

Cts of hatred McDowell couple targeted by racist vandalism

by Willie Elliott Staff Writer

Acts of vandalism with racial overtones have a McDowell couple and their landlord apprehensive.

Vivian Ong and Andy Que, natives of the Philippines, said the incidents which have occurred over the last six months started when someone painted a swastika on a utility pole directly in front of their home. Later the symbol was drawn on the pavement at the entrance of their driveway.

When the couple painted over the sign, someone drew the symbols again and added "white power" to the message. This week, the incident became more destructive as rocks were thrown onto the couples' roof and a security light in front of their house was shot to pieces. Then the storm door on one of their doors was broken. Finally, on Tuesday, the rear window of their car was smashed.

Some of these incidents happened when the couple was on vacation, but the incidents this week happened as the couple slept.

Ong and Que say one of the frightening things about the incident is the fact they can think of no one who would want to harm them. Ong is a pediatrician at the McDowell Regional HealthCare Center and says she can't see such threats coming from her work at the hospital.

Joan Chaffins, the couple's landlord, says the events are unnerving to her. She said the couple was involved in church work, teaching Sunday school at the local Baptist church. She says it is hard to imagine racial hate in the community, but finds it hard to discount the evidence of such racial motives in the incidents.

Chaffins is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person or persons committing these acts. She says the incidents are not only harming her rental proper-

The painted swastika on the utility pole, far left, and an additional painting on the entrance to their driveway with the added message of "white power" has given a McDowell couple some reason for concern.

Shannon picked .for MAC director

In a regular session of the Mountain Arts Center Management Commission Tuesday afternoon, the commission voted to offer the position of executive director to John Kevin Shannon and retain interim director Keith Caudill as assistant director at his sion voted to retain Ann Lafferty as marketing director.

As is customary at the commission's meeting, Caudill presented a performance summary of shows since the November 4 production of "Charlotte's Web" through the last Kentucky Opry Christmas show on December 19.

Character actors could liven local attractions

by Randell Reno Staff Writer

Characterization of some local historical figures may be on the horizon.

Members of the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission discussed livening up area tourist sites by adding live models of the characters during Thursday's meeting.

Fred James told members a live act would give visitors a personal touch. Character actors mentioned included Emily Daniels and/or Julie Paxton playing the role of Jenny Wiley; Ronnie Blair, known from the Jenny Wiley Theatre, as John C.C. Mayo; Fred James as Colonel John Floyd; Dan Rowland as General Humphrey; and Eugene Black as General Ulysses S. Grant. Other characters in the plans include Lorreta Lynn, John Graham and Bert T. Combs.

Places you may see these actors could be at the Holiday Inn, the Jenny Wiley Festival and at the Samuel May House.

Plans are for the commission to purchase period costumes and to employ someone who is knowledgeable of each character. The volunteer actors would aid in the tourist attraction to the area and make the visit to the historical sites much more memorable.

Hunt and his father have lived in the trailer park since April 1998. He said they live in the park for convenience.

"My father walks back and forth to Dr. Jurich's office," Hunt said.

"What are the lives of 17 families worth to them?" said John Pigman, who has lived in the trailer park for six years.

Pigman said the Board of Education has $2.1 million in its coffers with the city's addition to the funds. Pigman, who moved into the trailer park to escape living in low-income housing. Pigman moved into the trailer park because "I liked the looks of it," he said.

Staff report

Records at the Floyd County Property Valuation Administrator's Office show the current assessed value of properties located near the site of a proposed football field for Prestonsburg High School totals slightly more than the $300,000 the Prestonsburg City Council voted to give the school board to help complete the project.

Although the school system has not identified which properties it will purchase in the event the board decides to move forward with the expansion, saying the potential acquisition is still in negotiation, residents of the area say they've heard the proposed stadium would include tand along Rt. 1428 from the school's current field up to and including a nearby trailer park.

Time to take a count

The Census Bureau is gearing up to take the 2000 census to account for every resident of the country, including the hills and hollows of eastern Kentucky.

Workers are being recruited to do the count for 20 to 40 hours a week, for between $6.50 and $13 an hour, plus 31 cents a mile travel reimbursement.

The jobs are for census takers, who will work in local neighborhoods, locating addresses and interviewing household members, and crew leaders, who will work in the field to train, observe, review and supervise the work of census takers.

The local Department for Employment Services is taking applications for the Census Bureau and administering the test for eligibility. Tests are slated at the DES office and the Floyd County Public Library on the next two Thursdays, Jan. 20 and 27, at 10 a.m. Two forms of identification, including a Social Security card, are needed.

For information, call the bureau toll-free at 1-888-325-7733 and say you are in the Ashland, Kentucky, region.

Revving up for information superhighway

The Floyd County Times will unveil its long-awaited website next week.

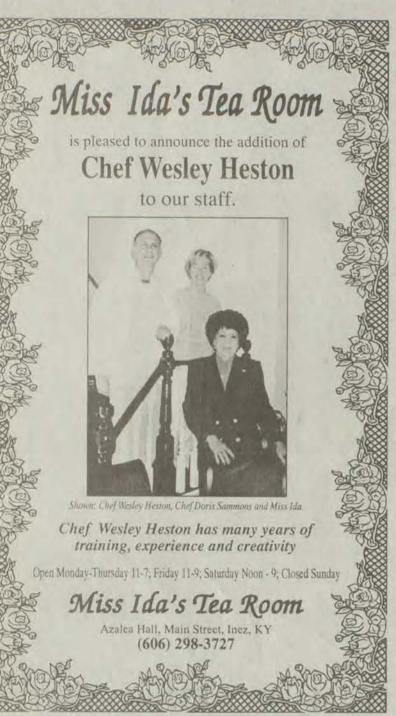

Plans call for the site to make its debut in limited form on Monday. In its first incarnation, the site will include news, sports and opinion highlights from The Times, as well as other features.

The address for the site is www.floydcountytimes.com.

Weather events of the decade

by Tony Cavalier WSAZ TV weather

It has always seemed to me extreme presumptiousness on the part of those who want to make human ability the measure of what nature can and knows how to do. since, when one comes down to it. there is not one effect in nature, no matter how small, that even the most speculative minds can fully understand. Galileo Galilei

I hope you enjoyed the week one edition of my greatest weather memories. Just like the ESPN TOP 50 athlete countdown, my top five weather memories are difficult to prioritize. But here's my best shot!

Number 5 takes me back to the winter of 1994. Snows arrived very early that year with the first coat of white in time for trick or treat night on Halloween! That seemed to foreshadow the harsh winter that lay ahead. In January a massive snowstorm buried our area on Martin Luther King day, January 17.

The now famous Southern Ohio Snowbelt was ground zero for the deep dump. From the Portsmouth Esplanade to the Big Bend of Meigs-Mason counties and from City Park in Gallipolis to the Zaleski State Forest, a crippling snowstorm piled the white stuff up mailbox deep.

Coincidental to this, a massive arctic intrusion with some Siberian blood was barreling across the Canadian prairies. By Tuesday, the 18th, the coldest day of the century was about to squeeze the daylight out of us.

I quote from my weather diary ... "nearly 2 feet of snow is on a level in Portsmouth. Randy Yohe and Earl Ward (reporterphotographer) tell me life is at a standstill in Scioto and Jackson counties. Here in Huntington, the snow has packed into glare ice on roads, but the depth is only 8."

"Something big is coming this night. The temperature at 9 a.m. is -2, then rises only to +3 by midafternoon. By 6 p.m., I am on the air saying that it is already 5 below here and 10 below at Athens.

nosedive steamrolls The through a harsh evening. Midnight temperature-12 and the coldest day of the 20th century. It is -12 in Huntington; -16 in Charleston (2nd coldest of century);-24 Parkersburg; and -31 Spencer. Calls keep coming in as low as -40!

I believe these numbers are all accurate given the deep snowpack and incredibly low dewpoints. After all, on the air I state that our climate is more like Green Bay than Ashland!

For kicks, I got up that morning, dressed and ventured out. After all, I thought to myself, if I forecast it, I should brave it. And, besides, I always wanted to live in Wisconsin, so here was my chance since Wisconsin had come to me.

My first step outside is an aggressive one as I deem myself a hardy soul. Three steps later and I get the sensation of having my breath taken away from me. It reminds me of playing ice hockey and skating hard for a full minute. When you finish, you are gasping for air and water. Your body is telling you that it is oxygen starved.

Will we ever experience another day like that one? I have my doubts, given the global warming that many scientists are predicting next century. At least not in my lifetime!

Number 4

The countdown streamrolls on as I share with you my fourth memorable most weather moment. The Great Flood of March 1997. To give you historical background of this monumental event, I must first point out that I have seen the mighty Ohio go into flood six times since I have lived here. That's about every other year.

In each of the previous five cases, the river has been high and angry, but rarely able to threaten more than the exposed low-lying areas where no flood wall exists.

On the fateful early morning of March 1, the fabled lion roared his way onto the scene with an overnight deluge that dumped a half a foot of rain upon some localized areas. Small streams like the Little Sandy in Elliott County, Kentucky, and the Pocatalico in Kanawha County turned into raging rivers. I know, I spent the day traveling with Sheriff Pennington in Sandy Hook

The stories of valor and flirtations with death were mind-boggling. I vividly remember the pic-falling. By dawn we awaken to America of Chesapeake's fate on national TV.

> By the time the crest occurred later that week, the water had risen to a height of 57" in Huntington (7" feet above flood stage, but a remarkable 12" below the great flood 60 years prior). This would be only the ninth time this century that the river had reached that level.

> Since that day, I never drive across the river without remembering the awesome power that the Ohio possesses.

Number 3

Not surprisingly, two of my top three weather highlights since my arrival in wild and wonderful West Virginia are snowstorms. After all, it was my zeal for snow and ice when I was growing up in Philadelphia that paved the way for my career as a meteorologist.

That said, I tout the blizzard of 1996 as numero tres on my list. From Friday evening the 5th of January through Monday morning, the 8th, a raging snowstorm buried much of the eastern US with a combination of pelting snows, blustery winds and a polar chill. As we tracked the storm that weekend here at the weather center, the sheer staying power and scope of the storm impressed me the most. From midday Saturday until sunrise on Monday, snow fell at a steady clip of roughly 1/2" per hour.

I recall cajoling Mike Tobin and Sherry Jackson (Saturday morning anchors) how nice it would be to get snowbound at the ski lodge. Mike (the consummate hedonist) retorted how he would love to call the boss from his mountain chalet while sipping some bubbly in the Jacuzzi and say he was snowed in. Sherry, while not a skier, echoed Tobin's sentiments when she chimed in "being snowbound would sure beat working the morning shift!"

Funny, but I was the only one glad to be at work that day. That night as the snows relentlessly fell, I hitched a ride with a snowplow driver down the Tolsia highway. Distinguishing one lane from another was becoming a real chore as wind-whipped snows blew across the Big Sandy Valley into our faces. Visibility was down to about a half a mile, but not to worry, we were the only ones on the road. Folks had hunkered down for the weekend, bracing for the third monster storm in the past three years.

By Sunday night, it was apparent this storm was a freak of Four Tops were the headline act at nature. Not only was it still pounding our region, but its shield of influence had also spread from the Piedmont of the Carolinas all the way to the Old North Church in Boston. Snowfall totals surpassed 20" in many areas with towns like Charleston (23"), Logan (25") and Philadelphia (30.7") measuring the greatest depths of the 20th century! It was a storm to remember just four years ago this week.

23. The corn fields looked beautiful as the orange sun set that evening. Little did I realize that that orange haze was a sign of an impending summer-long drought that would rob farmers of their livlihood.

Back home in Huntington, hot winds swirled throughout June. By Flag Day we were routinely in the mid 90s. The hot downtown air felt like a blast furnace that . had just opened its vent. Then after a brief cooldown, the torrid weather hit.

By summer's official arrival, the downtown sun was blazing and the incandescent heat was stifling. We tied a record at 98 on the 22nd. It would be just the beginning. By Independence weekend, farmers were bracing for the worst. Corn shucks were wilting, soybeans shriveling and even the burley tobacco crop was hurting.

As the drought strangled life out of the crops, it was only a matter of time before the unthinkable occurred. You see, it had been . since 1954 that the mercury had officially reached 100 at the Charleston airport. My colleague Ken Batty at the National Weather Service would write that it was thought to be a Herculean task for the airport to reach 100 degrees again.

Well after several close calls, July 7 became the hottest day in our region since 1954, when the century mark was posted for the first time. I say first time because remarkably that 100 degrees plateau would be reached six times in all (the mercurial peak of 102 registered on July 8.)

How hot was it? Well, when you factor in a degree for elevation (it's a meterorological principle that it is cooler in the hills than it is in the valleys) and two degrees for the so-called urban heat island effect (warming downtown due to asphalt roads and concrete) it becomes painfully apparent that the temperatures in Poage Landing (Ashland), Holderby Landing (Huntington) and in Kanawha City were in the neighborhood of 105 degrees.

As waterways like the Hurricane reservoir dried up, water conservation and rationing became a way of life where wells had once gushed water. Just think of all the stories from this past summer and you will know exactly what we went through a decade

One thunderstorm of renown hit the Saturday night that the Summerfest. After a run-of-the mill hot day (only near 90) on July 23, a late evening electrical storm formed in Wayne County and slashed its way into Summerfest '88.

ture of an infant baby being 'plucked" out of a rising tide of flood waters in Putnam County near Hurricane. Sadly, several people died in the flood that weekend as towns like Milton saw life come to a standstill.

But the region of terror from these winter rains was just beginning. The next night as a second round of torrential rains churned up the same flood waters. Incredibly 6" to 10" of rain water had poured down throughout much of the Ohio Basin over the two-day stretch.

Then when a third round threatened that Sunday night, our attention turned to the Ohio itself. You see, it's a fact of hydrology, meteorology and geology that our valley is flood prone.

As Tim Curran (Army Corps of Engineers) has educated me, our valley gets a double whammy with rains saturating the ground. Then rain water that falls in the hills drains to the valley floor (rivers), adding a rush of water that can "move mountains" and create havoc.

And damage it did that week, as the Ohio was into flood on Tuesday. I vividly remember the flood walls in Huntington being erected for the first time in my tenure here at WSAZ-TV. The rising tide would soon inundate towns that were not protected by a wall, including Chesapeake, Ohio.

I also recall our own intrepid reporter Bill Murray wading knee deep in flood waters as he told

Number 2

My second most memorable weather event takes me back to the first summer I lived here in 1988. It focuses on the brutal heat and parching drought of that summer. To set the stage, I want to take you to the magnificiently manicured Murfield Village golf links in Dublin, Ohio, in May. As the hot and dry weather was first setting in, the Memorial (Jack's tourney) was in full swing.

I made my first trip to Columbus that weekend and toured the course along with 20,000 other golf fans. The dirt parking lots blew dust in our face every time a gust of wind swirled. A tournament known for excessive rain throughout the '90s was in the midst of a long dry spell that month.

I remember following Mark O'Meara and Payne Stewart that day. As I drove back from Columbus that Sunday evening, I marveled at the wonderful farmlands of rural America along US

While the rain fell in torrents and the electrical display was awesome for just 20 minutes, it was enough to cancel the concert and send thousands of fairgoers home in a panic (this was a scary storm, hitting with little notice) and all wet. Mercifully, the heat broke by late August but not before convincing me that drought and heat are among the worst weather combinations that we endure on this planet.

Number 1

OK, can I have a drum roll please. It's time to announce my all time number one weather event. Did you know what it is? Well, off course it's the Superstorm of March 1993 and I will tell you all about that great blizzard next week.

"I have not heard anything and that's the gospel truth."

Rumors that she was losing money because of high sewer or utilities bills are unfounded, she said. Repairs were made to the sewer lines and she asked for that bill to be sent to her.

While Burke admitted to not making a major profit on her land, she said, "For all the expenses, we ought to be glad the school wants the land."

The owners pay a combination of city and county taxes and licenses, as well as insurance.

"If only someone from the board would come and talk to us," Burke said of the uncertainty of the situation. "I feel responsible for the people. Eight families are not able to get out of here."

Burke said that most of the families are either widowers, elderly, disabled or a combination.

Not only do the residents of the trailer park stand to be out of a lot of money to move their homes, they will have to look for a piece of land or a new trailer park to move their homes to.

George Maines said he is afraid residents of the trailer park will be on their own.

"If we get anything, it would be up to the landowners," he said.

Maines and his wife, along with their two children, have lived in the trailer park a number of years. Diagnosed with multiple sclerosis, Maines said his family will be hit hard by the move.

"It will cause a lot of hard feelings toward the school board and the city," Maines said.

Whether the landowners approve the price offered in the sale or not, the renters are out of a place to live. Even if landowners refuse to sell their property, the Board of Education has the right to condemn the land to make way for the new stadium.

Pigman said he will have to try to sell his trailer or have someone take over the payments if he has to move.

"I'm on disability. I can't afford to have it moved," said Pigman. "They think more of a football field and a running track than the lives of 17 families."

Fred James was the posting of signs events. The historical importance of sports in the area can be a significant key for the boosting tourism in the area, members agreed.

Thirty-second commercials of people using fast food restaurants and hotels as stepping stones may soon be on the air outside our region. The commission plans to get people working in these positions involved with the promotion of the city by putting them on the airwaves.

One such idea was to get former stars to work alongside locals to showcase the area's potential.

Patricia Boyd and Johnny S. Johnson are to be married, Saturday, January 15, 2000. The bride-elect is the daughter of Lizzie Walters of Pikeville and Randy Boyd of Tram. The prospective groom is the son of Freda Sanders of Betsy Layne and Johnny Johnson of Dwale. The Rev. James Henry Fields will officiate at the ceremony. The couple plan to reside in Floyd County.

The sounds of silence

Heaven must have needed another songbird. Else how can we justify the death of Elizabeth Frazier?

Selfishly, we can say we needed to have her among us for a couple more decades. We needed the sunshine she carried with her.

Certainly, we needed her musical talent. But, even more, we needed her commitment to teaching, her devotion to her students.

How many teachers these days actually inspire students to want to learn and to excel? OK, so perhaps music is a little different. But we suspect Elizabeth Frazier, who died last Sunday at 52, would have inspired students if she'd chosen to teach biology or history or English. She was that kind of person.

We said good-bye to her parents, Chalmer and Kathryn, a short while ago - losses to the community that cannot be replaced. We recently said good-bye to her family home, one of the oldest and most beautiful structures in the county.

Her students, her colleagues, her community were not ready to give her up just yet.

The music is silent.

- Pam Shingler

Being there

A group of community leaders were talking recently about ways business could help education. A concern raised by one representing education had to do with attendance. Apparently, there is a high absentee rate not just among students, but also among faculty and staff.

Most students probably won't learn much that is worthwhile if they're not in school. Sitting in front of the TV watching reruns of "The Brady Bunch" can't do much to improve an algebra grade. Nor will roaming the aisles of Wal-Mart in the middle of the day.

If the teacher isn't there, the problem compounds. First, there's the matter of the school system paying both the absentee teacher and the substitute. And, then, there's the matter of how much a substitute teacher can be expected to teach when he/she is called the night before or even early that morning to take over a class. It's likely that we're talking about a rather expensive babysitting service.

Church baptistery did not break rules

Editor.

Several people have asked me if I had been excluded from the church. No one has the right to say that I was.

I feel the need to write and set the record straight. My husband (Bill Kendrick) and I (Vickie Kendrick) have never been a member of the (so-called) Little Rosa Church of the New Salem Association that meets at Minnie on the first Sunday of every month. We have never been excluded from that church or any other church. Our membership is with The Little Rosa Church of Old Regular Baptist of McDowell, with Elder Clinton Moore as moderator and Elder Jimmy Hall as assistant moderator. These two brothers that God has chosen to lead us have dedicated their lives to serving God and working toward the up build of our church. If we were going by the Law of the land (and we have many from the New Salem Association that states they believe in it), the 29 members that walked out of our church on November 6, gave up their right to the church, the name and anything that is associated with that church according to the law. As you all know, we were published in disorder (or so we have been told) for the following reasons: 1. We rejected the work of the New Salem Association on Item 16 of the 1999 Minutes. We did not. We could not receive the work of the New Salem Association until they could show us a violation in their set plan of government: The Rules of Decorum, The Constitution of the New Salem Association or The Articles of Faith that the New Salem Association was founded upon. We did not break any rules by installing a baptistery. 2. That we violated the order by using the baptistery. Since we were told that we were in disorder as of October 2, or October 5, 1999 and we did not use our baptistery until October the 31st, therefore we were no longer in the New Salem Association when we did use our baptistery. We did not violate any rule that the association ordered. 3. We refused to recognize the committee appointed by the moderator of the association. Since the brothers made it clear by going out and telling that we were in disorder as of October 2 or October 5 when we could not receive their work, we did not have to recognize the committee because they would have been out of order by taking part in our church work

A letter that was sent on November 10 to the New Salem Association Churches and the correspondence states that when the association convenes in September 2000 that the association has to approve the these recommendations from this committee before we can be published in disorder.

Our associations were founded upon The Rules of Decorum, The Constitution of the New Salem Association and the Articles of Faith. Our association is based upon it and they are an advisory counsel, to give advice to us in matters of difficulty.

Two of the rules stand out in my mind as to what the association really means:

1. The association shall have the power for the

Communism at its best

After the discussions have closed and the deeds have been signed, Prestonsburg High School will be getting its new football field. But without even blinking, no one stopped to think of the residents living in the proposed field's path.

Drive by the school and you can easily see a trailer park-15 trailers are there if you want an exact count. There are also five homes and two commercial buildings. The homes are all occupied, 12 of the 15 trailers are too.

According to residents occupying those trailers, most of the lot's renters are either elderly or physically impaired. There are two families with elementary school children, at least one has a child attending Prestonsburg High School.

Sadly, after these folks have labored to buy their homes and set up roots here inside the city. No one asked them if they wanted to move. The cost of moving a mobile home can be devastating, especially if you are just getting by. Prestonsburg city officials and school board members see the new athletic complex as something positive for the city. But speaking from experience, moving is never pleasant. I know, I live in my 41st home for a life of 35 years. Whether these landowners will make substantial gains or break even, the fact remains that no one even began to ask these citizens of Prestonsburg if they wanted to move. The school board will have the right to condemn the land, so the home owners are hamstrung as well. It is a situation where the residents will either move or be moved forcefully, true democracy and trust in the works. While I am not against the high school gaining a new football field, I am appalled at the indifference to these people. What happened to the land out on the parkway where the high school was once proposed to be? What was wrong with building it on the hill next to the golf course? In a world where there is no shame but an emphasis on gain, I should not be surprised. But it is truly a costly price for the citizens who have lived there and paid taxes to the city for many years.

At any rate, these folks were discussing ways of rewarding attendance for both students and teachers. In other words, just being there deserves applause.

That's one of those unique, misconstrued concepts of the education world. In the world of time clocks and payroll checks, you're expected to be there. What you do with your time while you're there is the basis of reward.

We suggest a variation of the workplace concept be discussed in the school system. Let's look at ways to reward teachers and students who make progress and who excel and, then, look at ways to inspire all of them to make the most of the few hours they are in school.

Let's not send the message that just showing up is anywhere near enough.

general union of the churches; to preserve inviolable a chain of communion among the churches; to give all necessary advice in matters of difficulty.

2. The members convened shall have no power to lord anything over God's heritage nor shall have any clerical power over the churches, nor shall they infringe on any clerical, internal rights of any church in the union.

The church members voted for this baptistery and felt it was our internal right to install a baptistery for the fear of the polluted creeks and to give people a choice of the baptistery or the creek. We have done nothing wrong.

I am very proud of my church, my brothers and my sisters and the congregation (both saint and sinner) that attend faithfully every weekend. We thank God that they feel they can come to our church and hear the Word of God and feel free. We are Christians that trust in God and try to do his Will. We have had our trials and tribulations, and we have grown closer together because we have his love holding us up and strengthening us. With God's mercy, love and kindness, we will overcome this adversity if we continue to put our trust in him. For He is the author and the finisher of our faith. When God gives you a mind, come and visit us. We will try to make you as welcome as we can.

State should check vision of drivers

Editor,

The following letter is being sent to our governor, senators and representatives. I would appreciate it very much if you would print this letter. I would like to ask anyone else who agrees with me that an eyesight test should be required each time a driver's license is renewed, to contact our state lawmakers and let them know your thoughts on this issue.

Dec. 23, 1999

Governor Paul Patton Senators & Representatives of KY Frankfort, KY 40601

Hello,

It is the early morning hours, two days before Christmas, as I begin this letter. Although this is a joyous season, it brings an occasional teardrop to the eyes of my wife and I.

There is a vacancy at our home. Our son will not be here to celebrate Jesus Christ's birth with us. Instead, we made a trip to his burial site and placed a Christmas wreath on his grave.

Stephen J. Poole's death on Mothers' Day, May 14, 1989, turned our world upside down. His sister suffered an emotional breakdown and all three of our lives have a void forever.

An oncoming driver making a left turn drove into our son's lane of traffic, hitting his car at the tip of the driver's side front fender and was in the driver's seat when he got through. In a short time, death occurred.

The driver said, and the accident report states, "I

It seems that the city or school board in their benevolence could assist these folks who are helping pay part of that $300,000. It is the only civil thing to do.

But as it stands, there is no legal reprieve for them. They have nothing to stand on, or so they have been told.

It almost seems like they are part of the landscape to be pushed over or graded down. They are being evicted from the city they have helped build. It sounds a little like communism, doesn't it?

One of my favorite Bible stories is found in Acts 16.

In a town called Philippi, Paul cast a demon from a slave girl who told fortunes there in exchange for chafe their ankles. They can't whole family to Christian conver- show; to boast; to rave; to celefees

After this exorcism the girl couldn't practice her craft anymore, because it was the demon which had enabled her to know the future.

The girl's owners, having lost a lucrative income, dragged Paul and Silas before the city's magistrates and accused them of stirring up a disturbance. An angry crowd gathered.

Finally, the local authorities ripped the robes from the backs of Paul and Silas and ordered others to beat them with rods. After the preachers had been severely flogged, they were thrown into jail. The jailer locked them in his innermost cell, where they also were fastened into stocks.

Here are two men trying to spread God's good news of peace on Earth, reconciliation and love.

For their trouble they've been falsely accused of crimes.

They've been publicly stripped and beaten bloody. Now they're locked in the blackest hole of the local jail, confined in stocks that sleep. They're sore. They're humil- sions, and baptized them. iated. They're cold.

So what do they do?

Here's the way Luke, the author of Acts, tells it:

"And about midnight, Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns of praise to God, and the other prisoners were listening to them.

In the middle of the night, these two guys are praising God so loudly that they're keeping their fellow inmates awake.

Paul and Silas have every right to be bitter. Instead they're full of praise

Now note what happened next:

"Suddenly there came a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison house were shaken. And immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's chains were unfastened.

But Paul and Silas refused to run. When the terrified jailer came looking for them, they reassured him that they hadn't escaped -and thus prevented him from committing suicide.

Then they led the jailer and his

Paul and Silas were released from prison the next day. Their critics were forced to apologize.

I love this story, but it also makes me uncomfortable.

These two guys found themselves in the worst possible circumstances, and their response was to praise God so vocally that everyone around had to listen to them.

Today, many of us enjoy the best circumstances - we're not persecuted for our faith, we sleep in soft beds and eat good food - and yet we're unwilling to lift our voices in praise even in the safety of our churches.

Paul and Silas knew what they were doing, though. We don't.

The prophet Isaiah said that praise is a "garment" we can choose to put on, a garment that shields us from depression.

And this biblical praise never was meant to be quiet or private.

In the Old Testament, for instance, the two most common Hebrew words for praising God are 'tehillah" and "shabach.

The first word means "to make a brate; to act foolish." The second means, "to shout loudly."

The Psalmist promised that God is "enthroned" on these loud praises of His people, that their cries of praise will bring His deliverance.

The Psalmist also promised that if we shout praises to God, we will receive His gift of prosperity. He told us to praise God because He has pardoned our sins, lifted us out of the pits, crowned us with compassion, satisfied us with gifts and renewed our youth.

The Psalmist said that when we're sick we should sing praises to God — and He will heal us.

It's equally interesting none of the Bible's writers ever said anything about our being in the mood to praise God or "feeling led" to praise Him.

They just said, in effect, "Do it and see the results."

Paul and Silas understood that truth

Perhaps we should start praising God in every situation, no matter how good or terrible it seems. We might just touch off spiritual earthquakes in our own lives.

Metropolitan/UPS recruiting locally

LOUISVILLE - Metropolitan College, the innovative program that provides students with a virtually cost-free college education and part-time job with UPS in Louisville, will be recruiting in Prestonsburg this month.

Recruiters will be at the Mountain Arts Center on January 26 and 27 for an open house on Wednesday and interviewing on Thursday. They will also be at Russell High School, near Ashland, on January 25 and 26, and at Perry County Central High School in Hazard on January 27 and 28.

The program has been successful in Jefferson and surrounding counties. Although Metropolitan College does have some students from outside the Louisville area, officials are now taking a more aggressive approach to recruiting throughout the state Tobacco companies and the products they produce have been under an intense nationwide attack for the past several years, and now the war, at least from one Salyersville resident's point of view needs increased local support.

Fueled by personal experience and intensified by disturbing statistics, Burl Cole is prepare to lead the fight here, especially against youth smoking, which he says is future health problems in the making.

What are we going to do in the future when all the young smokers we have today flood the hospitals with health problems they are going to develop from smoking?" Cole, a former smoker, asks.

No one should know any better than Cole about the health problems years of smoking can create. Cole is now living with emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

Blackburn wants Trp. Wheeler out

A petition containing about 50 names of Martin County residents that allege improper conduct on the part of a Kentucky State Trooper was presented to Kentucky State Police officials last week.

KSP Public Affairs Officer Mike Goble confirmed Monday that a petition was presented to his captain concerning allegations of misconduct on the part of Trp. Todd Wheeler. Goble would not identify who circulated the petition against the trooper, who has been stationed in Martin County for two years.

According to Goble, the petition did not specify the nature of this alleged misconduct by Wheeler. While Goble would not identify the person who circulated the petition, an unidentified source said it originated with volunteer deputy Harvey Blackburn.

Shooter staked out home, drank while victim watched TV

Greg Frisk may have spent a considerable amount "I would hope that you people would have been of time drinking and watching his father-in-law's Boons Camp home before shooting through the front door and killing Henry Sites Friday evening.

> Sites, a retired truck driver, was shot once in the head as he watched television about 7:30 p.m. Friday, January 7. His killer then entered the house, closed the blinds and waited. When Frisk's wife - Henry Sites' daughter, Laura Renee Frisk - arrived with three others, Frisk held the four at gun point, threatening to kill them all. Instead, he set them free, followed them into the yard, told them to stop, placed his .30 caliber rifle to his chin and fired once. Frisk died instantly.

Police have determined no motive for the shooting of Sites, suggesting that Frisk apparently parked his truck behind the Boons Camp house, waiting and drinking beer. At some point, Frisk left his truck, went to the front door of Sites' house and fired a single shot through the glass. The bullet struck Sites in the temple, killing him.

Finally! Finally! It finally came!

No, not a late Christmas gift, but the first win of the 1999-2000 basketball season for coach Jackie Day Crisp and the Prestonsburg Blackcats.

The last time the Betsy Layne Bobcats took to the court at Pike County Central, they did not fare so well, losing to the host Hawks. After the game, in which the sluggish play of the Bobcats was evident, Coach Brent Rose did a little adjusting mostly attitudes. With the adjustment came a big win over Feds Creek on the road.

Tuesday night, Betsy Layne returned to the same gym but was not the same team which had lost earlier. Instead, the Bobcats put together a complete game that only got

The South Floyd Lady Raiders, let's add, the shorthanded South Floyd Lady Raiders came into the first round of the Girls' All "A" Classic at Millard looking for their first win ever in the tournament and after the horn sounded, they are still seeking their first victory after dropping a 68-45 decision Wednesday night.

Jill Kimberlain scored 23 points and Michelle Hall added 17 to lead the Pikeville Lady Panthers to the first round win.

Kandence Mitchell led the Lady Raiders with 16 points, while Lindsey Hall and freshman Valerie King scored 10 points apiece.

King was getting her first start for South Floyd in the absence of senior guard Martha Crawford. Crawford was not at the game because of a death in her family.

Also saddled and not able to play were Jessica Paige and Monica Newsome. Both are recovering from injuries. Paige

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO ...

Shane Allen who will turn 15 on Tuesday, January 18. Shane plays basketball for the South Floyd Raiders. Happy birthday, Shane!

A happy belated birthday wish to Melissa Thacker of South Floyd. Melissa turned 18 this past Wednesday, January 12. She plays softball for the Lady Raiders. Happy birthday, Melissal

If you have a birthday wish you want to pass on to your favorite athlete, give me a call or just drop me a note or email (wonder of wonders).

TOPSY TURVY WEEK

What a week in sports it has been this week and this is the last day before Saturday. Let's look at what has happened.

Three tournaments have been held and they are schedule eons apart from each other, which makes it difficult to give good coverage to better as the minutes ticked off.

With the improved play, Betsy Layne pulled off an upset of regional power Shelby Valley in a game that featured some outstanding defense, as well as team basketball.

The complete game resulted in a 70-62 win over the Wildcats as four players scored in double figures for the Bobcats.

Adam Collins played his best game of the year, and it could have been the best game of the season collectively for the Bobcats. Collins poured in 24 points, but had 13 boards to go with it.

It was a complete team effort from the onset as Betsy Layne fell behind by as many as six points, 34-28, in the second quarter.

But Coach Rose's ballclub never quit and showed good intensity on defense.

Shelby Valley came out firing up, and in, the threes, but a defensive adjustment slowed the Wildcats the next two periods, except the fourth.

"I thought we played pretty good defense," said Coach Rose. "They hit five threes in the fourth quarter. We had our hands in their face. But seems that everyone of them shoot so well. They shoot so many threes, they are bound to make some of them. We knew they would shoot a lot

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES

Sports-RSPECTIUE

Here's the scenario. It's midway into the first quarter and the Chicago Bears trail the Washington Redskins, 7-0.

But as soon as the Bears go on the offensive they began a resolute march toward paydirt.

With the ball on the Redskins' 10-yard line Chicago quarterback Cade McNown rolls to his right looking for an open receiver. There are none. As the pass rushers close in he attempts to throw the ball away in order to avoid a sack. It's a half pushing motion, a desperate act under extreme pressure. The ball is tipped into the air, picked off and run back 88yards for a touchdown.

Now it's 14-0 Washington, and the scoring floodgates swung wide.

John Unitas, a Hall of Fame quarterback, led the Baltimore Football League titles in 1958 and young quarterbacks don't seem to make longer drops and sprint out 1959, and a Super Bowl championship in 1971. He can only shake his head in disbelief at the antics of today's signal callers.

"I don't agree with tossing the ball away to avoid taking a sack," he said recently. "Sometimes, when things don't work out, you just have to stand in there and take a lick, go down with the ball. It's all part of the job specs."

Let's suppose McNown had simply tucked the ball safely under arm and submitted to being tackled. All that would have been lost was five yards or so and the Bears were still in excellent scoring position with another couple of downs to burn. At very worst they probably could have converted a field goal and been very much alive with only a 7-3 deficit.

"Football is a game of hit and Colts to successive National be hit," Unitas said. "A lot of

There are times you just have to hang tough until the last second to let a play develop. When it doesn't you're paid to eat the ball, to go down with it. Not infrequently when a quarterback tries to get rid of the ball under pressure he either fumbles it, throws as interception or is charged with intentional grounding. All of which kills your offensive effort and plays right into the opposition's hands.

In Unitas' opinion, much of poor quarterbacking in the modern era has to do with rules changes and coaching philosophy.

"From what I've heard quarterbacks today need an average of four seconds just. Throw a medium range completion," he said. "That's a lot of time for the offensive lineman to hold their blocks. As a result quarterbacks have to more difficult to read and throw accurately on the run than is the case from the pocket. Back in my day having two and a half seconds to pass was considered good."

So why do NFL coaches now favor a mobil passing attack?

"Because they don't have any choice," Unitas replied with a chuckle, "With the offensive linemen retreating at the snap of the ball and all that wrestling up front it's very difficult to form and maintain a protective pocket. When I played the lineman fired out and quickly got a piece of an opposing player. This resulted in have come to terms with this fact. more in an effort to but time. It's more quickly. A three-step drop was not uncommon and you could get the ball out before the defense had an opportunity to adjust."

Unitas emphasized that more aggressive blocking tactics paid other dividends as well.

"When your offensive lineman are hitting out on every play," he said, "it disguises what you're calling. For instance, today all the lineman are back on their haunches and everybody in the stadium knows a pass is coming. But if the line fires out, then the defenders, particularly the linebackers, have to stay home for a second or two, to make sure it's not a run. This a shallower pocket that setup cuts down on potential sacks and makes for a lot of play-action situations. Also, you can effectively use inside traps and draws off formations primarily designed for passing. But changes in blocking techniques, all the backpedaling and grappling, have taken this part of the offense away and put added pressure on the quarterback

With a shrug, Unitas concluded, "The kids now are just doing what they're told, what circumstances dictate. Maybe it's all more exciting. Personally, I don't think so. Seeing that ball bouncing all around out there makes me nervous. In my mind, possession is still nine tenths of the law."

Lady Raiders

Newsome is still a question mark. "We played hard," said South

Floyd Coach Paul Cline.

Played hard they did, but turnovers in bunches were more than the Lady Raiders could stand. It wasn't that Pikeville shot the ball well but they were getting two, three and, at times, five shots at the basket as the Lady Raiders could not keep them off the offensive boards.

South Floyd turned the ball over eight times in the first quarter and had doubled that by halftime. They finished the game with 33 turnovers.

The game was tied twice and South Floyd led twice in the contest. King hit two free throws that gave South Floyd a 2-0 lead. The game was tied at 2 before King's could return this week, but layup gave the Lady Raiders a 4-2 three-point play and Stephanie lead. Sarah Boyd's basket tied the game at 4 and Kimberlain gave drained a three-point basket and Pikeville the lead for good on a steal

> South Floyd proceeded to turn the ball over on their next eight possessions and did not score until Hall hit a layup just before the horn. South Floyd trailed 15-6 after the first period.

> Mitchell got involved in the South Floyd offense in the second period. She completed a three-point play and later had a rebound basket to keep South Floyd close at 19-11. But again, ball handling problems haunted the Lady Raiders as they trailed 36-19 at the half.

> Pikeville scored the first six points of the third period and opened up a 43-19 lead before Mitchell completed her second Skeans scored underneath. King again Skeans scored in the paint area for a 46-29 game. An 8-2 run by Pikeville netted them a 54-31 lead after three quarters.

Down by 23, South Floyd never did quit and played as though they were near a win. While taking better care of the basketball in the second half. South Floyd just could not get the shots to fall and they were beaten bad on the boards.

Skeans finished with six points for South Floyd. Minnie Tackett and Tabatha Berger each scored two points.

South Floyd will not return to the hardwood until facing Feds Creek on the road on Thursday, January 27.

The grade school tournament at Allen Central, the Coca-Cola Classic at Pike Central and the Girls' All "A" at Millard.

The grade school tournament winds down tonight with the championship game in both boys and girls.

We have four of our high school teams in the semifinals of the Coca-Cola Classic at Pike Central tonight. Allen Central faces Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg (yes, Prestonsburg) will meet host Pike Central in the second game. The two winners meet for the championship while the losers play for third place Saturday.

In girls basketball, some have quit, some have returned. I have never seen a volley of players such as what is going on. At Allen Central they have quit. At Prestonsburg they have quit. I have know what to accept as fact.

Jessica Martin, who quit last week at Allen Central, has returned. No. Natalie Cooley has not made her return. I wish she would.

At Prestonsburg, they seem to be quitting every day, according to reports. Stephanie Adams (this is from several folks) has left the team. I spoke with Lou Coleman (Brook Coleman's mother) at the girls All "A" in Millard Wednesday night and she informed me that Brook had "turned her stuff in" and quit the team. But someone said she was at practice Wednesday afternoon.

"Where will she go?," I asked. Well, we'll not put the answer here I know that no one knows how much this hurts this old sports writer. I hate it when I hear of heard so many things it is hard to things like this. But this week I have heard so many rumors but when it comes from a source that is close to the source, you have to accept it as fact.

> I like Stephanie. I like Brook. And I am a Jessica Martin fan. I am a big supporter of Natalie Cooley. I have followed Ashley Ousley at Adams and now at Prestonsburg. Brittany Hites, I saw her play at Adams. Rachel Mitchell, a good basketball player who used to feed the ball to Ramanda Music in her Allen Elementary days.

I wish all of you would get back with your respective teams and be part of the county sports scene again. We need you, your teams need you and your community needs you.

The worst thing to happen to our county athletics was the coming of the site-based councils and some booster clubs. How we forget that athletics is for kids, not a bunch of adults who have a problem with pride and their egos.

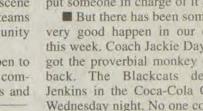

FRIDAY, JANUARY 14, 2000 B3

The site-based councils were to be nonpartisan and fair. Come on! Sports in this county is in a mess. In a conversation with a school official the other day, we both agreed that the reason is because we have no athletic director. The board of education refuses to name one and put him or her in charge of the programs.

I don't care how they try to rationalize their refusal for one, the need is there and things are not going to get any better until they put someone in charge of it all.

But there has been something very good happen in our county this week. Coach Jackie Day Crisp got the proverbial monkey off his back. The Blackcats defeated Jenkins in the Coca-Cola Classic Wednesday night. No one could be happier for Jackie and the Blackcats than me.

* Majakey rescues Allen Central Lady Rebels

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Ed Taylor)

Senior Jessica Martin returned to the Allen Central Lady Rebels lineup just in time for the first round of the Girls' All "A' Classic at Millard High School Wednesday night, but it took a freshman to rescue Allen Central against the Paintsville Lady Tigers.

Erin Majakey, who transferred to Allen Central from Prestonsburg before the season began, came off the Lady Rebel bench and hit four three-point baskets and scored a team-high 12 points to lead Allen Central to a 50-40 win, allowing the Lady Rebels to advance to the semifinal round tonight.

"Erin was scorching it tonight," said Coach Anthony Moore. "We knew she could shoot the ball. We have been working with her on her ball handling and some other things. I already knew she could shoot the ball.

The game was not the smoothest more like football teams than basketball. At times, fans would have thought the winner would be the one with the fewest turnovers. Both teams were guilty of not handling the situation very well.

"Sloppy for us, I don't know," said Allen Central Coach Anthony Moore. "That's the way we play. It was pretty ugly at times. But we are starting to get a little more continuity about us.

help off the bench. We had been expecting it."

Moore said the team was one of mixed emotions and that entered into the way they performed.

"First game jitters. Everyone was pretty excited and then pretty tore up, including the coaches. We've had some turmoil and we are just now working through that."

Coach Moore said that his team was still in the tournament and was going to go to the gym and work on some things that need attention.

"We just need to get ready for played game as both teams looked Pikeville," he said. "Pikeville has a utes. With 33 seconds left in the good team. They are playing the second period, Majakey buried trey best basketball I have seen them play. Sarah Boyd is playing the way I always thought she could play. Jill Kimberlain is just out of sight. (Michelle) Hall is shooting the ball well. It will be a real game.

Paintsville took a 4-3 lead with 5:12 to play in the first quarter and the scoreboard was stuck on the numbers until 2:16 remained when Paintsville went in front 6-3 and the "We have been getting some Lady Tigers scored again at the 1:59 mark to lead 8-3.

> Coming out of a time out, Allen Central ran off the final seven points of the first quarter to take a 10-8 lead after the first quarter. Tonya Howard hit two free throws, Shannon Sizemore scored on a jumper and Martin scored in close with 21 seconds to play to give the lead to the Lady Rebels.

> The game was tied at 10-10 inthe first seconds of the game when Heather Staniford scored on a jumper. The lead exchanged hands four times over the next two min number one for a 22-18 Allen Central lead. With three seconds to play, Majakey struck again with her second three-point basket and the Lady Rebels led 26-20 at the half.

Two free throws each by Kim Kretzer and Stacy Music to start the third quarter, cut the lead to two, 26-24. But Majakey wasn't through as she drilled three-pointer number three off the right side to give Allen Central a five point lead, 29-24.

Turnovers hurt Paintsville as they turned the ball over six of seven possessions that allowed Allen Central to move out to a 34-27 lead after three quarters.

Two free throws by Jessica Nelson to begin the fourth quarter made it a 34-29 game, but Majakey had yet another trey and buried her fourth with 7:31 to play that gave Allen Central an eight-point lead.

Allen Central never could put the Lady Tigers away as Paintsville pulled to within six but could get no closer. Allen Central led by 10 points twice before winning by the same margin.

Shanna Howell, who struggled from the floor in the first half, was a big factor in the last minutes of the game and finished strong, scoring 11 points, all in the final four minutes of the game.

"Shanna played like a senior tonight," said the Allen Central coach. "The first half she made some mental mistakes, but the second half she played extremely well.

Coach Moore said his team's defense keeps getting better.

"That's the reason our games don't look pretty," Moore said. "We haven't had a pretty game all season but we have beat some pretty good teams.'

Martin, who quit the team last week, had a change of heart and returned but did not start for Allen Central. She scored nine points in the game and had six rebounds.

"Jessica Martin is back for us tonight," said Coach Moore. "I hope her knee is all right.'

Barb Prater scored six points and Jennifer Risner added four. Kari Osborne and Sizemore had three points each. Howard netted two.

Kretzer led Paintsville with 16 points. Staniford tossed in seven and Music finished with eight.

Parsons scores 15 in 62-47 win at Ashland

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

They didn't look their best but they did pull out a victory in the Kitten Invitational at Ashland this past Saturday night.

They of course being the Betsy Layne Ladycats, who put together a good second half and posted a 62-47 win over a good Lewis County team in the first round of the tournament.

"We played decent," said Betsy Layne Coach Cassandra Akers. "We missed a lot of layups in the first the Ladycats. half. I mean wide open shots.'

But that has been the M.O. of the Ladycats this basketball season: struggles in the first half, bears watching in the second.

Jenny Parson scored a game high 15 points to lead the Ladycats. However, Parsons was saddled with early foul trouble and sat the pines for most of the first half. She did not score in the first two quarters.

'She picked up two quick fouls at the start of the game and she wasn't in the game no time in the second quarter when she got her third," said Coach Akers.

But Parson made up for the first two quarters, scoring all 15 in the final two stanzas. She had nine in the fourth period.

Whitney Lykens finished in double figures with 11 points. She led the team in assists with five.

Devon Reynolds, who was playing with a hurt finger on her right hand, finished with nine points for

Blackcats

The Blackcats looked like world-beaters Wednesday night in the first round of the Coca-Cola Classic at Pike Central when they posted a 94-60 win over the Jenkins Cavaliers.

"I was totally surprised," said Coach Crisp. "We had never lead before after the first quarter."

Seth Crisp and Dustin Music combined for 43 points in the win. Crisp had a game high 22 points while Music netted 21. Ricky Powers tossed in 18 in what was a balanced scoring night for Prestonsburg, the first quarter but exploded in the second period to put 55 points on the scoreboard at the half. Prestonsburg outscored the Cavs 33-18 in the second period.

"We have trouble putting 55 points on the board in a full game," said Coach Crisp.

The two teams were pretty much even in the third period but a 22-5 run by Prestonsburg and Slone finished with seven, but excellent defense buried the Cavs. Prestonsburg improved to 1-12 on the season while Jenkins fell to 3-9

Coach Crisp said he made some changes before the game,

"I started a different line up," he said. "It helped us."

Prestonsburg went to the pressing game, something they had not attempted too often this season because of the lack of point production. But the ability to score often allowed the Blackcats to set up the press and it worked.

"It was just a great effort from The Blackcats led 22-21 after everyone on the team," he said. "The press helped getting us going. You could see the confidence building in the players. That is all they needed, just a game that will build their confidence."

Prestonsburg held a 55-39 lead at the half.

Ryan Martin got the call as one change in the starting line up and he contributed six points. Matt played a big part on defense for the Blackcats. Kyle Shepherd added eight points and Josh Turner scored three. Matt Clay added five points. Josh Slone scored two points.

Junior Duty led Jenkins with 14 points. Jason Tackett totaled 13.

"It is a monkey off my back," said Coach Crisp, who is in his first year at the helm of the Prestonsburg boys program. Prestonsburg lost their first eight players from last year's team and is playing with inexperienced players and players who sat out last year.

Coach Crisp coached the Prestonsburg girls team last year to the finals of the regional tournament.

Prestonsburg advances to the semifinals of the tournament where they will meet host Pike Central in a 8:15 start tonight. Pike Central advance to a semifinal game with a 80-42 win over Elkhorn City, also played Wednesday night.

"She tried to shoot layups with the right hand and was missing bad," said Coach Akers. "Then she said, 'heck with this' and went and shot one left-handed and made it.

"It was a freak accident when she hurt her hand in practice."

Amber Roberts led Betsy Layne in rebounds with 10 for the game. She finished with six points:

Natasha Stratton and Heather Hamilton netted four points each and Kim Tackett totaled three. Tabitha Mitchell continues to play good basketball off the bench and finished with five points. Seventhgrader Kim Clark contributed five points, all in the fourth quarter. She hit a three-point basket in the periafter the first quarter as Betsy Layne could not score from underneath. Stratton had two free throws while Tackett and Lykens had the lone field goals for the Ladycats.

In the second period, Betsy Layne camped at the free throw line in outscoring Lewis County 18-9 to take a 25-18 halftime lead. The Ladycats connected on eight of 13 from the charity stripe in the period.

Coca-Cola Classic...

Lewis County held a 9-7 lead Mitchell hit four of six free throw attempts and scored all five of her points in the quarter. Stratton had two points in the period.

Lewis County scored only two field goals in the second stanza, hitting six of 12 free throws.

Parsons scored six third-quarter points in a 16-15 run by the Ladycats in the quarter. Reynolds, who had three points at the half, all on free throws, added six in the third quarter. Lykens scored four. Betsy Layne led 43-33 after three quarters.

The semifinals of the Kitten Invitational will be played Saturday morning, with Betsy Layne playing at 10:30 that morning. The finals are scheduled for that night.

The Sheldon Clark game with Betsy Layne, originally scheduled for Thursday night, has been moved 💌 to tonight at Betsy Layne.

Allen Central places six in double figures

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

You would have never known the Allen Central Rebels basketball team hadn't played in nearly three weeks, but when Coach Johnny Martin sent his team to the hardwood Tuesday night, it made only the second time they had been on the floor since the holiday break.

"We needed to play. These kids need to play," said the Allen Central coach before the tip off. Coach Martin said the reason for the long lay off was some early scheduling conflicts.

The way Allen Central handled the Sheldon Clark Cardinals with a pressure defense that forced 39 turnovers, the average fan would not have detected any rusty action on the part of the Rebels.

Allen Central placed six players in double figures, led by Jeremy Sexton's 24 points. Leslie Slone added 15 in a solid night from the floor and Jeremy Hayes scored 14 points. Josh Howell pumped in 12, while Rodney Scott added 11 and Larry Mullins scored 10.

Allen Central got some good minutes from Travis Francis who finished with six points. Jeremy Rister drained a three-point basket for three points. Big man Z.W. Chaffins had two points.

Allen Central shot well from the free throw line, hitting 12-of-16 for 75 percent. The Cardinals were not equally as good with 10of-18 shooting.

The Rebels shot a hot 53 perent from the floor, hitting 39 of

Bobcats

Sheldon Clark hit 43 percent of their shots. Coach Martin said he was somewhat surprised at the performance of his team after the long lay off.

"At times, we did look good," he said. "We are a good offensive team. We can score. But we have trouble with our inside defense."

Coach Martin said his team's defense wasn't where the Allen Central coaching staff wanted it to be at this point in the season.

"Rodney (Scott) can block shots but there is more to it than blocking shots," said the Allen Central coach.

Hayes had the hot hand in the first quarter for Allen Central, scoring 12 points in the period. Hayes buried two three-pointers as the Rebels raced out to a 17-2 lead. Sexton set the tone with a strong move to the basket off the opening "Jeremy had been doing a good job for us lately," said the Allen Central mentor. "He is shooting the ball well. He is hitting 39 percent from the three-point circle."

Sheldon Clark missed easy baskets underneath on unchallenged layups.

They missed a lot of easy baskets," said Coach Martin. If they had made some of them, it may have been a closer game."

Allen Central turned the ball over 15 times in the first half and only had seven in the final two quarters. Coach Martin said it was a good game for his team.

long lay off. Allen Central held a 20-13 lead points.

at the first stop. It wasn't until the 4:28 mark of the first quarter that Sheldon Clark got on the scoreboard. The Cardinals turned the ball over six of the first eight possessions of the ball. They had 10 miscues in the first period.

Howell became the offensive threat for the Rebels in the second quarter as the Cardinals paid more attention to Hayes. Howell opened the second period with a trey and hit two free throws as the Rebels extended their lead to 12 points, 25-13. Howell had nine of his 12 points in the second period.

Mullins, who was having some problems on the court handling the basketball, finally got in the scoring column hitting a three-point basket that gave the Rebels a 42-29 lead. Allen Central went to the locker room holding a 44-32 lead.

Sheldon Clark handled the press better in the third period and pulled to within seven points of the Rebels, 52-45. Slone completed an old-fashioned three-point play that put the Rebels back in front by 10 points. Late in the quarter, baskets by Howell and Hayes gave Allen Central a 70-55 lead after three quarters.

On a super spinning move to the basket. Scott rolled in a lavup that gave Allen Central a 20-point lead. From that point, it was the Rebels as Sexton went wild. He scored 10 straight points as Allen Central closed the game with a 15-3 run.

Joe Hammond led Sheldon Clark with 15 points. Jeremy "It was a good game to come Brown came off the Cardinal back on," he said, mentioning the bench and contributed 10 points. Eric McCoy finished with nine against us."

Coach Rose said the game plan was to hold Shelby Valley to seven three-point baskets.

"They ended up making 13 against us," he said. "We gave up seven the first half and we got out of our zone quick.'

Coach Rose said his team looked very good in the first half against Pike Central but ...

"The second half we just looked awful," he said. "We went to Feds Creek Friday night and played a great game. We played with more intensity than what we played with tonight."

The Betsy Layne coach said it was just a matter of putting together a complete game.

"We put both halves together tonight," he said. "We still have some things to work on. Especially when we get the lead, we start looking at the scoreboard."

Shelby Valley held a 22-17 lead after the first quarter when Jamie Bartley sank a three-point basket. The Wildcats' first four baskets were of the three-point variety.

Bradley Brooks shouldered the Bobcats in the first period scoring six points. The game was tied at 6, but Shelby Valley extended the lead to 14-9 before the Bobcats put together a 6-0 run and took the lead at 15-14.

The score was tied again at 17, but a basket by Wright gave the lead to the Wildcats 19-17. Johnson then hit the trey.

Collins made some great post-up moves in the paint area and Scott Collins made some crisp passes to Collins to keep the Bobcats close.

With 2:03 to play in the first half, Scott Collins' rebound basket gave Betsy Layne the lead, 35-34, and it was for good. Betsy Layne led 38-36 at the half.

The Bobcats scored first to start the third period with a 41-36 lead. But a three-point play by Shannon Akers cut the lead to two before a basket by Adam Collins pushed the margin to four points.

Collins scored five consecutive points as Betsy Layne went in front by nine points, 48-39. Brad Daugherty ran the court well and back-to-back baskets gave Betsy Layne a 50-43 lead. The Bobcats were in front by 10 points, 53-43, after three quarters.

Betsy Layne took its biggest lead of the game at the 6:25 mark when Justin Bartley hit two free throws to make it a 59-45 affair. Shelby Valley would hit five three-point baskets to keep the score decent.

Wright's trey pulled the Wildcats to within six of Betsy Layne. But over the final three minutes, Betsy Layne hit five of seven free throws to seal the win.

"Coming in tonight we were shooting 71 percent from the free throw line," said Coach Rose. "We played hard tonight and I think our legs were a little gone.

Betsy Layne showed good chemistry on the court. and Coach Rose said that is something his team had been working on.

"That is something we have been stressing," he said. We had 10 assists in the first half against Pike Central and none in the second half. Against Feds Creek we had 24. Tonight we had a lot of assists and we hit the open man." The Bobcats will face Allen Central tonight in the semifinals of the tournament.

"Hopefully it will be our turn," said Rose, "We know what they are going to do and they know what we are going to do. We are going to try and defend them better than we did the last time. Hopefully, we will get the lucky break this time."

Allen Central defeated Betsy Layne two points in the closing seconds of the game when Larry Mullins hit two free throws.

The Bobcats improved to 6-4 on the season.

Coach Rose said his team is getting better.

"We are learning one another. We know what everybody's role is," he said. "Even our bench is learning what they have to do. If they are just in two minutes a game, they play hard."

Coach Rose said it is hopeful that his team will peak at the middle of February.

Jamie Bartley and Shannon Akers led the Wildcats' scoring with 16 points apiece. Bartley hit five threepointers and Akers sank three. Wright finished with nine with Brandon Stevens tossing in seven. Jeremy Akers hit three treys and finished with nine points.

Gospel night at the MAC

Friday, January 21, will see some good, old, food-stompin' gospel singing at the Mountain Arts Center in Prestonsburg.

The Gospel Night program starts at 7:30 p.m. and features the Singing Cookes, the Cooke Brothers, the Freemans, and the Barrett Family.

Originally from southwest Virginia,

Hubert Cooke left the coal mines around Wise in 1962 to form the Cooke Duet with his wife, Jeanette. A few years later, son James made the duet a trio by playing the bass guitar. Eventually, sons Ronny and Donny joined the group. The Cookes have enjoyed heavy radio airplay and consistent touring. Today, the family travels together, but as two groups, The Singing Cookes and the Cooke Brothers.

The Freemans perform what is known as Southern Gospel Music. They have been together for more than 25 years and give around 250 concerts a year.

They have more nominations for the Hearts Aflame Award, voted by members pf the Southern Gospel Music Guild, than any other artists. Their current hit is "Children of the Dust."

Tickets for the gospel show are $10 in advance and $12 at the door. Groups of 15 or more pay $8 each. Call 606/886-2623 or tollfree, 1-888-MAC-ARTS for reservations.

Natasha's Stars

ARIES

(MARCH 21 TO APRIL 19)

Your tendency to be headstrong when faced with a confusing situation needs to be curbed. Instead of demanding answers, do some investigating on your own.

TAURUS (APRIL 20 TO MAY 20)

The divine Bovine would do well to be less accepting and a little more demanding in a romantic situation. What you hear may not be the full story. Get the facts.

GEMINI

(MAY 21 TO JUNE 20)

Gemini needs to come down to earth this week. Floating above your problems in the hope they'll go away just won't do it. You may be surprised at how easily things work out once you decide to tackle them. CANCER

(JUNE 21 TO JULY 22) That funny feeling you have about a you should deal with it. It may have hidden ful about what you plan to spend. problems. Follow your instincts.

LEO (JULY 23 TO AUGUST 22)

That person who makes you feel uneasy about yourself shouldn't be allowed to get away with it. Don't be such a pussycat. A little Leonine roaring on your behalf will make that person look at you in a new light.

VIRGO

(AUGUST 23 TO SEPTEMBER 22)

You like things in black and white. But too many evasions will turn a particular situation into a shade of gray. You're going to have to work harder to get the cooperation you're looking for.

LIBRA

(SEPTEMBER 23 TO OCTOBER 22) Money matters take an unexpectedly confusing turn this week. The problem

"too-good-to-be-true" offer is a clue to how won't last, but until it's worked out, be care-

SCORPIO

(OCTOBER 23 TO NOVEMBER 21) There will be attempts to flatter you into agreeing with someone's viewpoint. Ask yourself why this person is trying so hard to get you to go along.

SAGITTARIUS (NOVEMBER 22 TO DECEMBER 21)

A career challenge forces you into a decision-making mode. Know all the facts before deciding. You have a friend who can offer advice, but it's you who must make the final choice.

CAPRICORN

(DECEMBER 22 TO JANUARY 19) You have many more admirers than you realize. People are pulling for you to succeed. Keep that in mind as you face that decision you'll soon have to make.

AQUARIUS

(JANUARY 20 TO FEBRUARY 18) Your well-known tendency to put yourself out for others is repaid, and then some. An ally appears from an unexpected source.

PISCES (FEBRUARY 19 TO MARCH 20)

A friend will need your compassionate concern. Give it whole-heartedly. In your career, prepare for a change. That job you want will soon become available.

YOU WERE BORN THIS WEEK: The watchword is challenge! You will be asked to assume certain responsibilities for which you think you're not ready. But once you discard the fear and face the facts, you may well change your mind.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

by Chuck Shepherd

— Patrick J. Murphy, deputy superintendent of schools in Cambridge, Massachusetts, resigned in December after admitting that he solicited two of his staff members to write papers on Shakespeare for his 19-year-old daughter's literature class at Stonehill College in nearby Easton. The scheme blew up on Murphy when one of the papers received a D, and he tried to get the employee to rewrite it.

— Among the new dog designer fashions unveiled at the 12th Pat Pet Friend Festival in November in Bangkok: a red-and-black, Michael Jackson-style military coat; a yellowand-black bike racing jacket with bikestyle helmet; a silver space suit-like cape; and a blue silk gown. According to designer Vasinee Apornpanit, the biggest market by far for dressing up dogs is Japan, where pet owners are now asking for cell phones and other high-tech gadgets to be sewn onto the dogs' outfits.

Schools That Need Zero-Tolerance Policies for Teachers

— In October, a first-grade teacher in Rialto, California, taped a disruptive student's head to the wall of the classroom. And seventh-grade teacher Carrie White was accused in October of flinging a dictionary and a calculator at two disruptive students in Lodi, Ohio. And in June, high school substitute teacher Steven M. Catena was fired in Keansburg, New Jersey, after reports that he wrapped one student in masking tape and butcher paper in class and implored students to give another classmate a "swirly" (dunking in a toilet), And in Durban, South Africa, in May, a high school teacher and a principal pulled guns and opened fire on students who were protesting higher fees.

Inexplicable

— In an August dispatch from Katy, Texas (near Houston), the San Francisco Chronicle featured "Forbidden Gardens," P.H. Poon's 80acre, $20 million, 1/20th replica of the Forbidden City in Beijing (shown as life-size in the 1987 film "The Last Emperor"), "what must be," according to the Chronicle, "one of the world's least known theme parks." The reporter noted only one vehicle in the parking lot and only a group tour of 16 kids in attendance.

- After arresting Teri Harrington, 31, and Deana Watson, 28, in September, Sacramento, California, police told reporters that the women had apparently stolen large numbers of items from local stores at least 14 times in the previous two weeks, casually walking out each time with 20-gallon bins filled with clothes, videos, CDs, games and cosmetics.

— In Windsor, Ontario, in August, the small wheel of a man's wheelchair got stuck on railroad tracks as a train was heard in the distance, and a female passerby in a wheelchair rolled out to help him, but her small wheel got stuck in the same rut. Both suffered minor injuries when the oncoming train could not completely stop.

First Things First

— In October, Argentina exiled former Paraguayan military leader Luis Oviedo to remote Tierra del Fuego for violating the rules of his political asylum, which it had given him six months earlier. Oviedo had unsuccessfully requested a stay of his banishment, arguing that he had recently undergone a hair transplant and felt the windy, sunny weather in Tierra del Fuego would disrupt his new plugs.

In November, Robert Horton, 52, walked into a Phoenix courthouse carrying his wife, Belinda, who was bound at the legs, arms and mouth with gray duct tape. He told a security officer that she was due in court that day on a charge of assaulting a police officer, that he had posted bail for her, that she had threatened to skip the court hearing, and that he had taped and lugged her downtown to make sure he got his bail money back. Unknown to the Hortons, the charge against Belinda had been dismissed earlier that day, but prosecutors are still deciding whether to file charges against Robert for kidnapping his wife.

SMILE QWHILE ...

You Were There

If you are 45 years or older, there is a distinct possibility that you know exactly where you were when President Kennedy was assassinated. People that same age can also remember the Cuban Missile Crisis.

And, if you are over 35 years old, you probably remember when Neil Armstrong made that "one small step for man..." Whether we can remember these historic events or not, all of them have made an impact on our lives.

Since this is the beginning of a new century, a lot of media coverage has been devoted to the most important people and events that shaped the last one. When Microsoft mogul Bill Gates was asked what he thought were the most defining innovations of the 20th century, he narrowed it to two: the computer chip and medical advances, specifically vaccines.

Everybody from Jay Leno to President Clinton have put in their two cents on this subject (even my husband last week). So in keeping with the true spirit of this millennial journalistic poll (and stealing from David Letterman's format) I thought I would list the top 10 things (in no particular order) that have made the greatest impression on my life.

1. Olestra - an ingredient that takes the place of fat. The sideeffects are gas and loose stools.

effects are gas and loose stools. I'll sacrifice both of those for lowcalorie, no-fat potato chips which are my weakness.

2. NutraSweet - an ingredient when added to soft drinks and other beverages gives a zero-calorie count. The side effects are short-term memory loss. I'll sacrifice that for...for...Oh, I forget.

3. Synthyroid - a hormone replacement for hypothyroidism. I couldn't function without it. (I can also blame the condition on being overweight.)

4. Corrective Eye Surgery -Even though I had it when I was eight years-old, I had it again at age 34. It didn't improve my vision, but at least my left eye wasn't wandering around on its own anymore.

5. Paper Towels - The biggest invention next to toilet paper. (May be used for the same thing in emergencies.)

6. Lewis Grizzard, Erma did definition Bombeck, and Thomas Tryon - all do with art?)

authors whom I admired and who are now dead. (Lewis and I were penpals, or at least I pretended we were when he answered one of my letters.)

7. Kentucky winning the National Basketball Championship in '78 - pretty much self-explanatory if you're a Wildcat fan.

8. Johnny Mathis - As a cardcarrying fan club member, I walked down the aisle to his music when I got married this last time — enuf said.

9. Twilight Zone - The best television program in the history of the media. Scared me almost as much as when the planets aligned in 1962 and the world was supposed to come to an end.

10. J.R. - Raising a child has been the most rewarding, exasperating, funniest, hardest and wonderful experience of my life. Right now, he's still on "the ride of his life." My reward will come when he asks his own children, "What do you mean, you need more money?"

And, as great as all these things were, I did have disappointments, the biggest one being when Clyde Roy Pack gave me a "D" in Art I because I couldn't define tint and hue. (Just when did definitions have anything to do with art?)

EKU's Hummel Planetarium answers rhyme question

RICHMOND

"Twinkle, twinkle little star. How I wonder what you are ... '

The query posed in the familiar children's nursery rhyme has puzzled humans for thousands of years. What is a star? Are all stars the same? How do stars shine?

A new public program at Eastern Kentucky University's HummelPlanetarium answers those questions and explores the connection between the formation of stars and the formation of everything else in the universe - from galaxies to planets to humans.

'Clouds of Fire: The Origin of Stars" premiered Thursday, January 6. The program can be seen at 7:30 p.m. nightly Thursday through Sunday or at 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and students and $2.75 for children 12 and under.

Special showings of "Clouds of Fire" or other programs are available for school groups by reservation.

"The Hubble Space Telescope recently provided scientists with beautiful pictures of a star-forming gas and dust cloud called the Eagle Nebula," said Dr. Jack Fletcher, Planetarium director. "These images allowed scientists to peer into the inner workings of star cluster formation.

"In 'Clouds of Fire," images will show the formation of the Eagle Nebula the 13th largest planetariand the way the nebula um in the United States and evaporates over time to third largest planetarium on reveal a beautiful star cluster a college or university campus in the world, attracted Hummel Planetarium, about 40,000 visitors this items related to astronomy, past year. Its gift shop, open 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday and for each show, features an assortment of space science and the physical sciences.

For more information about the Planetarium, call 606/622-1547 or visit www.planetarium.eku.edu.

Frontline on KET looks beyond the headlines at teenage killer

Kip Kinkel, a 15-year-old from a solid middleclass family, made headlines in 1998 when he was accused of murdering his mother and father and then opening fire on his fellow students at his Eugene, Oregon, high school, killing two and injuring 22 oth-

On "The Killer at Thurston High," airing Tuesday, January 18 at 10 p.m., on KET, Frontline goes behind the headlines of this tragic case to explore what went wrong with a seemingly normal teenage boy.

The program includes interviews with Kinkel's friends, counselors and family, including his sister. Kristin, as she tries to understand what happened with her troubled brother.

Frontline "The Killer at Thurston High," produced by Mike Kirk, Karen O'Connor and Miri Navasky, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate.

GUIDING LIGHT:

Vanessa's struggle to awaken from her coma prompted Carmen and Edmund to form a dangerous alliance. Reva's decision looked like it might bring her closer to Richard. Selena was unsure of becoming intimate with Buzz. Michelle's hearing turned up an unlikely ally. Wait to See: Beth threatens Phillip.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE:

Nora was puzzled by Sam's decision to halt their wedding. Meanwhile, Asa plotted the destruction of another Rappaport family member by giving Bo evidence that Will embezzled money from the Megan Foundation. Skye backtracked on her threat to Max that she would tell Asa who the Buchanan heir really was. Bo told a stunned Nora that he and Lindsay will wed. Wait to See: Bo prepares his revenge against Asa. Vikki gets upsetting test results.

PASSIONS:

Tabitha sent Timmy to Charity's room as part of her plan to bring her over to the Dark Side. But Timmy unexpectedly got trapped inside. Despite "proof," Pilar felt sure the man who died was not Martin. Eve arranged to keep snoopers out of Orville's apartment. Wait to See: Orville tells Eve where he hid information about Chad's past.

PORT CHARLES:

Scott became Julie's lawyer After Karen refused to tell Courtney why she drove erratically, Courtney began to feel partially responsible for the accident. Frank later got Courtney to admit she'd been speeding. Neil overheard Karen say something about his (Neil's) paternity. Rachel made a play Scott's affection. for Meanwhile, Chris and Julie considered bribing the jury. Frank, Courtney, Joe, and Karen realized Neil was missing. Wait to See: Eve has a plan to expose Rachel.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS:

Jack was relieved to hear Ramona say Victor was not her lover. Ashley later urged Jack to let go of his hatred for Victor. Meanwhile, Victor awoke from a nightmare about Nikki leaving him and found Ramona comforting him. He reached for her as she kissed him good night and they made love. Mac lashed out at Billy for hurting Raul. Tony asked Megan to marry him the next day and insisted she not invite Tricia. Nina urged Ryan to get Tricia into therapy before she lost it completely. Nikki agreed to meet with Brad before moving into his place. Victor arrived at the Ranch in time to see her carrying her packed bags downstairs. Tony returned to the house to pick up Megan's wedding ring and was hit by Tricia's car as she rushed to stop the wedding. Wait to See: Victor and Nikki make an emotional "connection."

Q. I just saw "The Talented Mr. Ripley." I read a review that said the director, Anthony Minghella, almost didn't cast Mark Damon as Ripley, the bad guy, because he thought no one would accept him as a villain after seeing him in "Good Will Hunting." So, what made him change his mind? Ken L.

A. Actually, Minghella had already cast Damon for "The Talented Mr. Ripley" before he cast "Good Will Hunting."

Q. I was told that Peter Strauss and Ed Asner are actually father and son. I've never read this and have no idea if it's true or not. Could you please comment?

Deirdre G,

A, Strauss and Asner are not father and son, but they played those roles in the classic miniseries, "Rich Man, Poor Man." The series was their breakthrough into television stardom.

Q, Are Nick Nolte and Christopher Walken brothers? I understand Walken has a brother who is also an actor. Is it Nolte? Kari M.

A. Walken and Nolte are not brothers. Walken's actor brother is Glenn Walken, whose credits include the role of Mike Bauer on "Guiding Light" between 1954 and 1956. Incidentally, as with Peter Strauss and Ed Asner, (above) "Rich Man, Poor Man" was also Nick Nolte's TV breakthrough role. He played Asner's other son.

Q. Is it true that Elvis Presley was in love with a girl who later became a nun? My sister's father-in-law worked for the Presley family, and he swears this is true. Jeanine McD.

A. Elvis was a close friend (nothing more) and former castmate of Dolores Hart, who gave up Hollywood to become a nun. The last time I read anything about her, she had become a Mother Superior and was active in education and charity work.

UPDATE: Several weeks ago 1 answered a question about President Bill Clinton's future in the White House after he completes his Constitutionally-limited second term this year. I thought he might be able to run again at a later date, and asked for advice on this matter. I'm pleased to say, Mr. Arnold Klein of Staten.

Mark Russell anniversary special on KET network

Mark Russell. He's smart and he's sassy. He's also well informed and well seasoned. Twentyfive seasons, to be exact. "Mark Russell 25th Anniversary Special." a one-hour retrospective of Russell's career that also offers for the first time, a glimpse of the man behind the comedy, airs Wednesday, January 19, at 8 p.m., on KET.

The one-hour special is unlike any that has come before. In a departure from the familiar year-end review and songbook specials of the past, "Mark Russell 25th Anniversary Special" features the satirist poking fun at himself and talking candidly about his rise from the piano bars of Washington to a top-rated PBS series and a demanding coast-tocoast personal appearance schedule.

Of course, the special still allows viewers to enjoy Russell doing what Russell does best. Many of his finest comedic highlights are intercut with tales of his not-so-fine moments on the bumpy road to becoming America's foremost political satirist.

He talks candidly about his unsuccessful auditions for the Tonight Show With Jack Paar and The Ed Sullivan Show due to was just "too inside Washington,"

It wasn't until Russell's "discovery" by WNED. in his hometown of Buffalo. New York, that his star really began to rise. WNED introduced him to PBS stations in 1974 and the "Mark Russell Comedy Specials" were born in 1975.

The special, produced by WNED/Buffalo, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Thurber documentary on KET

"James Thurber: The Life and Hard Times," the first major documentary about James Thurber (1894-1961), chronicles his varied accomplishments as writer, journalist, playwright, cartoonist and social critic—all despite the blindness that handicapped him for the last 20 years of his life.

Considered one of the greatest American humorists since Mark Twain, Thurber is known throughout the world for his classic short story "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty."

His comic drawings—made famous in the New Yorker magazine, for which he worked for many years—were admired by many, including Henri Matisse and George Grosz.

Narrated by George Plimpton, "James Thurber: The Life and Hard Times," airs Friday, January 21, at 10 p.m. on KET and Saturday, January 15, at 8 p.m. on KET2. The one-hour documentary features interviews with John Updike, Edward Albee, Fran Lebowitz, Roy Blount Jr., Rosemary Thurber, Roger Angell and Alistair Cooke, among others.

Combining filmed excerpts with the comments of literary critics, humorists and biographers, the show illuminates Thurber's life and his place in American letters, with a special emphasis on his influence on American humor and on contemporary authors such as Garrison Keillor, John Updike, Roy Blount Jr. and Russell Baker.

Several of Thurber's works were adapted for the screen. A remake of "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," starring Jim Carrey as the daydreaming hero originally played by Danny Kaye, is scheduled for release this winter.

Produced by Van Doren Productions Inc. The show is closed-captioned for the deaf and hardof-hearing.

CRITICS CORNER

MAN ON THE MOON: What we fans loved and hated about Andy Kaufman was that we never knew what Andy was going to do next. And whatever Andy did, we never knew if it was a set-up or happening for real. It is a testament to Andy Kaufman's genius for blurring the line between fantasy and reality that when he died in 1984, fans around the world assumed it was another put-on. With the the film's first shot, director Milos Forman pays homage to Andy's genius by having Jim Carrey (as Kaufman) appear before the audience to tell them what a horrible movie they're about to see, and maybe it's best that they go home. Roll Credits. Fade to Black. Thanks for Stopping By. Really. Now Get Out.

The reason Forman can pull this stunt off is due solely to the brilliance of Jim Carrey's performance as Kaufman. At no point in the film are you aware that Carrey is onscreen. Jim Carrey IS Andy Kaufman in timbre, posture, syntax and spirit. Carrey is a Harley actor in what could have been a moped movie in the hands of a less-accomplished performer.

Rounding out the cast are Courtney Love as Kaufman's girlfriend Lynne Margulies and Paul Giamatti as his longtime friend and partner in deception Bob Zmuda. The cast of "Taxi" also appear (as themselves) - except for the film's coproducer Danny DeVito, who took on the role of Kaufman's manager, George Shapiro.

If you're looking for "Man on the Moon" to reveal any insights into the mind of a man who was, well, just plain weird, you may be disappointed. "Man on the Moon" isn't so much a character study as it is a celebration of the life of one of the 20th Century's most compelling and enigmatic entertainers.

Midnite Ramble presents Caribbean sound

Jon Lucien, innovator of the smooth jazz sound known as "Quiet Storm," is coming to Midnite Ramble at the Kentucky Center for the Arts, Tuesday, January 29, at 8 p.m. in the Bomhard Theater.

Tickets are $20 and $25 and are available at the Kentucky Center in Louisville at 502/584-7777

Lucien's seductive vocals blend jazz with Brazilian music and the lush rhythms of his native Caribbean. He describes his unique style in terms of his island heritage. "My sound is romantic," Lucien says. "It's water, it's ocean, it's tranquillity."

Through 14 albums, his sound has mesmerized his many fans, both young and old. As Lucien explains, "Wherever I perform, I hear all the time, 'I'm 18, but my mom turned me on to your music when I was 10."

Lucien's combination of influences, sometimes referred to as R&B, is making new fans everywhere he plays. Like all great artists, he draws inspiration for his music through the trials and triumphs of his life.

This year, Lucien releases two new CDs on two different labels: "By Request" on Shanachie, and "Sweet Control" on BMG/Razor & Tie

This Midnite Ramble performance is presented with the support of Brown-Forman Corporation, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation and Hillerich & Bradsby Company.

Richard Bennett and Bluetowne take the stage on Jubilee

Hailing from the Richmond area, Richard Bennett and Bluetowne have reached "regulars" status on the bluegrass festival scene. This very talented bluegrass group, featuring the stunning guitar work of Bennett, has shared the stage with bluegrass luminaries such as J. D. Crowe and the New South.

Now, Richard Bennett and Bluetowne take the stage for "Jubilee," airing Thursday, January 20 at 10 p.m., on KET.

Bennett is joined in performance by his band Bluetowne, which features his wife, Wanda Barnett-Bennett, on fiddle. J. D.

Crowe also makes a guest appearance, playing banjo on two songs. This performance was taped for Jubilee last summer at the Kentucky Horse Park during the Festival of the Bluegrass.

"Jubilee," a KET production is in its fifth season, is produced and directed by H. Russell Farmer. The show is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing. Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate

AUTOTALK 2000 Audi TT Quattro

Coupe Roadsters continue to be the one bright spot in the otherwise moribund sports car market. The latest to debut is Audi's TT, the only one in the niche with optional full time 4-wheel drive. With a total price of $33,500 (including the "Quattro" Package), it's an interesting vehicle!

Outside, the TT is uniquely rounded; inside, it employs a "retro" theme with lots of polished aluminum and stainless steel. Clambering in and out is relatively easy (for a sports car), but interior ergonomics depart considerably from the Germanic "all business" tradition. Leather sport buckets are standard and there's adequate headroom for 6-footers. A rear seat exists, but it's unusable. Fold it down and a large trunk with fie-downs appears!

The dash contains an adequate number of round black-on-white analog gauges. The two cupholders are inconveniently located, but there's lots of nook-and-cranny storage.

For safety, driver, passenger, side and "whiplash" airbags are standard. Antilock 4-wheel power disc brakes with traction control enhance controllability. The equipment level is superb - rack and pinion variable effort steering, keyfob entry with security system, CFC-free automatic heating/air conditioning with adequate capacity, electric windows and mirrors and much more will please on this 2,750 -pound vehicle.

Engine-wise, the TT utilizes a smooth 1.8 liter, 180 HP, turbocharged, intercooled "4." This 4valve per cylinder powerplant moves the vehicle from rest to 60 in 9.1 seconds, absolutely the bottom of the class. Mileage was observed at 20 city and 30 highway (EPA 22/31), best in the genre

For transmission, you'll find a smooth but not stellar 5-speed manual transmission and medium-weight clutch. The combination worked well, but overall gearing needs considerable tightening to match the peaky engine's exceedingly limited torque. A sixth gear would be wselcome.

The "Quattro" full time 4wheel drive package ($2,200) worked well (front drive is standard). Along with weight it adds an extra dimension to this vehicle's appeal. Handling is above average, but the TT's body isn't nearly as rigid as its competitors. Four-wheel independent suspension, sticky performance-type tires, and fine weight distribution contribute to tossability two notches below rivals such as BMW's Z3 or Porsche's Boxster. The U-turn diameter is 36 feet, wide but sadly typical for the class. Another of the TT's strong points is its ride. which is controlled and almost always family-car compliant.

For audio equipment, the test TT was equipped with the optional (for $1,200) Bose AM/FM/CD changer system. It was mediocre.

Quality control was good, but the TT surprised with numerous squeaks and rattles.

Overall Audi's new baby is a decent vehicle but it needs refinement. The engine cries out for additional torque, and the interior's ergonomics need revision. Still, if you live in an inclement weather area and need good fuel economy, this modern interpretation of the sports car could be for you!

Davis monument closed for repairs

Jefferson Davis Monument Park in Elkton has been closed until further notice while exterior renovation work is being done on the monument.

The reopening of the park will be evaluated this spring, said Ed Henson, director of recreation parks and historic sites. The closing addresses a concern about visitor traffic potentially interfering with a steady stream of construction vehicles.

The closing is expected to have little short-term impact. The park's gift shop already had closed for the winter season. Aside from the monument and gift shop, the park's other facilities are a playground and picnic shelter.

Photography contest open prizes will be awarded this year in the International Open Amateur Photography Contest, according to a news from release The International Library of Photography.

Photographers from Floyd County, particularly beginners, are welcome to try to win their share of more than 1,300 prizes. The deadline for the contest is March 31.

"Everyone has at least one memorable photo that captures a special moment

More than $60,000 in in time," stated Jeffrey Bryan, contest director. "When people learn about our free photography contest, they suddently realize that their own favorite photos can win cash prizes, as well as gain national exposure."

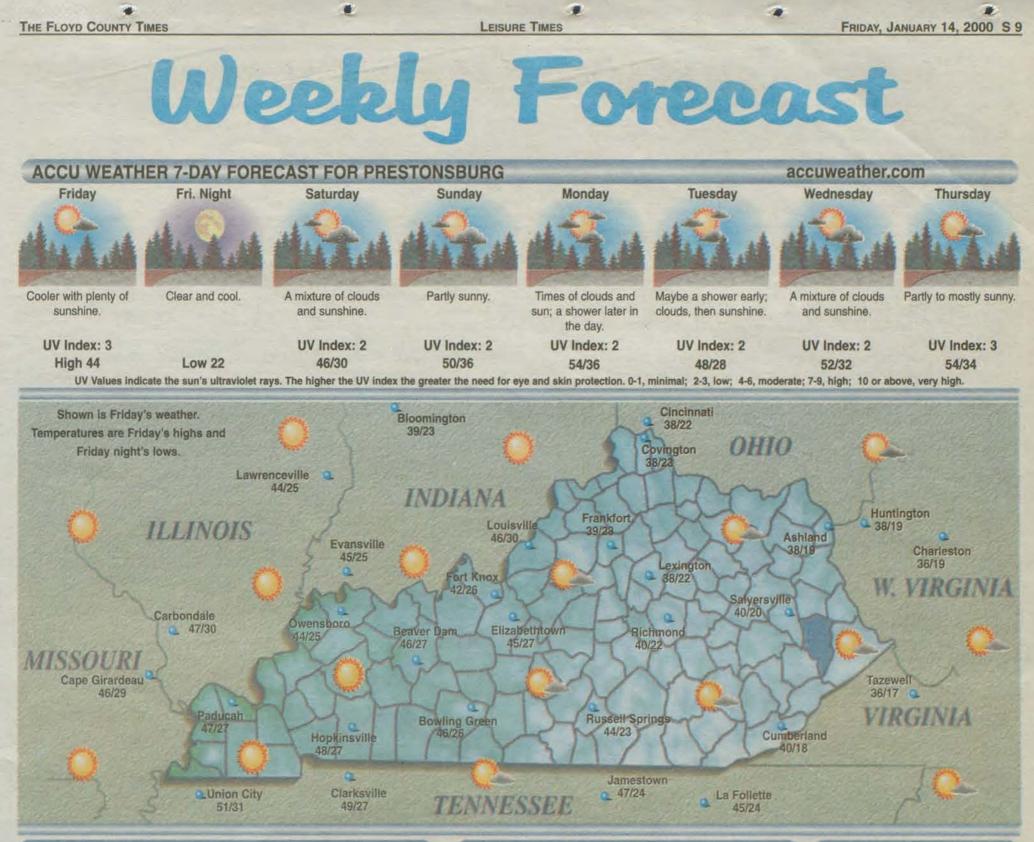

To enter, send one photograph in only one of the following categories: People, Travel, Pets. Children, Sports, Nature, Humor. Action. Portraiture, or other. The photo must be a color or black-and-white print (unmounted), 8" x 10" or smaller.

All entries must include the photographer's name and address on the back, as well as the category and the title of the photo.

Photographs should be sent to The International Library of Photography, Suite 101-9007, 3600 Crondall Lane, Owings Mills, MD 21117.

CRITTERS CORNER

by Carol Combs Morris, DVM

Mike and Gypsy are students in one of our obedience classes. Gypsy is a Border Collie with some real potential for a competition dog. Her biggest problem right now is that she is overly friendly, so we have trouble getting her to stay still on stationary her exercises (sitstay, down-stay, and stand).

Instead, she wants to leap up to greet anyone who comes near. Not only is a bouncing, out-ofcontrol dog bad news at an obedience trial, it is a nuisance in everyday life as well.

The ability of a dog to behave appropriately when greeting someone is, in fact, such an important social skill that "Sitting Politely For Petting" is one of the exercises required for the AKC Canine Good Citizen Test.

Many readers are probably having the same trouble with their dogs at home, and the approach we are using with Gypsy is a simple one anyone can try. It seems like the long way around, but this is one of those cases where slower is really faster.

Let's look at this from Gypsy's point of view. What does she ta want? Obviously, to get closer to the a person so she can "say Hi" and co get petted. How do you get closer? Obviously, you move toward them. Wrong. This used to work; now, it is going to have just the opposite effect. Suddenly, getting up and moving is going to cause the person to move further away.

So what gets the old dog closer to the person? The new rule is that sitting calmly beside the owner is the only thing that will cause the person to come closer.

I'm getting ahead of myself. For this method to work well, the dog needs to be used to a collar and leash. The restraint prevents the dog from going to the other person, so she has to figure out how to get the person to come to her. standard The "heel" position is with the dog on your left side, with the area between his head and shoulder in line with your left leg. He should be taught to sit straight beside you in this position when you give the command, "Sit."

When he holds this position well under normal circumstances, you can begin to have friends and family help teach him to remain sitting while someone approaches.

This is where we are with Gypsy. She heels and sits beautifully, and sits automatically when Mike halts-a requirement for AKC obedience competition. Come anywhere near her, however, and she is airborne. Obviously, this is not good for the show ring, and it also tends to frighten people she meets when they are out walking. Lots of people cannot "read" dogs easily and are unsure whether a lunging dog is aggressive or friendly.

Here is how we are going about convincing her that there is a better way to gain the attention she wants from people. Mike has Gypsy sit beside him, with just a little slack in the leash. I stand far enough away so that she is interested in me, but not intent on getting to me. For her, this is about 10 feet away.

I stand facing her, but without really looking at her. (Gypsy is one of those dogs for whom eye contact alone is enough to send her into a frenzy of happiness!). Then I begin to approach, one step at a time. As long as she stays sitting, I take another step means "no" specifically to the dog), and he prevents her from moving any further forward than the slack in the leash allows, and an even harder attempt to get to me, even as it sinks in that the jumping up isn't working any longer. Psychologists call this an

"extinction burst"-the brief period of time when a person or animal tries even harder to make something work the way it used to before trying something different. How many times have you pounded on the pop machine before you went in the store to get you can almost see the wheels turning. Eventually, she remains sitting out of sheer puzzlement. I take another step or two forward.

After a few more repetitions a refund?

We try again, and she makes repeats the command to "Sit."

forward. If she squirms, I stop. If she a c t u a l l y gets up or moves toward me, I take a step or two back. At the same time, Mike tells her "no!" (actually, we use "Phooey!" as the word that I lean over to pet her, she pops up in my face. I back up.

It takes almost 15 minutes, but at last she stays put until I actually can pet and talk to her. The next time doesn't take nearly as long.

Then Pat tries it. She's catching on, but dogs don't generalize well, so she has to learn that the same thing works to cause him to come closer. Her eyes light up as she suddenly realizes she is controlling the other person's movement.

Is she ready for the show ring? Absolutely not! Mike will have to explain this technique to his wife and close friends and practice it over and over. Then he will have to enlist the help of people Gypsy does not know; preferably people of all ages, different races, people who wear uniforms, people who wear funny hats, people who use wheelchairs or walkers.

He will have to practice it in different places, with different distractions until Gypsy knows without a doubt that this is what works. The nice thing is, soon Mike won't have to tell new people in advance that he's working on an obedience exercise.

Gypsy's polite behavior will cause people to gravitate toward her, and when she remains sitting nicely, she will get that petting and fussing over that she wanted so much in the first place.

Who was the first to reach Everest's top? Nova follows discovery of Mallory's body

George Mallory and Andrew Irvine were last seen alive on the afternoon of June 8, 1924, when they were spotted less than a thousand feet below the summit of Mount Everest, climbing steadily upward in an effort to be the first scale the world's highest peak.

For three-quarters of a century the two men were the subjects of unending mystery and enduring legend. But in early 1999, a Nova-sponsored expedition made one of the most astonishing discoveries in the history of mountaineering: the well-preserved body of explorer George Mallory.

Nova "Lost on Everest" tells the inside story of the expedition that found Mallory and then went on to climb Everest using the northeast ridge route that Mallory and fellow climber Andrew Irvine were attempting to pioneer. The program airs on KET Tuesday, January 18, at 9 p.m., and on KET2, Saturday, January 22, at 7 p.m.

The program features exclusive footage of the search and discovery of Mallory on a steep, rockstrewn incline at 27,000 feet. Rare footage of this extreme environment captures the legendary climber lying face down, clutching the frozen face of the mountain to arrest his fatal fall of 75 years ago. Drawing on their extensive climbing experience, members of the expedition speculate on camera about the clues revealed by the artifacts and Mallory's distinctive pattern of injuries. Based on their findings, they attempt to answer the longstanding question: Were Mallory and Irvine actually the first to reach Everest's peak?

Nova "Lost on Everest" produced by WGBH/Boston, is closedcaptioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Ramp Up For Your Family Road Trip To Ensure A Smooth Ride

(NAPSA)-Millions of Americans are hitting the road with their families-and finding that car travel, done right, can be a bonding experience. Alamo Rent A Car has compiled some tips for making your next road trip with the kids a memorable—and fun—experience, from start to finish. Plan Ahead

 Encourage your kids to par-ticipate in the road-trip planning process. Share with your kids as many brochures, photos and sto-ries as possible to get them excited about the trip. After all, this is their vacation, too.

 The Internet is a great re-source for planning your trip.
 Before you leave, gather informa-tion on your destination(s) at Web sites such as www.alamo.com for easily printed, road-trip friendly car games for kids and other travel information. If you don't have Internet access at home, many public libraries do.
 Prior to your trip, trace your The Internet is a great re

 Prior to your trip, trace your route on the map with a high-lighter. Give your kids their own maps and, if they're old enough, maps and, if they re old enough, let them sit in the passenger seat and "navigate." For kids who are at reading age and above, a map is an excellent tool for learning about distance, geography and language. • Visit the library, before your trip, for books on famous people or historical events that add color to man destingtion. Then, sead about your destination. Then, read aloud to each other while on the road.

• Don't underestimate the power of a good, old-fashioned game of "20 Questions." Before the era of handheld video games, portable TV sets. CD players and laptops, parents managed to keep their kids—and themselves— entertained with classic car games like "I Spy," the license plate game and travel bingo. Kids like to play these games—and variations on these—almost as much as you did when you were their age, * When all else fails, make up a

When all else fails, make up a new game, complete with rules and point systems, and let your kids come up with a name. Or, combat boredom and encourage quiet sib-ling interaction with Solitaire, Hearts or Old Maid. Magnetic playing cards and games like checkers," ng cards and games are checkers, backgammon, tic-tac-toe and hang-man also will keep kids occupied on the longest stretches of road. Creature Comforts

 Never go anywhere without snacks. Be sure to pack plenty of fresh fruit and treats that won't make a mess-animal crackers, fun-size candy bars, fruit snacksalong with portable juice packs or bottled water.

· Be prepared for everything from headaches, scrapes and bruises to upset stomache. Desig-nate a special travel bag as the first aid kit and fill it with bandages, cough drops, sunscreen, pain reliev-ers and prescription medications (child-proofed, of course) and anything else that will make your fam ily more comfortable.

 Give each child his/her own backpack, complete with snacks, books, favorite toys, extra clothes/hats/sunglasses and some gift-wrapped surprises to open along the way. Make the selection of the backpack a big event for first-time travelers, and encourage your kids to decorate their bags with patches or buttons (your treat) purchased from the places you visit.

• Also, bring along a few touches from home, such as a familiar blanket and pillow, to help make falling asleep in the car and hotel rooms a little easier.

Alamo Rent A Car recognizes the needs of families traveling together—especially first-time travelers. To make the leisure car rental experience easier for families traveling with children of all ages. Alamo is adding several new amenities to key facilities across the country. The restructured Alamo locations will feature play centers for children, luggage checks, private changing areas on-site convenience shops for snacks and other last minute essentials, and kiosks offering travel information.

An essay on the modern day actor

by Howard G. Allen

A Floyd County native who is now a resident of New York City, the author says he wants to share his thoughts with young people who may be considering the arts as a career. He started his career in the theater and then quit to raise a family. although he continued to 'dabble.

Now retired, he's back into the milieu because he "just cannot get the theatrical bug out of my system." He has been an actor, director, producer, playwright and acting teacher.

The difference in a good actor and a mediocre or bad actor is that a good actor lets the process start internally in the heart, transferring what is felt in his heart to the brain where the mind takes over and transfers it to the larynx which transfers it to the tongue and lips and then into action.

The mediocre, or bad, actor starts this process in the mind and goes through the same process that I have just mentioned and the end results are just hollow words and contrived actions.

The only true way to become a good actor is to suffer through life's experi- fer the trials of Job and still By the time I was 25, I had ences. How can you feel on stage or in front of a camera what you don't know, or have not experienced? You can't.

Most actors - the majority, I would say, whom I see nowadays - are not good actors. They are adequate, but not good. They certainly don't take home a cigar. They just do not have that spark that propels one into being a great actor.

The reason for this is, in my opinion, prosperity. We have become a very prosperous nation. Most parents can afford to send their children to acting schools or universities to study acting pay their tuition, room and board, etc.

There is no struggle on the behalf of the young, modern-day actor to do it on his own - no great passion, maybe a desire, but no great passion. That is the difference between a bad. mediocre, or good actor and a great actor.

I have put a moniker on the modern-day actor whom I call the Yuppy Actor. Shallow with no experience in life, their performance comes out exactly that --shallow.

There are exceptions in life. Some actors could sufnot be a good actor, while others who have not suffered or experienced life at all could become a great actor, but those actors are few and far between.

So, how do you account for prodigies? Being the reincarnationist that I am (to me, reincarnation is a fact of life), prodigies are people who have a strong memory of their emotions and expertise from their past lives.

I'm not saying that the following people are prodigies, but they certainly had the spark that was needed to set them apart from other actors: Shirley Temple, Marilyn Monroe, Orson Wells, Marlon Brando, James Dean, Geraldine J. Cobb, Page, Lee Sheppard Strudwick, Christopher Plummer, Sydney Poitier, just to name a few.

In more recent times, there are Eric Roberts, Robert DeNiro, Robert Duvall, Denzil Washington, Dustin Hoffman, Al Pacino, Jon Voight, and a handful of others.

My personal life has been very much like that of Job in many ways, from my teen years when I lost 27 of my schoolmates by drowning in a school bus accident.

tragically lost four of my best childhood friends.

I have had to deal with drug addiction and alcoholism throughout most of my adult life and had to raise my daughter from birth almost single-handedly, because of those addictions of my two wives. (The toughest job anyone could have thrust upon them is being a single parent.)

Plus, those addictions led to mental illness, which is the hardest to deal with. But somehow life goes on, and I try to put all of it behind me. There are also many more things that I will not bother to go into.

All of this is in my conscious and/or subconscious memory, and I have found myself drawing upon them many times while acting, I do not have to consciously think of them, but they just well up automatically. These experiences are ingrained in my soul.

This can be very draining, especially emotional scenes that stir up the memory of all those tragic moments in one's life, but if you want to be a good actor. you have got to do it.

We actors are certainly a special breed of our own. Sometimes, I think that we are all a bunch of masochists. I have found through experience and observations that we are the most insecure people on earth. I guess that is just the nature of the beast.

Anyway, the bottom line to this little narrative is that to be a good actor, acting must come from the heart, and for it to come from the heart, you must have gone through many experiences, good and bad, and remember those experiences in your soul, whether it is from this lifetime or from past lifetimes.

Fleck, Brown on special

Bela Fleck and The Flecktones, along with guitarist/singer/songwriter Junior Brown, kick off the Bank One Lonesome Pine Special Concert Series, Friday, February 18, in Whitney Hall in Louisville, at 8 p.m.

Tickets for the show are $18, $22, $24, and $26, and can be purchased at the Kentucky Center for the Arts Box Office, or charge by phone at 502/584-7777 or 1-800-775-7777, or on the Web at www.kca.org.

Recently voted Best Jazz Group by the readers of Playboy, Bela Fleck & The Flecktones (Victor Wooten, Jeff Coffin, and Future Man) blend four individuals and a myriad of instruments into a single vision that synthesizes jazz and pop, bluegrass and country. Such stylistic range and musical virtuosity keep the group at the top of critics' and readers' polls. Joining them for this special evening is Junior Brown, a performer whose incomparable approach to American music has endeared him to country purists and alternative listeners, to alternative country rebels and mainstream music lovers.

Like any true innovator, Junior reinvents the familiar, going so far as to create his own instrument, a hybrid he calls the guit-steel-a sort of lap side and electric six-string.

Dance group to perform

Internationally-acclaimed Hubbard Street Dance for a thrilling performance of contemporary dance, Saturday, February 9, at 8 p.m.

The performance is part of the Philip Morris Companies Inc. New Directions Series. Tickets are $16, $20, and $24, and include a Pre-Show Lecture at 7 p.m. in the Frazier Lobby. Call 502/584-7777 to order tickets.

Begun in 1977 by dancer/choreographer Lou Conte. Hubbard Street Dance Chicago currently boasts 20 dancers performing a distinctive repertory that combines theatrical jazz, contemporary dance and classical ballet technique for an unparalleled artistic style.

Weird

Ewwww, Gross!

Convicted killer Kenneth D. Williams escaped from prison in Arkansas in October by hiding in a 500-gallon barrel of hog slop being towed to a prison farm; he was apprehended 36 hours later, And two weeks later, robbery suspect Roderick King, 19, was found in a Dumpster full of fetid garbage in Knoxville, Tennessee, where he had been hiding from police who chased him after he had gone to the home of the victim's aunt to convince her he was innocent.

- Diana Thorneycroft's government-supported art exhibit, in Winnipeg, Manitoba. in September, consisted of 12 dead rabbits, hung from trees and rotting, in the woods outside town; said the artist, "I'm celebrating the gloriousness of putrefaction." And in November, an unnamed male artist, submitting a project for an Accrington, England, show aiming to revitalize the local village, acceded to sponsors' wishes and redesigned his live-maggot exhibit, which was opposed by environmental officials.

People Who Should've Held It Until They Got Home

- Elderly Margaret Barrs filed a lawsuit in Houston in November against Jack in the Box restaurants because she lost a fingertip when a heavy restroom door slammed on her hand in 1998.

Recurring Themes

News of the Weird has reported several times on successful surgeries to remove unusually large benign tumors, most recently in February 1999 in women in Baltimore (80-pound tumor) and Lancaster, Pennsylvania (75 pounds). In December 1999, doctors at the University of Chicago hospital, working for 18 hours, removed a 200-pound tumor from a 40-year-old woman who weighed 120 pounds just 12 months earlier when the tumor's growth began. The largest tumorremoval on record, 303 pounds, occurred at Stanford Medical Center in 1991.

Least Justifiable Homicides

- Insufficient Reasons to Kill Someone: Resisted taking a shower (Joseph Meehan, charged with strangling his son, 8, Toronto, November). Violated chess etiquette by moving a knight to a new square but then moving it back, even though he did not lift his hand (Mr. Buth Ratha, charged with clubbing his opponent to death with a wooden pestle, Prey Veng, Cambodia, July). Got accepted to kindergarten while her playmate did not (Mitsuko Yamada, 35, mother of the rejected, charged with strangling the accepted child, Tokyo, November).

Also, in the Last Month ...

- A black man defended a bank robbery charge by claiming a 44-year history of brain damage owing to racism (Pittsburgh). A 23-year-old woman climbed down after two years high atop an ancient redwood tree where she had prevented a logging company from clearcutting the site (Stafford, California). A Filipino man received 75 lashes for having two liquor-flavored chocolate bars at an airport in alcohol-dry Saudi Arabia. A man was arrested with a stolen TV and VCR, having called attention to himself by hauling them on the street in an obviously stolen U.S. Postal Service cart (York, Pennsylvania). A Wiccastore owner at a mall sued a psychic-store owner at the mall for slander in their heated business (Cape Cod, rivalry. Massachusetts).
