a third group who were packed and ready to leave from their homes.

The travel agent, Your Man Tours, began contacting their clients with news of the cancellation within minutes of hearing of the ship's dilemma. The decision was made to give full refunds to those clients who were two days into their tour. For clients who were about to leave on their trip, full refunds were provided.

Your Man Tours clients who were aboard the Norwegian Sky at the time of the grounding received prompt refunds for the unused portion of their tour. Norwegian Cruise Line had indicated that these passengers will receive certificates for a free future cruise with NCL. Those passengers who were scheduled to board the Norwegian Sky were promised discount certificates for future NCL cruises and a hotline was established for all those affected by the cancellation. YMT apprised their clients of these additional benefits when their refund checks were sent.

In this day and age, vacationers interested in cruises have become very wary of travel scams and tips-offs. Even those who book through reputable travel agents often must wait 6 to 8 weeks for any form of refund in the case of cancellations. In 32 years of operation, Your Man Tours had never had a ship run aground on one of their tours. In this unexpected circumstance, they were anxious to uphold their reputation of providing high-value full-service vacations to their loyal repeat clients, as well as their new customers. Clients are top priority, and refund checks went out within two weeks, before the company had recouped any of their losses.

In May of 1999, the independent rating agency ValueStar-using extensive customer satisfaction ratings-gave YMT the prestigious "ValueStar Certified

It's important to choose a reputable tour company when traveling.

Award." Your Man Tours achieved the top level of "High Customer Satisfaction."

YMT continues to offer affordable vacation adventures, which include cruises to the Caribbean, Panama, Hawaii, Canada and Alaska.

As nerves began to unfold I shouted over the alarm, "It wouldn't have been so bad if you hadn't told everybody I didn't fix the prime rib!"

"But you DIDN'T fix it."

"That's not the point; they didn't know," I argued.

"What were you going to tell my mom," he fumed, "when she complimented you on the meal?"

"I was going to do what any red-blooded, newlywed who invited her in-laws to dinner for the first time would do," I retaliated, "LIE!"

"Sara," my mother admonished me. "Your sweet potato casserole was the culprit. Its spill-over caused the fire after you put the rolls in the oven."

"Does this mean we're having light bread?" someone shouted.

"Well, whoever calls the fire department, tell them to pick up a package of brown n' serves."

As it turned out, the fire wasn't much of a blaze after all, because the next time we opened the door to take care of the raging flames, we found it had extinguished itself. Of course, this made for more smoke causing the fire alarm to go off three more times before we finally removed the batteries.

Ronnie stood in the smoky doorway, hands on hips, as he said, "This is a sitcom."

And I have to admit, it was.

Kentucky Crafted: The Market offers a homecoming for 2000

On February 5 and 6, 2000, Kentucky Crafted: The Market's 19th annual exhibition will turn Kentucky's eyes upon the tradition of its artists and craftspeople.

With the "Homecoming 2000" theme, this year's Market will not only showcase craftspeople who are currently juried under the state's Craft Marketing Program, but also former exhibitors who will bring their products back to where it all started.

"Homecomings and reunions are traditional events in Kentucky," says Program Director Fran Redmon. "What better way to celebrate the millennium than to bring back many of the wonderful craftspeople that have been part of The Market's success and history for nearly 20 years?"

This special millennial Market will not only give visitors the opportunity to come home to the fine traditions of Kentucky, past and present, but also a chance to travel through the time span of the 20th century—from vintage art to '90s contemporary art—one last time.

Barbara Harrell, who has exhibited at The Market since 1992, will return this year with her life-size vintage figures. The idea for her craft originated while she was looking through old magazines with a friend and became intrigued with the fashions of the 1920s.

She began cutting wooden figures out of wood and painting them in early 20th century attire, complete with fitting accessories, such as umbrellas and mirrors. Through her work, she hopes to give a "real visual image of what life was like in the 1920s."

On the other end of the spectrum, Kim and Chris Fitch give an ancient rural art form a contemporary twist with their "whirligigs," moving sculptures that blow in the wind. Springing from the idea of a weather vane and from Chris's fascination with windmills, these whirligigs have enjoyed a great deal of popularity over the past few years. As the name suggests, these are not simply instruments for wind tracking; they are fun, innovative sculptures that depict a slice of life.

One whirligig is a dog messing in the flowers and Granny yelling at him; another depicts the dog pulling Granny's undergarments off the clothesline. Most of the sculptures have five-to-seven moving parts and span about 30 inches in length. Each one is accompanied by an imaginative poem or story.

The Fitches' also feature another type of product. The "Preacher's Stress Relief" is a small box with the devil and Moses standing on top. Moses is holding in his hands the Ten Commandments, and with a turn of the crank on the bottom of the box, Moses whacks the devil on the head with his scroll.

Kim Fitch, who is a ninth generation Appalachian, is proud to be able to carry on the traditions of her upbringing in what she calls a "true vein." She credits much of that opportunity to the Kentucky Craft Marketing Program.

"It's the best thing that ever happened to us," she says. "Kentucky takes such good care of its artists. It restores dignity and respect to its traditional art forms."

Another artist who will attend The Market this year produces works that represent Kentucky through the last thousand years, in its entirety. David Dick practices art of a different kind. His materials are words, and his finished products are books—both fiction and non-fiction—that explore and celebrate Kentucky people, and old and new traditions.

Dick's most recent books, "Home Sweet Kentucky," which he co-authored with his wife, Lalie, is a collection of more than 90 essays about Kentuckians.

"There are wonderful people doing good things and living in this Commonwealth," said Dick. "It is our mission to sit down with them in their homes or workplaces and listen to them. They have interesting stories to tell."

Dick's other novels include "The View From Plum Lick," "Peace at the Center," "The Quiet Kentuckians," "A Conversation with Peter P. Pence," "The Scourges of Heaven," and "Follow the Storm," each of which somehow focuses on life in Kentucky.

"There are 3.8 million Kentuckians—most of whom are very good, and these are the ones that don't get any attention," says Dick. "We want to break through stereotypical thinking and writing. The Market represents what we are trying to do." From Barbara Harrell's reminiscent images, to the Fitches' upbeat whirligigs, to the timeless words of David Dick, Kentucky Crafted: The Market, Homecoming 2000, focuses on what Kentucky is and has been for hundreds of years.

"It is a showcase for Kentucky's cultural products," says Redmon. "All the wonderfully created works reflect on the spirit of the people and tell the story of our traditions. That heritage is still being carried forward today through historic and contemporary interpretations of craft, art, books, music, and food. Visitors to The Market will have all their senses fully immersed in an enriching experience that is truly and uniquely Kentucky."

The Market is open to the public from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday. The cost is $5 for adults and $2 for children ages 6-12. Children under 6 are admitted free. Parking is $3. The Market is sponsored by the Kentucky Craft Marketing Program, a state agency in the Kentucky Arts Council; Arts & Humanities Cabinet; Commonwealth of Kentucky.

CRITTERS CORNER

by Carol Combs-Morris, DVM

You've probably spent the last few weeks getting your house and car ready for winter, but have you winterized your pets?

As I write this, we are enjoying what I fear are the last few days of Indian Summer. By the time this is published, the cold weather may have come to stay. I'll be making my annual trip to Wal-Mart to lay in the winter supply of cedar chips. (I get even more strange looks than when I load the week's supply of cat and dog food.)

Your particular situation will dictate just what you need to do to prepare your animals for cold weather.

Let's start with shelter. I have so many dogs that I don't rely on regular doghouses, although the new plastic insulated types that come apart for cleaning are very nice, and I have a few that serve as extra resting places on milder days.

When we had central heat installed, we had the workmen run an extra vent into the kennel area, and at home, we had a vent placed under the front porch, and two openings left in the block foundation to allow the dogs access to the entire area. It's a pill to crawl under there to spread the cedar chips, but the dogs have a nice warm area all winter.

Doesn't Jeff Foxworthy say you might be a redneck, if, should your front porch collapse, it would kill more than three dogs?

If you are building a doghouse, something to keep in mind is to minimize drafts. It's best to build a rectangular doghouse and place the door near the end of one of the long sides. I've tried making door flaps out of mine belt, but my dogs all seem to think I've given them a new game, and the object is to see how fast they can remove it. You might have better luck.

I've also stumbled on a nifty way to make an insulated shelter for a cat or very small dog that can be used on a sheltered porch. Get a large, cheap Styrofoam cooler, and find two cardboard boxes—one that will hold the entire cooler, lid and all, and one that will fit inside the cooler. I don't like to leave the Styrofoam exposed, because cats tend to claw at it and dogs can't seem to resist chewing it.

Cut an opening in one end, as described for the doghouse, and seal any gaps with duct tape. A flap could possibly be left on one of the boxes to serve as a draft stopper for the door. With bedding placed inside, this seems to make a very comfortable sleeping box.

Remember how cats like to sleep on the warm motors of cars, so be sure to blow the horn or bang on the hood before starting your vehicle. I have seen many cats horribly mutilated or killed in motors, and of those who avoid the moving parts, I wonder how many are lost or killed when they are too terrified to move after the car starts, and fall out later.

I know this happens because I had a friend whose cat rode from Garrett all the way to Prestonsburg Community College somewhere up under the car. He was startled to see a cat that looked just like his in the parking lot, and even more shocked to discover, on closer inspection, that it WAS his cat.

She rode back home inside the car, and he never forgot to check the car for hitchhikers again—although I doubt that particular cat ever set foot near the car, having lost eight of her nine lives within half an hour.

One last reminder is PLEASE be careful with antifreeze. Animals often like the taste and drink it willingly. It takes an unbelievably small amount to kill an animal, and often by the time the animal is obviously sick, its kidneys have already started to fall.

Treatment exists for the condition, but it is prolonged, expensive, and frequently unsuccessful. If you even think your pet may have had access to antifreeze in any amount, CALL YOUR VETERINARIAN IMMEDIATELY. Your pet's best chance for survival is within the first hour of ingestion.

There are "safer" antifreezes on the market that are based on propylene glycol rather than the traditional ethylene glycol, and I think their slightly greater expense is worth it.

ANTIQUES

Q. My parents left me a set of 1950s cherry bedroom furniture. Unfortunately, it was stored too long in a closed room, and the drawers smell moldy. I have tried commercial disinfectants, but nothing has worked. Can you help?

A. Try spreading some fresh coffee grounds in the drawers and letting them sit for at least 24 hours. They might absorb the odor.

If that doesn't work, sprinkle the drawers with baking soda, and leave them open for a week. Vacuum and repeat if necessary.

If the smell persists, parch several handfuls of uncooked rice in a shallow pan in the oven. Place the pan and rice in a misty drawer to absorb the odor.

You also can try spreading cat litter or charcoal chips in the drawers. Close the drawers for several days, and repeat until the odor seems to be gone. Then wash the inside of the drawers and let them dry.

Some people solve the problem by placing the drawers outdoors in the shade, then using a fan to blow air through the drawers.

If none of these methods work, you can try varnishing the inside of the drawers to seal in the odor.

Good luck.

TIP: When storing dolls, old or new, be sure to remove any sticky tape that might have been used to hold bows or other accessories in place. The glue from the tape eventually would discolor the fabric.

Q. I recently learned that the vaseline glass candlesticks that sit on my dining room table get their yellow-green color from uranium. Does this pose a health risk?

A. The coloring agent used in making vaseline glass was the stable compound uranium dioxide, not the radioactive element uranium.

Tests to measure the emissions given off by genuine vaseline glass show they are on the same level as TV or microwave-oven emissions.

COUPON CORNER

by Marla Armbrust

TIP OF THE WEEK:

Believe it or not, I'm baking the same Christmas cookies with my children that I baked with my own mother. It's a family affair. On a weekend night in December, we all gather in the kitchen, turn on some Christmas music, and get to our cookies. The kids love this, even the older ones.

If you don't have such a tradition, start one. Baking with the family for Christmas really gives you a true holiday spirit. Best of all, I know that my kids will continue this tradition with their own children when they're grown up. I know I did.

If you can't bake, don't worry about it. This is the one time I'm going to steer you to "convenience" foods. There are pre-packaged sugar cookie doughs out there. All you have to do is roll them out, cut with the Christmas cookie cutters, and decorate. And, if you don't want to make your own icing, that's available in the store too. If you don't want to go fancy, simply decorate the cookies with colored sugar crystals or nonpareils.

Here are this week's offers:

MAXELL $5 GIFT CHECK, P.O. Box 42903, Dept. 566, Mesa, AZ 85274 (receive up to $15 good at Sears stores). For $5, send in the UPCs from at least $15 worth of Maxell products and your Sears

Cruise

the Voyager's bridge.

The Voyager's state of the art bridge is one of the first to organize all of its systems in the format of an aircraft-like cockpit, allowing the captain and a co-officer to operate the ship from chairs. Traditionally, officers stand at the controls on conventional cruise ships, according to vice president and fleet captain, Tor Stangeland.

"As on a plane, everything is displayed in one area and within easy reach," he explained, "and can be operated immediately." One other important feature is the radar display of the ship's predicted course up to six minutes advance, he said.

The most startling innovation in the voyager's interior design is the first horizon atrium ever built into a cruise ship, extending for the length of two football fields and punctuated by two other atriums, each 11 decks high.

The deck with the boulevard features a mall-like environment with entertainment areas such as the welcome aboard parade, shops, and restaurants, along with first inside cabins to front a cruise ship's internal throughfare.

Other innovations include the first-ever ice skating rink and rock-climbing wall at sea. Naturally the marvelous food is offered around the clock in numerous restaurants on sidewalk cafes and bistros.

Local cruise planner Nivia Bruner got to meet Royal Caribbean Chairman Richard Fain on a recent cruise.

Service is impeccable and the special rooms gorgeous. Mine had a private balcony to relax on while watching the sea roll by or to set the tone for a romantic evening, with room service if you wish (at no extra cost).

The maiden voyage was November 21, sailing to Labadee, Haiti, Ocho Rios, Jamaica, and Cozumel, Mexico.

The Voyager was christened on November 20, by two-time Olympic figure-skating gold medalist

Katarina Witt.

Broadway musicals, bands and vocalists are among entertainment provided during a cruise on Voyager of the Seas.

A mall on Voyager of the Seas features shops, restaurants and entertainment.

Learning The Essential Skills For A Simpler Life

(NAPSA)-Simplifying your life may require learning some new skills.

Fortunately, a practical primer offers hundreds of simple guidelines. Storey's Basic Country Skills ($24.95 paperback, $34.95 hardcover, Storey Books) has been called a complete guide to the simpler life, a primer for rediscovering traditional American country arts-or even an encyclopedia in overalls.

Weighing in at three pounds and 576 pages, the book offers step-by-step instructions on creating, fixing and doing. It covers everything from buying country property to creating a window-box butterfly garden, from tapping your maples for sugaring to installing a woodstove, from milking a cow to making homemade ice cream flavored with your own berries.

Inspired by country living enthusiasts, John and Martha Storey, the book offers sections on furniture repair for people with few tools, making your own cheeses and using herbs for moth control. Information from 150 real country pros runs the gamut from A to Z-from building an arbor to deadheading Zinnias. In fact, the book has close to everything a home owner might want to know about country living including the kitchen sink and how to repair it.

The country experts who provide many of the tips hail from towns most people have never heard of and towns that in some cases don't appear on the map, such as Salmon, Idaho; Chilliwack, British Columbia; and Zumbro Falls, Minnesota.

Here are a few examples of country wisdom from the book:

- Want to save on heat? Constructing a shelter around your door will save heating costs every time you enter or leave the house in winter.

- Looking for an underground source of water? Lightning doesn't always strike just the tallest tree. If a short tree is struck repeatedly, it may be close to a spring or water vein.

- Want to keep pests out of your garden? Leave some dirty laundry in the corn patch.

A doll collector since 1991, she has about 30 dolls, about two-thirds of them ethnic representations. The exhibit, organized by Dr. John Shiber and his family, contained dolls from more than 40 countries. The exhibit was sponsored by the PCC Multi-Cultural Task Force Committee, which Shiber chairs. Weird in Frederick, Maryland, acquitted motorist Ester Maria Pena, 59, who said she failed to stop for a pursuing officer's siren-wailing car because he didn't do what cops do "in the movies": overtake her and block the road.

— In August, The Sunday Oklahoman newspaper revealed that the charity Feed the Children, through poignant TV appeals, took in an extra $6 million in the 45 days after the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing but gave only half of that to bombing victims, putting most of the rest into its investments because, according to president Larry Jones, there was no proof that the donors intended the money for bombing victims. The newspaper also reported that "almost none" of the $47 million raised last year by Feed the Children actually went toward feeding children.

— In August, a Portland, Oregon, jury acquitted drunk-driving defendant Robert Lee Buskirk after a judge accepted his argument that incriminating statements he made at the scene not be used against him because he was so drunk he didn't know what he was doing when he waived his "Miranda" right.

— In 1994, psychologist Kenneth Olson of Phoenix, already on probation with the state's licensing board for a 1988 exorcism, filed a lawsuit against the board, asserting that he had a constitutional right to perform a 1993 exorcism on an 8-year-old foster child (and to be paid $180 for it by the state's Child Protective Services). (In July 1999, a federal appeals court ruled against him.)

— Milwaukee's Thomas Rollo, 53, chopped off his arm at the elbow with a homemade guillotine in October, but authorities found the arm in his refrigerator and made plans for reattachment surgery. However, Rollo refused the surgery, threatened to sue, and promised to chop the arm right back off if it were reattached.

Update

—In September, authorities in Lincoln, Illinois, said the "Sock Man" (reported in News of the Weird earlier this year) from nearby Springfield had finally slipped up and committed a crime when he tried to abduct three kids. In Springfield, he had offered female strangers $100 for their socks, and in nearby Auburn in August, he allegedly offered young girls $5 to chew some gum and give it to him. Springfield and Auburn police said neither of those incidents was illegal (or, as a Springfield officer said, "It's no crime to be weird").

Thinning the Herd

— One month before the Texas A&M bonfire tragedy, a 17-year-old University of Oklahoma football fan in Kingfisher, Oklahoma, accidentally shot himself to death while celebrating the team's victory over Texas A&M. And in September, a 21-year-old Bryant College (Smithfield, Rhode Island) student, trying to slide down a banister in a residence hall, was killed when he fell three stories onto his head.

Also, in the Last Month ...

— A man and his son, ages 54 and 17, were arrested in Columbus, Mississippi, for burglarizing a home, both dressed in ninja costumes, armed with swords and star-shaped throwing blades. An armed-robbery suspect, hiding from police in a tree at 4 a.m., was arrested when his wristwatch alarm sounded (Reno, Nevada). Officials at a landmine museum adjacent to two schools finally acceded to demands to defuse its 463 live mines (Zandajan, Afghanistan). A 37-year-old woman was cited for driving on a major freeway while reading a book (Ottawa, Ontario). An ultra-Orthodox religious court in Jerusalem banned women from using cell phones in public, ruling that it makes them look like prostitutes.
