No action taken on petition

Whether question is on ballot likely to be settled in court

by RALPH B. DAVIS MANAGING EDITOR

After receiving legal advice on the matter and engaging in a heated debate about just what their duties are, members of the Floyd County Board of Elections took no return the fiscal court to magisterial representation.

The board held a special meeting Thursday to discuss the controversy surrounding the matter. The meeting was arranged after board member and Floyd County Republican Party chairman Bobby Stumbo, in the board's regular action in light of questions raised meeting August 17, raised quesconcerning a petition seeking to tions about a petition supported by county commissioners to return the county to a magistrate form of government from its current commission form.

During that earlier meeting, Stumbo said that commissioners had not followed proper procedures in seeking the change because they had not listed on the petition the number of magistrates

County to spend $400K on roads

by RALPH B. DAVIS

MANAGING EDITOR

Thanks to nearly $400,000 in state funding, a number of county roads will soon see new blacktop.

County commissioners approved two plans for spending the money received from the state.

The news will likely be especially well received in Allen, New Allen and Dwale, where a sewer system extension left roads torn apart. That area will be the recipient of $142,991 in new asphalt.

Roads scheduled to receive blacktop in the Allen, New Allen and Dwale areas include:

which would comprise the fiscal on Stumbo's complaints. court, as required by state law.

Stumbo also questioned the validity of several of the signatures, saying it appeared several of the signers had added the names of other people to the petition. He pointed to 167 such signatures on the 1,284-name petition, saying they should be disregarded. Doing so would bring the number of signatures on the petition down to 1,117. fewer than the 1,200 required to place the question on the ballot.

The board had scheduled Thursday's meeting in order to obtain advice from County Attorney Keith Bartley's office about just what authority the board has to act

Assistant County Attorney Stacy Marshall attended the meeting on Bartley's behalf, Meanwhile, Stumbo brought his own attorney, Larry Brown, saying he represented a group called "Floyd County Concerned Citizens."

Marshall advised board members that the questions raised by Stumbo would have to be settled by a circuit judge, at the request of either the board or a private citizen or group of citizens.

Stumbo and Brown, however, raised the specter of potential criminal charges against board members if they allowed the question to be placed on the ballot knowing that there are problems with it. Stumbo said it is a misdemeanor offense for members of the board to "willfully violate the statute.'

But County Clerk Chris Waugh said he is not convinced that the board could do anything if it wanted

"It looks like it would be a legal issue..." Waugh said. "I don't want to step over any boundaries as a Stumbo also questioned whether the board should rely on advice from the county attorney's office, noting that Bartley himself had signed the petition and interpreting that as his support for the measure.

But Waugh defended Bartley.

"You can't say just because he signed the petition that he's going to give us bad advice, when you're sitting here on the other side pulling in the other direction," Waugh told Stumbo. "I have total confidence in the county attorney." Waugh said that he wasn't arguing with Stumbo about the validity of the questions he had raised, saying that "they very well may have just cause." But he said he has not seen anything which would give the board of elections the power to do anything about them.

Waugh further noted that the law had instructed him to place the question on the ballot and that it did not give him the authority to take it

"I've got an order to put [the petition on the ballot and I put it on the ballot," Waugh said. "I'm going to have to have an order to take it off the ballot."

Afterwards, Stumbo made a motion that the board ask County Judge-Executive Paul Hunt Thompson to rescind his order to place the question on the ballot. That motion died for lack of a second and the meeting ended with no action being taken.

After the meeting, Stumbo said he is planning to meet with his attorney on Tuesday to determine what to do next.

Stumbo said. "Come Tuesday I will meet with my attorney and then we'll move forward."

Brown, meanwhile, suggested that things would be a lot simpler if Judge Thompson acknowledged that the petition is flawed and rescinded his order to place the question on the ballot.

That isn't likely to happen. Thompson, who was arriving at the courthouse for a fiscal court meet ing as the board of elections meeting was ending, said he has no plans to rescind the order.

"If, if, the signatures are valid and 1,200 people signed [the petition], they should have a right to vote on it," Thompson said.

A solution for America's hungry kids

(NAPSA) - Despite a strong economy, over 14 million kids in America are hungry or at risk of hunger. And when kids are hungry, they suffer from more illnesses and have a harder time learning in

One company is taking action to make a difference in these kids' lives-and in their futures. ConAgra, one of the world's largest food companies, recently gave America's Second Harvest funding to purchase new trucks for food banks across the country and establish 20 new Kids Cafes, kids-only afterschool meal programs that serve free nutritious meals. dent of the ConAgra Feeding Children Better Foundation, "Hunger doesn't discriminate, and we know there are hungry children in every community. ConAgra wants to get meals to kids who need them."

The grants will help food banks move donated food farther and faster as well as serve over 274,000 meals per year to hungry kids. Over the next three years, ConAgra will open 75-100 new Kids Cafes and donate more than 90 trucks.

In addition to these grants, ConAgra also is creating the Rapid Food Distribution System-revolutionizing the way charitable food is distributed in the U.S. - and launching a public service campaign with the Ad Council this fall about childhood hunger.

It's estimated that ConAgra's three-year investment in Feeding Children Better will exceed $11 million in cash and millions more in product donations. The program is a partnership between ConAgra and America's Second Harvest.

Lovel Hall

People who were around him regularly knew his health was deteriorating, but no one was quite ready to let him go. This is when we have to remind ourselves that it's ultimately not our choice.

Lovel Hall's death Monday came as a surprise to most folks in Floyd County and to those in state government with whom he worked. The scores of people who had attended a series of retirement parties for him in preceding weeks wanted to believe they were sending him off into another phase of life, rather than composing a

He knew better and his family knew better, and they chose to bear the impending loss with dignity and grace. For almost three decades, Lovel Hall served Floyd County and the state of Kentucky. He took the office of what is now property valuation administrator in 1973 and served continuously until his death, just a few days short of retirement.

From his office in the Floyd County Courthouse, he saw judges, jailers, sheriffs, clerks and other elected officials come and go, while the electorate continued to re-elect him as PVA, making him one of the most successful politicians, not only in the county, but also in the State Revenue Cabinet Secretary Mike Haydon called him "an outstanding public servant who worked every day to make the lives of Floyd Countians better." Haydon added, "He will long be remembered as both an outstanding public official and a great human being.'

That Lovel Hall was able to achieve such success and to live such a full life was a tribute to his indomitable spirit and will. From childhood, he suffered from a bone condition that kept him from fully growing and that doomed him to a series of breaks and injuries that would have slowed or stopped persons of lesser mettle.

But with his crutches, and later the wheelchair, he plunged into the thick of life and refused to miss out on the adventure, the fun and the hard work.

Just 53 years old, Lovel Hall should have had many more rich years ahead of him, but he finally ran out of strength against an opponent that could not be beaten.

His family, his co-workers, his friends and we as cit-

-Letters to Editor-

'What goes around, comes around'

I'd really like to address this letter to a man (it would be out of order to say "gentleman" because he is anything but that). You sure had a grand time on Monday, August 28, not only with the cash you got from my wallet, but your greed just couldn't resist using my credit cards. You wasted no time shopping at the malls, Wal-Mart and other stores in Pikeville. Are you enjoying that gold chain bought at the jewelry store? Be sure you brag to all your friends and family just how you obtained it along with all those other stolen items. Bet it would do your parents proud to know they raised such a fine thief. I certainly hope if you have children, someone teaches them right from wrong. It's very obvious that your ethics are not what they should be. You have lied and stolen without the slightest hint of guilt. But, you know the old saying, "What goes around, comes around," and sooner or later mister, you will have to account for the wrong

Every time you look at yourself in the mirror, does it please you to see a thief? And by the way, just why weren't you out doing an honest day's work? I spent 22 years in the Air Force. You should know that you have or had my military ID card. I served in Vietnam and lived in many countries, but never did I ever run into anything like you. In fact, I'd like to meet you face to face for just 15 minutes. I could sure wipe that smug smile from your face real quick. Believe me, it's not over by a long shot. Somewhere you slipped up and I intend to keep looking for you.

I'm sure this letter will have no effect on you, a man with no conscience (meaning: the ability to recognize right and wrong) and a thief is as low as a snake. I really shouldn't compare and insult a snake with the likes of you.

Supply and demand: Blood centers look to the future

by SUSAN BERRY-BUCKLEY

PRESIDENT AND CEO CENTRAL KENTUCKY BLOOD CENTER

James Blundel is generally credited with performing the first documented successful transfusion of human blood in 1818, although earlier experiments in blood transfusion date back as early as the late 1620s. But most of the advances in transfusion medicine and blood banking have occurred during the 20th century. Blood transfusion today has become almost commonplace. About 41,000 blood components are transfused every day in the United States alone.

Recently, however, the state of America's blood supply has become cause for concern. The National Blood Data Resource Center in June 1999 published its "Report on Blood Collections and Transfusions in the United States in 1997." Based on a survey of 3,400 blood centers and hospitals nationwide, the report states that total whole blood collections nationally declined 3 percent from 1994 to 1997, the latest year for which complete data are available. During the same period, transfusions of whole blood and red cell units increased 4 percent. The report concludes that if these trends continue at the same rates observed between 1994 and 1997, the transfusion demand could exceed the available supply by 249,000 units this year.

How can this be?

One reason is that the population is aging. The generation that participated in World War II represented a sizable core of dedicated blood donors who gave by the gallons for many years. But the numbers of this group are dwindling. Some estimates claim that as many as 1,000 World War II-era citizens are dying each month.

The Depression Generation, born 1930-39, and the War Babies, 1940-45, are now in or approaching their 60s and 70s. Many donors in these groups are becoming recipients of blood transfusions or are medically disqualified from donating blood. As this group ages, they will need more health care services, including blood transfusions. That blood will have to come from Generation X, born in 1965-76, which makes up only 23 percent of the population. Generation Y, born in 1977-98, is even smaller, at 12 percent of the population. And the youngest Generation Y baby won't be old enough to donate blood

A Louis Harris & Associates survey, conducted for America's blood centers in October 1999, asked 2,000 people age 18 and over their views on donating blood. When asked, "When was the last time you gave blood to a blood bank," just 12 percent of the respondents replied that they had donated blood within the past year. Of those who have given blood, 22 percent had given in the past year. Not unexpected, 48 percent of the respondents said that they had never donated blood, even once.

So what would happen if there were a blood drive and nobody came?

Usually, enough donors give blood day after day, and the supply keeps up with the demand, quietly and without fanfare. Usually.

But forces are at work locally that could shift the balance negatively if we are not mindful of the trends. In the past year, it has become more difficult to fill blood drive schedules with people willing to give blood. People are busier with more activities. Both parents are working. It's not convenient. There is not enough time.

Yet, despite all the obstacles, donors still manage to give blood, and the total number of donations locally has increased each year for the past several years. But the usage of blood products has likewise increased. And therein lies the potential danger. The demand for blood is increasing at a greater rate than the available supply, and the gap between the two is shrinking. More donors are needed to replace those who are no longer able to give.

The past 1,000 years has produced marvelous developments and inventions. Medical science can do things now that our ancestors never dreamed of. But one thing man hasn't invented yet is a blood substitute capable of totally replacing the use of human blood. There still is just one source - generous, caring, volunteer donors, willing to roll up a sleeve and spend about an hour sav-

'We are very proud of our clinical and research efforts at the UK Chandler Medical Center in fighting diseases such as ovarian cancer," said UK President Charles T. Ovarian cancer is the most lethal of all gynecologic cancers, causing the deaths of more women than any other reproductive organ cancer. But, ovarian cancer can be cured if found early. If the cancer is treated before it has spread beyond the ovaries, the five-year survival rate is 95 percent.

With current screening and detection methods, only 25 percent of ovarian cancers are found before

The Ovarian Cancer Screening Program began in 1987 and provides free transvaginal sonography screening annually to women. Since 1987, the program has screened more than 15,000 women.

In order to demonstrate that transvaginal sonography is an effective method of detecting ovarian cancer, the program must screen at least 100,000 women.

Transvaginal sonography is painless, radiation-free, and can be completed in five to 10 minutes. During the examination, a small probe is placed in the vagina to and fully recovered following

'This method has been shown to be safe and well accepted by patients," van Nagell said. "With ovarian cancer being such a deadly disease, I am very excited about the preliminary results of our screening program that show the effectiveness of this method. I am optimistic that our research efforts will contribute to reducing ovarian cancer deaths."

So far, the screening tests have revealed ovarian tumors in 180 of the participants, 17 of which were determined to be malignant. The other 163 tumors were benign, but some of them potentially could have become malignant. The cancerous tumors detected by screening usually were at an early stage - 11 were at stage I and three were at stage II.

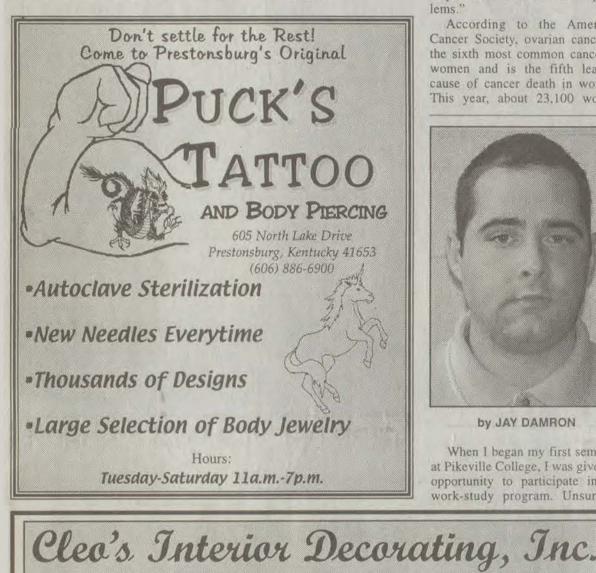

All of the screening program participants whose ovarian tumors were found at stage I or II are alive

Since the beginning of the program, the Kentucky Extension Homemakers have supported the program by participating in regular screenings and by donating $1 per member annually.

"All of us at the Ovarian Cancer Screening Program at the UK Markey Cancer Center greatly appreciate the support from the Kentucky state government, especially Governor and First Lady Patton, Rep. Mary Lou Marzian, Rep. Jimmie Lee, and the Fayette County legislative delegation, as well as the participants in the screening program, the Kentucky Extension Homemakers, and GE Medical Systems " van Nagell

"With continued support from institutions and people like these and with new support, we can expand our program and try to demonstrate conclusively that this method is effective in detecting ovarian cancer."

The program is open to women age 50 or older, and to women 30 or older who have a family history of ovarian cancer. Screening is free. For information, call 859/323-4687 or (800) 766-8279.

Community grant money goes to Harlan towns ors of the Tri-Cities and local leaders at Portal 31 Mine Park, Gov. Paul Patton announced Monday that the cities of Benham, Lynch, and Cumberland in Harlan County have been selected for a Kentucky Appalachian Community Development Initiative (CDI).

Patton told the large crowd, "We're going to be a partner in helping your community develop a strategic plan to provide the people of this region with a long term sustainable economic base."

The CDI is aimed at helping Appalachian Kentucky communities develop a sustainable economy through resources and assistance targeted to fulfill plans and needs identified by the people in the community.

One of eight communities that applied to be selected in this second round of CDIs, the Tri-Cities area will now receive $100,000 in state funds to provide a multi-discipline area planning team to review a development concept formed by the community, and to assist the community in preparing a dynamic action plan that can lead to the area's realizing its advancement goals.

The Tri-Cities initial proposal envisions an economic future for the community that is based in part on the rich coal culture, heritage, and history of the area, and on the expansion of business and industrial activities especially those linked to the skills, knowledge, and traditions of the local

Two lives claimed in mining accident

An underground mining accident on August 28, in Martin County, claimed the lives of two underground coal miners.

Robert L. Helbert, 53, and David P. Helbert, 39, both of Richland, Virginia, were entering Excel Mining LLC's No. 2 mine located at Lovely, at approximately 12:40 a.m. They were riding on a slope car attached to a steel cable and connected to a hoist located on the surface. (The cable and hoist mechanism is designed to control the descent of the slope car into the mine, and to tow the slope car back to the surface from the bottom of the slope.) Apparently, a problem with the mechanism allowed the slope car to go out of control and independently travel approximately 1,600 feet to the bottom of the slope, causing the fatal injuries to both

The victim's bodies were recovered by the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals and company personnel. They were pronounced dead by Martin County Coroner, Mike Crum, at approximately 5:40 a.m.

This accident is currently under joint investigation by the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals and the Mine Safety and Health Administration.

This is the 8th and 9th mining fatality in Kentucky in 2000; the 4th and 5th to occur underground.

PILATE, ROMAN PROCURATOR OF JUDEA FOR TEN YEARS (A.D. 26-36), WAS AN UNFIT RULER, NEVER ABLE TO UNDERSTAND THE RELIGIOUS PRINCIPLES OR THE NATIONAL PRIDE OF THE JEWS OVER WHOM HE HELD SUPREME POWER. FROM THE VERY INCEPTION OF HIS GOVERNORSHIP, HE MADE MISTAKE AFTER MISTAKE ROUSING THE IRE OF THE PEOPLE EACH TIME! WHEN HE WAS ASKED TO CONDEMN JESUS, HE WAS ALSO WARNED THAT, IF HE DIDN'T, COMPLAINTS WOULD BE SENT TO ROME! AFRAID FOR HIS OWN POLITICAL SAFETY, PILATE WEAKLY COMPLIED, ALTHOUGH HE STATED PUBLICLY HE THOUGHT JESUS WAS A MAN UNJUSTLY ACCUSED!

AS A YOUNG MAN, PONTIUS PILATE, OF HIGH EQUESTRIAN BIRTH, SERVED HIG TIME, AS ALL YOUNG NOBLES, IN THE ROMAN CAVALRY UNTIL HE WAS IN LINE FOR A LUCRATIVE POSITION. ON RECEIVING HIS GOVERNORSHIP, HE COULD HARDLY HAVE REALIZED HE WAS EMBARKED UPON A ROAD OF MISMANAGED AFFAIRS, A RECALL TO ROME IN GREAT DISGRACE, AND EXILE TO GAUL WHERE HE WOULD FINALLY COMMIT SUICIDE!

Medical miracles seize impoverished areas

by ALISON MILNAMOW

(NUE) - In remote and impoverished areas of the United States, medical care is often scarce. In many cases, the nearest hospital is miles away and public transportation is nonexistent. High costs prevent those without insurance from receiving proper medical atten-

Yet, in remote areas of Virginia and Mississippi, medical missionaries are helping to change these dire conditions.

In rural Virginia, two impoverished counties depend on the assistance of nurse practitioner Sister Bernadette Kenny and her traveling health wagon. Sister Bernie, as she is known to the locals, journeys through the dangerous back roads of Appalachia in her 36-foot modified Winnebago. With a staff of four nurses, she has been providing free health care services for the residents of Dickenson and Buchanan counties for 24 years.

By the time Sister Bernie's Winnebago arrives in a new town, a line of needy patients already has formed. In a typical day, the nurses give physicals, analyze blood and urine samples, do pelvic and rectal exams, take pap smears, and suture wounds. But Sister Bernie provides more than just care for the body.

"Sometimes people come in who don't necessarily need to be treated," she said. "They just need a little encouragement or to hear that they're doing well."

But Appalachia's isolated residents are not the only ones in need of care. Impoverished Mississippi residents found medical relief when Sister Anne Brooks, a doctor, opened a clinic in the remote town of Tutwiler, Mississippi, 17

Before Sister Anne arrived, Tutwiler had not seen a doctor nor a Catholic - in more than a decade. Yet, in an area where the infant mortality rate is twice the national average and malnutrition is rampant, Sister Anne's presence was more than welcome.

Twenty-five miles to the north of Tutwiler, another medical missionary site has emerged in the community of Marks. There, Sister Andrea Balconis, an Adrian Dominican nun, is a doctor at the DePorres Health Center. In 1999, the center served nearly 9,000 patients from 13 countries in northern Mississippi. Although most patients do not have money or insurance to pay for the medical treatment, all are welcome.

"The DePorres Health Center is committed to helping those in poverty to improve their quality of life," said Sister Andrea. In addition to medical care, she has implemented social programs such as Children's Health Insurance Program, HIV/AIDS prevention. and emergency assistance to those

Salversville - Help with drug costs will soon be available for many Hope Family Medical Center

The Hope Family Pharmacy, a new addition to the Hope Center, at Salyersville, will open Tuesday, September 5. What this means to some Hope patients will be big savings in medication prices. Hope's prescription services are also available for patients of the Mud Creek Clinic in Floyd County, Shelby Valley Clinic in Pike County and the College Health Clinic at Prestonsburg Community College. Hope and the other clinics are operated by Big Sandy Health Care Inc., of Prestonsburg.

The average cost of a prescription for patients who receive the full subsidy of medical care will be around $10, says Maynard. Those who pay more for medical care will pay more for prescriptions, according to a sliding scale based on family size and income.

"Even those who pay the full price for medicine will still be paying less than they would at a retail pharmacy," Maynard says.

"Basically, they will be charged whatever we pay for the drugs. I worked in retail pharmacy for quite some time, and I am familiar with the pricing structure. Hope patients will save money 99 percent of the

by LINDA LYON

Greetings from Mayo Technical College. I want to invite you to come visit one of our campuses. We are located at 513 Third St. in Paintsville, 120 River Fill Dr. in Pikeville (near the city park) and at 150 Industrial Park in Hager Hill (near American Standard). The folks at any of these campuses would deem it an honor to welcome you and show you around.

Registration is over but there are still opportunities available if you want to get into school. Come chat with a counselor or someone in our admissions department about what you can do to get started on the rest of your life.

I spent last Thursday at the Kentucky State Fair. Mazola Salmons, Virginia Williamson, my husband, Jim, and I worked the Kentucky Community and Technical College System (KCTCS) booth through a very busy day and evening. We enjoyed it immensely. We chatted with prospective students and their parents from across this state and several other states.

Aside from questions like "What TV station was KCTCS?" and "Was that George Bush's picture?" (hanging in the booth next to ours), we met and discussed some real concerns from parents and students. It is an eye opener to hear the frustrations and concerns of parents trying to educate their children in today's

I think every educator should come face to face with the public from time to time. We get so busy with the "educating" that we forget the struggle of the "education." I was inspired by the dedication and commitment of the parents and the hopes and dreams of their offspring. It gives one hope for tomorrow.

I also answered a few questions that I want to address here as well. I have said most of these things before, but they bear repeating because I am still getting the same questions.

There is a fear among some of the people in Paintsville that Mayo is moving. I want to assure you that is not the case. Mayo has been in Paintsville since 1938 and will future.

wanted it to. The Pikeville Campus houses a branch of Mayo Technical College and a branch of Prestonsburg Community College. It's name is Pikeville Campus -Mayo Technical College and Prestonsburg Community College. It is a part of Mayo, much the same as the Industrial Technology Center at Hager Hill is a part of Mayo. We have not moved from Paintsville to Pikeville. We do not plan to move from Paintsville to Pikeville.

Another question I have been asked this week is, "Can I come to Mayo for just a class, like Basic Computers?" The answer is yes. We have many classes that you can take in evenings, nights, weekends or even during the day.

To discuss your needs and what is available, you need to call Harold Burton at 606/789-5321, ext. 225. These classes are taught as needs develop. Burton will help you meet your individual needs.

We were also asked about GED and whether it is necessary to have a GED or diploma prior to coming into Mayo. The answers to that question depend on what program you want to study. For the most part the answer is no. You can study for the GED while enrolled as a full time student.

There are, however, some classes that require that you complete your GED if you do not have a diploma, prior to enrolling in the class.

Either way, you can enroll in adult education classes, take your pre test, then your GED test, all here on the Mayo campus.

Call and talk to a counselor about your options. There are no set answers to fit everyone. We try to individualize instruction and programs to meet the needs of the stu-

Tempers flare about $5.47 million budget surplus

A clash of wills once again has split apart Pike County's magistrates and Judge-Executive Karen Gibson on something that in other counties would be seen as a good problem to have - a multimillion-dollar budget surplus.

That divisiveness reached a heated crescendo Monday evening, the magistrates taking the upper hand by having first reading of an ordinance they designed that directs how a sizable portion of $5.74 millions in surplus funds will be used.-Appalachian News-

Child support improvement efforts build on study

FRANKFORT - To make payments by absent parents a stronger, more dependable resource for families, the Cabinet for Families and Children is striving to improve teamwork among the state and local agencies that make Kentucky's child support system work.

Over the next several months, the cabinet's child support division plans to set up a customer-service center, strengthen collections with help from the Revenue Cabinet and give local officials involved in child support the tools and training they

This action plan adapts recommendations made by Policy Studies Inc. (PSI) of Denver, Colorado, in a recently completed study of Kentucky's child support system.

Steve Veno, Kentucky's child support director, said the cabinet commissioned the PSI study because "we're not satisfied with just being average."

The PSI study shows that Kentucky has improved child support collections and established children's paternity at rates significantly better than the national aver-

The state's performance is slightly below average on other measures, including the percentage of current support being paid and the average amount of collections per child support worker

Kentucky has a comparatively high poverty rate and low per capita income. Taking such factors into account, the authors say, Kentucky is probably out-performing similar states in helping families obtain processes can help with child supchild support.

Kentucky program's strengths "can provide the foundation for major improvements in performance," the authors conclude.

To help families escape dependency, the federal welfare reform act of 1996 strengthened states' child support enforcement powers. The PSI report shows that in Kentucky, 80 percent of the families who receive state help in collecting child support either no longer receive welfare payments or have never done so.

Veno said his agency's work is crucial to those families' self-sufficiency. "Without child support, it's going to be very difficult for them to stay off public support systems."

One way to improve service delivery, Veno said, is to give child support workers more time for casework. To do that, he said, the cabinet will recruit a private agency to operate a customer service center that will take care of most child support customer inquiries.

PSI recommends that the cabinet collaborate with the Revenue Cabinet to improve certain child support enforcement tasks. Revenue's capabilities in such areas as automated property liens and bankruptcy tracking might be of particular help, the report says.

Veno said the secretaries of the two cabinets - Viola Miller of Families and Children and Mike Haydon of Revenue — agree that port. Officials from both cabinets local contract agencies to reach will explore ways to make that happen, he said.

PSI also says the duties of the cabinet's child support workers often overlap unnecessarily with those of contractors. Statewide, 110 contracting officials - most of them county attorneys - provide

At the same time, workers in the cabinet's regional offices have overall responsibility for maintain-

legal services to child support ing child support cases. "The division of functions is poorly defined, leading to duplication of effort, uncertainty about actual duties, erratic followthrough, lack of accountability, and customer confusion," the PSI report

PSI recommends putting a single agency - either a state child support office or a contractor, depending on which is best able to do the job - in charge of all child support duties in each locality.

And it says the local agency should report directly to the division of child support, instead of to one of the cabinet's 16 service region administrators, who supervise child support operations in their regions.

Veno said either step would be too drastic.

Confusion over duties is "something that we've been plagued with for quite some time," he said. But, instead of cutting one agency out of some of Revenue's automated the process, he added, the cabinet Michael Jennings at 502/564-6180.

will get its child support staff and clear agreements on "who does what functions."

Over the next few years, Veno added, the cabinet will continually improve the system, perhaps by giving some contractors regional authority and assigning specific legal tasks to others.

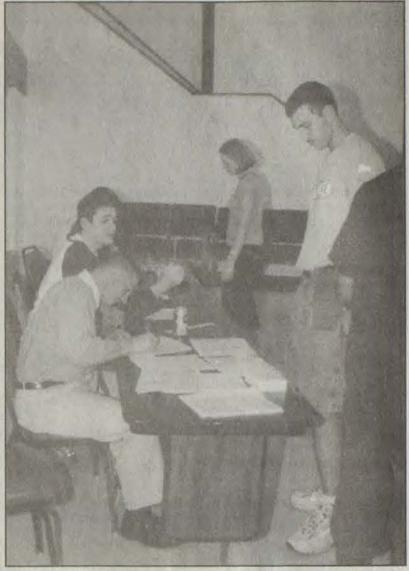

The regional offices headed by the service region administrators were set up two years ago as part of a cabinet reorganization aimed at bringing service decisions closer to clients. Veno said it would be inconsistent with that philosophy to bypass service regions.

Instead, to strengthen connections between child support's headquarters and field staff, the cabinet will convene monthly teleconferences and quarterly face-to-face meetings for workers at state and local levels, he said.

Veno said the cabinet will also expand the training and technical support provided to local child support workers and contractors. One object, he said, will be getting child support enforcement actions, such as income, withholding, handled administratively rather than through

It's "much more cost-effective" for a caseworker to administratively authorize the withholding of income from a non-custodial parent than it is to haul the parent into court on a contempt charge, as often happens in Kentucky, Veno said.

Late summer, early fall: time to paint summer. The sun is warm, the trees are in full bloom and you're planning to take time to relax and enjoy the weather.

But your home needs a paint job. You kept saying all winter that as soon as the weather turned warm, you finally would get around to painting the outside of your house. With summer in full swing, that's probably the last thing you want to do. So remember, early fall is a good time, too.

Painting the exterior of your home is not as daunting a task as it sounds. All you need to achieve good results is the right tools, the right paint and some time. And when you're done, that fresh coat of paint will add value to your house, highlight positives and hide flaws.

The first step in painting your house is to pick a color scheme. When faced with this task, many people take the easy way out and pick white. But you should try not to limit yourself to white because color can add value and drastically change the look of your home. Color can convey a new emotion, mood or personality for your home that you may never knew existed.

Color experts at Devoe and Fuller-O'Brien Paints recommend using the Color Key System when selecting a new color scheme for your home. Also keep in mind:

 Consider the type of house you have (Victorian, ranch, colonial, · Drive around the neighborhood and look through magazines to get some new ideas.

After you've selected the perfect colors, the fun really begins. To properly apply the paint and make the colors you selected look their best, include:

· Synthetic angled trim brushes (1/2 inch and 2 inch).

· Synthetic Broadway brush (3 to

After you've selected your colors and tools and finished the prep work, you're ready to begin painting. For best results, paint the house in this

5. Doors (Again, work from the inside out. Paint the molded edges and panels first, and then finish with the outside edges).

Some final things to consider include painting when the temperature is between 60 F and 85 F with moderate humidity. Also, avoid painting in direct sunlight or if the temperature is forecast to fall below 50 F within 24 hours after painting. Look for a paint that can be applied at lower temperatures, such as Weather King II from Fuller-O'Brien if the forecast calls for low temperatures.

And if it's a hot day, remember to drink plenty of fluids and take a few breaks. After all, just because it's the dog days of summer doesn't mean you have to work like a dog.

Blackcats hoping to rebound against experienced Sheldon Clark team

by STEVE LeMASTER SPORTS WRITER

Coach John DeRossett's Prestonsburg Blackcats travel to Inez tonight to take on an experienced Sheldon Clark

The Blackcats are coming off a 26-13 loss to Pikeville, a game in which they trailed 14-7 at halftime. Following the half, the Panthers jumped ahead by two scores and went on to defeat the Blackcats.

The Pikeville game is long over, and the Blackcats now turn their attention to the Sheldon Clark Cardinals.

Coach Jim Matney's Cardinals traveled to Beechwood this past Saturday to play the Tigers. Coach Jim Matney's team came away with a 21-6 loss but proved they could compete with the Class-A powerhouse by moving the ball all over the field.

The Prestonsburg-Pikeville showdown was much the same with the young Prestonsburg squad showing that they too could play with a Class-A powerhouse.

"What can you say, they've got 26 seniors out this season and the backfield is full of athletes. Ben Delong, Brian Delong and Mo Spradlin lead a real talented backfield. Spradlin ran all over Beechwood."

The biggest difference in Prestonsburg and Sheldon Clark could be an age difference. The Sheldon Clark Cardinals have 26 seniors on their roster. When Coach Derossett views the Sheldon Clark ball club he sees a veteran-laden ball team that is solid all over the field.

"Clark is real solid at every position," he said. "Sheldon Clark has a real good front line on both offense and defense. We went down and watched them play Beechwood Saturday and if you look at the stats you'll see that they actually outgained Beechwood, rushing the ball on offense. The only difference in the game is that Beechwood capitalized on their scoring opportunities and Sheldon Clark didn't.

Win keeps P-burg undefeated on the season

The Rebels of Allen Central invaded Prestonsburg High School this past Wednesday night to take on the undefeated Prestonsburg Volleycats.

To say the game was one of up and downs would be an understatement. Following a 15-1 thumping in the first game the Rebels somehow battled back to take the game to 15-5.

Game three would be won by an identical score, with only one difference. The girls from Prestonsburg weren't about to lose this season; so they came out and got back on track in game three. The Volleyeats took the third set 15-5.

The third set win gave Prestonsburg the win and kept them undefeated on the young season.

It was all Prestonsburg in the first set. Senior Brooke Coleman got her team started with four straight serves for points. Fellow seniors Amelia Conley and Angela Howell combined for 10 successful points, set up by strong serves to give the Volleycats a quick

Raiders coming off open date looking to enter win column

by STEVE LeMASTER SPORTS WRITER

The Betsy Layne Bobcats will load up and travel to Wheelwright tonight to take on the South Floyd Raiders, who had last week off following an opening game loss to the hard-nosed Evarts Wildcats.

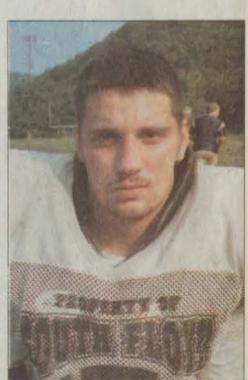

The Betsy Layne Bobcats dropped to 1-1 on the season last week after falling to the Powell County Pirates 52-6. Betsy Layne opened the season with a confidence-building 18-12 win over the Allen Central Rebels.

Tonight's county match-up will feature two fairly potent offenses capable of putting points on the board. Betsy Layne has gone to the passing game more this year than in previous seasons. Junior quarterback Brandt Brooks will be looking for his favorite receiver senior Brock Keathley. The senior receiver really broke out in the Allen Central game before struggling against Powell County last week.

Running backs Matt Williams and Adam Collins will be looking for open holes to get through tonight as the Bobcats travel to Raider

BLHS Coach Ted George will more than likely even out the offensive attack between the run and the pass. George has gone with what has worked in the two games prior to the South Floyd

- Joe Platkus

If Brooks finds an open Keathley tonight, it could be a long night for the Raider defensive secondary. However, if the Betsy Layne offensive line doesn't give Brooks the protection they gave him in the Allen Central game, it could be a long night for the Betsy Lavne faithful.

The Betsy Layne defense has allowed a total of 64 points through two games for an average of 32 points per game. Take out the Powell County game, and the Bobcats have only allowed 12 to the Allen Central offense. The South Floyd Raiders allowed 42 points in their opening game loss to Evarts.

The South Floyd backfield is one of the strongest in the area with the trio of Joe Platkus, B.J. Bryant, and Matthew Tackett. Bryant and Platkus are both proven players. Tackett is still somewhat unproven in the backfield, but the quickest player on the South Floyd roster is due to break free anytime.

Coach DeRossett's coaching shows in the college ranks

One other thing in common football careers on the college watch Marshall take on Southeast luck, Jeremy!

Coach Derossett really cares for his players. That is evident. On the field, off the field, when they are in school at Prestonsburg High School, and after they graduate.

When I last talked to Coach Derossett this past Thursday, he was on his way to Huntington to Missouri State. Former Blackcat Nathan Leslie is now a member of the Thundering Herd football team. Leslie is a sophomore defensive lineman.

If you ask me, John Derossett is the epitome of what a coach is supposed to be. A coach is supposed to care about his players on and off the field.

Getting a kid into college on an athletic scholarship has to be just as rewarding as winning any football game. To know you have had a big impact in a young athlete's life is so rewarding in itself.

Everyone in Prestonsburg should be thankful that we have a John Derossett coaching. Keep up the good work coach!

Prestonsburg Volleycats defeat South Floyd in straight sets

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES

Adams leads the way in game one domination

by STEVE LeMASTER SPORTS WRITER

The Prestonsburg Volleycats squared off with the South Floyd Raiders this past Monday. The contest featured quite a varsity game between the two, the second contest being much more competitive than the first.

Senior Stephanie Adams got the visiting Volleycats started with the opening serve of the game. Adams served the Prestonsburg girls to 11 straight tallies before losing the ball back to South Floyd.

South Floyd took over with the lone senior on its roster, Minnie Tackett, getting South Floyd on the scoreboard with a strong serve past the Prestonsburg contingent. However, the South Floyd rally was struck down almost as soon as it got started.

Prestonsburg's Chrissy Nelson scored point number 12 off a strong serve. Following a Prestonsburg turnover, South Floyd briefly recovered, scoring their second point of the game. On another scoring attempt, the Raiders turned the ball over, leaving Prestonsburg in cruise control with a 12-2 advan-

Rebels take on Jenkins team that's been down same road

by STEVE LeMASTER SPORTS WRITER

Traveling to Jenkins tonight, the Allen Central Rebels should keep in mind that the Jenkins team they play will be a team that has gone down a path very similar to the one they are forced to travel this season.

Former Perry County Central assistant Todd Neace has begun the task of rebuilding the Cavaliers football program this season. School officials decided to drop the program last year, but following a strong show of support for fielding the football program, the school started football again.

Jenkins dropped out of district competition last season and played a partial schedule, finishing 0-7.

This season the Cavaliers have more of a wide-open attack with junior quarterback Jeff Ratliff (5-9, running and passing. Although the Cavs have dropped their first two games this season, they do show vast improvement, presenting another formidable challenge for the Allen Central Rebels.

On paper, the Rebels outmatch Jenkins hands down, as far as physical statistics go. But we all know games aren't won or lost on paper.

The Cavaliers, who will host the Rebels, are looking to post their first win of the 2000 season. The Allen Central Rebels will have the same thing in mind, only they will be playing on the road for the third week in a row. The Rebels open up at home when they play host to Cawood next Friday night.

Coach Kevin Spurlock sees the Jenkins game as a very winnable one for his Rebels. The Rebels face Jenkins after last week's loss to Paintsville, Allen Central hung tough with the Tigers for one half of play, before falling way behind after the half.

Spurlock goes into the game tonight with a few changes made to his team, with some new faces seeing playing time.

"As far as injuries go, Nick Hoover will be out for the next two weeks," he said. "We've made some changes along the offensive preparation for them.' The Jenkins bunch is a team the Rebels must play fearing the pass. "They throw the ball a lot, the quarterback's got a good arm so we'll have to be ready to defend that," said Spurlock. "Hopefully the changes will help us, and we'll go up there and have a good game."

As the visiting Allen Central Rebels prepared for game two of a best of three series, something had to have drastically changed. The rebels game out in the second contest and played much better fundamentally.

The Rebels were playing more like they had played earlier in the week when Sheldon Clark came to Eastern and played.

Amanda Potter started it off for the Rebels, serving up three unanswered. Prestonsburg's Stephanie Adams took control for the home team and countered with two scoring serves of her own.

Game three in a volleyball game is most important of the entire series. A game three means the two teams competing have split the first two contests one apiece, forcing the third game.

The visitors got first serve in the third game but failed to capitalize. The Volleycats got the ball back and didn't do any better. Allen Central's Kari Osborne got the Rebels going with three successful serves that led to scores.

Unfortunately for the Rebels, Osborne's scores would be all for naught, as Coach Russell Shepherd's experienced Prestonsburg squad would go on a run powered by the scoring duo of Angela Howell and Amelia Conley.

Prestonsburg tallied 15 to Allen Central's 5 to earn the win. With the win, the Prestonsburg Volleycats continue operating like a well-oiled machine.

Bird walk planned

On Saturday, September 16, birdwatchers who enjoy historic places can look for fall migrant birds on a walk up Frankfort's Fort Hill.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Historical Society, the Kentucky Nature Preserves Commission, and the Frankfort chapter of the National Audubon Society, the two-hour walk will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the Kentucky History Center.

Participants will look for warblers, vireos and tanagers while climbing the wooded hill that leads to the site of two Civil War earthwork forts where, in 1864, militia soldiers repulsed an attack on the capital city by Confederate cavalry raiders.

The walk accompanies an exhibit of 27 chromolithographs of bird illustrations by John James Audubon. The artist spent long hours in the countryside observing and collecting bird specimens to draw, while living in Louisville and Henderson, from 1807 to 1819.

His "Birds of America," begun just after he left Henderson, features many Kentucky birds, including those in the exhibit, which lasts through September.

Walk leader Brainard Palmer-Ball is a terrestrial vertebrate zoologist at the Nature Preserves Commission, where he has worked for 15 years. Author of the "Kentucky Breeding Bird Atlas," he earned bachelor's and master's degrees in biology from the University of Louisville.

The program is free, but pre-registration is necessary. Participants will need to bring binoculars. To register, contact Vicky Middleswarth at 502/564-1792, extension 4425.

The Kentucky Historical Society is an agency of the Education, Arts and Humanities Cabinet, and is headquartered in the Kentucky History Center in downtown Frankfort.

Kathy Mattea returns to Kentucky Center

Hot off the release of her 11th CD, country singer Kathy Mattea will be at the Kentucky Center for the Arts, Friday, October 20, at 8 p.m., in Bomhard Theater in Louisville.

A two-time winner of the Country Music Association's Female Vocalist of the Year award, Mattea grounds her traditional country sound in the music of her native West Virginia, while paying occasional homage to country's Celtic roots.

Her latest CD, "The Innocent Years," gives fans a personal look into Mattea's life—production of the music coincided with her father's battle with cancer.

"It's a really emotional record for me," she says, "I feel like I've done a lot of growing up during the process."

In addition, Mattea acted as co-producer of the album, often mixing and mastering cuts in her home studio. The result is music that reflects an established artist exploring her music and growing more confident in her abilities.

Tickets for this Bank One Lonesome Pine Specials concert are $20 and $25, and can be purchased at the Kentucky Center for the Arts Box Office, or charge by phone at 502/584-7777 or 1-800-775-7777, or visit the Web at www.kentuckycenter.org. The concert is sponsored by Bank One.

Small talk

Well, here's the latest from my great-niece Lucy Kate.

In case you don't remember, Lucy Kate is my sister Melinda's granddaughter who lives in Indianapolis. She's the one who made the classic statement in church about getting a baby brother or sister.

Just to refresh your memory, this is what happened: Melinda's daughter Mykee and her husband Tracy had been trying to have another baby. When Lucy Kate inquired as how to get a baby, her mother informed her that she should pray to Jesus. At church shortly thereafter Lucy heard the preacher say that Jesus died for our sins. To which Lucy Kate threw down her crayons and shouted to all within ear shot: "Jesus is dead? Now we'll never get a baby!"

OK, now that you've been caught up, Mykee is five months pregnant and Lucy Kate, with her four-year-old perception of life, said she is afraid that if her mother has a boy she'll have to be a brother. She also told her Aunt Amanda that she prayed for a girl, but she thinks Jesus has messed up and is going to send a boy.

And while we're on this subject, here's a charming little tale written by an eight-year-old student in Chula Vista, California, for his class assignment: EXPLAIN GOD.

"One of God's main jobs is making people. He makes them to replace the ones that die, so there will be enough people to take care of things on earth, He doesn't make grown-ups, just babies. I think because they are smaller and easier to make. That way He doesn't have to take up His valuable time teaching them to talk and walk. He can just leave that to mothers and fathers.

"God's second most important job is listening to prayers. An awful lot of this goes on, since some people, like preachers and things, pray at times besides bedtime. God doesn't have time to listen to the radio or TV because of this. Because He hears everything, there must be a terrible lot of noise in His ears, unless He has thought of a way to turn it off.

"God sees everything and hears everything and is everywhere which keeps Him pretty busy. So you shouldn't waste His time by going over your Mom and Dad's head asking for something they said you couldn't have.

"Atheists are people who don't believe in God. I don't think there are any in Chula Vista. At least there aren't any who come to our church.

"Jesus is God's son. He used to do all the hard work like walking on water and performing miracles and trying to teach the people who didn't want to learn about God. They finally got fired of Him preaching to them and they crucified Him. But he was good and kind, like His father and He told His Father that they didn't know what they were doing and to forgive them and God said OK.

"His Dad (God) appreciated everything that He had done and all His hard work on earth so He told Him He didn't have go to out on the road anymore. He could stay in Heaven. So He did, And now He helps His Dad out by listening to prayers and seeing things which are important. You can pray anytime you want and they are sure to help you because they got it worked out so one of them is on duty all the time.

"You should always go to church on Sunday because it makes God happy, and if there's anybody you want to make happy, it's God. Don't skip church to do something you think will be more fun like going to the beach. This is wrong.

"And besides the sun doesn't come out at the beach until noon anyway.

"If you don't believe in God, besides being an atheist, you will be very lonely because your parents can't go everywhere with you like to camp, but God can. It is good to know He's around you when you're scared in the dark or when you can't swim and you get thrown into real deep water by big kids.

"But, you shouldn't just always think of what God can do for you. I figure God put me here and He can take me back anytime He pleases. And...that's why I believe in God."

I couldn't have said it better nyself.

Howard to head parade

Grammy-winning and MCA recording artist Rebecca Lynn Howard will return to her hometown of Salyersville, to serve as Grand Marshal for the 22nd annual Magoffin County Founders Day Parade on September 2, at 1 p.m.

Twenty-one-year-old Howard has been a part of the activities ever since she was old enough to participate. She was a contestant in "The Little Miss Pageant," making her stage debut by singing "The Snake Song," Howard has performed in every pageant since then.

Her ancestors have been honored by past Founders' Days.

As part of the festivities, local radio station WRLV conducted a contest—eight lucky children will have the chance to ride in the parade with Howard.

Howard started singing when she was a toddler. By the time she was in grade school, she had taught herself to play piano, and was beginning to write her own songs. She continued to sing in school and church, and even directed the church choir.

For three years, the youngster toured with the Kentucky Opry variety show, out of Prestonsburg. As a soloist, she opened shows for Martina McBride. John Michael Montgomery, Ricky Van Shelton and Radney Foster.

During this time, she made regular trips to Nashville to make music business contacts and develop her songwriting. "I've always known what I wanted to do." Howard says, "I finally talked my mom into bringing me to Nashville when I was 10."

Although she has just turned 21, Howard has long since established a formidable reputation for her singing and songwriting. Ten of the 12 songs on her current album, "Rebecca Lynn Howard," are the singer's own co-compositions.

John Michael Montgomery cut her song "Love Is Our Business" (on which she sang harmony). Lila McCann recorded her "Hit By Love." Coley McCabe, a new artist on RCA Records, recorded "Another Day In The Life Of Me."

Reba McEntire and Patty Loveless have also cut Howard's songs, but have not yet included them on their albums. Howard is also featured singing harmony vocals on Patty Loveless's current single, "That's The Kind Of Mood I'm In."

Howard's new single is the show-stopper "I Don't Paint Myself Into Corners."

Howard has been busy touring this summer, opening shows for Vince Gill, Willie Nelson, Kenny Rogers and Neal McCoy, among others. Howard earned her Grammy in 1998 for her part on the soundtrack album for The Apostle Among the other artists who took part in the project were Johnny Cash, Patty Loveless, Lyle Lovett, Wynonna, Emmylou Harris and Robert Duvall.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

by CHUCK SHEPHERD

(NOTE: Two weeks ago, some editions of News of the Weird contained an item that was, to my embarrassment, made up (the strip-club owner who had never heard of Rev. Billy Graham). I apologize to readers. -Chuck Shepherd)

In August, entrepreneur Adam Bilski received a license from the city of Oswiecim, Poland (aka Auschwitz), to open a disco on the spot of a World War II-era tannery that "employed" concentration-camp workers and became a gravesite for many of them. And in September, "Stalin's World," a tourist attraction devoted to themes of the World War IIera Soviet police state, is scheduled to open near Gruta, Lithuania, which was a gateway through which 200,000 Lithuanians passed en route to Siberian labor camps. The developer said he even plans to have visitors eventually enter the park on cattle cars and eat oat gruel and fish broth, just as the prisoners did.

USE COLUMBUS' LIBRARIES AT YOUR OWN RISK

In Columbus, Ohio, on July 12, Lester DeBoard, 36, was sentenced to five years in prison for luring an 11-year-old girl to a far corner of a public library, where he had fondled her feet. (He faces a similar charge in a library fondling in nearby Worthington, Ohio.) Four days later, police arrested Dwight D. Pannell, 40, for the assault of a 33-yearold female student (a stranger to him) in the main library at Ohio State; with a motive he is keeping to himself, he allegedly pricked her foot with a syringe containing an unknown substance.

the notoriously wobbly Millennium Bridge in London, England, which has been closed as unsafe, was identified as the consultant for the soon-to-be-released Bioform brassiere, according to an August report in the London Daily Telegraph. The Ove Arup company found that replacing the bra's underwire with plastic bands would more comfortably distribute the load and reduce stress; it is also working on shock absorbers to make the Millennium Bridge once again usable.

In July, engineer Roman Kunikov gave a public demonstration in Ufa, Russia, of his gasoline-powered boots that he said would enable the wearer to jump around at about 12 feet per stride and run at a pace of about 25 mph. The boots, not yet on the market, weigh about two pounds each, including fuel.

chemicals and hormones in pharmaceuticals, including pain killers, caffeine, antibiotics and birth control pills, which, as they spread into wastewater, cause environmental harm, including mutations in the reproductive organs of fish. Findings presented at the annual meeting of the American Chemical Society earlier this year (including studies blaming perfumes), along with recent studies from Europe's waterways (involving antidepressants, seizure medication, cancer treatments and cholesterol-lowering compounds) warn that certain species of fish are in jeopardy of extinction.

We may have seen the last of "Guiding Light's" Vanessa and Matt as a couple now that both Maeve Kinkead and Kurt McKinney are off the show. However, Vanessa is expected to return to Springfield this week or next to bring closure to the popular story line.

Shemar Moore (Malcolm, "The Young & the Restless") says, contrary to the rumors that are running rampant all over the Internet, he's not leaving the soap. He expects to stay on the show and also fulfill his other commitments, including the feature "Brothaz" with comic D.L. Hughley, the HBO film "Butter," and the CBS miniseries "Mama Flora's Family." He's also doing a pilot for Fox called "Celebrity." If it gets picked up, Moore says that that will be the time to decide what his "Y&R" future will be.

Meanwhile, Moore's "Y&R" cast mate, Tricia Cast (Nina), hopes to get an early release from her contract so she can join her new love (a Nashville-based musician) in Music City, Cast, who is divorced from Jack Allocco, composer for both "Y&R" and "The Bold & the Beautiful," is currently in a story line that could take six months to wrap. It's possible the soap would recast the role if they let her out of her commitment. But,

KY Life visits father of bluegrass birthplace, auto collector, artist

A meandering journey down Kentucky back roads awaits viewers when Dave Shuffett hosts Kentucky Life, airing on KET Saturday, September 9, at 8:30 p.m.

In western Kentucky, the little town of Rosine boasts only a few stores, some longtime inhabitants—and the distinction of being the birthplace of Bill Monroe. Universally regarded as the "father of bluegrass" music, Monroe learned to play from friends and relatives in this out-of-the-way Ohio County town.

In this segment, Kentucky Life returns to the late singersongwriter's hometown to talk with boyhood friends and discuss his impact on music.

Next, Shuffett travels to Murray to survey the automobile collection of Howard Brandon. At the age of 11, Brandon traded a shotgun for his first car, and now, at the age of 70, Brandon is the owner of one of the largest private collections of antique cars in America. He counts his old classics not by the dozens, but by the hundreds.

Finally, Kentucky Life visits rural Johnson County's Catherine Smart Wells, a talented painter who captures the beauty of her natural surroundings in oils and watercolors.

A gifted artist, her work has been exhibited in the Governor's Mansion, at the Mountain Arts Gallery and in the traveling exhibit "Images from the Mountains," which was supported by Appalshop and the University of Kentucky. At least one critic has observed, "Her show will make you feel good about living in Kentucky."

Kentucky Life is produced and directed by Joy Flynn. Series writer is Ellen Ballard. Segment producers for this program are Aaron Hutchings, Dave Shuffett and Gale Worth. Craig Cornwell is executive producer.

'Test of courage' explores what it takes to be a firefighter today

From a single burning house to miles of blazing forests, firefighters put their lives on the line every day. Their courage earns them society's esteem as true, modern-day heroes. Yet becoming a firefighter and securing such honored status are no easy tasks.

"Test of Courage: The Making of a Firefighter," a behind-the-scenes look at the trials and triumphs of a group of young men and women competing to become firefighters, airs Sunday, September 3, at 10 p.m. on KET, and Friday, September 15 at 8 p.m. on KET2.

The one-hour program follows a cast of aspiring firefighters, all from different ethnic backgrounds, who compete against 5,000 applicants for 50 jobs.

The documentary examines the grueling training and preparation the candidates undergo, culminating in tests of intellectual preparedness and physical agility used to narrow the applicant pool.

Filmed over two years in Oakland, California, one of the most culturally diverse cities in the U.S., the program also explores the day-to-day reality of working, living and competing in today's diverse marketplace.

For this new generation of firefighters, the most profound tests of courage will come as they enact the ideals of workplace diversity in the reality of firehouse life and put their lives in one another's hands.

"Test of Courage: The Making of a Firefighter," produced by The Working Group in association with Independent Television Service (ITVS), is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Viewers can find out more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate.

DC/San Francisco opens series

The Kentucky Center for the Arts' New Directions in Dance series takes off to a soaring start with ODC/San Francisco, Saturday, October 14, at 8 p.m., in the Brown Theatre in Louisville.

Renowned for their athletic style dynamic choreography, ODC/San Francisco has become one of the most innovative and acclaimed modern dance companies on the West Coast.

Under the artistic direction of Brenda Way, the troupe has developed a style that relies on both the discipline of ballet techniques and the energy and daring of modern

According to the New York Times, it's "a style built on risk and nerve." It's also a style that has won a great popular following in the Bay area, where ODC/San Francisco was recently awarded the 1999 Best of the Bay award for "Best Local Dance Company."

Way's choreography has also won its share of awards, most recently an Isadora Duncan Award for the piece "Investigating Grace." The San Jose Mercury News says, "Her choreography ventures into undanceable territory, tames it, and never looks back." And the Oakland Tribune says, "ODC's artists blends balletic grace, jazzy irreverence and modern dance vocabulary. So answering the question, "What kind of dance is this?" is impossible. Best to say, 'It's the ODC kind.

Sammy Kershaw coming to Renfro

From defeat to redemption. Sammy Kershaw has lived every note he sings, so says the Mercury recording artists' biography and you believe it when you hear him sing songs like "Don't Go Near The Water," "Haunted Heart" and "Cadillac Style."

Kershaw came up the hard way and has been called one of country's few believable blue-collar performers. Sammy was born into a poor family in Abbeville, Louisiana. His father died when he was 12, and the youngster soon began working as a roadie for a regional performer.

He then moved to Oklahoma where he sang with local bands. One of his demo tapes eventually found its way to Mercury in Nashville, and the label signed him to a recording contract in 1990. The hits have been coming ever since Renfro Valley concert goers will have the opportunity to attend two Sammy Kershaw concerts on Saturday, September 16. Show times are 7 and 9:15 p.m. Tickets are $19 and $21, plus tax and handling.

For reservations or information, call 1-800-765-7464 or 606/256-2638.

KET Labor Day documentary examines execution of union organizer Joe Hill

His legal battle was the most controversial of its time. In 1915, his death sentence by the state of Utah was the subject of protests around the world.

The life and death of union organizer Joe Hill would pose challenging questions of fairness and justice, and provide a rallying cry for defiant workers for generations to come.

"Joe Hill," airing Monday, September 4 at 10 p.m. on KET, tells the story of the Swedish immigrant who became a dedicated labor organizer caught in a power struggle with big business and politics.

In January 1914, Hill was arrested in Salt Lake City, Utah, and charged with murder. Nearly two years later, despite nationwide and international protests, he was executed by a firing squad. The state claimed that he and another man—never identified or found—had rushed into a grocery store and shot the owners to death.

The documentary employs dramatic re-creations based on newspaper accounts and trial testimonies to explore seven different perspectives of the events surrounding the murders. To this day, the question of Hill's guilt remains unclear.

"Joe Hill's story enables us to see a lost chapter in the national experience," says producer Ken Verdoia. "This is the story of European immigration at its peak and the challenge faced by people seeking opportunity in America. It's the story of conflict surrounding the early organization of rank-and-file workers."

"Joe Hill," produced by KUED/Salt Lake City, is closed-captioned for the deaf and hard-of-hearing.

Viewers can find our more about programming on KET by visiting the KET Web site at http://www.ket.org, a Kentucky.com affiliate.

FULKLIFE FESTIVAL PLANNED

From Bluegrass music to slowcooked barbecue, celebrate the best of Kentucky's cultural traditions at the Kentucky Folklife Festival, September 28-30, in historic downtown Frankfort.

The fun begins at 9 a.m. on Thursday and Friday, and 10 a.m. on Saturday, and ends after the last strand of music fades away from the feature evening's concert. Throughout the day, visitors can feast on various ethnic foods, enjoy cloggers, fiddlers and storytellers from all over Kentucky.

Festival goers can spend the day exploring diverse crafts demonstrated by artisans, and cruise the Kentucky River on a river boat docked at Riverview Park. For departure times and admission, contact Queen City Riverboats at 606/292-8687 or check at the Information Tent when you arrive at the festival

Modeled on the Smithsonian's American Folklife Festival, this event brings together more than 100 artists and demonstrators to teach visitors about the foods, recreational activities, occupations, crafts, songs, rituals and stories that make the Bluegrass state unique.

The goal of the festival is twofold, according to its director, Bob Gates. "Coming together this way. the participants not only teach us the importance of our own cultural heritage, but also help us understand and value the traditions of others," he said.

The themes of this year's festival are the folklife of Louisville, the state's largest city, and eastern Kentucky's US 23, also known as the Country Music Highway. Friday night's concert will highlight Louisville's rhythm and blues traditions, while bluegrass and country from US 23, including featured artist Tom T. Hall, will conclude Saturday's festivities.

As in previous years, the evening concerts will begin at 7 p.m., and take place or the lawn of the Old State Capital.

During the day, visitors to the Louisville area of the festival will learn about several of that city's most distinctive neighborhoods. Representatives of Louisville's Indian community will demonstrate some of the activities, arts and traditions that give their community its distinctive character.

Other residents of Louisville, including storyteller Nana Yaa Asantewa and drum-maker Ed White, will teach visitors about the area's African American folklife.

The US 23 area will highlight eastern Kentucky's musical, artistic, occupational and recreational heritage. Festival-goers can learn about the area's hunting dog traditions or hear what it's like to work in a coal mine. Another area recreates Minnie Adkin's annual "A Day in the Country" festival, a celebration of contemporary folk art that draws visitors from across the country.

For more information, contact the Kentucky Folklife Festival at 100 West Broadway, Frankfort, KY 40601; 502/564-1792 or 1-877-444-7867 or visit its website at http://www.kyhistory.org/Programs/ Folklife/2000 Kentucky Folklife_Festival.htm.

The Kentucky Historical Society is an agency of the Education, Arts and Humanities Cabinet. The Kentucky History Center is the headquarters of the Kentucky Historical Society and is located in downtown Frankfort.

Tony Gore, Majesty at Renfro Valley

Since forming the group in November of 1993, Tony Gore and Majesty has been the most requested performers in gospel music television, as well as major radio markets across the U.S., South Africa and Ireland.

The group had the distinct honor of being the first Southern Gospel group to tour Ireland.

Group members are Tony Gore, Scott Thomas, Jason Runnels and Jamie Spaulding. A few of their chart topping songs are "Thank God," "Watch and See," "I Know What It's Like," I'll Put On A Crown" and their most popular hit "Meanwhile In The Garden," which stayed at the top of the charts for three consecutive months.

Concert-goers to Renfro Valley Entertainment Center will be doubly blessed as Heartfelt, an up-and-coming Southern Gospel group from Sparta, and winners of the group category in the Renfro Valley Gospel Talent Search held earlier this year, will open the show for Tony Gore and Majesty.

Local fans will recognize the original Heartfelt song, "It Wasn't Easy."

The concert will be held Friday evening September 8, in Renfro Valley's New Barn Theater. Showtime is 7 p.m. Tickets are $13 and $15, plus tax and handling.

For reservations or information, call 800-765-7464 or 606/256-2638. Experience Renfro Valley, 'Kentucky's Country Music Capital,' just off 1-75 at exit 62. Visit the website at www.renfrovalley.com.

University of South Florida professor Stuart Wilkinson recently developed a robot that fuels itself with sugar and which the professor hopes will be able to power itself even more versatilely by eating vegetation (although unlike sugar, which produces only water and carbon dioxide as byproducts, vegetation would create wastedisposal problems). According to a July BBC News report, E. coli bacteria are provided to break down the food and convert it into electricity.

PEOPLE WHO ARE NOT LIKE YOU AND ME

Police in Durham, North Carolina, said that the three 15-year-old boys rushed to Duke Hospital on the evening of July 28 with gunshot wounds to the leg had actually shot one another, voluntarily. Said a police spokesman, "They wanted that status symbol of telling their friends they were shot."

UPDATE

News of the Weird has reported several times recently on the "sport" of cockfighting, which is still legal only in Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana, and is under constant criticism from state legislatures and animal-rights activists. However, according to a June New York Times story, the cockfighting infrastructure (33-state breeding industry plus designer-drug developers to enhance roosters' fighting performance) is flourishing, and cockfighting continues illegally in many other venues (for example, police raided events this year in Philadelphia and New York City). Furthermore, an anti-cockfighting bill in Congress, with broad bipartisan support, has been derailed, according to a July Washington Post story, because of the influence of the breeding industry.

LEAST COMPETENT CRIMINALS

T'Chacka Mshinda Thorpe, 25, was arrested in Lynchburg, Virginia, in May and charged with possession of cocaine after a brief chase; police caught up to him after Thorpe tripped on his low-riding baggy pants, fell, and fractured his femur. And in March, Edney Raphael, 39, running from a stabbing in Philadelphia with a bloody knife in his hand, was captured following a foot chase; he had turned his head to see where the officers were and run smack into a parking meter.

ALSO, IN THE LAST MONTH ...

A 49-year-old man shot up a bar, wounding five people, on orders from "the Lord," who said subsequent instructions would come from "Nash Bridges" (Topeka, Kansas). A 30-yearold Danish soccer fan returning at night from the Copenhagen-Viborg game in a fans' bus peered out of the skylight and was decapitated by an overpass. And in separate incidents, two elderly people were rescued after enduring three days each, precariously trapped and hidden in rural isolation without food or water (an 83-year-old woman in her car, which plunged off an overpass and hung in a tree above a swamp in Broward County, Florida, and a 75-year-old man in Carroll County, Virginia, stuck 15 feet down in his outhouse when the floor collapsed).

UK's 'Art at Lunch' to start

The power of totems, the ethereal beauty of glass, and the expertise of printmakers are on the agenda in the University of Kentucky Art Museum's "Art at Lunch" series for the fall semester.

Join us for short gallery talks introducing key works exhibited "A Silver Celebration: The Collection at 25 (Part I)." In this monthly series of talks, led by museum staff and other art historians, visitors will hear about history and cultural contexts and will consider esthetic elements of works currently on view.

The first installment will take place on Wednesday, September 6. Deborah Borrowdale-Cox, education curator, will speak on "Totem Poles: Images and Power." The museum's totem pole is an object alive with meaning and story.

In this brief talk, Borrowdale-Cox will explore some of the iconography that distinguishes this totem pole, which was created by the Northwest Coast Kwakuitl people in the early 20th century. The talk will discuss how the artists were inspired to create the work, the processes and materials used to make it, and its cultural context—who used it and why.

On October 4, gallery coordinator Jane Boswell will present "Fragile Flights of Fancy:" "The Imagined Worlds of Art Glass" in conjunction with the display of selected turn-of-the-century art glass from the museum's remarkable collection. Several of these important pieces, including a stunning Tiffany "Pond Lily Table Lamp," are exhibited in the Silver Celebration show.

Rachael Sadinsky, curator of collections and exhibitions will speak on November I on the topic of printmaking. Many of the museum's extensive collection of prints are on display, and Sadinsky will address the processes and issues involved in the graphic arts.

More information is forthcoming on the October and November "Art at Lunch" talks. All of the talks will take place at 12:30 p.m. in the museum galleries. There is no charge and the public is welcome.

The University of Kentucky Art Museum is open, noon to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, and noon to 8 p.m. on Friday; closed Monday and university holidays. For general museum information, contact Jane Boswell at 859/257-5716. Visit the website at www.uky.edu/ArtMuseum.

Two specials explore Australia's unique history and mysteries

In September, when the eyes of the world turn to Australia for the excitement of the Summer Olympics in Sydney, KET offers other views of the nation "down under"—from atop one of the world's most recognizable natural formations and through the eyes of a uniquely qualified native son.

First, "Ayers Rock, A Naked Planet Special," airing Tuesday, September 5 at 8 p.m. on KET, is a remarkable journey into what lies inside and beneath the world's most famous rock, now increasingly under pressure as tourists flood in to experience its uniqueness.

Situated in the heart of the vast Australian desert since the time of the dinosaurs, Ayers Rock is the preeminent symbol of the outback. Aboriginal people have revered it for thousands of years—yet, only recently have scientists explained the mysteries of its creation.

Then, "Australia: Beyond the Fatal Shore," written and hosted by Australian author and art critic Robert Hughes, features a six-part exploration of the land, people, history and national character of a country filled with complexity and contradiction. The series airs Tuesday through Thursday, September 5 through 7 at 9 p.m. on KET and Wednesdays at 9 p.m. beginning September 13 on KET2.

Hughes chronicles a hybrid world, home to both aboriginal peoples who have inhabited the land for 40,000 years and descendants of emigrants sent to Australia when it served as an 18th century British penal colony. In the process, he shows an Australia that has grown into a vibrant, yet often stereotyped and misunderstood, modern nation.

"Ayers Rock, A Naked Planet Special" is produced by Wall to Wall TV. "Australia: Beyond the Fatal Shore" is produced by Oxford Film & Television for BBC in association with WNET/New York, Australian Broadcasting and NVC Arts.

The show, which ran for 2,036 performances-the most of any musical revue-at Theatre, Virginia was filmed using high-definition video and state-of-theart audio. Fifteen cameras were positioned around the
