PRESTONSBURG -Stephanie Vanderpool, the former employee of Martin Dairy Queen who was injured in a two-vehicle accident in March, settled her case out of court this Vanderpool settled for an undisclosed amount at a mediation hearing in Lexington Monday, according to her lawyer, Ashley Tackett of Kirk Law Firm.

In March, Vanderpool was struck by an empty coal truck at a red light in Allen along U.S. 23.

"Stephanie received serious and permanent injuries and has not been able to work since the crash," Tackett said. "It is very fortunate that she survived a crash with a big coal truck. Her medical bills continue to be substantial."

Vanderpool's case was brought against Wilford Lawson Jr. and Lawson Drilling and Trucking Company of Paintsville in

The terms of the settlement were not disclosed, said John C. Kirk, Vanderpool's lead attorney.

PHS students arrested for smoke bombs

by SHELDON COMPTON STAFF WRITER

PRESTONSBURG Prestonsburg High School students are center in Breathitt County after police arrested them for allegedly setting off smoke bombs at the school Wednesday.

The two students, ages 15 and 16, set the bombs off Wednesday morning just after 8 a.m. during first class was set in a crowded hallway of the school and a second outside where more students were getting off buses.

According to police, the teens set now being held at a juvenile detention fire to ping pong balls wrapped in aluminum, the first of which created a fire in the hallway that was later extinguished by another student.

As school officials scrambled to calm the some 200 students running from the smoke and fire, PHS Principal

> The two were immediately rounded up and law enforcement officials were called to the scene.

"The bombs smoked up the hallways and left an odor," said officer Gerald Clark. "No students or faculty were injured or evacuated from the building.'

In addition to statements from administration about the students who were allegedly involved, police also found two pieces of aluminum foil and recovered them as evidence at the

Burglars tunnel into Family Dollar

by SHELDON COMPTON

BETSY LAYNE - The Family Dollar store at Betsy Layne was the target of burglary this past weekend after police said one or possibly two people gained entry into the store through an adjacent office building.

According to Kentucky State Police Det. Gary Sykes, who is investigating the break-in, the burglars entered the adjacent business, East Kentucky Physical Therapy, through a side door. Once inside, they broke through the wall joining the physical therapy offices and the Family Dollar.

"They busted through the wall with what appeared to have been a hammer of some kind, maybe a sledgehammer," Sykes said. "The alarm didn't go off and the manager didn't know there had been a burglary until she came in the next

Stumbo returns from trade trip to China

by SHELDON COMPTON STAFF WRITER

FRANKFORT - House Speaker Greg Stumbo, who returned Monday from a weeklong trade mission to China with legislative leaders from more than 30 states, said the trip holds potential for Kentucky, particularly its coal industry.

"It is amazing just how much growth China is experiencing, and there is no sign that it will slow anytime soon," Stumbo said. "Kentucky already exports more than $600 million worth of products to China, so I spent my time seeing how we could add to that figure.'

Stumbo said he is convinced now more than ever that China's growing need for coal holds a lot of potential for Kentucky.

The trip, which saw Stumbo as the only Kentucky legislator, was sponsored by the State Legislative Leaders Foundation, a nationwide organization dedicated to state House and Senate leaders.

One of the unique aspects of the mission, according to Stumbo, was the opportunity to meet some of China's counterparts to American legislators.

"We found that we have a lot in common," Stumbo said Thursday. "Their top focus, like ours, is on jobs, education and transportation. We may be from different countries, but we all have the same basic needs."

Some of the things highlighted during the trip included Kentucky's coal, timber, horse and tourism industries. These things were covered in literature handed out during the trip and later translated for the Chinese hosts by Kentucky State University student Lawson Whites.

During a ceremony at the Great Hall of the People during the week-long trip, legislators were greeted by Sang Guowei, the vice chairman of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress of the People's Republic of China, the highest ranking official to meet with American leaders.

Homeless program receives $60K grant

by JARRID DEATON FEATURES WRITER

PRESOTNSBURG Appalachian Research and Defense Fund (AppalReD) recently received a $60,000 grant under the name of the Appalachian Homeless Outreach Prevention Effort (HOPE) from Kentucky's Housing and Emergency Assistance Reaching the Homeless program (HEARTH).

Kentucky HEARTH is federal assistance program that helps prevent individuals and families from becoming homeless and those who are experiencing homelessness to be quickly rehoused and stabilized. The Kentucky Housing Corporation administers the funding throughout Kentucky.

"The grant will be used for shortterm rental assistance, hotel and motel voucher money, security payments and utility payments, among other things," said Bertha Daniels, coordinator of Appalachian HOPE. "For example, we had a woman come in and her utilities had been shut off. She had her children visiting different places to stay warm. She came in to see us and by 3 p.m. we had a check to the utility company and her power was back on. We put her back in her house.'

Appalachian HOPE also works with other local organizations to help with the housing situation.

"We work with homeless shelters and other shelters to help them with the housing search when the residents get ready to get back into independent living," Daniels said. "Ultimately, we want a homeless shelter in Floyd County. WestCare does a great job and they get full pretty fast, but we don't need to have to reach out to Pike County each time we find somebody who doesn't have a place to live here. We need to be able to do that in Floyd County.

For more information Appalachian HOPE, visit the office at 116 North Front Avenue, in Prestonsburg.

Hundreds gather at Highlands community health fair

PRESTONSBURG Debbie Ousley, clinical educator at Highlands Regional Medical Center, reports that more than 250 individuals throughout the community attended the 2009 Highlands Community Health Fair, held in November at the Medical Office Building.

Participants arrived as early as 7 a.m. to take advantage of free laboratory work including fasting blood sugar counts, cholesterol screening and A1C levels. Additionally, information and other screenings were available including blood pressure reading, pulse oximetry, weight and body mass index readings.

A host of vendors participated in the Health Fair from around the community.

"We are pleased to have hosted this Health Fair as an opportunity to provide area residents with important health care information and screenings," Ousley said. "We are also appreciative of the many vendors who participated in this event."

Information regarding Highlands Regional Medical Center and its comprehensive services are available online at www.hrmc.org.

Central offensively, rushing 155 times for 1,608 yards and 20 touchdowns. Justin Jackson picked up 1,354 yards and scored 14 touchdowns via 154 attempts for the Rebels. Hunter Crowder rushed a team-high 163 times for 1,264 yards and 15 touchdowns as Allen Central compiled a 10-2, finishing one game short of reaching the Class A, Region 4 championship game following a second round loss to Hazard.

Mickey Parsons was another proficient running back for the Rebels, averaging over 10 yards per carry. Parsons rushed 29 times for 315 yards and Allen Central senior quarterback Chris Stumbo completed 22-of-48 passes for 319 yards and five touchdowns. Stumbo was intercepted four times over the course of nearly 50 passing attempts.

Micah Harlow was the leading receiver for Allen Central as he hauled in six catches for 165 yards and three touchdowns. Hunter Crowder, Jackson and Parsons each had one scoring reception for the Rebels.

Allen Central outscored opponents 12 opponents 498-240. The Rebels dropped games to perennial Class A powers Pikeville and Hazard during a 12-week stretch.

Defensively, Parsons led Allen Central in interceptions (5) and Sheldon Rice paced the Rebels in fumble recoveries (4). Hunter Crowder recorded a team-high 93 tackles for Allen Central. Cory Conn contributed 82 tackles for the Rebels.

Allen Central ended the regular-season 9-1, posting its first-ever win over district rival Paintsville as part of the near perfect campaign. The Rebels are 17-6 over the last two seasons.

Hawks heat up during postseason

by RICK BENTLEY TIMES COLUMNIST

It's been a fairly stress-free week where work is concerned and we're in no rush to bring the tension back. Let's take a relaxing look around the sports world, one note at a time:

All due respect to our friends in Prestonsburg, but the big story locally has been the amazing playoff run by the Hawks of Pike County Central.

Here's a team that was completely under the radar a month ago before they knocked off Sheldon Clark to take second place in their district. Since then, it's been on. The Hawks fell the following week to the aforementioned Blackcats, but the playoffs have been kind to them.

An opening-round win over Fleming County turned more heads for its 74-50 score than for Pike Central picking up its first playoff win. But last week's 26-23 decision over top-ranked Mason County has really put the Hawks on the map.

-That said, I don't believe for one second that nobody on the Pike Central staff has kept offensive stats this season. Not buying that at all. But it is sad they don't make those things public, if for no other reason than to help promote a group of student-athletes who have obviously skated along under the radar of the media and college coaches this season.

- And if it does happen to be true somebody in a position of authority must sit them down and explain how things work.

- At 12-0 this season, Prestonsburg will play its 10th game of the season against a team outside its district. Those 10 teams have a combined record of 60-55.

But make only two adjustments - removing 1-10 Knott Central and the eight other losses the teams have at the hands of the Blackcats - and their non-district opponents have combined to go 59-37 this season.

Now that's a pretty fancy record, making the unblemished worksheet even more impressive.

- I saw a lot more I didn't like about John Wall's debut than I Can't believe I just typed that about a kid who was playing high school ball eight months ago, but let's have a little levity about the situation, shall we?

- I'll be interested to get to meet Winston Bennett this weekend as he brings his Mid-Continent University Cougars to

Ferguson records double-double for Alice Lloyd

TIMES STAFF REPORT

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. -Alice Lloyd College fell to host Hiwassee College Saturday night in an early regular-season men's college basketball game. Host Hiwassee managed to hold off Alice Lloyd and successfully defend its home gymfloor, defeating the Eagles 90-88.

ALC won the first meeting on October 31 in a high-scoring affair, prevailing 123-115. Game two was tight from the opening tipoff as both squads played at breakneck speed. Halftime had the two teams deadlocked 42-42.

In the second half, ALC matched the Tigers point for point. But in the closing seconds of the game, Hiwassee managed to hit their free throws to pull out the two-point win.

Four Alice Lloyd players reached double figures scoringwise. Nick Brumback paced the Eagles (1-3) with 18 points. Sophomore guard Van Ferguson, a Paintsville High School graduate, played well as he netted 14 points. He also pulled down a team high 10 rebounds en route to a double-double. Fellow sophomore Brandon Hayes added 14 points while junior Will Jones chipped in 10 for the Eagles.

Forward Adrian McLaurin poured in a game-high 43 points for Hiwassee.

BB&T Classic full of talented coaches, teams

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE - It's not unusual for teams to use earlyseason weekend events as records. Don't expect that this week when Pikeville College hosts the annual BB&T Classic.

For starters, consider the coaches and their pedigrees. Pikeville's Kelly Wells played collegiately at Tulsa and Morehead State. Cumberlands head coach Don Butcher played at NAIA powerhouse Georgetown. Miami-Hamilton, often thought of as a doormat in college basketball, is now under the leadership of former Cincinnati star Melvin Levett.

And then there's Mid-Continent University, a school in Mayfield who was often whipping boy for bigger schools with the money to pay them for a visit, and most often, a sizeable win. But that has changed in the last three seasons with the program under the guidance of former University of Kentucky star Winston Bennett.

The four teams will play doubleheaders on Friday and Saturday night in the BB&T Classic. The event will tip off at 6 p.m. on Friday when Cumberlands meets Mid-Continent. A matchup pitting host Pikeville versus Miami-Hamilton will follow at 8 p.m.

The action moves to the Pikeville College Gym on night Saturday with Cumberlands taking on Miami-Hamilton in the 6 o'clock opener. The Bears close it out against Mid-Continent at 8.

Bennett has turned around the Cougars. Coming off a 15-15 season a year ago in the brutal TranSouth Conference, overtime win over Campbellsville last Saturday in the Lou Cunningham Classic.

"We're excited about our opportunities to pad their team," he said. "We have some experience (the Web site lists, under key players lost from a year ago, "none") and now we're trying to mesh our players. The schedule doesn't allot a lot of time to make mistakes. We have to bring our A game every night."

By the time the week's through, Mid-Continent will have a good feel for the Mid-South Conference. In addition to this week's meetings with Pikeville and Cumberlands and Saturday's win over Campbellsville, the Cougars lost 69-66 to Lindsey Wilson last Friday.

"We like to play the best," said Bennett. "And the Mid-South Conference is certainly the best or one of the best in the country. We're getting some great experience in the early Bennett, who scored 1,399 points in a terrific career as a Wildcat, said he thought his time at Kentucky was a plus to him, but not the most important thing is his life or career.

"I think my God ties are more important than my Kentucky ties," he said. "But no doubt playing at Kentucky is a key. I've been truly blessed to be a part of the Kentucky family and Big Blue Nation. There's nothing like it."

Cumberlands Coach Don Butcher, who grew up in Pike County and played at Mullins High School before moving on to Georgetown. But as much as he learned as a player, Butcher believes the two years that followed were more beneficial.

"As a player you think you. Mid-Continent is 3-2 on the know it all, but then when you move over to the bench and coach you learn how little you do know," he said. "I spent two years there learning the game from Coach (Jim) Reid. I got to sit beside him and Coach-(Happy) Osborne and I learned a lot about what it takes to be the best.'

Butcher said this year's team is experiencing some growing pains. "We're making some progress, but it's slow progress," he said. "We lost a lot, and it's been a little slower than I'd hoped, just to be hon-

Levett certainly has a wealth of success as a player to draw from as a coach. His 1,119 points is still tied for 28th alltime in University of Cincinnati history. The secondround draft pick of the Pistons in the 1999 draft, Levett still holds the school's record for made three-point field goals in a career, having hit 10 in a contest against Eastern Kentucky in the 1997-98 season.

During his time as a Bearcat, Levett won 108 games and lost only 25, including back-to-back 27-6 records as a junior and senior.

"We're pretty Coaches Bennett and Levett won't be playing against us this weekend," said Wells. "Those guys have brought a lot of class and dignity to their programs and we'll have our hands full against them.

"And I couldn't say anything that would add to Don Butcher's success at Cumberlands. We have some talented coaches coming in here this weekend. We're very excited to be able to bring these people and their teams to Pikeville and look forward to a challenging weekend in the BB&T Classic.

Lady Eagles come up short against Lindsey Wilson

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIPPA PASSES - Playing once more without the services of injured starters Bailey Gabbard and Chelsea Jarrell. Alice Lloyd College hosted Lindsey Wilson College, which is currently ranked 17th in NAIA Division 1, Tuesday night. In a contest that was much closer than the final score would indicate, Lindsey Wilson defeated Alice Lloyd

Both clubs played well in the first 20 minutes. Led by the one -two punch of guard Bree Frazier and sophomore center Alison Feltner, ALC tied the game at 22. However, sparked by the inside play of forward Viktoria Krell and back-to-back threes from guard Kasey Litzinger, For ALC (2-4), three play-Lindsey Wilson closed the half ers reached double figures in. on a 12-4 run and led 40-32 at the intermission.

In the second half, Lindsey Wilson slowly crept out to a double digit lead. Fueled by sophomore forward Gemma (3-0) with 22 points. Guard. Grey, Alice Lloyd fought back to cut the deficit to three. When Lindsey Wilson pulled ahead once more by 10, Frazier and Grey helped ALC mount another comeback and the Lady Eagles trailed by only five with five minutes remaining.

At this juncture, Lindsey Wilson demonstrated why it was worthy of the high national ranking as it closed the final four minutes on a 15-4 run to finally seal the game in the win column.

the scoring column. Frazier led Alice Lloyd with 20 points. Feltner finished with 16 points and Grey added 15. Krell led Lindsey Wilson Sierra Rambert added 21 points for the Lady Raiders. Bethany Spillman and Litzinger also finished in double figures, scoring 17 and 10 points, respectively.

Alice Lloyd will travel to Montgomery, W.Va., Friday (Nov. 20) for the prestigious' West Virginia Tech Classic. The Lady Eagles will face-WVU Tech at 8 p.m. Friday night. Alice Lloyd will face Pikeville on Saturday at 2 p.m.

it matches the rate that Development

Kentucky had in August 2009. "The Kentucky economy showed some signs of improvement in October 2009. However, the increase in non-farm employment is indicative of temporary hiring and strength in the employment services industry," said Dr. Justine Detzel, OET chief labor market analyst.

The U.S. seasonally adjusted jobless rate increased from 9.8 percent in September 2009 to 10.2 percent in October 2009, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. This 10.2 percent rate is 1 percentage point below the 11.2 percent rate recorded in Kentucky in October 2009.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working.

Seven of the 11 major nonfarm North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) job sectors reported an employment increase in October 2009, while four decreased, according to OET. An increase of 2,900 jobs in October 2009 brought Kentucky's nonfarm employment to a seasonally adjusted total of 1,762,900. Accredited installers are trained in the design and installation of ground heat exchanges, which are the basis of GSHP systems. During the winter, water or an anti-freeze solution is circulated through buried pipe, collecting heat from the earth and transporting it into the building. THE BLACK LAGOON

by TOM DOTY TIMES COLUMNIST

A trio of hoods square off against a farm girl and her paralyzed father in this demented gem from the 1970s drive-in scene.

■ Billy, the young gun who hasn't been tested.

Lomax searches the apartment while they wait and learns that their mark enjoys dressing in women's clothing. Obviously, this news will not help matters, but it does give us a chance to see how mean Lomax can get, evidenced when he opts to cut up a fine pair of stockings.

The victim eventually comes home, with his "man-date." The mark tries to explain the situation but finds his ability to communicate impaired when Steele puts out a cigar on his tongue. The men then proceed to put him out of his

It was a tiny filler item in a newspaper that attracted attention around this office, the other day. It stated with considerable authority that the fastest flying insect is the horsefly, adding that this pest has been clocked at 31 1/2 m.p.h. One of our group of fishermen who has almost been driven out of the boat on more than one occasion in the Dick's Creek section of Dewey Lake by a horsefly of unusual proportions and bloodthirstiness, vows that the speed is faster than that. He claims to have clocked, this particular specimen at 35 And at that, he adds, the fly was still in second.

USPS partners with state parks to celebrate 85th anniversary

by MARILYN LOESER

When the moon is full and the sky is clear, a mystical moonbow appears in the deep forest of Kentucky. In the entire world, there are only two places to view a moonbow. -Cumberland Falls State Park and Victoria Falls located in southern Africa between the countries of Zambia and Zimbabwe.

When conditions are right, Cumberland Falls — known as the "Niagara of the South" because of its 125-foot-wide curtain of water produces a faint rainbow as moonlight refracts through the waterfall

"The BEST source for local and regional society news"

In celebration of this natural phenomenon — and to observe 85 years of Kentucky Parks - the Postal Service partnered with state officials to create a special stamp and commemorative envelope.

The envelope and special postmark were designed by artist Ralph Bergmann. The envelope features the rushing falls and a postage stamp with an aerial view of Cumberland Falls — the only "rainbow at night" in the Western Hemisphere. Bergmann is known for his talent in several mediums - print and electronic to way-finding and exhibit design. The award-winning graphic artist has been published in several publications including Magazine and Graphics.

During the anniversary celebration, Resort Park Manager Lisa Davis welcomed more than 100 visitors, postal officials and park personnel to the event including Kentucky State Parks Commissioner Gerry Van der Meer, Deputy Commissioner Steve Brooks, Resort Parks Director Kerry Lamb, Assistant Director John Paul, Corbin Mayor Willard McBurney and State Representative (82nd District) Charles Siler.

Program comforts children in Family Court

by JARRID DEATON FEATURES WRITER

PRESTONSBURG - The office of the Floyd County Family Court was filled with 40 teddy bears last week from the Sandy Valley Abuse Center to give out to children whose families are involved in the family court system.

The bears were presented to former Family Court and current Circuit Court Judge Johnny Ray Harris at the monthly meeting of the Floyd County Family Court Education/Dependency/Neglect/ Abuse Committee.

Akers, with Kentucky Farm Bureau in the Floyd County Family Court, existing since Prestonsburg, presented Connie Littlé, director of 1999. Currently, it is co-chaired by Carol Jo May the abuse center, with a check for her art work on the walls of the children's waiting area in the Floyd County Justice Center.

The painting of the room was made possible by a donation from Kentucky Farm Bureau's auxiliary group, represented by Eddie Akers, Crystal Akers and Delphia Hicks, who was not present for the event. Little used a teddy bear theme for the room in conjunction with teddy bear program. The group celebrated the completion of the art work and the presentation of the teddy bears.

The Education/Dependency/ Neglect/Abuse Also at the meeting, Eddie Akers and Crystal. Committee is an advisory council to the office of and Virginia Mead. The committee has been involved in the implementation of the Truancy Diversion Program and the recognition of students with perfect attendance in all Floyd County public and private schools. Current active committee members are Melissa Hall, Connie Little, Carol Jo May, Virginia Mead, Lola Ratliff, Jean Rosenberg, Linda Spurlock, Kristina Springer, and Patricia

The group meets at 2 p.m. on the first Tuesday every month in the Floyd County Family Court conference room. The meetings are open to the

Clean or clean out

When you consider that we all have physical confession that you planned we all (me included) need to develop a refrigerators and like any useful tool, they need cleaning from time to time. I really don't think anyone needs to read a column on how to clean a fridge and I'm going to assume we all understand how to do this (soap and water works every

But what I want to talk about today is the difference between cleaning your fridge vs. cleaning OUT your fridge. And before I do, I must come clean that I had the biggest clean out I've had in a long, long time and I hang my head in shame. Cleaning out your fridge is akin to a poorly and didn't have the forethought to wisely consume or freeze your food.

I don't want to go there again. I'll happily clean the fridge, wipe it down, get it all sparkly and shiny again, but clean out? No. don't want to go there.

Why did this happen? Well, I went to the mountains for a week, brought food home from there and didn't take the time to freeze the leftover soups and use up the other assorted leftovers. That's just plain not smart.

In this economy and for the sake of being a good steward of things we have, keen mindset to keep from having to clean out the refrigerator.

Leftovers are gifts in my opinion; another meal that doesn't need to be fussed over, just reheated and re-enjoyed all over again. Let's be sure we treat them as such and keep to the plan to either use them up, freeze them or give them away to someone who would be delighted to get a Rubbermaid tub full of soup. Talk Cars

Starting the engine with no oil is a bonehead move

by TOM and RAY MAGLIOZZI

Dear Tom and Ray:

Is it ever safe to start a car with no oil in it? I have a 2004 Honda Civic, and when I change the oil filter, it always drips all over the place, down the side of the engine and onto the struts or CV axles, I'm not sure which. My brother-in-law says to start the car after I drain the oil, and it will pump the oil out of the filter so I can remove it without a mess. I told him he is insane! Was I right? I told him I would rather clean up the mess than buy a new engine. — James RAY: I'm assuming your brotherin-law is a man with a very clean garage floor and lots of experience rebuilding engines, James. He's also nuts, by the way.

TOM: You should never, ever run your engine without oil. Not even for a few seconds. The engine is full of very expensive metal parts that slide along each other at high speeds. To keep them from ruining each other, engine manufacturers go through a lot of trouble to make sure these parts are ALWAYS bathed in oil.

RAY: They even go so far as to put a big, red idiot light smack in front of the driver's face that lights up if the oil pressure drops. Apparently, the light's not big enough for your broth-

TOM: So that's not a good option, James. But there's no perfect solution. Oil filters often are attached at odd angles, and crammed into hardto-reach places. And they're generally hard to remove without spilling oil. On your Civic, the oil drips — harmlessly, but messily - right onto an

RAY: What you CAN do is punch a hole in the oil filter with an awl. After you've drained the crankcase, slide your oil tub underneath the filter, loosen the filter a little bit to let air in, and knock a hole in the lowest part of the filter. Then go and take a common is that the clutch disc wears break

TOM: When you come back 20 minutes later, most of the oil will have drained out. Then you can grab the filter with a rag and unscrew it, with less oil running down your arm and onto your axle.

RAY: You'll never pass the whiteglove test. But you'll be able to reduce the mess without reducing the life of your engine.

The varying degrees of clutch murder '

Dear Tom and Ray:

A friend of mine at work and I have a disagreement regarding using the clutch on a standard-shift car. He says that keeping the clutch pressed in will wear out the throw-out bearing, and I say it won't. For example, he says that when on a hill, the smart driver will put the car in neutral and let the clutch out, keeping one foot on the brake, to save wear and tear on the throw-out bearing. I say keeping the clutch depressed won't cause wear and tear. Who's right? — Red

RAY: He is. TOM: There are two common ways that clutches die. The most out. That happens over time, due to the natural slippage that takes place when you engage the clutch to get the car moving. Eventually, the friction just wears out the disc, the clutch starts to slip and you need a new clutch.

RAY: This process can be greatly accelerated, however, if you ride the clutch — that is, give the engine too much gas and let the clutch out too slowly. We call this first-degree clutch murder.

TOM: The second most common type of clutch failure is when the throw-out bearing called the release bearing) fails. That's the bearing that pushes the clutch plates apart when you push in the clutch to change pedal

RAY: Used correctly, the throw-out bearing will last much longer than the clutch disc. But if you sit at red lights with your foot on the clutch pedal all the time, you can wear out the throw-out bearing before you wear out your clutch disc. And because that's an entirely preventable condition, we call that clutch murder in the second degree.

TOM: The problem is, if either the disc OR the bearing fails, you then have to replace the whole clutch. To reach either of those parts, you have to remove the entire transmission. And once you've paid for all that labor, you'd be crazy to do half the clutch. On most cars these days, a clutch job is at least a thousand bucks.

RAY: Now, you can take your chances that the throw-out bearing will last longer than the disc, even though you're using it more than you need to, but why risk it?

TOM: So, your friend is absolutely right. The best way to preserve the throwout bearing is to keep your foot off the clutch pedal, except when you're actively shifting gears (or starting the engine). That way, you'll have the best chance to avoid any clutch-slaughter charges.

Renters were three for four this week, with one blockbuster and two smaller efforts of note.

Trek" "Star J.J.Abrams (TV's "Lost") gave Gene Roddenberry's classic series a cinematic upgrade with this effort, which pays homage to the original series while boldly updating it. Chris Pine and Zachary Quinto ("Heroes") are just fine as Captain James T. Kirk and Mr. Spock, but the supporting cast is also strong, with sharp turns by Simon Pegg (as Mr. Scott) and Zoe Saldana as revamped origin as well as an operatic villain (Eric Bana).

Here he casts himself as the titular character (a grandiose Austrian fashion kingpin) and pits this creation against all manner of extras (most of whom don't appear to be in on the joke). Fun and suitably vulgar, though nowhere near the same level as "Borat."

■ "Rituals" — The people at "Code Red" continue their quest to get quality horror movies of the 1970s and 1980s on DVD with this release of an Uhura. The plot includes a obscure "men in the wilderness" yarn from Canada. This one features five doctors on an become the prey for backwoods types. Grisly and well paced, with enough graphic set pieces to keep horror fans glued to their sets.

■ "My Sister's Keeper" — An interesting moral question (whether it's cool to have children just so they can donate material to sickened siblings) gets smothered in a lot of snotslinging theatrics in this tale from popular author Jodi Piccoult. Cameron Diaz and Abigail Breslin try hard as the siblings, but they can't distract you from how schmaltzy the whole enterprise is.

Next week look for Tom Hanks in "Angels and Demons" and catch Adam Sandler in "Funny People."

misery as quickly as they can stomp him to death.

The date gets justifiably spooked and jumps out of a convenient window - his fear obviously trumping the fact that they are 11 stories up.

This charming encounter leaves the new guy a little shaken. His condition gets no better when the trio stops for gas at a convenience store. Lomax and Steele use the detour to indulge in a game "terrify the female cashier." The rules of this obscure sport involve forcing a cashier to go topless and then placing produce on their head for target practice.

The twisted game turns out to be a creative way to confuse the cashier into neglecting to charge the customers for their purchase. The end result is that the group needs to lay low for a while so they stop at the first farm they come across (this is pretty much a fly-by-the-seat of your pants outfit).

The farm is perfect, as it is run by a quiet young woman who spends her day tending to her wheelchair-bound father. Dad is also mute, so the set up is perfect. Somehow you just know that our unholy trio will still screw up this free lunch and they do so with verve.

Lomax makes the first error when he misinterprets the daughter's motivation for cooking him up a chicken dinner (he fails to observe the joy she gets in chopping up the bird). Thinking that she's warm for his aging, and decidedly greasy, form, he attempts a midnight assault that quickly backfires when she pulls out the titular weapon from underneath her bed.

The rest fall like dominoes but the fate that awaits the well-intentioned Billy is the nastiest of all.

This is worth a look but be prepared for some low down chills. The murky Southern Gothic atmosphere is so well rendered that you'll be craving a shower before the final reel. The DVD (from "Something Weird Video") packs a lot of punch by offering several short films, coming attractions and a bonus feature called "The Electric Chair." The extra film is pretty dull, though it does raise a few goosebumps during the finale, which sees a poor schmuck getting lit up in the titular device. Best line: "Why don't you get me a glass of water. Then drink it yourself. It'll give you something to do.'

ELIZABETHTOWN

Messengers at the Kentucky Baptist Convention's annual meeting have approved new members for the Kentucky Baptist Convention mission board and the boards of several affiliated institutions and agencies.

The Committee Nominations submitted the nominations for approval during the Tuesday afternoon session of the Nov. 10 meeting at Severns Valley Baptist Church.

The committee also recommended Dan Summerlin, pastor of Lone Oak First Baptist Church in Paducah, to preach the 2010 convention sermon. The 2010 Kentucky Baptist Convention is scheduled for Nov. 9 at Immanuel Baptist Church in Lexington.

The alternate preacher is Tom James, pastor of Eastwood Baptist Church in Bowling Green.

Board appointments are as

Mathis elected Kentucky Baptist president

ELIZABETHTOWN - Don Mathis, staff evangelist at Eastwood Baptist Church in Bowling Green, was elected president of Kentucky's largest denomination Nov. 10.

Messengers affirmed Mathis by acclamation during the afternoon session of the 172nd annual meeting of the Kentucky Baptist Convention at Severns Valley Baptist Church. There were no other can-

Also elected unopposed were Adam Greenway, assistant professor of evangelism and applied apologetics for The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, as first vice president, and Rick Hatley, pastor of High Point Baptist Church in Mayfield, as second vice president.

The convention also reelected Wilma Simmons, member of Big Spring Baptist Church in Ekron, as secretary. Pat Reaves, member of Bethlehem Baptist Church in Louisville, was elected assistant secretary. This is the third consecutive year in which there was only one candidate for each elected position.

Darren Gaddis, pastor of Central Baptist Church in Corbin, nominated Mathis for president. Gaddis praised Mathis for his leadership in Cooperative Program giving, as well as his ability to connect Kentucky Baptists from all gener-

"I make this nomination knowing that our convention is at a crossroads," said Gaddis. "I know of no other Kentucky Baptist better equipped to lead us through this time than Don Mathis. It is my conviction that we need his leadership now more than ever before." Mathis, who has been a full-time vocational evangelist since 1999, previously served as KBC president in 1985-86. He has also served previously as president of the Kentucky Baptist Pastors' Conference, as well as several KBC committees. During his ministry career, Mathis served for 30 years in pastorates at five Kentucky Baptist churches, and also worked for the West Virginia Convention of Southern Baptists and LifeWay Christian Resources.

Mathis is a graduate of Austin Peav State University, The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and Cumberland College. He currently serves as a trustee for Clear Creek Baptist Bible College in Pineville.

Newly elected First Vice President Greenway is currently a member of the KBC's Committee on Constitution and Bylaws and is serving as chairman of the ad hoc committee appointed to study the size of the convention's Mission Board.

Bill Henard, pastor of Porter Memorial Baptist Church in Lexington, nominated Greenway for the office. Henard served as KBC President in 2007-08.

A graduate of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Greenway joined the seminary's faculty in 2007. Previously, he was the pastor of The Baptist Church at Andover in Lexington for five years.

Greenway also holds degrees from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Samford University. He is a member of First Baptist Church of Mount Washington, and currently serves as a trustee for LifeWay Christian Resources.

Newly elected Second Vice President Rick Hatley currently serves on the KBC Mission Board and on the Committee on Nominations. Hatley was nominated by Alan Dodson, pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church in Lexington.

Prior to becoming pastor of High Point Baptist Church in Mayfield, Hatley served as pastor of First Baptist Church in Pinckneyville, III. He also previously served as minister of education at Central Baptist Church in Winchester and Central Baptist Church in Corbin. He is a former church development director for the West Virginia Convention of Southern Baptists, and served for four years as a trustee for LifeWay Christian Hatley is a graduate of Murray State

mon during the afternoon session. Preaching from John 3, Mohler emphasized the importance of "knowing what the gospel is and what the gospel is not" as one shares one's faith.

www.kybaptist.org.

Drawing from the example of Nicodemus who wanted to know more from Jesus, Mohler said true belief in the gospel will always involve believing in Jesus and "being born again."

"We are surrounded by a global context of religious and spiritual confusion, and...Jesus says, we cannot see the kingdom of God unless we are born again," he said. "Christianity cannot be understood from the outside.

"Our task is to share the gospel, and take the gospel to every single human being we can," said Mohler. "The gospel is not a sales message that we get to communicate, it is a command that we get to

Also during the Tuesday afternoon session, Jim McKinley and several churches were recognized for outstanding leadership and support of the Cooperative Program, Southern Baptists' method for collectively funding mission and ministry

McKinley, a former International Mission Board missionary for 34 years, was awarded the Distinguished Cooperative Program Leadership Award for his support of the Cooperative Program and for lifelong involvement in CP missions and ministries.

Messengers also affirmed KBC President John Mark Toby's nominations to the Committee on Committees, the committee that names members to all other standing Convention committees. Those named include: T.J. Frances of South Jefferson Baptist Church in Louisville, Paul Chitwood of First Baptist Church of Mount Washington, Phil Fisher of Bethel Baptist Church in Eubank, and Floyd Paris of Unity Baptist Church in
