May Valley package clears initial testing

— Officials still awaiting final results —

by MARY MUSIC
STAFF WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — Floyd Countians may have less to worry about after preliminary tests came back Friday on the unknown substance mailed in an envelope to May Valley Elementary School, but Judge-Executive Paul Hunt Thompson noted the incident may bring about a "change in lifestyle" for eastern Kentuckians.

During a press conference held by local officials, Thompson confirmed that preliminary cultures taken on the substance found on the principal's desk at the school Thursday afternoon were negative, but further testing is needed and should be completed this weekend by the Kentucky Department of Public Health.

According to Thursa Stone, Director of the Floyd County Health Department, the Kentucky Department for Public Health is testing a direct smear of the substance for evidence of bacteria, but said there was no "specific item in mind" when asked what type of tests were being done.

No relation is expected between the substance and similar white, powdery substances responsible for anthrax outbreaks throughout the country.

Thompson urged citizens that the substance presents no immediate danger to individuals or students who were possibly exposed, but did confirm that Floyd County will take precautionary measures in the event a similar incident occurs in the future.

KSP arrest 14 in Pike County drug sweep

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

PIKEVILLE — The trend continues in law enforcement's battle with drug abuse as a concentrated effort to rid portions of Eastern Kentucky of drugs and those who deal them paid off again Thursday.

The tradition was upheld Thursday with another drug sweep by Kentucky State Police Post 9 in Pikeville which resulted in the arrest of 14 suspected drug dealers in the Pike County area.

The arrests came after a seven month investigation by the state police and, as well as identifying the suspected traffickers, also played a key role in solving a recent theft at a Pikeville area pharmacy in which over 5000 OxyContin pills were taken.

Troopers from Post 9, assisted by KSP Special Operations K-9 units and the Pike County Sheriff's Department, began their search early Thursday morning with a list of 21 Pike Countians charged with various drug offenses. The charges ranged from trafficking in controlled substances to theft and involved OxyContin, cocaine, morphine and marijuana.

During the course of the arrests Thursday, a search warrant was executed at a residence at Robinson Creek. The search several items were confiscated including weapons, prescription pills and cash from a suspected drug trafficker.

As of 2 p.m. Thursday, 14 of the 21 suspects had been arrested. They are as follows:

- William Bowling of Bowling Fork
- Janice Bowling of Bowling Fork
- Ruth Ann Tackett of Indian Creek
- Clyde Hall of Peter Fork
- Billy Gene Ratliff of Marrowbone
- Conley Little of Booker Fork
- Michael Sowards of Shelbiana
- Shannon Johnson of Shelby Gap

FCEA instructional day proposal accepted

by KATHY J. PRATER
FEATURES EDITOR

PRESTONSBURG — Amid complaints that Floyd county teachers have "no time for collaboration," therefore restricting their opportunity to set up what are termed "learning communities," Floyd County Board of Education member Carol Stumbo made a motion on behalf of Floyd county teachers to accept a Floyd County Education Association (FCEA) proposal incorporating the utilization of "early Wednesdays" each week of the school instructional period.

The second reading of the proposal, which was introduced earlier this year by FCEA president, Donna Collins, was conducted Thursday evening at Allen Elementary during a regularly scheduled meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education.

The proposal reads as follows: "An equivalent instructional day of 6 hours and 10 minutes will be utilized to produce early Wednesday every week. Early Wednesday will not exceed 45 minutes, and with the exception of two meetings a month for curriculum, instruction, and assessment activities, will be used at school solely at the discretion of the individual teacher. This will enable the teaching staff to deal with curriculum, CATS and CTBS test scores, planning, and other matters vital to the program of instruction."

Board cautioned to tighten budget; 2.5 grade policy remains

by KATHY J. PRATER

PRESTONSBURG — The Floyd County Board of Education met in a regularly scheduled meeting held at Allen Elementary this past Thursday evening.

Matt Wireman, financial director, cautioned the board against unnecessary spending due to reports and memorandums his office has received from the state budget committee recommending that local boards "tighten budgets" and exercise caution in spending.

According to Wireman, local boards have been receiving SEEK (Support Educational Excellence in Kentucky) monies near the end of each fiscal year. Possibilities exist that these funds will soon be cut due to average yearly decreases in daily student attendance and student enrollment.

Wireman informed the board that "hold-over funds" previously made available to local school systems at the end of each school year

Industrial group prepares for progress

by MARY MUSIC

PRESTONSBURG — Members of the Appalachian Industrial Authority (AIA) believe that in order to compete with today's industrial growth, eastern Kentucky must have a place to start.

That's why they've decided to turn nearly 400 acres of previously mined and reclaimed land into an industrial park.

The site, known as the Gateway Business Park, is located in eastern Letcher County one mile southwest of Jenkins and one-half mile north of Payne Gap.

Through encouragement and planning by the AIA and expertise by Summit Engineering of Pikeville, the park now stands as a chance for Eastern Kentucky to offer developmental industrial sites for various businesses, bringing the

Floyd Fiscal Court approves tax rates

PRESTONSBURG — A special-called meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court on Thursday was nearly interrupted when news of a suspicious package found at May Valley Elementary in Martin arrived just before the meeting was called. However, Floyd County Judge-Executive Paul Hunt Thompson pressed through the meeting before leaving to further inspect the situation.

During the meeting, the court adopted the tax rates from school, county, C.E.T., library, soil conservation, health and fire districts.

The school tax was adopted at 60.6 percent for real property taxes and 60.6 percent for personal property, while the county tax rate was approved at 15.2 percent for real and

We love it when people say nice things about us.

Golf Digest recently listed Alabama's Robert Trent Jones Golf Trail among the top 50 golf destinations in the world!

And in its current Places to Play ratings, Golf Digest gave most of the Trail's 21 courses 4 stars—and some even got 4½. Not bad when you consider that 5 stars only go to those once-in-a-lifetime courses. And all of the Trail's courses got top honors for service.

Frequent Flyer Magazine listed us among its top 10 trips in the world and The New York Times called us "...some of the best public golf on earth."

Golf Magazine listed THE SENATOR course at our new Capitol Hill location among its top new courses in the country and THE LEGISLATOR course in the top 25 newcomers. And wait until you see THE JUDGE!

Board gives final word on PHS field name

by KATHY J. PRATER
FEATURES EDITOR

PRESTONSBURG — After some quite intense and quite vehement accusations were levied against Floyd County Board of Education Chairman Johnnie Ross and The Floyd County Times by board member Carol Stumbo, district 4, in regard to a recently published editorial related to the naming of the new Prestonsburg High School football field, the seemingly controversial issue was finally laid to rest.

Following an impassioned plea from Megan Barber, Prestonsburg High School senior and the daughter of David and Margo Barber, of Prestonsburg, to the county board asking them to re-consider the naming of the new high school field as "Josh Francis Field," in honor of the fallen P.H.S. football offensive lineman/defensive lineman and son of C.V. and Kim Reynolds, also of Prestonsburg, who died in a single vehicle one passenger traffic accident this past August 4, a decision was made to adopt the originally requested name.

Barber presented the board with a petition that, according to Ross, contained over 600 Prestonsburg High School student signatures, representing the student body majority.

Ross had previously requested that the school conduct a student vote on the naming of the school, giving "at least five choices" of names on the ballot.

The school later conducted a "show of hands" vote giving the students a choice of names that all incorporated the former player in some way, sparking community controversy over the issue. Barber commented at the meeting that a Floyd County Times editorial on the subject had caused much "trouble" at the Prestonsburg school.

Barber further commented that it was the express desire of Kim Reynolds, Francis' mother, to have the field named after her son. "Kim wants this, we want this...it is our field," Barber pleaded. "If the board puts students first, then this is what the students want," she continued.

Ross informed Barber that he had not had the opportunity to speak with Reynolds and that he preferred to be able to do so before accepting a motion on the official naming of the field. Ross further said that Reynolds had been invited to address the board on several occasions and had declined to do so.

"Kim would have been here tonight, but today is Josh's birthday," Barber offered in explanation. Ross maintained that he felt a need to first speak with Reynolds before making a formal motion and board decision.

As the meeting progressed, Barber left the meeting room to re-enter some moments later accompanied by several young ladies from Prestonsburg High School as well as Kim Reynolds.

Reynolds declined to address the board publicly but did agree to a private conversation with the board chairman, after which the chairman resumed his seat and made a motion to accept the position of the students in regard to the naming of the high school field.

The official name of the new Prestonsburg High School football field, as of board approval Thursday evening, is "Josh Francis Field."

Immediately following the decision, Barber, Reynolds and the young ladies accompanying them, left the room.

FCEA

Collins, who was present at the meeting, commented to the board that "if you want quality education, your teachers have to have planning time." Collins also went on to inform the board that it is "time to show us some respect" as professionals. Alluding to the recent teacher disgruntlements of the past weeks, Collins went on to say that problems ensued when the current board chose to enforce an existing policy requiring a six hour, fifteen minute instructional time school day earlier this year. "We were given a directive" without being allowed input into the decision making process, Collins said.

Board chairman Johnnie Ross asked Collins if it would be acceptable to FCEA if the initial policy decision stood with a commitment from the board to not allow the teaching community to again be uninvolved in further decisions in which they would be directly affected.

Collins declined to accept that suggestion as plausible.

Chairman Ross then asked Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Paul Fanning, for his thoughts on the subject. "My position remains the same," said Fanning. He went on to say that the policy had been in place for quite some time and the "policy provides more instructional time for students, and it's the right thing to do."

Zella Wells, state manager for Floyd County schools, reiterated her earlier comments to the board. A synopsis of her comments follows:

"Included on tonight's agenda is the second reading of a proposed policy relating to shortening the instructional day by five minutes and to instituting 'early Wednesday' every week. Let me clearly state that if you decide to adopt this policy, I will not be recommending a veto for Commissioner Wilhoit's consideration as long as it can be demonstrated that every school meets the state minimum requirements of six instructional hours per day and 1,050 hours per year."

Wells went on to say that "one-fourth of the school year" had passed and that "daily schedules are well-established...we have already established good instructional momentum and students are actively engaged in the learning process. I have to question the wisdom of tinkering with a routine that's obviously working."

And additionally, "I've been told by teacher leaders that this year's additional 15 minutes of instructional time isn't really the root of FCEA's issue...if the 15 minutes issue was merely a symptom rather than the actual problem, then why not focus on the problem rather than treat the symptom. It's been said that the board's policy that adds 15 additional instructional minutes devalues and is disrespectful of teachers. I'd argue that just the opposite is true. Adding 15 minutes implicitly recognizes the importance of teachers as being the only ones that can directly impact student learning."

"Someone referred to this year's additional 15 minutes as being unproductive and unfocused. If that is indeed the case, let me remind the board that according to KRS 160.345, the sole authority for determining the schedule of the school day resides with each school's council, not the school board. So, if the time is unproductive, it's the council's responsibility to remedy that situation, not the school board," she went on.

Wells also clarified "for the board and for the media that teachers are not hourly employees, rather, they are salaried professionals hired to provide educational services 185 days per year. Under no circumstances can a board policy requiring an extra 5, 10, or even 25 minutes per day be considered 'unpaid' time, as it has been labeled. That type of thinking is simply incorrect...it doesn't apply here. Teachers are statutorily and contractually obligated to work for whatever is designated by...the board of education, to be the length of the instructional day."

Wells urged the board to "give careful consideration to your vote on this issue" and cautioned "that at this point in the school year shortening the instructional day by five minutes and instituting 'early Wednesdays' every week, would not be 'what is best for kids.'"

Following, Chairman Ross moved to have original motion of an added 15 minute instructional day remain in effect. The motion died for lack of a second and Stumbo's motion to approve the FCEA proposal stood.

According to Supt. Fanning, the implementation of the policy should take effect by Nov. 1.

Slone completed training Wednesday, said Thompson, to learn how to deal with biological warfare in case of future problems. She, along with Floyd County Disaster Coordinator, Lon May, visited with school principals Friday morning to discuss possible avenues needed to be taken by the local schools.

"With the initial report coming up negative on the smear results or first reaction is that it is a hoax," said Thompson. "However, we still have 24 hours to wait on the final results."

Thompson said the next thing Floyd County should do is to be prepared in case a similar incident occurs.

In an effort to consolidate efforts to deal with the threat of possible biological warfare throughout Floyd County, Thompson asked for the coordination of the local fire departments and rescue squads, to help train government and school officials to handle possible similar occurrences in the future.

In addition, he announced an officer from the Floyd County Sheriff's department will receive specialized training to deal with possible problems in the future. The fiscal court will also be working with local utility companies to take additional steps to make sure the county water lines remain safe.

"I'm sure that some people may think we're over reacting," said Thompson. "I will say in response...that I would rather be safe than sorry when our children or our citizens are involved."

During the conference, Thompson highlighted the fact that such an incident, even if it were a hoax, would change the way we live in eastern Kentucky.

"...Basically, even here in the mountains of eastern Kentucky we're gonna have to change our life style some," said Thompson. "We'll have to be more careful on opening the mail we receive...Probably the best thing to do is to have one person opening the mail in a room by their self, if it's a public facility."

During the conference, Thompson gave the following warning signs for suspicious mail:

- unexpected mail;
- mail with no return address;
- mail with unfamiliar return address;
- mail addressed to someone no longer living at the residence;
- mail with a outside message that reads "personal" or "to be opened only by addressee;" and
- mail with a post mark that does not match the return address.

To handle suspicious mail, Thompson said you can "choose not to open it or call the sender to verify that they sent it." If you're still suspicious, said Thompson, double bag it while wearing rubber gloves and contact local authorities.

Concerned citizens can report suspicious mail or ask questions at the following locations: Disaster Emergency Services, 886-0498; Floyd County Health Department, 886-2788; Sheriff's Department, 886-6171, or Judge Executive's office, 886-9193.

Although authorities named no suspects in Thursday's incident, the offices of the County Attorney and the Commonwealth Attorney, said Thompson, will handle possible criminal charges relating to the incident.

Breathitt County school adds chess to list of classes

BREATHITT COUNTY BUREAU

JACKSON — Chess has become part of the curriculum at the Jackson City School in Breathitt County.

Chet Sygiel, a chess player, read an article in Chess Life entitled, "Can Chess Aid American Schools?", written by Dr. Boris Gershunsky and GM Eduard Gufeld and found it so interesting that he passed the article on to the Breathitt County Superintendent of Schools O. Taylor Collins.

Collins then passed the article on to Jackson City School principal Tim Spencer, who also showed interest.

Both approached Sygiel about teaching chess class two hours a day at the Jackson City School, who accepted the invitation.

So chess has now been added to the list of classes at Jackson.

There are 11 classes in total with approximately 200 students. There are two 1st grade classes, two 2nd grade classes, two 3rd grade classes, two 4th grade classes, one 5th grade class, one 6th grade class and one 7th grade class. These classes are all taught by Sygiel, with Rich Holl from Lees College campus of Hazard Community College coming once a week to provide Sygiel help with the newly added class.

"The kids seem to be having a lot of fun with this," said Sygiel. "I think that it is also good for their critical thinking skills."

Sygiel has contacted Steve Dillard of Louisville who has involvement with Bluegrass Games activities. Dillard has agreed to come and help perform some possible tournaments later in the school year when the students are ready.

Billie Taulbee, Paige McIntosh and Angela Craft, all 4th grade student at Jackson said they thought chess was fun.

"I really love chess," Craft said. "I had never played before, but now I love it."

Wellstone's promising stimulus plan

As members of Congress cast about for ways to stimulate the flagging economy, they find themselves in something of a Goldilocks dilemma. One set of proposals before them is much too big, and one set is much too small. At the end of September, however, Sen. Paul Wellstone floated an idea that seems just about right. The Minnesota Democrat would put money in the hands of laid off workers, priming the economy quickly and helping those who most need help.

House Republicans say the crisis calls for new, permanent cuts in either the capital gains tax or the corporate income tax. In theory, this would trigger a new wave of investment in factories, computers and so on. But that's overreach. Any fiscal stimulus package from Washington should fade out as the economy recovers; these changes would continue to drain the federal Treasury long after the economy has rebounded from its current shock. Besides, a cut in tax rates is unlikely to trigger a new wave of hiring and investment when the problem facing corporate America is a lack of consumer demand.

A number of Democrats, meanwhile, want expanded benefits for laid off airline employees. This has a certain symmetry, since congress bailed out airline owners and creditors last week. But this proposal is much too small. The aftershocks of Sept. 11 are now rippling through many industries, and Washington shouldn't discriminate between a flight attendant, say, and a hotel maid or a construction worker who are standing in the same unemployment line.

Wellstone supports an aid package for airline workers, but he has proposed a second package of expanded benefits that would cover everyone in the jobless queue. The best feature is an expansion of the unemployment insurance system, which now covers half or fewer of jobless workers and takes too long to get checks in the mail. Broadening coverage and speeding up payments would put money quickly into the hands of people who will spend it, and it would phase out again when the economy recovers. A second attractive proposal would help the unemployed pay health insurance premiums. A federal law known as COBRA lets laid off workers continue any group insurance they had with their former employers, but they have to pay the full premium, often a crushing $500 or $600 per month. helping with that burden would aid genuinely needy Americans, pump money into the economy quickly and then go away as the economy recovers.

In recent days, a familiar assortment of lobbyists has settled on Capitol Hill with unsavory speed, seeking succor for their losses. Congress should give first attention to jobless workers, who are likely to be most hurt and least heard in the weeks ahead.

Comeback will endear Jordan

Prior to September 11, the third coming of Michael Jordan might have been front page news across the country. Post 9-11, it was relegated to the sports pages, where it belongs. It's a wonder how a foreign attack can clarify priorities and provide perspective.

That said, Jordan's unretirement does offer a pleasant diversion — what sports were always meant to be, by the way — in a nation desperately in need of just that. Leave it to MJ to once again have perfect timing.

"I am returning as a player to the game I love," Jordan said in explaining his decision, which is good enough for most, if not for all. Indeed, some were not looking forward to this moment, arguing that it would tarnish the legend, that making his last shot to win a world championship in 1998 was the perfect exclamation point to a career full of them.

To be sure, Jordan at 38 is unlikely to be the player he was. His workouts leading to his comeback already have resulted in a variety of injuries, which shows he is what we suspected all along — human. Indeed, while he is a Wizard — he will play not for the Chicago Bulls but for the NBA's Washington Wizards — he is no wizard. His supporting cast will not be what it was in Chicago. The team may struggle to win as many games as it loses.

And so what? It's just a game. Is Jordan the only one who recognizes that? Look at it this way. Jordan will donate his salary his first year to disaster relief efforts in New York and Washington. He doesn't need the money, but it's a nice gesture anyway. Beyond that, he's a one-man economic development team. People who won't buy stock will buy Jordan jerseys. So invest in the company that makes Jordan jerseys.

Finally, if Jordan can do and still be among the top players in the game, maybe that will motivate other 38 year-olds to get off the couch, too. Us old folks will have someone to root for, and the youngin's will get a glimpse of what a work ethic looks like when combined with extraordinary skills.

Ultimately, this will endear him, just as his mercifully short-lived and positively mediocre baseball career did. Were that more of us were willing to take such chances.

Pikeville gets grant to develop town houses

PIKEVILLE — U.S. Senator Jim Bunning today announced that the Kentucky Department of Local Government's Appalachian Housing Fund has received a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) in the amount of $450,000 to assist in the completion of a housing redevelopment program that will result in the creation of 20 affordable townhomes in downtown Pikeville.

The awarded funds will be directly used to assist in the completion of Phase IV of Pikeville's Comprehensive Redevelopment Housing Program, which includes the replacement of 14 substandard housing units on Kentucky Avenue.

Phase IV will also include the development of 20 townhomes with affordable rent and home-ownership properties. The ARC funds will be used for demolition and on-site development activities.

locate in a park, according to several officials in the Office for Coal County Development, which supplies coal revenue sharing funds to develop industrial parks.

Jerry Johnson, at the Frankfort office, said that "no deals are on the table" that he is aware of. He said that Governor Paul Patton did lead a tour of businessmen to the parks, just to show them what Eastern Kentucky has to offer.

"None have committed to do a project," said Terry Spears, who is at the Coal County Development Office in Prestonsburg.

"At least we are getting some looks," he added. "This is the first time in history I know of that these companies have seriously looked at Eastern Kentucky."

The first tour group included 18 people who were supply company representatives and people from the Toyota plant in Georgetown. Governor Patton accompanied them on tours of Gateway Park, a 363 acre park on U.S. 23 in Letcher County, and Coalfields Industrial Park in Perry County, as well as the Honeybranch Industrial Park, a 323 acre park in Martin County. Another supplier visited all three park alone recently.

Gateway Industrial Park is said to be one of the best prepared parks for development because the park already has infrastructure, sewer and water, in addition to paved roads.

A federal grant was just approved for construction of a 40,000 square foot speculative building for the park.

Representative Howard Cornett of Letcher County said the building will cost $800,577, which includes a $640,000 federal grant from the Economic Development Administration, plus $160,577 in state and local funds.

The site is administered by the Appalachian Industrial Authority, which is made up of members from Letcher, Pike, Knott and Floyd Counties.

In Hazard, plans were just announced for a cabinet maker, the Woodmark Corporation, to construct a 200,000 square foot building in the Coalfield Park. Ground was recently broke there for a "spec building".

possibility of much-needed industrial growth and employment opportunities to the area.

"I'm a retired teacher," said Charles Dixon, AIA board chairman. "I taught 33 and one half years, and my future is set. I'd like to see all those young people I taught stay in this area. If just half of them would be able to stay and have good jobs, it would be marvelous."

During a meeting held Wednesday at the Big Sandy Area Developmental District, AIA members discussed several aspects of the park construction.

They approved an administrative contract between the AIA and the Economic Development Administration (EDA), who will provide most of the funding for a proposed speculative (Spec) building at the Gateway Business Park site.

With $640,000 grant from the EDA and a 20 percent match in funds by the AIA, $800,000 will be available to construct the building.

The AIA plans include construction the exterior of the 40,000 square foot building. According to board chairman Charles Dixon, the walls, roof, lights, and sewage will be constructed, leaving the rest of the interior bare. The AIA will then invite businesses to purchase it, allowing them to make the final decision of the building's interior design.

Image Entry, a computer business originally located in Whitesburg, purchased 11 acres on the industrial site before the land was bought by the AIA.

Dixon said the AIA hopes the construction of the Image Entry building, which is due to begin next week, will help to raise interest from other businesses.

"We're hoping when Image

Entry gets their building built and we get our Spec building built then we can recruit more people to come in," said Dixon. "Our theory is that if something goes up nice and something else goes up nice...people will notice it and want to move here as well."

AIA members also passed a motion to allow Summit Engineering to prepare the legal description of the Spec Building.

Charles Byers and Jack Sykes were available at he meeting to give an engineering update of the site.

Byers shared plans with the group about the Gateway Business Park entry sign, which will be located just off U.S. 23. The masonry sign will now carry the state seal.

The next scheduled AIA meeting will be held at Hindman City Hall on November 14 at 3 p.m.

AIA members represent Floyd, Knott, Letcher, and Pike Counties.

will not be available this year, therefore, caution in salary decisions and spending is highly recommended at this time by his office.

The statement came upon the heels of a board decision to hire an additional primary level teacher for Prestonsburg Elementary School. Prestonsburg principal Gwen Hale-Frazier had appeared before the board several times in the past few weeks to request an addition to her school's staffing. Thursday evening the board voted to approve this request, but rescinded, or according to board attorney, Mike Schmitt, "abolished" the previous order after Wireman's precautionary statements.

Considerable discussion was also given to the Allen Central High School swimming pool situation. Although Jeff Stumbo, district 3, again expressed disfavor with the earlier decision of keeping the pool open, citing that he felt that other "priority needs" existed that should first be addressed, the board nonetheless, agreed to keep the pool open and to establish a committee consisting of representatives from Allen Central High School, Allen Central Middle School, Duff Elementary and May Valley Elementary, to explore funding and service options for the facility.

Glenna Slone, board member, district 5, stressed to her constituents that "the community, the parents, and the students want this pool." "The pool is already there, I feel we should put it to use. Other needs always exist...the people in this area don't ask for much," she went on.

Board chairman Johnnie Ross urged the committee members to "think out of the box" and come up with solutions to re-opening and maintaining the pool.

Board member Jeff Stumbo asked the board to re-consider the current policy of having middle school students maintain a 2.5 grade point average in order to participate in athletic programs at their schools.

"Every athlete can not be a star pupil, and every student can not be an athlete. We have kids who are struggling," Stumbo said, "they are being denied the opportunity to be a part of a team."

Stumbo's motion died for lack of a second, and the current 2.5 g.p.a. policy remains in effect as of this writing.

resulted in 24 grand jury indictments in Pike County on charges of "doctor shopping".

According to KSP spokesperson, Scott Hopkins, some of the Thursday arrests were made based on information obtained from concerned area citizens.

In a news release on Friday, KSP officials expressed their appreciation for the information given by these citizens, saying the help was "invaluable in identifying and investigating drug dealers".

Ward Off Periodontal Disease

Pikeville — Most people think flashing a pearly white smile is the sign of a healthy mouth. What they may not know is that a silent disease—periodontal disease or gum disease—can rob them of their pearly whites.

Periodontal disease is a chronic bacterial infection that affects not only the gums, but also the bone supporting the teeth. "If left untreated, it destroys the attachment fibers and supporting bone that hold the teeth in the mouth," explained Terry W. Wright, D.M.D., a local periodontist and member of the American Academy of Periodontology.

A recent study in the Journal of Periodontology reports that more than one in three people over age 30 have a form of periodontal disease. "Because a periodontal disease develops silently and painlessly, most people don't even know they have it, until it becomes advanced," said Wright.

When the disease is caught in the early stages, it is possible to treat it with a thorough cleaning that may include scaling to remove plaque and calculus below the gum line. Plaque is the main cause of periodontal disease. It is a sticky odorless film that constantly forms on your teeth. If it is not removed by daily brushing and flossing, it hardens into a substance called calculus. Calculus is so hard it can only be removed during a professional cleaning, and when it develops below the gums onto the tooth root, it increases the risk of periodontal disease.

The toxins produced by the bacteria in plaque irritate the gums and cause an infection. This infection causes gums to separate from the teeth, forming pockets that will fill with even more plaque and cause more infection, as the disease progresses, more gum tissue and bone are destroyed and the teeth eventually become loose. If periodontal disease is left untreated, the teeth may need to be removed.

While plaque is the primary cause of periodontal disease, it is not the only risk factor. Other factors that can affect gum health include: tobacco use, hormonal changes throughout the life span, stress, certain medications, systemic diseases such as diabetes, poor nutrition, and habits such as clenching or grinding your teeth.

Although periodontal disease is often silent and painless, there are signs that can point to a problem. If you notice any of these symptoms, it is important to receive a periodontal evaluation:

- gums that bleed easily such as during brushing or flossing
- red, swollen or tender gums
- gums that have pulled away from the teeth
- persistent bad breath
- pus between the teeth and gums
- loose or separating teeth
- a change in the way your teeth fit together when you bite

Recent research indicates that periodontal disease may play a role in other major health concerns, such as heart disease, diabetes, stroke, respiratory disease and preterm, low birth weight babies.

For more information about periodontal disease, contact Terry W. Wright, D.M.D., 1-800-354-4973, or visit the American Academy of Periodontology's web site at www.perio.org.

Fire Commission assists families of fallen firefighters

FYI

Since 1972, the mission of the Kentucky Fire Commission and State Fire Rescue Training has been to train and certify Kentucky volunteer and career firefighters. In 1997 the Postsecondary Education Improvement Act led to the KCTCS Associate in Applied Science degree in Fire/Rescue Science Technology. The Fire Commission is now part of KCTCS.

MARYLAND – The Kentucky Fire Commission has assisted the families of Hazard firefighter Logan Fields and others as they traveled to Maryland to visit a national memorial for fallen firefighters. Logan Field died Aug. 11, 2000. Also honored were Kyle Hendrick of the Gott Fire Department in Bowling Green who died Nov. 16, 2000 and John C. Slade of the Cynthiana Fire Department who died Sept. 12, 2000. President and Mrs. George W. Bush lead the nation in a tribute to fallen firefighters on Sunday, Oct. 7. The names of the deceased firefighters will be placed on the wall of a national memorial. On Oct. 3, about 500 firefighters, government officials and friends and family gathered in Frankfort to honor firefighters who died during the past year. The annual service was held at Juniper Hills Park, site of a memorial listing the names of Kentucky's deceased firefighters. Six names were added to the memorial this year. "It is appropriate that we gather here - in light of the Sept. 11 events. The only difference between our deceased Kentucky firefighters and those who fell in New York is the magnitude and scope of the losses," said Gov. Paul Patton. "The loss is the same for all families. Know that we will not forget." The families of Slade, of Cynthiana, and Fields, of Hazard, left for Maryland via bus on Oct. 4. The Fire Commission, which is part of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System, is sponsoring the trip. Karen Fields, wife of Logan Fields, called the trip "one of the greatest honors you can give a firefighter. I wouldn't miss it." Her husband died from a heart attack while on duty. He was deputy chief of the Hazard department and chief of the volunteer department in Avawam. Mrs. Fields said it would have been difficult to make the trip to Maryland without the support of the Fire Commission. "I appreciate the Kentucky Fire Commission for all they've done to help me in the last year," Mrs. Fields said. Traveling with the families were Ron Day and Wayne Mullannix, program administrators for the Fire Commission; William Carver, Kentucky Fire Association president; and Jon Jarrell, a member of the Fire Commission.

"The Fire Commission several years ago felt that it would be nice if families of firefighters who die in the line of duty have the opportunity to participate in the annual activities at the National Fire Academy," said Larry J. Collier, executive director of the Fire Commission. "All firefighters who die in the line of duty, nationwide, are recognized at this ceremony. We feel fortunate that we are able to do this for the families."

Hazard restaurant raises funds for Children's Miracle Network

HAZARD – The Hazard Dairy Queen raised $4209.60 for the Children's Miracle Network, the highest amount raised out of 62 corporate stores in the Johnson City Tennessee District Marketing Area.

Joyce Morley, the manager, said the money goes to the University of Kentucky Children's Hospital. "We want to thank our customers for giving money to the Children's Miracle Network and all the employees for working so hard," she said. The customers drop donations in boxes at the drive-by window and at the inside counter. The employees help out by selling "Miracle Treats" throughout the year. "This is our third year," she said.

The restaurant also raised the largest amount in the district last year, $4930 for the year 2000, and the largest amount in 1999, $3530.09. People who give to the restaurant know that the money goes to an agency that helps local children, which may be one reason for their success.

"When we first started doing it, they wanted to send the money to Tennessee, and we didn't do it, so now we give to the UK Children's Miracle Network," Morley said. The new award is posted on a display of 18 awards inside the restaurant.

Great Employees Start With An Outstanding Boss

Hey, Folks!

It's Boss Appreciation Day. Well, no one knows how much we appreciate our Boss, Boyd Thompson. I'm sure I speak for all his employees, at Jerry's Restaurant. I've been employed here since March, 1970. I was 16 years old when I met Mr. Thompson. That was 32 years ago. He is a kind and gentle person, always friendly to his employees, his customers, he greets with a smile. We all really appreciate Mr. Boyd Thompson.

Terrorist attacks disrupt hunting on military bases

In response to the terrorist attacks in New York and Washington, D.C., military bases in Kentucky are limiting access to hunters for security reasons.

"Those that applied for archery deer hunts and were accepted are okay to hunt," said Fort Knox hunt control spokesman Don Sheroan. "We started archery hunting the weekend before last. All hunters must pass through the gates and have the proper equipment. Just archery equipment is allowed. You may bring in no other weapons of any kind."

The small game seasons on Fort Knox are cancelled and the status of the deer gun season is unknown at this time, and will be decided at a later date, Sheroan said.

Fort Campbell has limited hunting access to only those holding a military I.D. card. This includes all active duty military personnel, Department of Defense employees with a military I.D. and military retirees. No one else is allowed to hunt Fort Campbell for either firearms hunting or archery hunting.

The Blue Grass Army Depot is not holding any public hunts this year at all.

Common snipe and woodchuck seasons

The common snipe season opened September 19, and closes on November 4. The season re-opens on November 22, 2001 and closes January 20, 2002. The daily bag limit is eight common snipe with a possession limit of 16. The shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

The American woodcock season opens October 20, and closes on December 3. The daily bag limit is three woodcock and the possession limit is six. The shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

If you plan to participate in either of these seasons, a hunting license is required with either a Kentucky waterfowl hunting permit or a Kentucky migratory bird permit. The waterfowl permit, in conjunction with the Federal waterfowl stamp, allows the hunter to take waterfowl, moorhens, gallinules, rails, doves, snipe and woodcock. The Kentucky migratory bird permit allows the hunter to take dove, snipe, woodcock, moorhens, rails and gallinules.

Youth waterfowl weekend

Youth hunters in the eastern waterfowl zone may participate in a special two-day waterfowl season on October 13 and 14. Hunters age 15 and under may hunt ducks, coots, mergansers and geese on these days. Those participating in this special season must comply with hunter education and hunter licensing requirements and be accompanied by an adult at least 18 years of age.

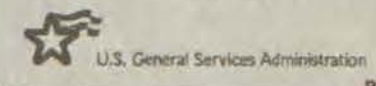

Bag limits are the same as for regular duck and goose seasons. Youth hunters in the western goose zone will have their special waterfowl season on February 2 and 3, 2002.

Consult the 2001-2002 Kentucky Waterfowl Hunting Guide which will be available at license outlets in the next few weeks.

Free parenting Workshop to be held at HCC

HAZARD – The Social Science Division at Hazard Community College is having a "Surviving Parenting in the 21st Century Workshop" on Saturday, Nov. 3 in the LRC building from 8:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Admission is free.

The tips offered at the workshop will cover all age groups from toddlers to teens. Continuing education credit will be awarded. Registration is from 8:30 a.m. to 8:55 a.m. in the foyer of the LRC building.

Concurrent sessions will run every hour from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and one workshop from 9 a.m. to noon.

The sessions are:

- From 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. - "Boys and Girls Learn Differently: Fact or Fiction?" The answer may surprise you. Come hear what Professors Venita Caldwell and Barbara Deaton have to say about this controversial topic.
- "Date Rape Awareness"

Sandra Blandau, Professor of Sociology, will discuss how all parents, of both male and female teen children, should be aware of the statistics pertaining to date rape in our society today. She will also examine the risk factors involved in dating today. She will look at how parents can possibly reduce the chances of date rape from occurring.

- From 10:05 a.m. to 11:05 a.m. "Parent to Teen Survival Tips" Drugs! Sex! Independence! Are you the parent caught in the middle? Conflict, storm and stress are the issues today. Are they different than the issues faced by parents of yesterday? How can we cope with the new age? Cindy Plummer, coordinator of the Human Services Program, will facilitate a discussion regarding communication skills and the problems faced by most American families as they try to survive living with a teenager in the household. Is there life after parenthood?
- "They Reap What You Sow" Brain Development during the Early Years Sandy Phipps, Professor of Psychology, will present on the development of the brain, including research findings regarding the brain during prenatal development, and brain development during the first three years of life. The importance of providing a stimulating environment for the toddler will also be addressed.

- From 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. "Effective Step-parenting" Sandra Blandau, Professor of Sociology, will define and discuss the dynamics of a blended family. She will also look at key elements in building strong blended families.

- "Parent to Teen Survival Tips" Drugs! Sex! Independence! Are you the parent caught in the middle? Conflict, storm and stress are the issues today. Are they different than the issues faced by parents of yesterday? How can we cope with the new age? Cindy after parenthood?

- 9 a.m. to noon "All They Do Is Play!" Do you want to select the best child care available for your child (or provide the best child care possible)? Participants will develop a picture of what quality care looks like and relate this picture to the Kentucky Kid's Now Quality Initiatives. Participants will discuss what children learn when playing with a variety of toys such as blocks, dolls, dishes, cars, books, etc. and how they can enhance those learning experiences at home. Participants will have an opportunity to make two of four specific activities to take home and share with their children. Dr. Donna R. Britt, Early Childhood Education Coordinator/Instructor and Marilyn Breeding, LKLP Resource and Referral and Technical Assistant/Quality Coordinator will teach this session.

Bunning announces grant for Pine Mtn. airport, park

U.S. Senator Jim Bunning today announced that the Pine Mountain Regional Industrial Development Administration has been awarded a grant in the amount of $25,000 from the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The Department of Commerce's Economic Development Administration (EDA), which identifies market-based opportunities for economic growth, approved the grant application as a way to assist the Pine Mountain community with its significant economic challenges. The Pine Mountain Regional Industrial Development Administration will use the funds to plan and develop the regional industrial park and airport in Kentucky.

Tug Fork Clean-up campaign

TUG FORK – Among the breathtaking beauty of the Tug Fork area of the Big Sandy river, where the three states - Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia - meet, you will see not only gorgeous scenery, but also, sadly, interspersed areas of trash.

Tires, plastic jugs, plastic bags, diapers, soda cans, appliances, lumber, and more discarded items bear evidence to our wastefulness and slothful ways.

The Big Sandy River Basin Coalition and Pike County PRIDE are co-sponsoring the "Tug Fork Clean-up" campaign that will take place on Saturday, October 20, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Citizens will meet at the Kentucky/Virginia/West Virginia junction (access from Wharneliff, W.Va.).

The Big Sandy River Basin Coalition represents the union of residents of the three states that are drained by the historic border river - people who want to protect the river and its tributaries from environmental damage and to preserve and promote the natural beauty of the region. Pike County PRIDE is the local arm of the clean-up initiative started by Kentucky Congressman Hal Rogers and Natural Resources Secretary James Bickford.

Join in to help clear away the unsightly debris that has become concentrated due to recent summer flooding. Help restore this glorious fork of the Big Sandy to its natural beauty.

EASTERN – The successful cleanup of 32% of the total dumps in a 40 county region of Southeastern Kentucky reveals the efforts of 53,639 volunteers who are working together to take personal responsibility in a desirable environment, (PRIDE).

PRIDE compiled a summary of the education and clean up programs funded through grants from the U.S. Department of Commerce, and the the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration totaling $53,846,349.

Additionally, Congressman Rogers secured $13 million in Corps of Engineers funds and $31 million in EPA funds to address wastewater problems.

The PRIDE initiative started in 1997 and was backed by Congressman Rogers and Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet Secretary James Bickford.

The following report lists the accomplishments of the PRIDE program:

Cleanup Summary:

- 53,639 volunteers worked 178,516 hours to cleanup 212 streams, and 2,296 roadways.
- They collected 59,334 white appliances, 159,957 bags of trash, 1,028 tons of scrap metal, and over 541,156 tires.

Straight Pipe Cleanup

- 36,319 straight pipes and failing septic systems were mapped in the 40-county PRIDE area.

- PRIDE loans total over $8 million to cover 3,045 household septic tanks and city-sewage hook-ups.

- $13 million from the Corps of Engineers' funds target 531 projects (sewage treatment lines, innovative projects), which will affect over 6,400 households.

- $31 million EPA funds earmarked for sewage treatment plants and line extensions, which will affect over 5,500 households.

- The wastewater treatment program will provide $16 million for sewage treatment.

- 15,005 total homes affected when projects are complete, which comprises 41% of total straight pipes

Environmental Education Grant Summary:

- 313 education grants totaling $1.3 million reached over 247,000 students.

- Projects included were 173 outdoor classrooms, 20 school recycling projects, 7 environmental learning systems, (Project Globe), 10 enviroscope learning tools, 19 nature trails, 32 greenhouses, a recycling robot, and teching resources.

Project Clean Streams Summary:

- Over 170 teachers and over 13,976 students conducted field chemistry tests; biomonitoring and collected fecal coliform samples.

Community Grant Summary:

'Colgate Youth for America' campaign

Local clubs and troops of six of the largest national youth organizations are invited to enter their best community service projects as part of the 29th annual "Colgate Youth for America" campaign. Colgate-Palmolive Company presents cash awards of up to $2,000 for the most creative and best-executed projects by local units of Camp Fire USA, Boys & Girls Clubs of America, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of the USA, Girls Incorporated, and National 4-H Council—organizations representing 13 million children across America.

Local club and troop community service programs running between March 1, 2001, and March 1, 2002, are eligible to win one of more than 315 cash awards.

Last year's top winners reflect the ingenuity and resourcefulness of today's kids:

■ Top Camp Fire groups included the Grand Prize "Best of All Entries" winners from Florida that set out on a week-long road trip performing difficult service work throughout the state; a group from Oregon that donated their own hair for wigs for child cancer patients; and a Washington state group that collected winter clothing and accessories for needy school-children.

■ Boys & Girls Club winners included a club from Washington state that created and hosted web sites for non-profit organizations; a Colorado club that planted a community vegetable garden that now meets the needs of a local food bank; and a North Carolina club that provided free yard work and other services to seniors.

■ Local Boy Scout winners included a troop from Ohio that hosted and subsidized an outdoor summer camp for troubled youth; a Pennsylvania troop that raised money for a Mobile Police Automatic External Defibrillator; and a Cub Scout pack from Illinois that adopted and helped fill the needs of their local food pantry.

■ Local Girl Scout winners included a troop from Kentucky that helped recruit new foster families for children; a Virginia troop that implemented a weekend bag-lunch program at a shelter that previously only provided weekday service; and a Minnesota troop whose members mentored younger students about peer issues.

■ Local Girls Incorporated winners included a unit from New Hampshire that designed and built a community playground; a unit from Massachusetts whose members taught senior citizens computer skills; and a North Carolina unit that supported a cross-cultural education program by hosting Japanese students.

Details about these to-winning programs can be found online at www.colgate.com within the "Colgate Cares" section of the web site.

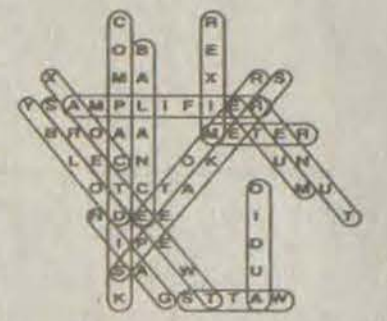

"By brining these exceptional young people into the spotlight, Colgate Youth for America hopes to inspire others like them to make a difference in their own communities," says Ian Cook—EVP and president of Colgate-Palmolive North America and Executive Advisor to the Youth for America program.

To date, Colgate-Palmolive Company has awarded nearly $6 million to America's children through Colgate Youth for America. The campaign, initiated in 1972 to encourage social responsibility, is now the longest-running corporate-sponsored program for young people. Colgate Youth for America has been honored by The White House under the last five administrations; has received a Freedoms Foundation Award; is included in The Points of Light Foundation and Volunteer Center National Network; and is praised annually by members of Congress, governors and mayors across the nation.

Entry forms are now available through regional offices of the six national organizations, or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Colgate Youth for America Campaign, P.O. Box 1058, FDR Station, New York 10150-1058. Entry forms and more information about past winners can also be found online at www.colgate.com. Entries must be postmarked by March 15, 2002.

Pregnancy and Infant Loss Remembrance Day, Oct. 15

Too many parents grieve in silence when suffering a pregnancy or infant loss. 983,000 babies died in 1996 from miscarriage or stillbirth. In 1995, 15.7% of pregnancies ended in fetal demise (miscarriage or stillbirth). These statistics do not include neonatal loss, SIDS, or other causes. (Center for Disease Control Trends in Pregnancies and Pregnancy Rates by Outcome Vital Health Stat (21) 56 - updated March, 2001.) Across the country grieving parents are uniting to achieve a Pregnancy and Infant Loss Remembrance Day. These volunteers are led by Robyn Bear, of "Pain, Heartache, and Hope," Lisa Brown, of "WeHOPE," and Tammy Novak, of "Angel Babies Forever Loved, Inc." Each state has a representative who has written to his/her governor asking for a proclamation to recognize this day. Currently, the following states have signed or agreed to sign, by October 15: Alabama, Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, Hawaii, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota,

Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, leader Dick Arney (Texas) presented the resolution to Congress in a moving and emotional tribute to bereaved parents around the world.

The purpose of the Pregnancy and Infant Loss Remembrance Day is to promote support, education, and awareness for grieving parents. The goal is to help these families, their friends and loved ones relate to their loss, know what to say or do (or not say or not do), and to help families live with their loss, not "get over" their loss. We ask everyone in all time zones, worldwide, to join us in a candle lighting ceremony at 7 p.m.

Locally, there will be a public candlelighting ceremony to be held on Monday, October 15, at 7 p.m., on Front Street, across from the Irene Cole First Baptist Church, in Prestonsburg. For more information about the candlelighting ceremony, please call Jeanie O'Bryan at (606) 297-5343, or Donell Murray, at (606) 874-2782. Anyone who has been touched by the tragic loss of a child through pregnancy loss, or in the precious few months after birth, is invited to attend this special ceremony.

God's under the bed

AUTHOR UNKNOWN

My brother Kevin thinks God lives under his bed. At least that's what I heard him say one night. He was praying out loud in his dark bedroom, and I stopped outside his closed door to listen.

"Are you there, God?" he said. "Where are you? Oh, I see. Under the bed."

I giggled softly and tiptoed off to my own room. Kevin's unique perspectives are often a source of amusement.

But that night something else lingered long after the humor. I realized for the first time the very different world Kevin lives in. He was born 30 years ago, mentally disabled as a result of difficulties during labor. Apart from his size (he's 6-foot-2), there are few ways in which he is an adult. He reasons and communicates with the capabilities of a 7-year-old, and he always will.

He will probably always believe that God lives under his bed, that Santa Claus is the one who fills the space under our tree every Christmas, and that airplanes stay up in the sky because angels carry them.

I remember wondering if Kevin realizes he is different. Is he ever dissatisfied with his monotonous life? Up before dawn each day, off to work at a workshop for the disabled, home to walk our cocker spaniel, returning to eat his favorite macaroni-and-cheese for dinner, and later to bed.

The only variation in the entire scheme are laundry days, when he hovers excitedly over the washing machine like a mother with her newborn child.

He does not seem dissatisfied. He lopes out to the bus every morning at 7:05, eager for a day of simple work. He wrings his hands excitedly while the water boils on the stove before dinner, and he stays up late twice a week to gather our dirty laundry for his next day's laundry chores.

And Saturdays-oh, the bliss of Saturdays!

That's the day my dad takes Kevin to the airport to have a soft drink, watch the planes land, and speculate loudly on the destination of each passenger inside. "That one's goin' to Chi-car-go!" Kevin shouts as he claps his hands.

His anticipation is so great he can hardly sleep on Friday nights.

I don't think Kevin knows anything exists outside his world of daily rituals and weekend field trips. He doesn't know what it means to be discontent. His life is simple. He will never know the entanglements of wealth or power, and he does not care what brand of clothing he wears or what kind of food he eats. He recognizes no differences in people, treating each person as an equal and a friend. His needs have always been met, and he never worries that one day they may not be. His hands are diligent. Kevin is never so happy as when he is working.

When he unloads the dishwasher or vacuums the carpet, his heart is completely in it. He does not shrink from a job when it is begun, and he does not leave a job until it is finished. But when his tasks are done, Kevin knows how to relax.

He is not obsessed with his work or the work of others. His heart is pure. He still believes everyone tells the truth, promises must be kept, and when you are wrong, you apologize instead of argue. Free from pride and unconcerned with appearances, Kevin is not afraid to cry when he is hurt, angry or sorry. He is always transparent, always sincere.

And he trusts God.

Not confined by intellectual reasoning, when he comes to Christ, he comes as a child. Kevin seems to know God-to really be friends with Him in a way that is difficult for an "educated" person to grasp. God seems like his closest companion. In my moments of doubt and frustrations with my Christianity, I envy the security Kevin has in his simple faith. It is then that I am most willing to admit that he has some divine knowledge that rises above my mortal questions. It is then I realize that perhaps he is not the one with the handicap-I am. My obligations, my fear, my pride, my circumstances-they all become disabilities when I do not submit them to Christ. Who knows if Kevin comprehends things I can never learn?

After all, he has spent his whole life in that kind of innocence, praying after dark and soaking up the goodness and love of the Lord.

And one day, when the mysteries of heaven are opened, and we are all amazed at how close God really is to our hearts, I'll realize that God heard the simple prayers of a boy who believed that God lived under his bed. Kevin won't be surprised at all.

NAIA NAIA National Convention

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

KANSAS CITY - The 61st Annual NAIA Convention will return to its roots - where it all began! To be held in conjunction with the 2002 Division I Men's Basketball National Championship, the convention, originally scheduled for September 15-18, 2001 in St. Louis, has been rescheduled for March 17-19, 2002 at the Downtown Marriott in Kansas City, Missouri.

Most of the convention's meetings will be held in the recently renovated Muehlebach Tower, now a part of the Marriott complex. Conventioneers will enjoy the ambiance and grandeur of this historic hotel as well as its convenience to Municipal Auditorium where the NAIA basketball championship will return after a 27-year hiatus. NAIA basketball national championships were played in Municipal Auditorium from 1938 to 1974 and the first NAIA convention was held in March 1940 at the Phillips Hotel, located directly across the street from the Muehlebach in downtown Kansas City.

Conventioneers are encouraged to plan their arrival for Saturday, March 16th, to enjoy some exciting NAIA quarterfinal basketball at Municipal Auditorium. In a departure from the usual slate of Saturday meetings, a full convention schedule will begin Sunday morning, March 17, 2002. Following the tradi-

Pro Wrestling AWF to return to Pike County

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PHYLLIS - The Appalachian Wrestling Federation pro wrestling event scheduled for Saturday, November 3, in the Pike County community of Phyllis is shaping up to be one tremendous night of pro wrestling.

Already scheduled to appear are "Mean" Mark Wolfe, Bobby Storm, Sledge, "Bad Boy" Eddie T., J.T. Funk

There will also be a battle between two hometown guys as B.J. the D.J. takes on his former tag team partner King Kobra.

Kobra turned his back on his fans and tag team partner in Feds Creek, back in September. The D.J. is hoping to get a little revenge in Phyllis, Kentucky.

Also, special referee for the evening is Phyllis' own C.J. Tomlin.

More wrestlers are expected to be added in the near future.

MLB.com launches Kids Dugout

MLB Advanced Media, L.P. (MLBAM) the interactive media and Internet company of Major League Baseball has announced the launch of its new interactive kids section of MLB.com, the official league website.

"Kids Dugout," with a target audience of 4 to 12-year-olds, offers youngsters a wide array of baseball related activities including games, player interviews, baseball tips from the pros, toys and MLB stuff, video, trivia and community activities.

"Going to a baseball game is the best form of family entertainment," said Bob Bowman, CEO of MLBAM. "With the addition of 'Kids Dugout' we've tried to create a similar feeling on our site."

The new section includes:

■ Games - offering a number of fun and exciting kids' games including a team mascot coloring book, Memory Tester, Baseball Pinball and Digital Paintbox;

■ Interviews - "Dugout Chatter" takes youngsters behind the scenes with their favorite player. "Ask Baseball" gives young fans the opportunity to ask all the baseball questions they want;

■ Tips From the Pros - offers helpful hints from base-

EASTERN - County rivals. The Battle of the Beavers. Bragging rights. The South Floyd Raiders, under second-year coach Nathan Jones, scored a 30-22 victory over county rival Allen Central in the annual Red, White and Blue Bowl on Friday Night in Eastern. It was also Senior Night for the host Rebels.

For South Floyd, it's their third win of the year, opposed to five losses. Allen Central drops to 2-6. For South Floyd's Jones, it is his second win over Allen Central in as many tries. First-year Rebel coach Robert Mayton loses his first game to South Floyd with the eight-point setback.

Allen Central kicked off to South Floyd to begin the game and came up successful as the Raiders could not handle the football. Allen Central recovered the football and attempted to score. Senior Tight end Robert Fitzpatrick hauled in an Alex Patton-thrown for a nine-yard reception. The Rebels had a first and eight situation from the South Floyd eight-yard line, but failed to score.

Letcher Lady Eagles take 32nd District volleyball title

by TONY McGUIRE
SPORTS WRITER

The Letcher Lady Eagles captured the 32nd district volleyball title this week in convincing fashion. The Lady Eagles flew through the competition without having to play a three game match in the tournament.

In fact, only one team, the Perry Central Lady Commodores (tournament runners up) scored in double figures against the Lady Eagles.

Letcher started the tournament with a big win over the Leslie County Lady Eagles. They won the first game by the score of 15-3, and the second in a 15-0 shutout. The Lady Eagles guaranteed themselves a spot in the championship round with a win over the Hazard Lady Bulldogs. Letcher closed out that match with 15-7 and 15-8 games.

To take the championship, the Lady Eagles had to defeat the Lady

Castrol signs Operation Bass sponsorship

MINNEAPOLIS — Castrol, the world's leading lubrication specialist, and Operation Bass Inc. jointly announced a new multi-year sponsorship agreement that makes Castrol the official motor oil and cleaner of Operation Bass' industry leading bass and walleye fishing tournament programs. Starting in 2002, Castrol will put a four-person fishing team on the water in specially designed Castrol Ranger boats. The team will also sport distinctive Chevy Silverado tow vehicles used during Wal-Mart FLW Tour competitions featuring the world's best anglers and the sport's richest awards. Through this sponsorship, which includes support of the EverStart Series, Wal-Mart Bass Fishing League, Wal-Mart RCL Walleye Circuit and Texas Tournament Trail, Castrol is helping to fuel the nation's passion for fishing with 169 tournaments that meet every skill level from weekend warriors to world championship contenders.

"The opportunities here are enormous," said Keith Conlon, senior product manager for Castrol. "There are 55 million people who fish each year. And many of them are do-it-yourselfers or performance-minded enthusiasts who insist on Castrol quality when changing their oil or having their vehicles professionally serviced."

Castrol will be featured along with other Operation Bass sponsors on the Wal-Mart FLW Tour television program, which features 24 weeks of live broadcasts to more than 84 million households on PAX TV during the 2002 season—a first for the sport. The program will also feature a guaranteed airtime of 3 p.m. (EST) on Saturdays over its entire 27-week schedule. Additionally, Castrol's sponsorship includes signage at tourna-

Commodores of Perry Central in consecutive games. They blew through the first match 15-6 and 15-1. It looked as if they would do the same in the second meeting when they jumped out to a 13-0 lead in the first game, but Perry Central came back to make it close at 15-10. The run game the Lady Commodores confidence in the second game, forcing the Lady Eagles to work hard for the win.

In the second game, the Lady Commodores were able to hold the lead on several occasions. The lead went back and forth through several services until the score was tied at 12. At that point the front line for the Lady Eagles stepped up (maybe it would be better said, jumped up) and closed out the game with a stellar performance at the net. The Lady Eagles will be defending their 8th Region title next week at Whitesburg High School.

Betsy Layne hosting magic show to help girls' basketball

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES

Betsy Layne High School has found a new way to make money for their kids — with magic.

On October 19, at 8 p.m. in the D.W. Howard Field House at Betsy Layne Elementary International Magic Champions Larry Volz and Wendy will entertain family audience with their world-renowned illusion show. And a large percentage of the profits will go directly to Betsy Layne High School for the kids! Proceeds will go to the BLHS girls' basketball program to help purchase equipment for the upcoming season.

"The most exciting thing about this kind of fundraising program is that, unlike candy or other product sales, it brings kids, their families, parents and even whole communities together for a really fun shared experience," says Larry Volz (illusionist and CEO of Amazing Fundraising). "And it is a whole lot safer than kids selling door to door."

Families that come to enjoy the show can expect to see a 90-minute grand illusion show filled with spectacle as music and pyrotechnics accentuate the wonder and exotic birds appear and suddenly fly so close you could reach up and touch them.

Unlike watching these illusionists on television — you can actually touch and inspect the five sets of shackles in which Volz is bound. As he enters a trunk that levitates mysteriously twelve feet into the air there are no questions about camera tricks.

Volz has even been known to levitate Wendy on a beam of light. You might see him impale her with flaming spears coming at her from every conceivable direction. Wendy could even suddenly materialize from a flame just a few feet in front of your nose. He could steal you watch; borrow a dollar from you only to transform it into a one hundred dollar bill; or ask you to hold Wendy's ankles down to a table as he cuts her in two!

It will be an evening filled with surprises and astonishment and it's all for a great cause.

You can purchase tickets at the door, beginning an hour before the show at the rate of $10 for adults, $5 for kids and $30 for an entire family (up to 2 adults, 4 kids).

Larry Volz and Wendy were the 2000 International Magic Champions and were honored with The People's Choice Award by the largest and most respected magic organization in the world — the International Brotherhood of Magicians. That same year, The Society of American Magicians rated them as one of the top six stage magic acts in America. They have been regulars on all of the major cruise lines for almost a decade including the official cruise line of Walt Disney World. They are respected by their peers as authors, inventors and master animal trainers.

Volz is a much sought-after comedy hypnotists and a favorite among college audiences across America.

Volz and Wendy have amazed over a million people worldwide in 18 different countries. They've delighted audiences on such prestigious stages as the famed Magic Castle in Hollywood, California, Shea's Buffalo, Magic Island Houston, The Wells Theater and Rockefeller's Williamsburg Theatre where they headlined in their own full evening show for two years and rave reviews.

The two have also been featured on television and film in The Flock, The Circle of Friends Telethon, Fox TV's Dr. Madblood's Movie, and syndicated NBC and ABC new features when Volz acquired the distinction of being the only person to ever escape from a straight jacket while falling thirteen stories, while Wendy received the distinction of being the only woman willing to put up with that kind of silliness.

For more information on the upcoming show, call 606/478-9138.

Lady Cards ranked 18th in preseason

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LOUISVILLE — The University of Louisville women's basketball team earned a preseason ranking of No. 18 by Basketball News, marking its highest preseason ranking in school history. Head coach Martin Clapp returns all five starters from last season's Conference USA Championship team.

Highlighting the returnees are three perimeter players Sara Nord, Kara Kessans and Marju Sober. Nord, a freshman All-American, earned first team all-conference honors and led the league in assists, averaging 7.7 per game. Kessans has been a solid performer for the Cards the last three seasons. She finished third in scoring last season, averaging 12.4 points per game. Sober earned second team all-conference honors. She led the team in scoring with 14.2 points per game.

The frontcourt returns senior center Shamika Ingram. Ingram led the team in rebounding with 6.6 boards per game and was ranked fourth in scoring with 8.1 points per game. Junior Tiana Ford also returns as a solid performer in the middle, averaging 6.0 points and 4.9 rebounds per game.

Unlike last season the Cardinals will have added depth to the front court with the additions of junior college transfer Amanda Wolke and transfer LaKisha Hoffman. Wolke was ranked as the No. 2 Junior College player by Blue Star and averaged 14.7 points and 8.3 rebounds per game last season. Hoffman joins the team after sitting out last season per NCAA transfer rules. She led Western Illinois in rebounding and scoring her sophomore year with 12.4 points and 7.4 rebounds per game.

Louisville will host its first exhibition game on Oct. 31 against Athletes in Action at 6:00 p.m. in Freedom Hall. The game is the first game of a doubleheader with the men.

this fall in the NAIA Coaches polls, Brevard College (N.C.), finished 4th at the 2000 national meet, Cumberland College (Ky.) are expected to vie for top honors.

Individually, Brevard's Alexis Sharangabo, defending NAIA cross country national champion, is the class of the men's field. Sharangabo, a Sydney 2000 Track & Field Olympian, is having a stellar 2001 cross country campaign. Malone's Nate Bail will be the highest returning runner from last year's Southeastern Classic held in Rome, Ga.

The women's race stacks up as an evenly matched affair with several squads vying for the title. Indiana Wesleyan, pre-season ranked No. 1 and top 5 team much of this season in the NAIA National polls, Malone College (Ohio), 1999 NAIA national championship team and ranked in the top 10 in the polls, and Huntington College (Ind.), perennial NAIA power and currently ranked No. 15 in the polls, will battle for the top team honors.

The women's individual race showcases last years Southeastern Classic runner-up finisher, Robin Lawhorn, who is a local post-collegiate club runner (the southeastern classic is like most college cross country meet that allow clubs to compete in the same races as the collegiate athletes). The top collegiate athlete expected to contend is Belmont University (Tenn.) Keely Weaver. Weaver was the 1999 Southeastern Classic Champion and finished third in 2000. Marshall men's basketball adds home game with Arkansas-Monticello

Marshall University head basketball coach Greg White announced Tuesday that the Thundering Herd has added an additional home game for the 2001-2002 season. Marshall will play Arkansas-Monticello Wednesday, November 28 in the Cam Henderson Center at 7:30 p.m.

"With the NABC Classic in Lexington being an exempt tournament, we were allowed an additional game on our schedule and we wanted to take advantage of it," said White. "This game is a good fit for both of us and I appreciate coach Newell's willingness to play."

According to Marshall ticket manager Michael Carpenter, the UA-Monticello game is included in the season ticket package and season ticket prices are remaining the same.

UA-Monticello is an NCAA Division II school located in Monticello, Arkansas. First year head coach Mike Newell inherits a program that posted a 20-8 overall record last season. This season, UA-Monticello will open with seven consecutive games against Division-I competition. In addition to the Herd, the Boll Weevil's will face UTEP, Providence, TCU, Oklahoma State, Louisiana Tech, and West Virginia.

UAM program, Mike Newell was head coach at Southern University at Shreveport-Bossier from 1996-2000 and spent last season as a regional scout for the Los Angeles Clippers. Newell coached at the University of Ark.-Little Rock from 1984 to 1990, guiding the Trojans to a record of 133-60 with three appearances in the NCAA Tournament and two trips to the NIT. The most memorable moment of Newell's tenure at UALR may have come in the 1986 NCAA tournament when the Trojans upset 10th-ranked Notre Dame in the first round before losing in two overtimes to North Carolina State.

In a related note, the renewal deadline for Marshall basketball season ticket holders is Wednesday, October 10. Marshall's home schedule features 13 games, including dates with Atlantic-10 member Massachusetts and Mid-American Conference powers Kent State, Ohio, Miami, and Central Michigan.

ments, creation of a Castrol angler awards program, advertisements in Bass Fishing magazine, inclusion in Operation Bass promotional and public relations materials, and prominence on our Web sites.

Significantly, Castrol will also be able to showcase its products in the Family Fun Zone set up in the Wal-Mart parking lot during each FLW Tour event. Each Fun Zone is open free to the public and features interactive games and product displays that help sponsor companies build brand awareness and loyalty with fishing's large fan base.

"Fishing is more popular than baseball, basketball, football, golf and tennis. It's a family-oriented activity that people from all walks of life can enjoy," said Irwin L. Jacobs, chairman of Operation Bass. "More than any other sport, fishing is the nation's true national pastime. And we are proud to introduce Castrol to our loyal family of sponsors. Castrol is a global leader in the lubricant category with premium brands that people trust."

Castrol has long been the lubricant of choice for maximum protection. In fact, the land speed record has been broken 21 times by vehicles using Castrol lubricants, most recently in 1997 by Andy Green and his 763 mph jet-powered ThrustSSC. Today the company continues its motorsports tradition as a sponsor of 10-time National Hot Rod Association champion John Force and the NHRA Junior Drag Racing League. Globally, Castrol is also involved in Formula One racing, World Superbike competition and American Motocross Association events.

Castrol offers several premium products including Castrol GTX, a conventional oil that provides maximum protection against viscosity and thermal breakdown; Castrol Syntec blend, a semi-synthetic that provides added protection under severe driving conditions; and Castrol Syntec, a full synthetic that is engineered to provide the ultimate in engine protection and performance even under demanding conditions. In the marine category, Castrol Super Outboard Oil is formulated for today's high-tech engines and helps minimize spark plug fouling and carbon deposit build-up in exhaust ports. Castrol Super Clean and its full line of cleaning/care products are ideal for the toughest tasks.

Kentucky projected 2002 National Champs

TIMES STAFF REPORT

Athlon Sports magazine has picked the Kentucky Wildcats to win the NCAA Championship in Atlanta, Ga., next April. The publication's college basketball preview, on stands now, selected Kentucky to come out of a Final Four crew of Duke, Illinois and Southeastern Conference-rival Florida.

The magazine also selected forward Tayshaun Prince as a first-team All-American. Prince, the only senior on the team, joins Stanford's Casey Jacobsen, Florida's Brett Nelson, Illinois'

Frank Williams and Duke's Jason Williams. Junior guard Keith Bogans earned honorable mention.

Athlon also picked the Wildcats to finish first in the Eastern division of the SEC with Prince repeating as Best Player and first-team All-SEC awards. Bogans was selected to the second team, while Coach Tubby Smith was deemed the best coach in the league. Sophomore guard Cliff Hawkins earned Best Defender honors, while UK's Rupp Arena was chosen as the toughest place in the conference to play.

Youth basketball leagues up and running

MISSION Use the resources of the NBA and WNBA to serve youth basketball leagues through programs and initiatives for players, parents, coaches and administrators.

FREE MEMBERSHIP, APPLY NOW

(Application for League Administrators Only) Simply submit your Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA League Membership Application (no fee required) and proof of league insurance coverage (see application for details). Once your league has been accepted for membership activation materials with instructions for obtaining the components of the 2001-2002 League Support Program, provided free to all players, parents and coaches.

ATTENTION LEAGUE ADMINISTRATOR

Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA League Sports Programs are designed to enhance the recreational youth basketball experience, not to replace it or compete with it. The 2001-2002 League Support Program will feature valuable tools and resources and a comprehensive curriculum which will be the foundation of the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA initiative. This one-of-a-kind series of informational guides and booklets addresses the youth sports landscape from the perspective of coaches, player and parents. The manuals will be written by Rick Wolff, nationally-recognized youth sports expert, author and radio show host.

EVERYONE'S ELIGIBLE,

WINTER TIP OFF

Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA league members are available to recreational youth basketball leagues playing in the 2001-2002 winter season. Boys, girls and co-ed leagues are welcome, with players ranging from 5-14 years old.

Memberships are limited, so sign up early.

COMPLIMENTARY MAGAZINE

Every Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA member administrator, head coach and player will receive a free copy of the annual Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA magazine, with news and updates on member leagues and the world of youth basketball.

LEAGUE DIRECTOR SHIRT

In recognition of membership, each league administrator will receive an official Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA shirt.

2001-2002 LEAGUE SUPPORT PROGRAM

NBA and WNBA personalities, youth sports authorities from Gatorade and Nike, and representatives from the Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA National Youth Basketball Partnership will contribute to this uniquely integrated basketball curriculum for players, parents and coaches. All Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA program materials and resources are designed to enhance and insure a positive participation experience.

HEAD COACH KIT

Each Head Coach will receive:

- 36-page Coaching Manual featuring tips and suggestions from the first practice to the final game
Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA dry erase clipboard and pen with full-court diagram
Jr. NBA/Jr. WNBA whistle with lanyard

PARENT GUIDEBOOK

Families of players will receive:

- 16-page Parent Guidebook with information on how to contribute positively to a player's youth basketball experience and ideas for interacting with coaches, administrators and fellow parents.

PLAYER PACKET

Every Player will receive:

- 16-page Player Handbook covering topics from skills to sportsmanship (ages 8-14)
16-page Young Player Handbook offering simple messages with photos promoting basketball as a fun activity (ages 5-7)

the first season after replacing his father, Don, who retired after 26 seasons on the Transy bench.

He led the Pioneers to a 27-2 record last year, a No. 1 national ranking, and into the NAIA national tournament.

Transy loses seven of its top eight players from that squad, but added four freshmen and two transfers: Jimmy Kosieniak, a Lexington Dunbar product who played at Rose-Hulman, and Beau Powers, a Meade County graduate who played for the Air Force Academy.

The Pioneers open with Earlham on Nov. 16 at Lexington Catholic High School (the new Beck Recreation and Athletic Center is expected to be ready in January) in the tip-off tournament. The other two teams participating are Savannah College of Art and Design and DePauw. The event continues on Nov. 17.

In addition to the conference schedule, Transy will meet state foes Berea, Asbury, Centre, Thomas More, and Eastern Kentucky. The matchup with the Ohio Valley Conference Colonels is set for Dec. 15 in Richmond.

Transy's women finished 17-9 last year and return four starters and nine letterwinners. In addition, head coach Mark Turner added seven freshmen and Nikki Young, a junior transfer from Kentucky. The Pioneers meet Lindsey Wilson on Nov. 19 at Lexington Catholic. Other state schools on the schedule include Midway, Alice Lloyd, Berea, Union, and Thomas More.

The Transy men were picked to finish fifth in the HCAC preseason poll while the women were chosen fourth in a vote of league coaches.

Bowl

The visiting Raiders got their first score of the game when quarterback Josh Johnson found receiver Jordan Curry for a 36-yard touchdown strike. Jeremy Tackett hauled the ball into the endzone for the conversion score to put South Floyd up 8-0 at the 5:02 mark of the first quarter.

Rain set in at the end of the first quarter, but neither team seemed to mind, especially the Raiders, as they dominated the majority of the first half.

Allen Central junior James Prater got the Rebels on the scoreboard with 1:50 left in the first period. The Central conversion failed and gave way to another Johnson-Curry score, this one a 14-6 score with 17.8 ticks left in the first period. Johnson found Jeremy Tackett for the conversion pass and South Floyd led 16-6 till midway through the second stanza when Brandon Little scored a 13-yard touchdown. McCray broke a tackle to make good on the conversion run, giving South Floyd a 24-6 advantage at the half.

It took host Allen Central just one minute, 15 seconds to score in the third quarter. A two-point conversion made it a 24-14 game, still in South Floyd's favor.

McCray answered the Allen Central score for South Floyd by finding paydirt. Leading 30-16 South Floyd missed a vital two-point conversion.

Burly Allen Central fullback D.J. Hoover came to the call with a 5-yard touchdown at the 3:23 mark of the third period. Prater added a crucial conversion run to make it 30-22.

The two teams swapped possession throughout the fourth quarter. The Rebels got the ball back at the 3:42 mark of the fourth quarter. With 1:24 left Allen Central had a first down situation from the 15-yard line. Going with a no-huddle offense and a third and short from the twelve, Allen Central coaches opted to call a timeout.

Coming out of the timeout, Hammonds was thrown for a loss back to the 17-yard line. With no play calls, much of the clock was gone for the Rebels. On a fourth down, Hoover came up short on the carry, just one yard. South Floyd took over possession of the football and let the clock run out.

Raiders

Central's Mitch Dyer (6-5) ranks just behind Tackett at No. 41. Glasgow point guard Brandon Stockton (5-10) ranks first with Ashland Blazer center Mark Surglaski second. Shelby Valley guard Jeremy Akers is listed in the Others to Watch category.

Hall ranks 22nd in the Class of 2003 rankings with Fort Thomas Highlands power forward Ross Neltner (6-7) first and Louisville Male forward Mike Bush (6-4) second. Perry County Central's Travis Neace (6-5) and Tewayne Willis (6-0) rank 20th and 25th, respectively. Leslie County point guard Kyle Hoskins (5-8) ranks 24th on the list of 2001-02 juniors.

South Floyd, after having an up and down season of sorts last campaign, gelled at the end of the season and went on to capture district and region championships under Coach Henry Webb.

Webb said Wednesday that his Raiders would begin practice on Monday. The Raiders will practice early during the upcoming week, after school, and the Lady Raiders, also defending 58th District champs, will practice late all this week before switching up the following week.

Gone from this year's edition of the South Floyd boys' basketball team is John Meade. Alice Lloyd College signed Meade last spring. The versatile Meade will suit up as an Eagle this fall.

Included on this year's South Floyd schedule is the Allen Central Panorama, the South Floyd Q95 Classic, Commodore 4 and a tournament, the Westminster Academy National Basketball Classic in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Dec. 18-23, and the always-competitive WYMT Mt. Classic. South Floyd's Senior Night is slated for Feb. 23 when the Raiders host Fleming-Neon.

American Woodmark to open new manufacturing facility in Hazard

HAZARD—Governor Paul Patton, Kentucky Economic Development Secretary Gene Strong and company officials announce the intention of American Woodmark Corporation to open a 220,000 square foot facility on thirty acres in the Coalfields Industrial Park in Hazard. The company will process lumber into hardwood components for kitchen and bath cabinets at this location.

"I want to commend Breathitt,

Harlan, Leslie and Perry counties for the cooperative effort in developing the Coalfields Industrial Park and their work on this project," stated Governor Patton. "The future success of economic development efforts will rely on approaches that rise above political boundaries and help regions, not just individual communities. American Woodmark is a perfect example of Kentuckians overcoming these boundaries for the benefit of all."

A top priority of the Economic Development Cabinet is developing and marketing the regional parks," added Gene Strong. "We feel these will be a catalyst in creating economic development opportunities for citizens in our coal-producing counties. It is gratifying to see a concerted four-county effort in the creation of high quality jobs and enhancements to the quality of life of the entire region."

"We are delighted to announce that Hazard has been selected as the location of our 12th plant, and we are very grateful to the assistance we have received from the state of Kentucky," stated John W. LeVan, vice president of Manufacturing. "This will be our second manufacturing plant in Kentucky, and this new state-of-the-art facility will make a contribution to the local economy and help American Woodmark reach its long-term growth goals."

In 1998, American Woodmark constructed a dimension mill in Wayne County. By the end of 2002, the facility in Wayne County should reach 450 employees, and the capital investments will exceed twenty million dollars. At the new facility in Hazard, they plan to hire 260 employees over the next two to three years. Capital investments at this facility will also exceed twenty million dollars.

It's Your Money

By Jonathan Miller,
KENTUCKY STATE TREASURER

It all began three years ago—just two parents, sitting at the dinner table, grappling with how to pay for our daughters' college education. One political campaign, two legislative sessions and thousands of hours of preparatory work later, the quandary my wife Lisa and I faced is about to be resolved as KAPT, Kentucky's Affordable Prepaid Tuition, becomes a reality.

Effective October 15, thousands of Kentucky families will be able to join us in taking advantage of the opportunity to enroll their kids in KAPT, which will guarantee the cost of tomorrow's tuition at today's lower prices.

The details are as promising as the headline:

■ KAPT guarantees payment of full tuition and fees at any public college or university in Kentucky;

■ Benefits also can be used at private Kentucky colleges and other colleges and universities nationwide;

■ Parents, grandparents or other account-holders can pre-pay tuition in one lump sum, or in manageable monthly payments over the course of several years; and

■ Investments grow completely tax-free.

With budget cuts resulting in tuition rising at higher rates, and with the stock market continuing its downward spiral, KAPT could not come at a better time. The program's guarantee and tax-free status make it a safe and smart investment.

Because we want to give this program the sendoff it deserves, we will launch KAPT amidst much fanfare at a Capitol press conference on Monday, October 15, at 2 p.m. Joining us will be Governor Paul Patton, Senator Mitch McConnell, other elected officials, and dozens of Kentucky children who will share the honor of being the first children in the state to enroll in this program.

There are many other ways to sign up by the December 3 deadline:

■ Visit our continually updated web site www.getKAPT.com and sign up for the program on-line.

■ Call our toll free number 1-800-919-KAPT to receive a hard copy of the enrollment materials in the mail.

■ Be on the lookout for the "Get KAPT Caravan" which will journey to approximately 90 counties across the state.

■ Take note of the enrollment information provided in our ambitious marketing campaign, which is coming to a television, radio and newspaper near you.

On a number of levels, it is profoundly satisfying to think that on October 15, the "secret" to my family's renewed sense of security will be out. For us, the kickoff of KAPT represents far more than a political victory; it is an intensely personal one. For the first time, we can

Hazard hospital employees provide free screenings at community events

The Hazard ARH Regional Medical Center employees have been extremely busy, participating in community events the past several weeks.

Employees participated in "Back to School Health Fairs" at Leslie County and Hazard City Schools.

Several hundred parents and children attended and received free blood pressure screening and free pulse oxidation screenings, along with many free items to take with them.

During the Black Gold Festival,

Hazard ARH sponsored a beautiful booth on Main Street. The patriotic theme included a journal that visitors could write words of encouragement to the New York City Community.

The journal will be forwarded to the Red Cross stationed in New York, along with a donation over $5000 that was collected among the employees and physicians at the Medical Center.

Free screenings that were available at the downtown booth included cholesterol, glucose, blood pressure, pulse oxidation, posture, body fat and grip strength. Numerous pamphlets and free gifts were handed out.

The ARH Medical Center also took part in the Senior Citizens Games and Health Fair recently. Free screenings and free gifts were distributed to those who attended.

The Hazard ARH employees "always enjoy the Senior Citizens events," according to Terry Feltner, the public relations specialist for the ARH Medical Center. Feltner was guest announcer at this year's Senior Citizen Radio Day.

OLOW Hospital awarded accreditation

MARTIN—Our Lady of the Way Hospital has achieved Accreditation without Type I Recommendations from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations as a result of its demonstrated satisfactory compliance with the Joint Commission's nationally recognized health care standards in all performance areas.

Founded in 1951, the Joint Commission is dedicated to continuously improving the safety and quality of the nation's health care through voluntary accreditation.

The Joint Commission's on-site survey of Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Home Health and Clinics, occurred in August. The Laboratory was surveyed in March.

"Above all, the national standards are intended to stimulate continuous, systematic and organization-wide improvement in an organization's performance and the outcomes of care," says Russell P. Massaro, M.D., executive vice-president, accreditation operations,

FYI

"The community should be proud that Our Lady of the Way Hospital is focusing on the most challenging goal—to continuously raise quality to higher levels."

Joint Commission. "The community should be proud that Our Lady of the Way Hospital is focusing on the most challenging goal—to continuously raise quality to higher levels."

Kathy Stumbo, CEO, spoke of her pride in a staff whose members ask what needs to be done to be accredited by the Joint Commission.

"In addition, they appreciate the educational aspect of the survey and the opportunity to interact with the team of surveyors."

She called the accreditation, "proof of an organization-wide commitment to provide quality care on an ongoing basis."

"Our commitment to quality is further demonstrated by our high scores," she says. "The hospital received a score of 98, Home Health received a score of 99, and the lab received a score of 98. "Meeting the standards and achieving excellence is a continuous process. No matter how well we did today, we want to do better tomorrow."

New Mather metals groundbreaking in Franklin

FRANKFORT—Governor Paul E. Patton, Gene Strong, secretary of the Cabinet for Economic Development and company officials, participated in the groundbreaking ceremony, held October 8, for New Mather Metals, Inc. in Franklin. New Mather Metals of Toledo, Ohio, is a subsidiary of NHK, and they have selected Franklin to build a second plant. NHK also has a subsidiary operation (NASCO) in Bowling Green, which produces suspension components.

New Mather manufacturers stabilizes for Toyota, Nissan and potentially Honda. The project represents the creation of 94 jobs with an average wage of $17.50 per hour. They have purchased 30 acres in Simpson County and plan to build a 100,000 SF building. They hope to be operational by December 2002.

"We are pleased to welcome our newest corporate citizen," stated Governor Patton. "This project resulted from hard work on the part of New Mather Metals, the Franklin-Simpson County industrial Foundation and local and state officials. New Mather will be a great asset to the community and will provide good quality jobs."

"Kentucky continues to be recognized as having one of the top business climates in the nation. This, in addition to the fact that we have a workforce that is 13 percent more productive than the national average, makes Kentucky a location of choice," added Secretary Strong.

Other special guests attending the event were State Representative Rob Wilkey; Greg Anderson, president,

New Mather Metals; John Raines, chairman, Franklin-Simpson Industrial Authority; Jim Arnold, mayor of Franklin and Jim Henderson, Simpson County Judge-Executive.

New Mather Metals Inc. has received preliminary approval from the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority (KEDFA) for tax credits under the Kentucky Industrial Development Act (KIDA), an incentive program aimed at increasing manufacturing employment in the Commonwealth.

Gassett appointed KDFWR wildlife division director

FRANKFORT—Dr. Jonathan Gassett has been appointed by Commissioner Tom Bennett as the Director of Wildlife for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR).

A graduate of Kennesaw State University and the University of Georgia at Athens, Gassett has a master's degree in wildlife biology and holds a doctorate in wildlife management.

Gassett began service with the KDFWR in 1999, as Forest Systems Coordinator, which included oversight of the agency's deer, elk and bear programs, among others. Prior to coming to the KDFWR, Gassett was a graduate teaching assistant at the University of Georgia and co-owned a wildlife management consulting business.

Since coming to the KDFWR, Gassett has been instrumental in coordinating the agency's highly acclaimed elk restoration project in southeastern Kentucky, as well as helping mold Kentucky's deer herd into one of the highest quality herds in the United States.

"Gassett brings excellent educational credentials, has strong leadership skills and has a good track record of accomplishments in several of the agency's wildlife programs," said Roy Grimes, KDFWR Deputy Commissioner and immediate

KIRIU USA Corporation locates in Bowling Green creating up to 50 new jobs

BOWLING GREEN—Governor Paul Patton announced that KIRIU USA Corporation would be locating in Bowling Green. KIRIU USA Corporation, a 100 percent-owned subsidiary of KIRIU Corporation in Japan, the second largest automotive brake rotor producer in Japan, will be constructing a 35,000 square foot facility in the South Central Kentucky Industrial Park. KIRIU is an official Nissan supplier in the USA, and currently delivers 100 percent of Nissan and 90 percent of Subaru demand in Japan.

"With our quality workforce and our central location, Kentucky once again has become the location of choice for another world renowned company," said Governor Patton.

KIRIU President Toshio Nakagawa said, "Bowling Green was selected from over 20 sites in Tennessee, Georgia and Kentucky, not only because of its strategic location for the automotive parts supplier, but also because of the very supportive community for new industry and further business development. KIRIU was also attracted because of Western Kentucky University

Kentucky Board of Emergency Medical Services Announce Vice Chair

FRANKFORT—The Kentucky Board of Emergency Medical Services (KBEMS) recently announced the election of Anderson County, Judge Executive, Anthony D. Stratton as vice chair of KBEMS. Judge Stratton has been an active member of the KBEMS since September 2000. Judge Stratton serves as chairman of the budget/finance committee and search committee. Executive Director of the Kentucky Board of Emergency Medical Services, Brian Bishop, said,

"It has been an honor to work with Judge Stratton. His leadership, fiscal management, and knowledge have made him an invaluable member of the Board of Emergency Medical Services committee, while in choosing a vice chair Judge Stratton was the unanimous choice."

Anthony D. Stratton was appointed to the board due to his experience representing county judge/executives operating a licensed Class 1 ground ambulance service.

Mine safety director promotes heightened safety

FRANKFORT—Assistant Secretary of Labor for Mine Safety and Health, Dave D. Lauriski has asked mines managers to have employees take a brief time out, or "stand down for safety," in the wake of a recent upturn in mine accidents.

"We're asking mine managers and foreman to take a brief time out at the beginning of each work shift to discuss the recent accidents," Lauriski said. "We want to reach every miner on every shift in our nation's mines. We've come too far in mine safety to let this turn into a trend."

Lauriski said he was concerned about the recent upsurge in fatal accidents, with four coal mine fatalities during one 10-day period in August, followed by a major fatal explosion in September. In the past week, two fatalities and a very serious injury occurred in metal and nonmetal mining.

"Our hearts grieve for the families of the miners who have lost their lives," Lauriski said. "We will provide all the technical help we can, and we conduct an investigation of each accident to find out what went wrong."

At the same time we're asking each person in the whole mining community to stop, focus on safety, and ask what can they do every day to prevent a tragedy.

MSHA will be mailing out packets of safety information for discussion at mines as well as posting information on the "stand down for safety" page on MSHA's website at www.msha.gov. Information on each mining fatality is available on the MSHA web site under "Fatality Information."

Until the Brookwood, Alabama, explosion, 19 coal miners died on the job so far this year, compared with 29 at the same time last year.

In metal and nonmetal mining, 22 miners lost their lives so far this year, compared with 38 at this time last year.

and the dynamic growth of Bowling Green. Consequently, KIRIU is proud of selecting Bowling Green for its most strategic overseas operations in the world."

"We are excited about KIRIU's decision to locate in Bowling Green and Warren County," said Chamber Chairman Mike Murphy. "In the Summer 2001 edition of "Southern Business & Development," Bowling Green was named one of the South's Best Automotive Suppliers location. Having 62 automotive and truck plants in the South and Midwest within next day delivery proves Bowling Green is an asset to the automotive industry."

KIRIU Corporation, parent company of KIRIU USA, is located in Japan and has a history of nearly 100 years. This project represents an investment of approximately $9 million for the land, building and machine equipment.

KIRIU USA Corporation expects the new Bowling Green facility to be completed by the spring of 2002, with their first delivery of auto brake rotors to Nissan in Smyrna, Tennessee by the end of the summer of 2002. KIRIU USA Corporation also expects to expand its delivery to some American brake system suppliers, like BOSCH, in 2003 onward.

27th annual Celebration of Traditional Music Berea College, Oct. 26-28

BEREA—Musicians from across Appalachia will perform at the 27th Celebration of Traditional Music, October 26-28, at Berea College.

Featuring old-time playing, singing and dancing, the annual event sponsored by the College's Appalachian Center will also feature a symposium on "Fiddle Tunes of the Old Frontier" led by Alan Jabbour, musicologist, fiddler and founding director of the American Folklife Center in

FYI

The celebration is made possible in part by a grant from the Kentucky Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts. For a complete schedule, contact Berea's Appalachian Center at 606-985-3140, or e-mail the Library of Congress.

Friday and Saturday evening concerts featuring festival musicians are key events of the weekend. Both concerts are scheduled for 7:30 p.m., in Phelps-Stokes Chapel.

Performers include Letcher County banjo master Lee Sexton, a recipient of the Governor's Award for Lifetime Achievement in the Arts; traditional singer Ginny Hawker; duo Donovan Cain, of Knox County and fiddler Tricia Kilby of Ashe County, North Carolina; Ed Cabbell of Morgantown, West Virginia; the Haywood County Ramblers, a North Carolina stringband; sister-trio the Dowden Sisters from Leister, North Carolina; The Last Old Man (Larry Rader, Tracy Schwarz and Jim Costa), master musicians from West Virginia; Mary Greene, Cecil Gurganus and Ora Watson of western North Carolina; and blues guitarist Sparky Rucker from northwest, Tennessee. Kentucky fiddler Art Stamper, who was scheduled to perform at the Celebration, will not be appearing, due to illness.

Square dancing, with music by the Haywood County Ramblers, will follow Friday's concert and begin at approximately 10 p.m. in the Woods-Penniman Commons. Following Saturday's concert, a contra dance is scheduled at the Acton Folk Center.

Activities on Saturday are

Marshall University Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of 2001

HUNTINGTON—The Marshall University Symphony Orchestra will present its first concert of the 2001-2002 season, Tuesday, October 23, 2001. The concert will begin at 8 p.m., and will take place in the Smith Recital Hall on the University campus. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge and no tickets are required. Parking will be available on the north side of Third Avenue, opposite the Music Hall.

This all-orchestral concert will be under the direction of Paul Balshaw and will feature four compositions. The program will open with the "Introduction to Act III" from the oratorio "Solomon" by George Frideric Handel, which describes the entrance of the Queen of Sheba. The orchestra will then perform "Praeludium," by Finnish composer Armas Jaernefeldt. The first half of the concert will conclude

by LINDA LYON

PAINTSVILLE—It was wonderful to see the many alumni who came by to tell us when they attended Mayo and how much it meant to them. It warmed my heart to hear someone say, "I graduated from Mayo in 1950 and it changed my life forever." There were many comments similar to that and this short column cannot contain them all. I hear from people all of the time who attended the school and who are thankful for the education they received. That is what we are all about—changing lives. Making it better for each person who comes through our school to earn a living, be a success and carve out a life for themselves and their families.

I want to answer some of the questions we got at the Mayo booth this weekend. Yes, now is the time to apply for admission to classes starting in January 2002. Yes, now is the time to apply for financial aid. You can go to the Mayo home page (www.mayotech.org) and file the FAFSA application. Complete it online and then come see us. That is a good way to get started on financial aid. Yes, now is the time to sit down with a counselor and discuss your educational goals. In fact it is a great time to do that. The pressure of registration is off and there is more time to help you with your plans. Come see us at the main campus. We want to talk to you in person.

Community college classes. You can mix them or take them separately. It all depends on your goals and your degree plans. A counselor can help you sort that out. Yes, many of the classes you take can transfer to colleges of your choice. We can discuss that with you in a personal interview. Yes you can find an application online. Look at the Mayo website. You will find a full application there that you can print, complete and mail or bring in. You will also find an online application that can be completed as a starter. You will then be notified as to what you need to do to complete the application process.

Community leaders attended a teleconference at Hazard Community College October 5, when Governor Patton announced a $20.0 million campaign to increase college enrollments from 15,000 to 300,000 in two decades.

Hazard Community College merges with Hazard Technical College

HAZARD—The Board of Regents of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System took action September 28 to enhance collaboration between colleges in two districts in Eastern Kentucky - Southeast and Kentucky River.

"The goal for KCTCS established in the Postsecondary Education Improvement Act of 1997 was to create a comprehensive community and technical college system," said Michael B. McCall, KCTCS president.

"I applaud these colleges' efforts toward consolidating, which supports achieving that goal."

Meeting at Mayo Technical College, the regents approved two separate but similar resolutions endorsing consolidations of colleges in the Southeast and Kentucky River Community and Technical College districts.

The Kentucky River district includes Hazard Community College and Hazard Technical College. The resolutions granted the districts the authority to pursue single accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS).

To this point, technical colleges have been accredited by the Council on Occupational Education, while the community colleges are accredited by the Southern Association.

The accreditation process ensures quality and affirms to students that their credits will transfer from community and technical colleges to other postsecondary education institutions.

Under the proposal, HCC and HTC will become one institution with multiple campuses with one accreditation.

The two colleges will continue to offer the same programs that lead to one-year certificates, diplomas and associate degrees. The single institution will offer over 100 different programs leading to jobs and/or to transfer to senior colleges and universities.

"Consolidating HCC and HTC is something that we have been doing since 1998 when our two advisory

Free parenting workshop at Hazard Community College

HAZARD—The Social Science Division at Hazard Community College is having a "Surviving Parenting in the 21st Century Workshop" on Saturday, Nov. 3 in the LRC building from 8:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Admission is free.

The tips offered at the workshop will cover all age groups from toddlers to teens. Continuing education credit will be awarded. Registration is from 8:30 a.m. to 8:55 a.m. in the foyer of the LRC building. Concurrent sessions will run every hour from 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and one workshop from 9 a.m. to noon.

The sessions are:

■ From 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. - "Boys and Girls Learn Differently: Fact or Fiction?" The answer may surprise

you. Come hear what Professors Venita Caldwell and Barbara Deaton have to say about this controversial topic.

"Date Rape Awareness" Sandra Blandau, Professor of Sociology, will discuss how all parents, of both male and female teen children, should be aware of the statistics pertaining to date rape in our society today. She will also examine the risk factors involved in dating today. She will look at how parents can possibly reduce the chances of date rape from occurring.

■ From 10:05 a.m. to 11:05 a.m. "Parent to Teen Survival Tips" Drugs! Sex! Independence! Are you the parent caught in the middle? Conflict, storm and stress are the issues today. Are they different than the issues faced by parents of yesterday? How can we cope with the new age? Cindy Plummer, coordinator of the Human Services Program, will facilitate a discussion regarding communication skills and the problems faced by most American families as they try to survive living with a teenager in the household. Is there life after parenthood?

■ From 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. "Effective Step-parenting" Sandra Blandau, Professor of Sociology, will define and discuss the dynamics of a blended family. She will also look at key elements in building strong blended families.

"Parent to Teen Survival Tips" Drugs! Sex! Independence! Are you the parent caught in the middle? Conflict, storm and stress are the issues today. Are they different than the issues faced by parents of yesterday? How can we cope with the new age? Cindy Plummer, Coordinator of the Human Services Program, will facilitate a discussion regarding communication skills and the problems faced by most American families as they try to survive living with a teenager in the household. Is there life after parenthood?

■ 9 a.m. to noon "All They Do Is Play!" Do you want to select the best child care available for your child (or provide the best child care possible)?

Participants will develop a picture of what quality care looks like and relate this picture to the Kentucky Kid's Now Quality Initiatives. Participants will discuss what children learn when playing with a variety of toys such as blocks, dolls, dishes, cars, books, etc. and how they can enhance those learning experiences at home. Participants will have an opportunity to make two of four specific activities to take home and share with their children. Dr. Donna R. Britt, Early Education Childhood Education coordinator/instructor and Marilyn Breeding, LKLP Resource and Referral and Technical Assistant/Quality Coordinator will teach this session.

World Food Day Teleconference on October 16

MOREHEAD—Morehead State University will be a site for the World Food Day Teleconference on Tuesday, October 16, from noon to 3 p.m., in 419 Reed Hall.

Dr. Wenche Barth Eide, a proponent of the rights-based approach to food security, will be the featured speaker for the conference that will follow the "World Food System: Serving All or Serving Some" theme. She will discuss the evolving world food system's ability to provide nourishment and economic opportunity for all.

Co-founder of the World Alliance for Nutrition and Human Rights, and co-director of the International Project on the Right to Food in Development, Dr. Eide is a member of the faculty of medicine at the University of Oslo in Norway. A nutritionist, she has lectured and advised international agencies on a wide range of global issues.

Additional information on the conference is available from Dr.

Brenda Malinauskas, MSU assistant professor of nutrition/dietetics, by calling (606) 783-2971 or by e-mail to b.malinas@morehead-st.edu.

boards asked the two college CEO's to create a seamless system of postsecondary education and training for the region," noted G. Edward Hughes, president of HCC and CEO of the new Kentucky River Community and Technical College District.

"For nearly three years, our faculty and staff have worked closely together to develop more programs for students in the region. We are pleased that we are at the point of merging these two colleges into a comprehensive community and technical college for the region," he added.

Approval is expected from the Southern Association in the summer of 2002.

"The hard work put into these efforts will result in a seamless system that holds greater advantages for students, communities, and faculty and staff," said Cynthia L. Read, chair of the KCTCS Board of Regents. HCC and HTC are two institutions in the Kentucky Community and Technical College System that was created in 1997. The system recently released enrollment figures showing a 15% increase in enrollment.

with "Three Dances" from "The Bartered Bride," an opera by Bedrich Smetana which depicts country scenes in his native Bohemia. The featured work, Howard Hanson's "Symphony No. 2 The Romantic," will occupy the second half of the concert. This colorful, melodious and effusive work is one of the best examples of neo-romantic music of the 20th century. A composer, conductor, educator and administrator, he left an indelible mark on the lives of thousands of musicians through his 40 years as director of the Eastman School of Music.

The Marshall University Symphony Orchestra is a "town and gown" ensemble of 70 musicians including students, faculty and community performers from the Tri-state. The orchestra presents 4 concerts each academic year and welcomes a broad and enthusiastic audience. Paul Balshaw has been the orchestra's conductor since 1995. For further information, contact Dr. Balshaw at 696-2399.

The 2002 edition of WHO'S WHO

The 2002 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN JUNIOR COLLEGES will include the names of 8 students from Mayo Technical College who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the district of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1966.

Students named this year from Mayo Technical College are:

- Tammie West, Practical Nurse, Canada, KY
- Pauletta Goff, Practical Nurse, Harold, KY
- Wynne Grindrod, Graphic Arts, Langley, KY
- Brent Gullett, Graphic Arts, Thelma, KY
- Peter Howard, Surveying and Mapping, Auxier, KY
- Michael Walker, Air Conditioning, Crum, W.Va
- Jason Ward, Electronic Technology, Warfield, KY
- John Maynard, Electronic Technology, Sidney, KY
- Bobby McCool, Chief Administrative Officer of Mayo Technical College said, "On behalf of Mayo's staff and students I would like to congratulate these outstanding students. They are the future of eastern Kentucky. We are happy to have them on our campus."

PIPPA PASSES—Alice Lloyd College is a private, liberal-arts college that guarantees tuition to students in central Appalachia and promotes character education. Faculty, staff, and students still embrace the vision of the school's founder, Alice Lloyd, as they walk down the campus paths and travel a winding road through campus called "Purpose." The college instills in each student that they indeed have a purpose in life—a purpose to serve others while here at Alice Lloyd College and after graduation.

The Floyd County Alumni Chapter recognizes the opportunities that ALC provides to students in Appalachia and has established the Purpose Road Scholarship to help Floyd County students continue their education and find their purpose in life.

This scholarship provides direct assistance to an incoming Floyd County ALC freshman for books, supplies, and other school fees.

Alice Lloyd College and the Floyd County Alumni Chapter announces that William Schlick, of McDowell, has been selected as the 2001-2002 Purpose Road Scholar recipient.

scheduled in the Woods-Penniman Commons. Festival musicians will hold individual sessions throughout the day from 10 a.m.-3:30, to which musicians are welcome to bring their instruments and join in the music-making. The symposium is scheduled from 2-4 p.m. Capping the afternoon will be an Open Stage and Jam session at 4 o'clock.

On Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock, participants can take part in a concluding concert of religious music by festival musicians and others in Union Church.

Jabbour, who served as American Folklife Center director for 23 years before retiring in 1999, has published widely on the subject of folklore and folk-life, and also has been featured on recordings and in numerous festivals and concerts as performer on the fiddle. "Fiddle Tunes of the Old Frontier," explores the history and evolution of fiddle music and fiddle styles of the Appalachian Mountains of Virginia—the "old frontier" of America's westward expansion. Additional information on Jabbour and "Fiddle Tunes" can be found at <http://rs6.loc.gov/ammem/hrht/ml/hrhome.html>.

Concert admission Friday and Saturday evenings is $7 for adults and $3.50 for children and youth ages 10-17. Tickets can be purchased at the door. All other festival events are free.

Spice Up Dinner

A South of the Border Twist on Everyday Meals

One look at the family calendar with activities scribbled on top of activities and there's no doubt it's autumn again. From hectic school day schedules to soccer games on weekends and after-work activities, finding time to prepare a fast family meal that will win raves from your hungry gang is a challenge. But busy cooks know how to put a little pizzazz in the menu. They reach for a bottle of zesty taco sauce and—almost before you can say Olé!—there's a tasty dish ready to eat.

It's no surprise that taco sauce should be such a favorite for jazzing up meals. More and more, we all are enjoying foods that are spicy and hot—a result of our enthusiasm for Mexican classics like enchiladas, fajitas and burritos.

An inspired cook discovered that a generous splash of taco sauce—a staple in Mexican kitchens—also deliciously spices up American favorites like casseroles, meatloaf, Sloppy Joes or even that most traditional classic, macaroni and cheese. Think comfort food with a touch of heat—seasoned to taste, of course.

Cooks seeking zesty Mexican-style flavor will find it in America's favorite taco sauce from Ortega®, a sauce with a well-deserved reputation for great taste. Ortega blends seasonings and tomato purée to make a sauce that's the thickest and smoothest on the shelf. Its universal appeal and added flavor are just what busy families will enjoy in these everyday dishes with zesty South of the Border flair.

More Taco Sauce Twists

- Along with adding lively flavor to everyday favorites, a splash of taco sauce perks up tomato-based vegetable soups.
- Taco sauce added to bottled Russian salad dressing makes a zesty dressing for spinach and lettuce salads or a snappy vegetable dip.
- Rev up the heat by adding taco sauce to your favorite spaghetti sauce and serve over cooked pasta.
- Looking for more quick and easy recipes with Mexican-style flavor to spice up your family's everyday meals? Visit www.Ortega.com to find recipes using taco sauce and other Ortega products.

ORTEGA ZESTY CHICKEN WINGS

- 1 container (16 oz.) sour cream
- 1 can (4 oz.) Ortega Diced Green Chiles
- 1 pkg. (1.25 oz.) Ortega Taco Seasoning Mix, divided
- 1 bottle (16 oz.) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce
- About 32 (2 1/2 to 3 lb.) chicken wings
- Celery sticks

PREHEAT oven to 375° F. Line 15 x 10-inch jelly-roll pan with foil. COMBINE sour cream, chiles and 1/2 package (about 2 tablespoons) seasoning mix in small bowl; refrigerate. Combine taco sauce and remaining seasoning mix in large bowl. Add wings; toss well. Arrange wings on prepared pan. BAKE, brushing frequently with taco sauce mixture, for 35 to 45 minutes or until no longer pink near bone. Discard leftover taco sauce mixture. SERVE with sour cream dip and celery sticks.

Chicken Tortilla Roll-Ups

CHICKEN TORTILLA ROLL-UPS

Makes 4 servings

- 2 cups cooked rice
- 2 pkg. (6 oz. each) refrigerated, fully-cooked, ready-to-eat Southwest-style chicken strips
- 1 bottle (16 oz.) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce, divided
- 1 cup Ortega Salsa Prima Homestyle Mild
- 1 can (15 oz.) kidney beans, rinsed and drained (optional)
- 8 (8-inch) soft taco-size flour tortillas
- 1 cup (4 oz.) Mexican blend shredded cheese

PREHEAT oven to 350° F. Grease 13 x 9-inch baking dish. COMBINE rice, chicken, 1 1/2 cups taco sauce, salsa and beans in medium saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until heated through. Place about 1/2 cup rice-chicken mixture on one end of tortilla; roll tightly. Place seam-side down in prepared baking dish. Repeat with remaining mixture and tortillas. Pour remaining taco sauce over roll-ups; top with cheese. BAKE for 10 to 15 minutes or until cheese is melted.

TACO CASSEROLE

Makes 8 servings

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 cup (8-oz. bottle) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 can (4 oz.) Ortega Diced Green Chiles
- 1 pkg. (1.25 oz.) Ortega Taco Seasoning Mix
- 1 pkg. (12) Ortega Taco Shells, broken, divided
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded mild cheddar cheese, divided
- Garnish suggestions: chopped tomatoes, sliced green onions, sour cream

PREHEAT oven to 375° F. Grease 11 x 7-inch baking dish. COOK beef and onion in large skillet until beef is browned; drain. Stir in taco sauce, water, chiles and seasoning mix; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low; cook, stirring occasionally, for 3 to 4 minutes. LAYER half of broken shells on bottom of prepared baking dish. Cover with half of meat mixture; sprinkle with 1 cup cheese. Repeat with remaining ingredients. BAKE for 20 to 25 minutes or until bubbly and cheese is melted. Garnish as desired.

MEATLOAF MEXICANA

Makes 6 servings

- 1 lb. ground pork
- 12 oz. ground beef
- 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese or queso fresco
- 1 cup plain dried bread crumbs
- 1 cup (8-oz. bottle) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce, divided
- 2 large eggs, lightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
- 2 teaspoons Ortega Diced Jalapeños
- 1 teaspoon salt

PREHEAT oven to 350° F. Lightly grease 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. COMBINE pork, beef, cheese, bread crumbs, 1/2 cup taco sauce, eggs, parsley, jalapeños and salt in large bowl. Gently pat meat mixture into prepared loaf pan. BAKE for 55 to 60 minutes or until no longer pink in center. Remove from oven; drain. Cool in pan on wire rack for 10 minutes; remove from pan. Top with remaining taco sauce before serving.

SLOPPY JOSÉ

Makes 8 sandwiches

- 1 to 1 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 cup (8-oz. bottle) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce
- 1 can (4 oz.) Ortega Diced Green Chiles (optional)
- 8 hamburger buns
- Topping suggestions: Mexican blend shredded cheese, shredded lettuce

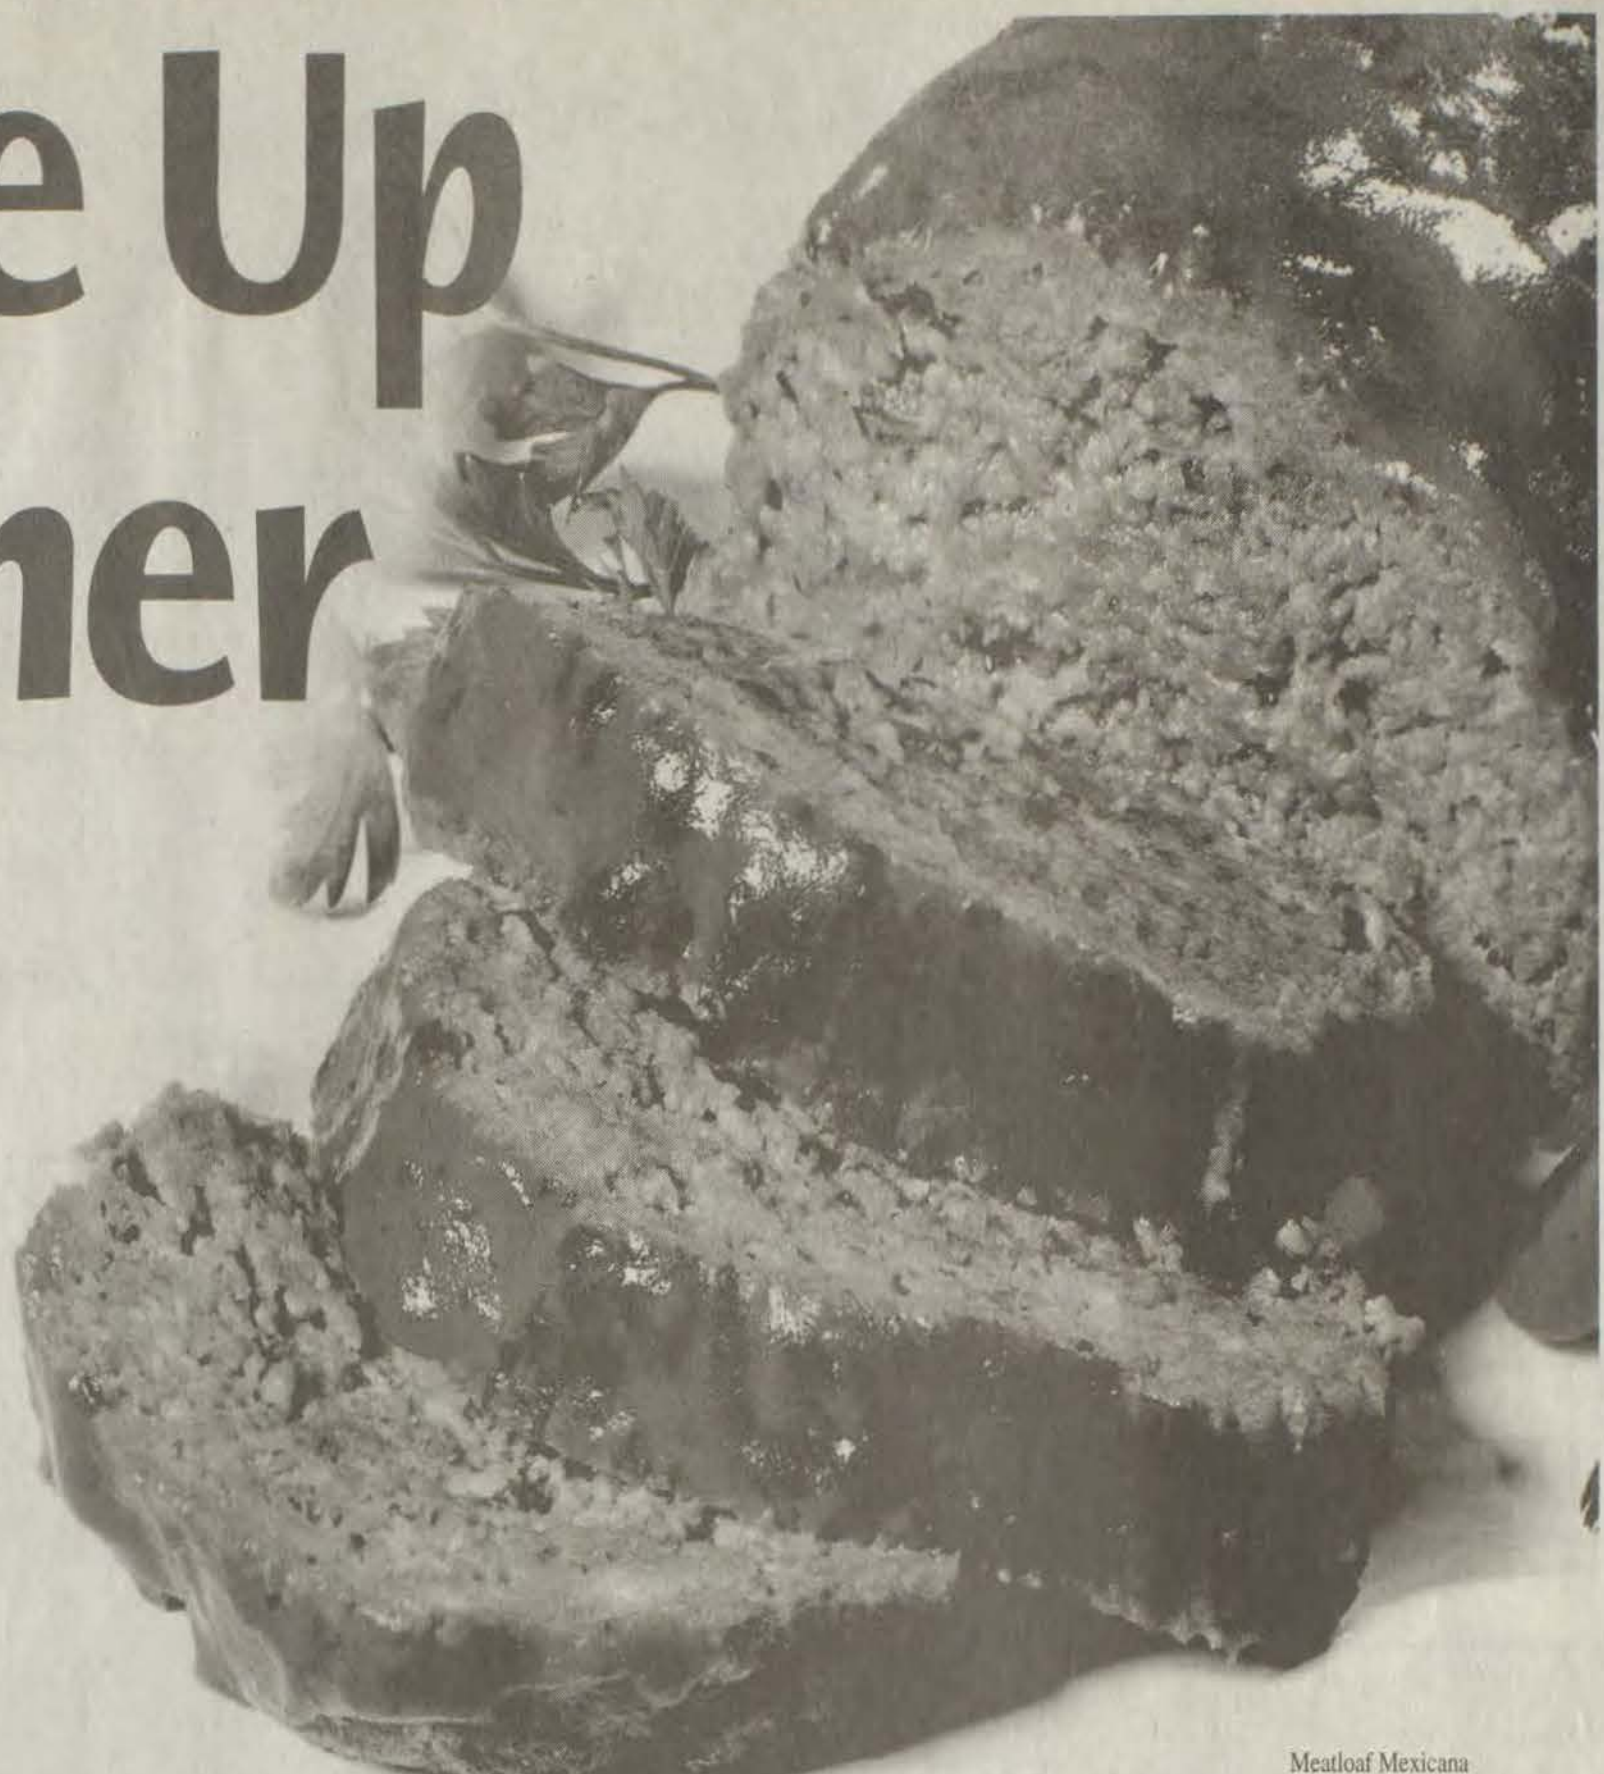

COOK beef and onion in large skillet until beef is browned; drain. Stir in taco sauce and chiles; bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low; cook, stirring occasionally, for 2 to 3 minutes. SERVE on buns with toppings.

SKILLET MEXIRONI

Makes 4 servings

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 1 cup (8-oz. bottle) Ortega Thick & Smooth Taco Sauce
- 2 pkg. (12 oz. each) Stouffer's Frozen Macaroni & Cheese, heated according to pkg. directions

COOK beef, onion and bell pepper in large skillet until beef is browned; drain. Stir in taco sauce; bring to a boil. Stir in hot macaroni and cheese.

ATTENTION: OWNERS OF MAY TRUCK BODIES
1998, 1999, 2000 AND 2001 MODEL YEAR DUMP TRUCK COAL BODIES
PRODUCED BY THE MAY DIVISION OF BENSON INTERNATIONAL, INC., BETWEEN MAY 1, 1998, AND JULY 15, 2000;
IF YOU ARE THE OWNER OF A MAY TRUCK BODY DUMP TRUCK COAL BODY LISTED BELOW, YOUR BODY IS INVOLVED IN A NATIONAL HIGHWAY TRAFFIC SAFETY ADMINISTRATION (NHTSA) SAFETY RECALL.
On April 30, 1998, the assets of May Truck Bodies of Allen, Kentucky, were purchased by International Industries, Inc., of South Charleston, WV. On May 1, 1998, International Industries, Inc., parent of Benson International, Inc., Mineral Wells, WV, created the May Division of Benson International, Inc. This NHTSA recall involves coal bodies produced by that Division of Benson International, Inc., from May 1, 1998 to July 15, 2001.
This recall was initiated because these bodies may not conform to the requirements of federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard 108 (Lighting Requirements). Standard 108 requires that no lamp or reflective device on the rear of these vehicles be mounted further than 12 inches from the extreme rear of the vehicle and that stop/turn/tail lamps, marker and/or clearance lamps and reflective devices must be mounted in locations designated by FMVSS 108 and NHTSA. The bodies involved in this recall fail to meet one or more of the requirements of FMVSS 108 and NHTSA mandated mounting locations.
IF YOU OWN ONE OF THE FOLLOWING MAY DIVISION DUMP TRUCK COAL BODIES AND HAVE NOT YET CONTACTED THE MANUFACTURER TO ARRANGE TO HAVE THE BODY BROUGHT INTO COMPLIANCE WITH FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARD 108, PLEASE CONTACT:
MAY DIVISION, BENSON INTERNATIONAL, INC.

Before he wore tights and a cape, Superman was a mildmannered teen. Tom Welling, as Clark Kent, ponders strange happenings in his body and it isn't just puberty.

It's a bird, it's a plane, NO...

it's a superteen in Smallville

by JACQUELINE CUTLER
TVDATA FEATURES SYNDICATE

Most teenagers think their parents are from another planet. Clark Kent's really are. The latest incarnation of the Superman legend, Smallville, pre-mieres on The WB Network Tuesday, Oct. 16. The series is striking on many levels. The special effects are sensational, and a well-reasoned, well-written story line lays convincing groundwork for the future. The result is a rare show that will appeal to both teen-agers and adults.

Smallville tells the story of Clark's forgotten teen years. Sure, everyone knows what happens when Clark makes his way to Metropolis. But before he becomes a reporter who sheds his suit and horn rims to fight for truth, justice and the American way, he is Clark -all- American boy in an all-American town. This show focuses on the time when he starts to realize he is different.

Smallville does a wonderful job of taking Superman seriously and not going the camp route. The pilot shows how a 1989 meteor shower devastated the sweet town of Smallville, Kansas. Many people died, cars were fried, crops burned and a fearful redheaded boy's hair was shorn off. All of this happened when a spaceship ferrying a beautiful toddler landed.

Jonathan and Martha Kent (John Schneider, Dukes of Hazard) and Annette O'Toole (Lana Lang in Superman III), a loving couple who dearly want a child, rear this boy who fell from the sky and imbue him with solid values. Clark (Tom Welling, Judging Amy) grows into a handsome young man with a generous spirit. He has two best friends, Pete Ross and Chloe Sullivan (Sam Jones III, Allison Mack), and a serious crush on Lana Lang (Kristin Kreuk), who lives across the street. He has not yet begun to fly, in accordance with executive producer Alfred Gough's vow that the show will have "no flights, no tights."

Clark can, however, trust his hand into a wood chipper and pull it out unscathed. He already can run faster than the school bus and jump off a three-story barn. In an upcoming episode, his X-ray vision develops - the answer to most teen-age boys' prayers. "At the beginning, he won't be able to control the X-ray vision," says Welling on his cell phone as he drives from the set. "He can look into the car and see into the person and see what they had for lunch. It's not just spying on people."

Clark is coping with how his newfound abilities "hinder him from being the normal teenager he wants to be," Welling says. "We all want to be normal. We all want to fit in."

Welling, 24, admirably depicts Clark's angst. Even more than most high-school students, Clark is an outsider. After all, he still is the strange visitor from another planet. He knows he would be the best on the football team, but his father won't let him try out for fear that he would accidentally pulverize the other boys. He befriends another outsider named Lex Luthor (Michael Rosenbaum), the boy who became bald in the meteor shower. "Throughout the series, you're going to see the relationship with Lex and his father and see how sort of twisted it is, which you get a glimpse of in the pilot," Gough says. "And I think he sees in Clark somebody like himself who is alienated, and they will become the best of friends. Because I think the only way you become mortal enemies is if you were the best of friends and then feel betrayed."

Welling says he doesn't know how Lex will become the villain, or how they will come to hate each other.

The show's writers "are going deeper and deeper into the mind and emotions of Clark," he says. "The action and the stunts are secondary."

Welling adds that he hopes the audience "gets the sense of who Clark is as a person, not as a superhero."

And Smallville certainly shows that to become the man of steel, Clark had to be a teenager made of pretty tough stuff. Kristin Kreuk, Tom Welling and Michael Rosenbaum star in Smallville, the latest take on the Superman legend. It premieres Tuesday on The WB Network.

My friendships with five Kentucky writers

On October 14, the University of Kentucky Art Museum will open an exhibition of photographs by Kentucky Poet Laureate James Baker Hall. Hall's friendships with writers Bobbie Ann Mason, Ed McClanahan, Wendell

FYI

The University of Kentucky Art Museum is open noon to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, and noon to 8 p.m., on Friday; closed Monday and University holidays. For general museum information, contact Jane Boswell at (859) 257-5716. Visit our web site at www.uky.edu/ArtMuseum.

Berry, Gurney Norman, and Mary Ann Taylor-Hall are the basis for this remarkable exhibition.

James Baker Hall has been variously described as "a writer who takes pictures" and "a photographer who writes." He is a professor of English at the University of Kentucky, and he served as the director of the University's Creative Writing Program for 25 years. Hall is the author of five volumes of poetry, including Stopping on the Edge to Wave and The Mother on the Other Side of the World, and two novels. His poetry has been published in The New Yorker, The Paris Review, Poetry, The American Poetry Review, and The Kenyon Review. Formerly a contributing editor for the photography magazine Aperture, Hall has also published on the work of Minor White and Lexington photography Ralph Eugene Maynard. In his own photographs, Hall uses the camera as a tool to explore the realities hiding behind normal perception. An autobiographical series titled Orphan in the Attic was shown at the Art Museum in Fall 1995, and his works are also part of the museum's permanent collection.

The opening reception for the exhibition "A Spring-fed Pond: My Friendships with Kentucky Writers" will be Thursday, October 18, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., in the Art Museum. The exhibition and reception are free and open to the public, and are being held in conjunction with the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Creative Writing Program. At 8:00 p.m., Hall and other writers associated with the Creative Writing Program will give readings in the Concert Hall, Singletary Center for the Arts.

An illustrated catalogue published by Crystal Communications will accompany the exhibition. The catalogue will be available for sale in the museum. After it closes at the UK Art Museum in January, the exhibition will travel to the Kentucky Folk Art Center in Morehead, in March 2002.

News of the Weird

LEAD STORIES

■ At a Sept. 15 Pop Warner football league game (kids age 13 and 14) in Milford, Mass., after the home team had conducted a brief, pre-arranged memorial observance (with both teams' players and cheerleaders) for the victims of Sept. 11, the referee nonetheless tossed his yellow penalty flag, assessed the home team a 15-yard penalty for delaying the start of game, and refused to change the call despite outraged protests.

Your One-Stop Litigation Superstore

■ Wal-Mart reported that nearly 5,000 lawsuits were filed against it last year (a rate of about one every two hours, with jury verdicts coming in at a rate of six a day), making it the second most-sued entity in the country after the federal government, according to an August USA Today story. Suing the 4,300-store company is so lucrative for lawyers that the American Trial Lawyers Association (ATLA) sponsors a seminar exclusively on Wal-Mart issues, and private attorneys sponsor the Wal-Mart Litigation Project to trade trial techniques and information about the company. (Demonstrating that it does not long hold a grudge, Wal-Mart pharmacies continue to participate in the ATLA members' health-insurance prescription plan.)

■ Police Blotter
Jeffrey Jacobitti, 49, was arrested by police in Keansburg, N.J., on July 5 after he drove up to two women and a 12-year-old girl and apparently illegally wiggled his tongue at them. The deputy police chief said the wiggling, in his opinion, was harassment that conveyed a threat: "(The wiggling) crossed the line, especially with the juvenile."

■ Canadian authorities, working with New York City police, arrested Patrick

Critton, 54, in September and said he is the man who skyjacked an Air Canada plane to Cuba in 1971 and has been on the run ever since. Critton's whereabouts (in Mount Vernon, N.Y., where he was working as a schoolteacher) were discovered when a law enforcement official had the bright idea to enter "Patrick Critton" into an Internet search engine.

Adventures in Bad Parenting

A mom (school principal) and dad (sheriff's sergeant) were charged with making their son sleep outside and dumping dog feces in his knapsack for his failure to do errands (Los Angeles, September). A former British army sergeant was charged with repeatedly punching and kneeing his son after the kid, as is his regular pattern, once again beat Dad at Monopoly (London, September).

Police in Casselberry, Fla., arrested a 29-year-old woman in August and charged her with leaving her kids, age 12 and 8, locked inside her storage locker all day while she was at work; she pointed out that it was one of the larger lockers on the lot (at 12 feet by 20 feet), but still had no plumbing or ventilation, and the temperature was more than 100 degrees inside. Then, less than three weeks later and 130 miles away in Stuart, Fla., a 30-year-old woman was arrested for doing the same thing, except that her reason was merely so she could buy liquor and go bowling.

People Different From Us

Jerold West, 65, was arrested in August in Newark, Ohio, after a nighttime stakeout, and charged with littering a downtown alley off and on for the last four years. His craft consisted of clipping pieces of magazines, newspapers and junk mail and dumping mounds of the confetti around Third Street. By a merchant's count, it required "thousands" of hours over the years to sweep up the messes. West, trying to explain himself to the arresting officer, said, "I guess it's just a thrill. (In the evenings (since my wife died), I get bored."

Least Competent Criminals

Terry Bennett failed to show up for his trial in Edwardsville, Ill., on Sept. 17 (for home-repair fraud) but called the courthouse with a good reason: that he was helping out at the World Trade Center rescue site and could not get back to Illinois. However, a court employee found problems with his story: (1) Caller-ID fixed Bennett's call as local (he said it had been "forwarded" by his wife, despite the fact that the court employee heard, "Terry! Telephone!"); (2) Bennett first said he flew to New York (but all planes had been grounded at that time); (3) then he said he rode in a van with some local people whose names he did not know; (4) no background noise was heard from the "rescue site" (because, Bennett said, all the workers were asleep); (5) he didn't know where at the site he was working (except that it was "down off the main drag"); (6) Bennett was sighted at home by the Belleville News-Democrat during that time (except that Bennett said he was merely Bennett's identical-looking cousin).

Recurring Themes

News of the Weird reported in July that the Washington state board charged with evaluating college-degree programs had approved bachelor's and master's degree curricula in "astrological studies" for the Kepler College in Seattle. Then, in August, the Astrological Institute (Scottsdale, Ariz.) became what is believed to be the first astrology school to be approved by the vocational schools' national accrediting board, paving the way for its students to receive loans and grants from the U.S. Department of Education. (The latter accreditation means that a school's teachers are "qualified" and that students can generally get the jobs that the school says they can get.)

Racing

The cars won't be speeding their usual 200 mph, but the racing should be tight and sometimes treacherous during CART's running of the Grand Prix of Monterey. Helio Castroneves set the lap record of 1:07 on the 11-turn, 2.2-mile Laguna Seca Raceway road course last year, then went on to control the race from start to finish for his first victory in Monterey. The Team Penske driver is in a fierce battle for the championship points lead with Kenny Brack, Michael Andretti and defending series champion — and Castroneves' teammate — Gil de Ferran.

Movie: What Girls Learn

Directed by Lee Rose (A Girl Thing), this new version of Karin Cook's book centers on young sisters deeply affected by their mother's decisions. Played by Alison Pill (Baby) and Tamara Hope, the daughters aren't happy about the new man (Scott Bakula, Enterprise) in their mom's (Elizabeth Perkins) life.

8:30 p.m. ESPN

NFL Football

A rested Indianapolis Colts team looks to bounce back from a disappointing loss when they take on the Oakland Raiders at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis. Quarterback Peyton Manning has the Colts' offense firing on all cylinders, racking up more than 80 points and close to 1,000 yards after the first two games. A bye followed Week 3's stinker at New England, so Marvin Harrison, Edgerin James and Co. will have fresh legs to go against a talented Oakland defense. Applying pressure on Manning will be a priority for the Raiders. It's about the only way to stop Indy's no-huddle offense.

8:30 p.m. WB

Men, Women & Dogs

The canines may come last in the title, but they fuel most of the events in this new comedy. MTV veteran Bill Bellamy, Danny Pino, Niklaus Lange and Mike Damus play friends with pooch concerns, which often lead them into situations with the opposite gender. Heather Stephens co-stars as the Lange character's girlfriend, who fears he cares for his dog more than for her in the series premiere, "Pilot."

NFL Football

If anyone has extra motivation tonight, it will be Tony Banks. The Washington Redskins starting quarterback held the same position for the Dallas Cowboys in the preseason, albeit for only one game, before being released. Now comes Banks' turn to rub it in the 'boys face, especially owner-general manager Jerry Jones, who some say treated his former QB unfairly. One plus for the Redskins is Banks can't possibly do any worse than the man he replaced, Jeff George, who failed to manufacture a single point for the Skins' offense in two games before being released himself.

FRIDAY OCTOBER 19, 2001

8 p.m. CINEMAX

Movie: Tigerland

In this 2000 military drama from director Joel Schumacher (Batman & Robin, St. Elmo's Fire), Colin Farrell plays a military recruit. He's willing to do whatever it takes to get himself discharged during the Vietnam War era, and the measures he takes have an impact on others, just as all of those people are about to be sent overseas to fight. The cast includes Matthew Davis.

8 p.m. TNT

Movie: Overboard

Gary Marshall (Murphy Brown) directed this 1987 comedy about an heiress who throws her carpenter overboard rather than pay him for work he did on her yacht. When she loses her memory, he gets revenge by convincing her they are married. Goldie Hawn, Katherine Helmond, Kurt Russell, Edward Herrmann and Roddy McDowall star.

8:30 p.m. CBS

Danny

Desperate to have a companion at an important community center function, Danny (Daniel Stern) asks his married cousin to accompany him in this new episode. He actually wants Rachel (Mia Korf) to be his date, but she's unavailable that night, so he tries to keep others from learning his cousin's true identity. Timothy Busfield (thirty something) directed the episode.

Horoscopes...

ARIES

(March 21 to April 19)

Someone from your past could arrive with welcome news concerning your future. Meanwhile, avoid taking sides in a workplace confrontation until you have more facts to go on.

TAURUS

(April 20 to May 20)

A decision about a relationship could have longer-lasting consequences than you might imagine, so be sure of your facts before you act. A trusted friend can help.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20)

A strained relationship could be restored with more personal contact between the two of you. Letting others act as your go-between only adds to the ongoing estrangement.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22)

New facts could mean taking a new path toward a goal you've been hoping to reach. However, be sure all your questions are answered before you undertake to shift directions.

LEO

(July 23 to August 22)

This is a good week for all you fine Felines to turn your attention to some important considerations, such as your health, your job situation and the status of important relationships.

VIRGO

(August 23 to September 22)

Avoid making a quick decision about a matter that needs more study. Keep your mind open for possibilities, even if they don't seem plausible — at least not yet.

LIBRA

(September 23 to October 22)

You might welcome the emphasis on openness in relationships that mark this period. But it's a good idea to avoid sharing personal secrets with people you hardly know.

SCORPIO

(October 23 to November 21)

There are still some questions that need to be asked and answered before you can feel confident enough to make a potentially life-changing decision.

SAGITTARIUS

(November 22 to December 21)

Some lingering effects from a now largely resolved workplace confrontation could make things difficult for you. Act on this before it becomes serious.

CAPRICORN

(December 22 to January 19)

You feel you're finally in control of your own life after months of making compromises and concessions you never felt comfortable with. Congratulations.

AQUARIUS

(January 20 to February 18)

No sooner do you decide to pass on one job offer than another suddenly turns up. This one might not have everything you're looking for, but it's worth checking out.

PISCES

(February 19 to March 20)

Congratulations. With Jupiter's strong influence dominating this week, don't be surprised to get some good news about a troubling financial matter.

BORN THIS WEEK: You are usually kind and loving. But you can be highly critical of those who don't measure up to your high standards.

John McCook is Eric on "The Bold and the Beautiful"

NOTE TO OUR READERS: With the networks continuing to revise and update episodes following the pre-emption of the Sept. 11-14 airings, some of the summaries below may not reflect all the changes due to delays in receiving them before we went to press. Thank you for your patience.

ALL MY CHILDREN

Mateo confronted Rosa after discovering marijuana in her purse. Chris made the mistake of mocking Erica. Greenlee decided to do some "stalking" of her own. Tad reeled when Jesse's ghost appeared to warn him not to kill David. Adam was elated that Liza wanted to resume their marriage, until something he never expected to see fell out of her purse. Wait to See: Anna welcomes a surprise visitor from her past.

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Jake and Molly found an uninvited guest at their wedding. Billy and Jennifer tried to deal with their growing attraction to each other. Craig risked his life to save someone he loves. Paul found the answer he needed at Jake and Molly's wedding. Wait to See: Someone is stalking Carly. Isaac makes Bonnie toe the line. Hal and Emily make a fateful move.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Kristen told Eric and Stephanie that what she and Tony shared was beautiful and intimate, but it wasn't sex and she was in no danger of being infected with HIV. Amber insisted to Deacon that she loves her husband (Rick) and was very happy about the child they're expecting. Massimo enlisted the help of his associate, Jacques, to get Brooke's mind off Ridge. While on the top of the Eiffel Tower, Brooke broke from Jacques' unwanted kiss and fell over the railing. At the hospital, Brooke was puzzled when her mother, Beth, lashed out at her father, Stephen, for an accident Jacques caused. Wait to See: Massimo begins to concoct another scheme as Ridge prepares to be with Brooke.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

On the Island: Shawn saved Belle's life by letting Paul have Alice's ruby. Brady rescued Philip, who had fallen into a deep comatose state. Meanwhile, back in Salem, John, Marlena, Bo, Hope and Kate were told that all three teens — Belle, Shawn and Philip — had drowned. The devastating news prompted Hope to consider telling Bo the truth about J.T.'s paternity, despite Marlena's counsel not to do so. Wait to See: Jack responds to Greta's "teasing" routine. Paul makes a final stand.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Nikolas realized he might not be able to save Elizabeth from the danger Helena had put her in. Meanwhile, Lucky and Roy made another upsetting discovery. Jax visited Helena. Carly prepared to battle Angel for Sonny. Wait to See: Tony's examination of Stavros' blood sample proves unsettling.

GUIDING LIGHT

Ross confronted a challenge with a student. Lorelei was inspired by Beth. Reva did some detective work. Rick and Philip's relationship became increasingly tense. Cassie and Richard welcome the new arrival into their family. Wait to See: Blake is beset by jealousy. Philip witnesses a startling "mother" and daughter reunion.

Test Drive...

2002 GMC Envoy

Base price: $31,045

Price as tested: $33,815

The all-new 2002 GMC Envoy, which replaces the Jimmy line next year, is a breath of fresh air in the higher-end SUV market. With a brand-new inline six-cylinder engine under the hood producing 270 horsepower, and looks that are some of the best in the industry, expect GMC to impact this segment in a big way.

The 2002 Envoy is 5 inches taller, 4 inches wider and 8 inches longer than the model it replaces, while the wheelbase is 6 inches longer at 113 inches. The new GMC offers better competition for the Ford Explorer and Dodge Durango, both popular choices in the mid-size SUV market.

GMC says the body is almost three-times stronger than prior years, while Envoy's "hertz" rating, which equates to that solid feeling of craftsmanship and overall interior quietness, is a luxury car-like 23 hertz. The body-on-frame construction is stiffer, thanks to a five-link solid axle suspension in the rear and double (short-long) A-arms up front. Bilstein shocks help dampen any road bumps, as do the 17-inch standard Michelin tires, resulting in excellent ride quality.

Thus, the new Envoy offers a good ride, more power and 10 more cubic feet of cargo space. The standard version Envoy, which weighs a bit more than 4,600 pounds, sits on a 113-inch wheelbase.

Interior appointments are very impressive; with stainless-steel trimmed air-duct bezels hooked to a dual-zone climate control catching our initial attention. The standard one-year-service OnStar navigation system is a plus, as are the improved dual-level air bags and impressive instrumentation. The seating is very comfortable, the view for both passengers and driver good, and all convenience appointments are in place as expected. Envoy also features as standard equipment four-wheel anti-lock disc brakes, dual front and side airbags, cruise control and remote keyless entry.

The four-wheel-drive setup is GM's trusty Auto Track system, featuring a low-range option. From a base price of $31,045, our test GMC added a $1,350 SLE Premium Package featuring a locking differential, load-leveling suspension, AM/FM Stereo Cassette/Compact Disc, content theft alarm, power passenger seat and polished aluminum wheels. The end result is one fine-looking and comfortable SUV. (Envoy is also available in a two-wheel-drive version.)

The most impressive thing about Envoy, however, is sitting under the hood. With inline six-cylinder engines a rarity these days, the new, all-aluminum double-overhead-cam Vortec 4.2-liter I-6 engine produces plenty of power and offers much better economy than the 5.7-liter V-8. The engine produces a whopping 270 horsepower and 275 foot-pounds of torque, which comes on higher in the rpm band than a normal V-6, most of which are pretty much finished at 5,500 rpm. The end result is a six-cylinder engine with V-8 performance that allows EPA numbers like 15 mpg city and 21 mpg highway. (We applaud GM on this development.)

The final bottom line came in at $33,815, including optional sunroof ($800), running boards ($325) and six-disc changer ($295).

Our test drive was filled with nothing but good, as no squeaks, ill-handling adventures or other negatives came our way. We recommend GMC Envoy as one of the best in class, and feel that you will too if you test drive this new mid-size SUV today. This is a new-breed vehicle, concentrating on size, fuel mileage and safety in a mid-size package.

Critter Corner...

by DR. CAROL COMBS-MORRIS, D.V.M.

Whenever we humans have a conversation with someone, we have available a variety of words and expressions to add nuances and shades of meaning to what we say. We have become so dependent on verbal communication that we've lost much of our ability to use and understand body language. In contrast, animals must rely almost exclusively on postures, expressions and movements to send and receive information. In order to understand animals better we have to shift our thinking away from "communication" being all about words. Last week we concentrated on how animals use their eyes to communicate; this time we'll take a look at the other end - how tails come into play as communications devices.

I suspect that tail movement is one of the most misinterpreted of all animal communications; many human injuries are directly related to our failure to read this signal correctly. Similar tail movements in different species can have vastly different meanings (more about that shortly). For the moment let's look at the species whose tail movements we think we understand the best, the domestic dog.

We almost universally think that a dog's wagging tail means he is happy; in fact that is not the case. A wagging tail IS usually an indication that a dog is willing to interact with another individual - but it has to be interpreted in the context of the rest of the dog's body language. We have to look at what the rest of the body is saying in order to get some idea of whether the dog intends the interaction to be aggressive, fearful, or indeed, friendly.

Form a mental picture of a friendly dog. The tail is wagging, yes, but usually in wide sweeps; the ears are up (as much as possible depending on breed) and forward, the mouth is open and relaxed, the eyes are wide, and the entire dog just "looks happy".

Contrast this with the dog who is saying, "don't come any closer": his tail may well be wagging also, but usually with stiff, rapid movements. His body posture is entirely different - the ears are generally back or flattened, the mouth is drawn back and tense, the eyes are staring and intense; the entire body radiates the feeling of a coiled spring.

Sometimes the differences are not so obvious, even to people who work with dogs every day. I personally have a hard time "reading" Rottweilers. They seem to have very subtle changes in facial expression, and also, the closely cropped tail robs these dogs of one of their most important communications devices. This is one of my big objections to ear cropping and tail docking, aside from any personal feelings about whether it is humane.

Dobermans have a double whammy of both altered ears and tails. Our Dobe, Gunner, who was already cropped and docked when we got him, always has what appears to be a stiff, aggressive tail movement, even when he is in full-blown play mode and behaving like a silly puppy. I guess there's only so much you can do with a three-inch long tail.

I alluded earlier to the different meanings of tail movement in different species. Cats are a prime example. Tails say entirely different things in cat language.

I once overheard a first time cat owner comment, "I've never seen a cat so happy - he's actually wagging his tail!" Fortunately several other members of the clinic staff had also heard her, and we all made a mad dash into the exam room in time to avert the impending disaster. While someone worked to restrain and calm the cat, someone else gave the owner a quick lesson on cat body language. Her pet was not wagging, but lashing his tail. He was on the verge of actually attacking his unsuspecting owner who was not responding correctly to his repeated requests in cat language to back off.

Had this lady been more experienced with cats, she would have taken note also of the flicking ears, the laid-back whiskers, and the squinted eyes, and she would have been more alert to the fact that the cat had switched from a purr to a barely audible growl. (Just as a side note, purring is not strictly reserved for happy cats either. It is also heard in sick, stressed, and even dying cats.)

Watch your pet to see how the tail is carried when he is in different moods, and take his breed into consideration. German Shepherds will always have a somewhat low tail carriage; lots of terriers hold theirs straight up most of the time; Akita's tails are generally held curled over the back. As you learn more about your own pet's body language, start to watch other animals for differences and similarities.

A very informative little book is "On Talking Terms with Dogs: Calming Signals" by Norwegian dog trainer Turid Rugaas. Since it is translated directly from the Norwegian, you may find the sentence structure a little odd at first, but it is really a very straightforward and practical reference. This is one of those books that is not just interesting from a theoretical perspective; I frequently use Rugaas' techniques of reading and sending dog body language. It's possibly saved my neck a few times when working with aggressive dogs. You can find it through the Dogwise catalog or through the publisher, Legacy by Mail, Inc. PO Box 794, Kula, HI 96790.

That's Life

Lydia's (Heather Paige Kent) helping nature gets her into a heap of trouble in "M.Y.O.B." First, her father (Paul Sorvino) blames her for putting ideas in her mother's (Ellen Burstyn) head — in particular, the grand idea to run for office. But in this instance, it isn't so much Lydia as a dilapidated sidewalk that's been tripping up the neighborhood for two decades. Lydia offers assistance to a dancer who won't stop dancing despite the risk to her health. Debi Mazar also stars.

9 p.m. LIFETIME

Movie: Crowned and Dangerous

This 1997 crime tale covers much of the same ground as Drop Dead Gorgeous and The Positively True Adventures of the Alleged Texas Cheerleader-Murdering Mom. Yasmine Bleeth (Baywatch, Titans) stars as a smalltown beauty pageant contestant who's crowned Miss Prime Suspect when it becomes clear someone is trying to kill her chief rival (Cassidy Rae). Jill Clayburgh, George Eads (CSI: Crime Scene Investigation) and Gates McFadden (Star Trek: The Next Generation) also star.

9 p.m. WB

Reba

The maelstrom of family dilemmas continues for Reba (Reba McEntire) in "Someone's at the Gyno With Reba." She tries to adjust to having Van (Steve Howey) as a fixture in the household, but that's only one thing worrying his beloved and pregnant Cheyenne (JoAnna Garcia). The latter learns her father's girlfriend (Melissa Peterman) is going to the same obstetrician.

Judy and Sam (Marin Hinkle, Steven Weber) try to determine where their relationship is heading.

SATURDAY OCTOBER 20, 2001

7 p.m. USA

Movie: Dark Prince: The True Story of Dracula

This drama attempts to show the humane side of the man who inspired the Dracula story, the Romanian prince dubbed Vlad the Impaler for his brutal treatment of his enemies and anyone else who crossed him. Rudolf Martin, seen as Vlad's fictional namesake in an episode of Buffy the Vampire Slayer, stars in the title role, with Michael Sutton (General Hospital, Inventing the Abbotts) as Vlad's younger brother, who led an army of Turks to overthrow him, and Jane March (Color of Night) as Lidia, the love of his life. Roger Daltrey of the Who also stars.

8 p.m. ABC

Movie: The Birdcage

Director Mike Nichols' 1996 farce is an Americanized version of La Cage aux Folles, the hit French comedy that also yielded a stage musical. Robin Williams and Nathan Lane play homosexual companions facing a crisis, when the Williams character's son (Dan Futterman) wants his dad to meet his prospective in-laws (Gene Hackman, Dianne Wiest). Calista Flockhart also appears.

8 p.m. CBS

Touched by an Angel

Veteran actress Debbie Reynolds appears in this new episode, playing a jazz-club owner who is a longtime friend of Tess (Della Reese). Since she's been wed to the same man for more than three decades, she proves to be a useful example as the angels help a young woman (Sarah Paulson) struggling to recover from a major heartbreak.

8 p.m. SHOWTIME

Movie: Return to Me

Actress Bonnie Hunt does more than her share of duty as co-star, co-writer and director of this romantic 2000 comedy. David Duchovny makes a definite departure from his role on The X-Files as a widower attracted to a woman (Minnie Driver), unaware she is the recipient of his late wife's transplanted heart. The cast includes Carroll O'Connor (in one of his last roles) and Robert Loggia.

8 p.m. VH1

Concert for New York

The title says it all in the case of this event, televised from Madison Square Garden with proceeds to benefit those directly affected by the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. The all-star lineup of talent is slated to include Paul McCartney, Bon Jovi, James Taylor, John Mellencamp, Jerry Seinfeld, the Who, Melissa Etheridge, Macy Gray, Goo Goo Dolls, Gwyneth Paltrow, Jim Carrey and John Cusack.

9 p.m. CBS

Citizen Baines

Packed with prominent guests, "Three Days in November" revolves around Elliott's (James Cromwell) receipt of the Presidential Citizens Medal in Washington, D.C. While there, he encounters his ex-wife (Christine Baranski), a real-estate agent who has an ulterior motive for visiting him. Charles Haid — who directed this episode — plays the president. Charles Durning also appears.
