Rec area closed until spring

by JARRID DEATON
FEATURES WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — The gates to the downstream recreation area at Dewey Lake will be closed on Jan. 4. The gates will remain closed until the first of March.

"This action is necessary due to reduce operating budgets to help prevent vandalism, ensure public safety and support the physical security of the area," said Will T. Rutter, park ranger at Dewey Lake. "Visitors and fishermen who wish to access the downstream recreation area are welcome. We recommend parking in the parking area located just off Route 302."

Another update from Dewey Lake involves the use of a new nationwide reservation system that will be used to manage reservations for picnic shelters. The reservations will be made by calling the National Recreation Reservation System at (877) 444-6777, or by visiting http://www.recreation.gov. There is no charge to use the system. Reservations will no longer be taken at the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project office.

"This new system has been adopted to make it more convenient for the public to make reservations," Rutter said. "An additional feature of this system will allow you to

Heavy snow leaves county cold and dark

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

A winter storm beginning Friday and extending throughout Sunday morning left more than 10 inches of snow in some places and knocked out power to thousands in Floyd County over the weekend.

As of noon Monday, approximately 7,000 were without power in Floyd County, with the majority of those residents customers with American Electric Power. About 500 people were customers with Big Sandy RECC.

Areas still without power as of Monday in the county were both forks of Beaver, including areas such as Mud Creek, Wheelwright, Melvin and Weeksburg, and also areas of Right Beaver such as Wayland, Garrett and extending into portions of Middle Creek. There were also those without power along Conley Fork of Spurlock, according to county officials.

As for when the power could be restored, officials have said there are no certain answers.

Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall said Monday morning that this, the third official disaster in the past four years, was something he and all the residents of the county were now enduring yet again.

"Once again we're consumed with Mother Nature," Marshall said. "But we're

A weekend snowstorm painted the region in dangerous beauty, as the heavy, wet snow that transformed the landscape also brought down power lines and has left many without heat or light until perhaps after Christmas.

The Floyd County Bar Association held a charitable auction Friday afternoon to raise money for the county's 15 food pantries. That afternoon, and in the following days, thousands of dollars were raised to help with these pantries, with an anonymous donation of $10,000 coming late Sunday afternoon to bring the bar's total to $18,400 raised. This means each pantry will receive approximately $1,225 in charitable donations.

Community service office closes in Wheelwright

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

WHEELWRIGHT — The Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services Department for Community Based Services has moved out of its Wheelwright office, and the decision has one magistrate asking questions.

The office has been officially closed since November.

The agency helps people with various aspects of welfare, including, most significantly, food stamps and medical-related assistance.

Susan Power, service region administrator for the Eastern Mountain Service Region, spoke to county officials late last week.

"We'll do everything in our power to do the best we can for our clients," she said. "The county was absorbing some $13,000 a month to keep this location operational, and we've all withstood this for 10 years."

The office opened a decade ago with the goal of increasing the number of clients reached throughout the southern region of the county. However, Power says few than two dozen accounts had been opened in the past five years at the location.

But one of the key issues, according to Power, has been the condition of the building. Citing problems with water damage and a rash of snakes in the building, Power said it had become an issue of putting both employees and clients at risk at the location.

"What was feasible to have seen it stay open?" asked Magistrate Donny Daniels, who represents citizens in the Wheelwright area in his duties. "I thought the vision up there was to alleviate some of the caseload on the Prestonsburg office. I just don't know what exactly you wanted from the site."

Power and her associates contend that the key purpose was not to solely take caseload work from the Prestonsburg office, but to extend services to other parts of the county. She told county leaders last week that many of the residents in the southern part of the county were still traveling to Prestonsburg for help.

In addition, new federal regulations will allow residents in other parts of the county to call by phone to have their services, including food stamps, a concern for Daniels, who asked about this aspect of the program in particular this past Friday.

Daniels also offered several options for keeping the office open, including funding from the county, but was told that it did not seem as if that was an option at this time.

"I don't think we will be," Power answered when Daniels asked what could be done to bring the offices back.

Magoffin road crew credited with saving motorist's life

JACKSON — Quick action by an employee of the Kentucky Department of Highways Magoffin County maintenance garage is being credited with saving the life of a motorist involved in a traffic crash Saturday night.

Chris McCarty dove into the cold, rushing water of Burning Fork Creek off Route 1888 east of Salyersville, near the Magoffin County state highway maintenance garage, to rescue Kermit Howes. Howes' pickup truck ran off the road and overturned in the creek around 8 p.m. Saturday. He was ejected from the vehicle and was found unconscious, floating down the creek.

Employees at the state highway garage, who were getting ready to salt and plow roads and remove trees in the aftermath of the weekend's winter storm, heard the crash and located the spot where the driver ran off the

Marshall named family court judge

by SHELDON COMPTON
STAFF WRITER

PRESTONSBURG — Assistant Floyd County Attorney and Assistant Floyd County Commonwealth's Attorney Dwight Stacy Marshall will remain in the courthouse, but now he'll be wearing a robe.

Marshall was appointed Friday to the position of Floyd County family court judge from a field of three candidates.

Gov. Steve Beshear made his announcement Friday to fill the position that was left vacant when Judge Johnny Ray Harris was named to fill the circuit judge spot left open following Judge Danny P. Caudill's retirement.

Last week, three attorneys from the Prestonsburg area were placed on a short list of candidates. Along with Marshall, also on that list were David Allen Barber and Cynthia Elaine Elliott.

The three were selected by the Judicial Nominating Commission to be considered for the position.

Marshall, who has served for years as Assistant Floyd County County Attorney and as Assistant Floyd County Commonwealth's Attorney, earned his law degree from Northern Kentucky University Salmon P. Chase College of Law in 1993. He is the son of Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall.

Marshall has acted as assistant county attorney for the last 14 years and as assistant commonwealth's attorney for the past decade.

Christmas in Heaven

We've shared our hearts full of Holiday Cheer,
And shopped for presents for loved one's this year.
The house is dressed up with garland and lights,
That sparkle and shine through the Holiday nights.
But even with all of this Holiday bliss,
There's someone we lost, that we terribly miss.
And as this Christmas day draws near,
We wish with all of our hearts, he was here.
He's living his life, way up past the stars,
Somewhere past Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.
He's spending his Christmas in Heaven, you see,
And last night as I slept, a dream came to me.
He was standing before me, happy and well,
He said to me - "I have something to tell..."
"Heaven's more wondrous than you would believe,
It's the greatest of gifts, I could ever receive.
I'd like for you all to remember the good...
You know that I'd be there, if only I could.
So, don't feel so bad that I'm not there,
There are so many memories you can share.
As you gather together, I'm sure you'll find,
The gifts deep within you that I left behind.
Each one is unique and wrapped brightly in love,
They shine from our hearts as I shine from above."

Merry Christmas From Heaven

We still hear the songs, we still see the lights,
We still feel your love, on cold wintry nights.
We still share your hopes, and all of your cares,
We'll even remind you, to please say your prayers.
We just want to tell you, you still make us proud,
You stand head and shoulders, above all the crowd.
Keep trying each moment, to stay in His grace,
We came here before you, to help set your place.
You don't have to be perfect all the time,
He forgives you the slip, if you continue to climb.
To our family and friends, please be thankful today,
We're still close beside you, in a new special way.
We love you all dearly, now don't shed a tear,
Cause we're spending our Christmas with Jesus this year.

Sadly missed by

IRS reminds car shoppers about 2009 tax break

The Internal Revenue Service today reminds individual taxpayers who are considering buying a new car that they have until Dec. 31 to take advantage of a tax break that may not be around in 2010.

Taxpayers who buy a qualifying new motor vehicle this year after Feb. 16 can deduct the state or local sales or excise taxes they paid on the first $49,500 of the purchase price. Qualifying motor vehicles include new passenger automobiles, light trucks, motorcycles, and motor homes.

Individuals who itemize and those who take the standard deduction can benefit from this tax break. In states without a sales tax, other taxes or fees can qualify if they are assessed on the purchase of the vehicle and are based on the vehicle's sales price or as a per unit fee. The deduction is reduced for joint filers with modified adjusted gross incomes between $250,000 and $260,000 and other taxpayers with MAGI between $125,000 and $135,000. Taxpayers with higher incomes do not qualify.

Taxpayers who take the standard deduction need to complete Schedule L and attach it to Form 1040 or Form 1040A to increase the standard deduction by the allowable amount of state or local sales or excise taxes paid on the purchase of the new vehicle. Also, check the box on line 40b on Form 1040 or line 24b on Form 1040A. Individuals who itemize should include the allowable amount of state or local sales or excise taxes from the purchase of the vehicle on Form 1040, Schedule A. More information is available at IRS.gov.

Heartland Publications to complete financial restructuring under Chapter 11

Heartland Publications, LC, which operates 50 paid-circulation newspapers in nine states including The Floyd County Times announced Monday it will complete its financial restructuring under protection of Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code. The company will file soon its Plan of Reorganization, which shows how Heartland will reduce its debt by more than half and create a new capital structure for future growth.

"We have built Heartland Publications into one of the best-performing newspaper companies in the country. And we have made great strides to reduce costs as we made investments into online and other new products and revenue streams," stated Michael C. Bush, president and chief executive officer. "The only problem we have not been able to fix is our balance sheet, which was not predicated on either a severe recession or substantial reduction in newspaper valuations. With the support of our senior lenders, we have voluntarily entered Chapter 11 as the best way to achieve the kind of balance sheet we will need for future growth."

Heartland also operates the Hazard Herald and the Williamson Daily News.

Bush stated that the company is asking the Court "to approve immediately the continuation of all employee and customer programs and certain key vendor initiatives. Most important, we will continue to participate in and serve our communities as we have in the past. Our readers, advertisers, and other business associates will see no change in our day-to-day operations."

Chapter 11 is the portion of law that applies to corporate reorganizations.

Many well-known companies, including Macy's, Continental Airlines, Toys 'R Us, Southland (7Eleven Stores), Winn Dixie Stores, and most recently General Motors and Charter Communications reorganized their debt successfully via Chapter 11. Other newspaper companies that are reorganizing under Chapter 11 include the Chicago Tribune, Los Angeles Times, Philadelphia Inquirer, and Minneapolis Star-Tribune.

"Nothing changes at our newspaper," said Joshua Byers, publisher of The Times. "Our newsroom is working, we're running our presses on schedule, and we're moving newspapers out to readers as usual. Advertising contracts remain in effect, so no one will miss the weekly specials. The only thing that will change is that our parent company will have a better financial foundation, and that's good news as far as we're concerned."

Under the company's Plan of Reorganization, $70 million of existing debt will be exchanged into two term loans of $60 million and $10 million, plus an additional $2 million credit revolver. In addition, the first-lien lenders, led by GE Capital, will be entitled to about 90% of the equity in the reorganized company. Holders of second-lien claims will receive no distribution if they reject the Plan. The Plan also calls for all general, unsecured claims, such as suppliers, to be paid in full at the end of the process in early spring.

Bush acknowledged the thousands of advertisers and subscribers who work with Heartland's newspapers. "Our readers and advertisers are our lifeblood," he said. "We appreciate their support every day. We won't disappoint them."

Heartland employs more than 530 full-time and more than 230 part-time employees. Approximately 15 people work at The Times. Bush credited the company's employees "who have worked so hard to provide newspapers that meet the needs of their reading audiences. We can take pride in consistently offering the best in news, advertising and enter-

Any point to a debt limit these days?

It's almost enough to make you wonder why Congress, in a show of ersatz fiscal responsibility, bothers to set a limit to the national debt at all. But back in more innocent days — 1917, with the passage of a second war bonds act — Congress had the naïve notion that a limit on the amount of debt the government could legally incur would impose some sort of discipline on itself.

As if.

In 1940, the debt ceiling was $49 billion (of course, money was worth more then than it is now). Now it is $12.1 trillion, and with the debt projected to increase by at least $1.4 trillion this year and with the Obama administration spending money as if dollars were going out of style (which they just might if we keep it up), it will be necessary to raise the debt limit again. The Treasury Department has told congressional leaders that if the cap isn't increased by December 31, there's a risk of running out of money for Social Security and veterans' benefits due in early January.

The problem is figuring out a way to do it with the least possible public embarrassment, and as far as possible away from next November's congressional elections.

Democratic leaders in Congress seem to have settled on adding an increase of up to $1.925 trillion to a defense appropriations bill. The hope is that those who resist or try to make political points can be accused of failing to support our military men and women in the field.

Congressional Republicans, undaunted by such a prospect — and apparently unembarrassed that the Bush administration left a $10.6 trillion debt and had to raise the limit seven times in eight years — have vowed to resist and to try to make partisan points. And some moderate Democrats have said they might vote against increasing the debt limit unless it is accompanied by a law creating a bipartisan task force (consisting mostly of sitting lawmakers) to try to get spending under control.

That'll get the job done.

One way or another they'll increase the debt limit, face a few weeks of embarrassment, and then have the shame eclipsed by the next outrage.

House week in review

Christmas is about giving. There would not be a Christmas, after all, if the Gift that God sent to the world about 2,000 years ago in a little town called Bethlehem had never arrived.

So where does that leave the hundreds of thousands of unemployed Americans and thousands of Kentucky jobseekers whose families will likely see little under the tree this year? Many family gift giving traditions will have to change as people limit gift spending, change holiday travel plans or even limit what they give to charity. And let me tell you, charities are feeling the pinch.

Many charities across the country are reporting either a slowdown in donations or a higher demand for services, like food, as they get caught in the recessionary spiral. The Giving USA Foundation, which researches and publishes information about charitable giving, said last month that 93 percent of charities report feeling the effects of the current economic downturn. Some sources say that charitable giving is not expected to reach pre-recession levels until 2012.

One charity that is feeling the pinch of the economy is The Salvation Army, which reportedly has some of the lowest operating costs of any charity. But even thrift cannot take away the sting of what some Salvation Army officials say is a 60 percent increase in demand for the organization's services in the past year. I am sure the same can be said for charities large and small across this country and across Kentucky.

Those who have lost their jobs, are afraid they might, or who are already over budgeted with mortgages and other debt obligations might not be able to give much this year. But for those of us who are fairly secure financially and are able to give, we should-right away. Philanthropy can mean life itself for those at need this holiday season and throughout these tough economic times.

If you celebrate Christmas as a religious holiday as I do, then you know very well the phrase "Jesus is the reason for the season." Without Christ, there would be no Christmas. He was the first and greatest gift of all. Yet Christ made it clear in his teachings that we are here to help those in need, even at great costs to ourselves.

Now is the time to help.

Governor's year in review

by GOV. STEVE BESHEAR

I ran for governor to better position Kentucky to compete in the future.

And despite inheriting a budget mess and dealing with a historic national recession that is damaging our economy while limiting state government's resources, my goals for Kentucky haven't changed.

When we emerge from this recession, Kentucky must emerge not shell-shocked and shattered but stronger than before.

That's why, over the last year, I have vowed to not only act aggressively to help Kentucky families and businesses survive this crisis but also to find ways to move forward on long-range goals.

My priorities have been jobs and expanding economic opportunities, education and the work force, health care and creating a state government that safeguards both the trust and the tax dollars that the public invests in us.

As I mark the end of my second year as governor, I want to point out some of the progress we've made.

Helping families:

■ Began a $2.9 million overhaul of the food stamp program to get aid to families quicker.

■ Expanded unemployment insurance benefits and created a task force to bring solvency to a program that - like those in most other states - has required us to borrow from the federal government.

■ Created a Web site to link families with assistance.

■ Created a Homeownership Protection Center to help families stay in their homes.

Public trust:

■ Changed the culture in the Transportation Cabinet with new rules, procedures and leadership.

■ Created the Kentucky Open

Door program to show how tax dollars are spent.

■ Expanded one of the nation's toughest ethics codes for the executive branch.

Leaner government:

■ Cut more than $800 million in state spending, shrinking the executive branch to its smallest size in two decades.

■ Reached across party lines to balance a $1 billion shortfall, the fifth time we've filled a budget shortfall, while preserving key areas of education, health care and public safety.

■ Began an array of initiatives to reduce energy costs.

■ Created a task force to rein in prison costs by improving drug treatment options and vocational training to help keep felons from returning to prison.

Jobs and economic opportunity:

■ Overhauled Kentucky's tax incentives programs to add flexibility and focus on growing existing businesses, and leveraged those tools to create and retain jobs across the state.

■ Strategically used federal stimulus funds to save or create more than 4,200 jobs.

■ Attracted a national Battery Manufacturing Research and Development Center to put Kentucky at the forefront of the push to develop a domestic supply of advanced battery technologies.

■ Distributed more than $18 million to 10 local workforce investment boards to generate training and employment opportunities.

■ Launched a Career Transitions program at community and technical colleges to retrain laid-off workers for high-growth, high-wage fields.

■ Brought $100 million in transportation and infrastructure to the region surrounding Fort Knox to prepare for a massive military realignment.

■ Worked with Indiana Gov. Mitch Daniels to achieve tangible momentum in the effort to build new bridges across the Ohio River.

Health care:

■ Brought health coverage to 36,000 children who were previously uncovered.

■ Helped needy Kentuckians secure $10.5 million worth of prescription drugs.

■ Launched a ground-breaking initiative to improve the oral health of children in Eastern Kentucky.

■ Joined an innovative national effort aimed at curbing smoking by providing smokers with resources specifically designed to help them quit.

Education:

■ Preserved the basic funding formula for classroom spending by strategic use of federal stimulus funding.

■ Launched Transforming Education in Kentucky, an initiative designed to re-energize public support for education while tying together efforts to improve curriculum, dropout rates, graduation rates and teacher retention.

■ Helped hold down tuition rates while creating a long-term plan to improve affordability and access to higher education.

■ Established a task force designed to streamline and strengthen early childhood development and education programs.

But let me be clear:

This is just a start. We are not satisfied.

We must continue to move forward, despite the recession and despite a pending budget that will be the most difficult one yet to balance.

I will continue to reach out to both parties to find the answers. When I ran for governor, I said I would judge ideas not on whether they were "Democratic ideas" or "Republican ideas" but on whether they were ideas good for Kentucky. I've governed with that philosophy, and I will continue to do so.

Our problems are not Democratic problems or Republican problems; they are Kentucky problems and we must solve them together as Kentuckians.

KSP steps up enforcement efforts during holiday travel

December in the Bluegrass is filled with joyous occasions, family tradition and festive events celebrating Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa and New Year's Eve. Many of these holiday gatherings will include the consumption of alcohol, lending way to the potential for impaired drivers on Kentucky roadways.

Every year law enforcement officials make a plea to those who drink to stay off the roads. While drunk driving is a horrible crime any day of the year, statistics show that the holiday season has the greatest incidence for crashes involving alcohol.

KSP Commissioner Rodney Brewer said his agency will be participating in the 'Over the Limit. Under Arrest.' impaired driving enforcement campaign sponsored by the Kentucky Office of Highway Safety.

"Life is too precious to be lost in a senseless tragedy that causes indescribable hardship," said Brewer. "KSP has a 'no-tolerance' policy. If you are caught driving under the influence, you will go to jail."

Impairment begins with the first drink and impaired driving is against the law, period. There will be no warnings or second chances given. Operating a vehicle with a blood alcohol content of .08 will result in an immediate arrest, even for a first offense.

Brewer advised that KSP will increase road patrols and operate safety checkpoints statewide during the holiday period cracking down on drunk drivers.

"Make no mistake, our message is simple. No matter what you drive, if you are caught driving impaired, you will be arrested. No exceptions, no excuses. We will be out in force to take drunk drivers off the road - and save lives that might otherwise be lost," said Brewer.

On Nov. 3, 2007, many lives were forever changed when Trooper Dusty Corbin responded to the scene of a crash that challenged his emotions and left him with a permanent image of a young life lost.

Eighteen-year-old Samantha Spade was driving to Warsaw to meet a friend when she encountered a drunk driver traveling at a high rate of speed. The driver lost control of his car, crossed the center line, and collided head on with Samantha's car.

Samantha had recently graduated from high school as class valedictorian and started classes at Northern Kentucky University to become a nurse. Tragically, her accomplishments and her future dreams ended at the scene of that crash as she lost her life at the hands of a drunk driver.

"The death of Samantha is yet another example of a heart-wrenching tragedy that could have been prevented," said Trooper Corbin. "Although the driver plead guilty and is serving a twenty-year sentence for this crime, I don't know of any punishment that could bring justice for Samantha."

Samantha's mother, Debbie Powers, received a phone call that no parent ever wants to get - that her daughter had been killed by a drunk driver.

"My life will never be the same. I have suffered the ultimate loss - the loss of a child," said Powers. "Some days the pain is unbearable and all I can think about is my baby girl and wishing I could hold her one more time."

"I sincerely hope that no parent ever has to suffer the loss of a child at the hands of a drunk driver," added Powers. "It's a loss that could be prevented if one would only choose to make a wise decision versus a selfish one."

Lt. David Jude, Commander of the Highway Safety Branch urges friends and family members to take the keys away from anyone who consumes alcohol and arrange for them to be driven home.

"We know there are going to be holiday celebrations and office parties this time of year where alcohol will be consumed, so your best bet is to always designate a sober driver before the parties begin," Jude said.

In my experience, a lot of people who get behind the wheel of a car, and had the proverbial 'two beers,' honestly don't believe they're intoxicated," Jude added. "They don't believe they have consumed enough alcohol to reach the presumptive level of .08, but in fact they have."

"In 2008, KSP made 29,064 DUI arrests in the Commonwealth," remarked Jude. "We need every citizen's help to keep impaired drivers off the road."

KSP established a toll-free number (1-800-222-5555) that citizens can call to report impaired or erratic drivers.

Kentucky's jobless rate drops to 10.6 percent in November FRANKFORT — Kentucky's seasonally adjusted preliminary unemployment rate declined .7 percentage point to 10.6 percent in November 2009 from a revised 11.3 percent in October 2009, according to the Office of Employment and Training (OET), an agency of the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet. November 2009's jobless rate is 3.4 percentage points higher than the 7.2 percent rate recorded in November 2008.

"Kentucky's economy continued to show signs of stabilization in November 2009. However, individuals who have faced long-term unemployment dropping out of the labor force and a rise in the number of people working part-time for economic reasons contributed to the decline in the unemployment rate," said Dr. Justine Detzel, OET chief labor market analyst.

The U.S. seasonally adjusted jobless rate decreased from 10.2 percent in October 2009 to 10 percent in November 2009, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. This 10 percent rate is .6 percentage point below the 10.6 percent rate recorded in Kentucky in November 2009.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure trends rather than actually to count people working.

Four of the 11 major non-farm North American Industry Classification System (NAICS) job sectors reported an employment increase in November 2009, while six decreased and one remained the same, according to OET. A decrease of 4,900 jobs in November 2009 brought Kentucky's nonfarm employment to a seasonally adjusted total of 1,758,800. Since November 2008, Kentucky's nonfarm employment has plummeted by 79,300.

"Since the start of the recession in December 2007, non-farm employment in Kentucky has decreased by 113,600 positions. This marks the 21st month in a row of year-over-year employment decreases and the seventh largest year-over-year drop on records dating back to January 1990," Detzel said.

According to the seasonally adjusted employment data, Kentucky's leisure and hospitality sector expanded by 2,000 jobs in November 2009. Since November 2008, employment in the sector has grown by 2,100 positions. The leisure and hospitality sector includes arts, entertainment and recreation, accommodations and food services and drinking places industries.

"The employment gains in November 2009 were concentrated in accommodation and food services enterprises, reflecting a hotel, a beverage service business, and various restaurants opening," she said.

The professional and business services sector rose by 600 positions in November 2009. This area has lost 1,900 employees since November 2008. The professional and business services sector includes professional, scientific and technical services, management of companies and administrative and support and waste management, including temporary help agencies.

"November 2009 represents the fourth consecutive month of employment increases in professional and business services companies. The job gains are attributed to the professional, scientific and technical services industry, which is indicative of the opening of a computer establishment," Detzel said.

The government sector, which includes public education, public administration agencies and state-owned hospitals, increased by 200 jobs in November 2009. The sector has 2,800 fewer jobs compared to November 2008.

The information sector added 100 positions in November 2009. This segment, which includes firms involved in publishing, Internet activities, data processing, broadcasting and news syndication, has decreased by 600 positions since November 2008.

The mining and logging sector maintained steady employment in November 2009. The sector has added 400 workers since November 2008 because of hiring in the coal mining industry.

Kentucky's trade, transportation and utilities sector shrunk by 3,900 jobs in November 2009. This area includes retail and wholesale trade, transportation and warehousing businesses and utilities. It is the largest sector in Kentucky with 357,700 employees. Since November 2008, the number of jobs in this sector has plunged by 21,000.

"Consumers are curtailing non-essential purchases in an effort to make ends meet. As households retrench and rein in discretionary expenditures, transportation enterprises have been forced to cut back," Detzel said. "Furthermore, retail trade enterprises also suffered job losses in November 2009, reflecting store closings."

Kentucky's manufacturing sector lost 1,900 jobs in November 2009. Compared to November 2008, jobs in the sector plummeted by 31,400.

"Industrial employment has dropped in 17 of the last 18 months. While both the durable goods and non-durable goods subsectors have endured decreases in employment, job losses were concentrated in the durable goods subsector, reflecting layoffs at an automobile parts manufacturer, and the closing of another automobile parts producer," Detzel said.

The state's other services sector, which includes such establishments as repair and maintenance businesses, personal and laundry services,

Deadline extended for cities, counties applying for ARC grant funding

Officials at The Center for Rural Development in Somerset have extended the deadline for submitting applications for grant-funding support from the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) for community strategic planning.

The Center's "Developing and Implementing Community Strategies Program" will accept applications for a first round ARC mini-grant funding through Jan. 15 from local governments in cities and counties in Southern and Eastern Kentucky.

In 2010, The Center will award $145,000 in ARC mini-grant funding to communities to encourage and support improved community strategic planning throughout the region. The Center will be awarding two cycles of mini-grants for either the successful creation of a strategic plan or the implementation of priority community development projects identified in existing strategic plans.

The Center also is encouraging the use of technology solutions in the implementation and execution of these plans and projects.

Individual project awards will range from $5,000 up to a maximum of $10,000. All projects must be completed within a six-month period.

Grants are expected to be awarded in February. The application period for the second cycle of funding will be announced at a later date.

Counties eligible to apply for ARC funding support through The Center include: Bath, Bell, Breathitt, Casey, Clay, Clinton, Cumberland, Estill, Floyd, Harlan, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lawrence, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Lincoln, Magoffin, Martin, McCreary, Menifee, Monroe, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Rockcastle, Russell, Wayne, Whitley, and Wolfe. Cities within those counties may also apply.

The Center for Rural Development—the Center of Excellence for rural Kentucky and the nation—provides economic and community development programs to residents in a 42-county primary service area of Southern and Eastern Kentucky, and is home to several statewide and national technology-based programs.

For more information on programs available through The Center, visit www.centertech.com.

dealing with it to the best of our ability."

One way county leaders are attempting to deal with this most recent disaster is to make available to residents shelters in the county where they can find refuge until power is restored.

According to a list sent from the county Monday, shelters are available through the Red Cross, Graceway Church, the Martin Community Center, the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens Center, the Mud Creek Senior Citizens Center and Christian Appalachian Project.

Marshall has sent his emergency declaration to Frankfort, he said; now comes to task of taking care of the people.

"I really compliment my magistrates and their road crews because of the long, hard work that has been ongoing since Friday when the storm hit," said Marshall. "I'm also appreciative of the workers who are trying to restore power, working daylight to dark."

The Floyd County Rescue Squad had, as of Monday morning, rescued some 25 people from situations due to the snowstorm, Marshall said, adding that he was also grateful for their help and assistance in this time of need. Shelters and numbers by which to contact the shelters are as follows:

- Red Cross - 339-5911
- Graceway Church - 285-3136
- Wheelwright - 452-4305
- Martin Community Center - 285-9400
- Betsy Layne Senior Citizens Center - 478-9583
- Mud Creek Senior Citizens Center - 587-2507
- Christian Appalachian Project - 788-0283

It is advised that if you visit these shelters for assistance that you bring pillows and blankets with you if possible.

Crew

road.

"Chris didn't hesitate, he jumped right in and pulled the guy out of the water," said Paul Bailey, superintendent II at the Magoffin County garage. "Chris saw him floating in the water and dived off the bank. He definitely saved his life."

Once McCarty got Howes to the side of the stream, two other crew members - Matthew Bailey and Stanley Howard - helped get him to the top of the bank, along with the help of a private citizen, Kentucky State Police and members of Magoffin County's rescue squad responded to the scene, and Howes was taken to an area hospital with head injuries.

"Our employees at our garages work long hours during winter weather events to keep the roads safe for motorists, so we already know how important they are and how many sacrifices they make for the public's benefit," said Mark A. Westfall, chief district engineer for Highway District 10, which includes Magoffin County. "These are extraordinary individuals, and the heroic actions of Chris McCarty just serve to reinforce that point. He took action to save someone's life without regard for his own safety, which is the classic definition of a hero. We salute him for his heroic deed. Matthew Bailey and Stanley Howard also were a vital part of this rescue operation, and they are to be commended as well. These three workers are fine representatives of our staff, and we are proud of them along with all our other employees who go 'above and beyond' on behalf of Kentucky motorists."

Judge

"I take this job with much honor and I'm looking forward to it, but also I'm saddened about leaving the friends and colleagues I work with in the county and commonwealth attorney's offices," Marshall said. "I'm glad the community considered myself as one of the three names to submit to Frankfort and at this point I'm looking forward to being able to assume the role of judge and see what kind of difference I can make."

Marshall says he feels comfortable with the family court system, considering that since there's been a family court system in Floyd County he has been involved in that process.

"I've been doing this ever since there's been family court," he said. "I've been working as a prosecutor in family court, so I'm very well aware of the types of cases that are heard in family court."

As for what his plans are once he assumes the judgeship, which will most likely be sometime in the first week of January, Marshall said his goals are simple and remain within the vision of the family court system.

"I would always indicate that putting the interest of children at all times first," said Marshall, "but also making sure that everyone's rights are protected along the way."

Marshall will next face a May primary election to retain the judgeship.

Office

As a result, city leaders in Wheelwright have asked that the building be deeded back to the city, a request that prompted Floyd County Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall to offer up an official recommendation during the fiscal court's regular meeting to give the building back to that community.

"I'm recommending to this court that we deed back the building to the city of Wheelwright," Marshall said in his motion, which carried this past Friday. "Let them have advantage of it. It's their heritage."

All cases that were being handled at the Wheelwright office will now be sent back to the Prestonsburg office, Power said.

"We didn't want to cause any undue hardships on any of our people that participated in this program," Marshall said. "I just want the people to know we have made every effort to maintain that agency, but due to their standards they have chosen to relocate their people to Prestonsburg."

Power said that approximately 50 percent of Floyd County residents were currently receiving help from the agency in one form or another.

Remembering You at Christmas Time

Anthony Paul Osborne
Feb. 19, 1987 - Nov. 10, 2006

Christmas In Heaven
I see the countless Christmas trees, around the world below, With tiny lights like heaven's stars, reflecting in the snow.

The sight is so spectacular, please wipe away that tear,
For I am spending CHRISTMAS WITH JESUS CHRIST this year.

I hear the many Christmas songs, that people hold so dear,
But the sound of music can't compare, with the CHRISTMAS CHOIR up here.

I have no words to tell you, of the JOY their voices bring,
For it is beyond description, to HEAR THE ANGELS SING.

I know how much you miss me, I see the pain inside your heart,
But, I am not so far away, we really aren't apart.

So, be happy for me dear ones, for you know I'm spending CHRISTMAS WITH JESUS THIS YEAR.

I send you each a special gift, from my heavenly home above:
"MY UNDYING LOVE!"

I can't tell you of the SPLENDOR, or the PEACE here in this place,
Can you just imagine CHRISTMAS WITH OUR SAVIOR, face to face.

I ask Him to lift your spirit, as I tell Him of your love,
So then PRAY FOR ONE ANOTHER, as you lift your eyes above.

So, have a MERRY CHRISTMAS, and wipe away that tear, please let your hearts be joyful and let your spirit sing,
For I am spending CHRISTMAS IN HEAVEN, and I'm walking WITH THE KING.

We love you, and miss you more every day.
We love you, always!

Social Security News: Retirement estimator better than before

by JENNIFER HOPKINS SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Improvements to one of the most popular online services in government - the Retirement Estimator, located at www.socialsecurity.gov/estimator - allow more people than ever before to get a personalized and instant estimate of future Social Security retirement benefits.

Since its launch last year, the Retirement Estimator has provided more than four million personalized estimates, and is one of the most highly rated online services in government.

The most recent customer satisfaction numbers are at an all-time high. The latest report from the American Customer Satisfaction Index for E-Government ranks the Retirement Estimator as the top service at 91 percent. It is followed closely by Social Security's online retirement application, with a 90 percent customer satisfaction rating and the Medicare Extra Help application, with an 87 percent rating. These three Social Security services are the top three online services in government.

You may be wondering: if the Retirement Estimator is the most popular online service in government, what can be done to improve it?

One major improvement is that more people will be able to use it. Previously, people who had not yet filed for monthly Social Security benefits but who were already enrolled in Medicare were not able to take advantage of the service. Now they can. So if you have Medicare coverage but have delayed filing for your Social Security benefits and you would like to get an estimate of your future benefits, just visit www.socialsecurity.gov/estimator.

Other improvements are coming soon. Next year, the Retirement Estimator will be the first online service available in Spanish.

Would you like to get an immediate and personalized estimate of your retirement benefits right now? Visit www.socialsecurity.gov/estimator. To get an estimate, you'll need to enter your first and last name, date and place of birth, Social Security number, and mother's maiden name. If the information matches Social Security's records, the Retirement Estimator combines this information with the information that Social Security has on record, including your yearly earnings, to provide a quick and reliable online benefit estimate.

While you're checking out the most popular online service in government, try out some of our other online services and information as well. You can find it all at www.socialsecurity.gov.

For more information about online services just call your local Social Security Office in Prestonsburg at (606) 886-8525. The office is located at 1897 Kentucky Route 321 in Prestonsburg KY.

Jobs

religious organizations and civic and professional organizations, decreased by 600 positions in November 2009. This sector had 900 fewer jobs in November 2009 than in November 2008.

The construction sector declined by 600 positions in November 2009. Since November 2008, employment in the construction sector has fallen by 17,500 jobs.

"This marks the seventh consecutive month of declining employment in the construction sector, which is a sign of debility in specialty trade contractors and financial difficulties delaying commercial and public works construction projects," Detzel said.

The financial activities sector fell by 500 positions in November 2009. This segment, which includes businesses involved in finance, insurance, real estate and property leasing or rental, has fallen by 5,500 positions over the past 12 months.

The educational and health services sector dropped by 300 jobs in November 2009. The sector had 200 fewer workers in November 2009 than November 2008. This sector includes private and nonprofit establishments that provide either education and training or health care and social assistance to their clients.

The U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics' monthly estimate of the number of employed Kentuckians for November 2009 was 1,845,641 on a seasonally adjusted basis. This figure is up 6,836 from the 1,838,805 employed in October 2009, but down 62,191 from the 1,907,832 employed in November 2008.

The monthly estimate of the number of unemployed Kentuckians for November 2009 was 218,674, down 14,712 from the 233,386 Kentuckians unemployed in October 2009, but up 70,923 from the 147,751 unemployed in November 2008.

The monthly estimate of the number of Kentuckians in the civilian labor force for November 2009 was 2,064,315. This figure is down 7,876 from the 2,072,191 recorded in October 2009, but up 8,732 from the 2,055,583 recorded in November 2008.

Civilian labor force statistics include non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who are actively seeking work. They do not include unemployed Kentuckians who have not looked for employment within the past four weeks.

Kentucky's statewide unemployment rate and employment levels are seasonally adjusted. Employment statistics undergo sharp fluctuations due to seasonal events, such as weather changes, harvests, holidays and school openings and closings. Seasonal adjustments eliminate these influences and make it easier to observe statistical trends. However, because of the small sample size, county unemployment rates are not seasonally adjusted.

KDMC offering free vascular screening in Paintsville

ASHLAND — A free vascular screening will be offered by the King's Daughters Medical Center (KDMC) Mobile Health Unit, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Jan. 22, at Tractor Supply Co., 980 Third St., in Paintsville.

KDMC nurse practitioner Dana Smith will review patient results. The screening includes lipid panel (fasting required), ankle brachial index (ABI), blood glucose, and an electrocardiogram (EKG).

A lipid profile (blood test gives a breakdown of good and bad cholesterol levels. ABI is a measurement of blood pressure at the ankle to check for signs of peripheral artery disease. Blood glucose screening checks the level of sugar in the blood. An EKG is a non-invasive test to measure electrical activity in the heart by attaching electrodes to the skin.

Additional screening guidelines may apply, which help us see those most at risk for vascular disease. Space is limited and appointments are required by calling (888) 377-5362.

Recent studies show that more than 80 million people in the United States have one or more forms of cardiovascular disease. Better lifestyle habits combined with early medical intervention may help reduce your risk for heart attack and stroke. This vascular screening is provided free by KDMC, in cooperation with the Kentucky Heart Foundation (KHF). KHF is a nonprofit organization working to improve the life expectancy of people affected by cardiovascular disease. The foundation oversees cardiac research, education and prevention programs and is closely linked with the heart and vascular specialists at KDMC.

KDMC is a locally controlled, not-for-profit, 465-bed regional referral center, offering comprehensive cardiac, vascular, medical, surgical, maternity, pediatric, rehabilitative, psychiatric, cancer, neurological, pain care, wound care and home care services. by STEVE LeMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

RACELAND – Junior Shannon Turner scored a tournament-record 34 points Monday evening but it wasn't enough to lift South Floyd over Waggener in the Derby City Classic at Raceland. Late run costs Lady Bears

Mosley notches double-double for Pikeville in Classic loss

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE – Olivet Nazarene University used a 16-4 run late in the second half to overcome Pikeville College 108-101 in the finale of the 2009 Gatti's Classic Saturday.

Pikeville (9-4) took an 86-81 lead with 7:13 remaining when sophomore guard Megan Mosley scored on a layup. But after that, the Tigers took control.

Olivet Nazarene (8-6) got points from five different players, and when freshman Rachel Kearney scored on back-to-back layups – the last coming with 3:48 left – the Tigers led 97-90. The stretch took 4:25 and Pikeville could never recover.

Junior Simone Coburn had a double-double with 29 points and 11 rebounds to lead four Tigers in double figures. Sophomore Danielle Pipal flipped in 12, thanks to hitting all six free throws, while Kearney came off the bench for a dozen. Senior Courtney Neil finished with 10.

The Lady Bears got 37 points from junior Natiera Hinton. She also had eight rebounds, eight assists and seven steals in the loss. Mosley finished with a double-double of 19 points and 10 assists while turning the ball over only once in 36 pressure-packed minutes.

Lady Bears open Gatti's Classic with Watson's 200th win

Mosley, Hinton lead Pikeville past Asbury

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville College bolted out to a big lead and held on down the stretch to knock off Asbury College 84-76 in the opening game of the Gatti's Classic Friday night.

The win raised Pikeville's record to 9-3 and gave Coach Bill Watson his 200th win as Lady Bear coach. Watson, the school's all-time leader in women's basketball wins, is only the second coach in Pikeville College basketball history to reach 200 wins.

Pikeville led 49-30 at the half and stretched its lead to 27 when sophomore Jalisa Jones nailed a three with 11:36 left. The trey ended an 8-0 run for the Lady Bears and raised the lead to 69-42.

From there, however, Asbury methodically got trimmed the lead, and when freshman Dorian Downs scored on a layup with 39 seconds left, the Lady Bear lead was 79-76.

Pikeville scored the last five of the game, however, with junior Natiera Hinton tossing in four, including a pair of free throws with 20 seconds left set the final score.

Four Lady Bears reached double figures in the scoring column, led by sophomore guard Megan Mosley's 24 points. She added five rebounds. Hinton had 15 points and nine rebounds, while Bailey came off the bench to toss in 14 while pulling six rebounds. Bailey hit 8-of-10 from the line.

Asbury (6-6) put four players in double figures, paced by sophomore Courtney Albin's 22 points. Downs followed with 13 points while sophomore Hayley Spivey and Paintsville freshman Laura Carroll finished with 12 each.

Kentucky women defeat Louisville, remain perfect

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — The University of Kentucky women's basketball team used its stifling defense to force a school-record 38 turnovers on a season-high 21 steals en route to a 101-67 win over intrastate rival Louisville on Sunday in Memorial Coliseum. A season-high 7,323 fans witnessed the game as the Cats improved to a school-record 10-0 start.

Four Wildcats scored in double figures led by junior All-Southeastern Conference forward Victoria Dunlap's game-high 27 points. She also added nine rebounds and a career-best eight steals and four blocks in the second-largest margin of victory in the series. Junior point guard Amber Smith (Winter Haven, Fla.) netted a career-high 19 points and dished out a game-high five assists while freshman guard A'dia Mathies (Louisville) and junior Carly Morrow (Chattanooga, Tenn.) added 15 and 12 points, respectively. All 10 players that saw action scored at least two points.

"I just left a really happy group of Wildcats in the locker room and I just couldn't be more pleased and proud of them," Kentucky Coach Matthew Mitchell said. "They absolutely earned a big victory today. They played with incredible enthusiasm, incredible energy and incredible effort. It was a really good day for our team and I am really happy for them. They worked extremely hard as a team."

Kentucky blitzed Louisville from the get-go, forcing seven turnovers before the first media timeout. The Cards cut the Wildcats' lead to six points twice inside the first eight minutes before Kentucky sprinted on an 18-6 run to take a 30-12 advantage with 7:50 to go. Six different Wildcats scored during the run led by Dunlap's five points. Consecutive conventional three-point plays off the break by Smith and Morrow highlighted the spurt. Kentucky never trailed by less than 16 points and took a 49-26 lead at the half.

"Our plan was to try to take advantage of our speed, quickness and athleticism," Mitchell said. "Our team works very hard every day on defensive fundamentals and footwork and today we were able to get some good traps. It was tough on Louisville today. Our players did the best job all year of staying in a stance and staying in defensive position. Those things allowed us to turn them over. We knew, coming in, that we needed to create a lot of turnovers to be successful."

Louisville (6-5) had no answer for UK's pressure defense in a physical, start-and-stop game that featured 59 fouls, including 34 in the first half. The Cats didn't back down in the second half either as they built a 30-point lead (76-46) with 9:57 remaining in the game. UK led by as many as 38 points (95-57) with 3:19 to go.

"We were absolutely terrible today," U of L Head Coach Jeff Walz said. "Since we lost our two point guards, we have been trying to find something to help us get the ball cross half court and make the next pass."

"We do two things very well right now, that's foul and turn the ball over."

The Wildcats, who entered the game ranked third nationally in turnover margin (+9.6), scored 39 points off the U of L turnovers and have now caused 20 or turnovers in eight of 10 games this season, including each of the last seven contests.

"We want to continue focusing on what we are doing which is playing good defense, pushing the ball in transition and playing together as a team," Morrow said. "This is a good team win for us as well as for our program. This game builds confidence for us as we go in to our next games. We are trying to focus in on what we really do best. I think we did that today."

Neither team shot the ball well as both hit 39.7 percent from the field. The Cats shot 69.2 percent from the free-throw line and set the school record for free throws made (36) and attempted (52). The Cardinals went 80.0 percent (20-of-25) from the charity stripe and shot just 14.3 percent (1-of-7) from three-point land.

Becky Burke led Louisville in scoring with 21 points. Monique Reid and Ashley Rainey each grabbed a game-high 10 rebounds.

Kentucky reached the 100-point plateau for the second time this season and 34th in program history. Earlier this season, UK recorded a 107-53 win over Miami (Ohio) on Dec. 1. Kentucky is 34-0 when scoring 100 points.

UK improved to 29-17 in the all-time series against Louisville, including a 19-4 mark in Lexington. The victory snaps a five-game losing streak against the Cardinals. The Wildcats are now 68-30 all-time against teams from the BIG EAST Conference, 2-0 this season.

UK football team awards announced for 2009

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — Wide receiver/quarterback/kick returner Randall Cobb and defensive tackle Corey Peters received multiple honors in the University of Kentucky football team awards for the 2009 season.

Cobb was voted the Wildcats' most valuable player in balloting by the Kentucky team members, one of two awards elected by the squad.

A sophomore from Alcoa, Tenn., Cobb leads the team in pass receiving with 37 catches for 427 yards and four touchdowns. While operating at quarterback out of the "WildCobb" formation, he has rushed for 537 yards and 10 TDs. He's also averaging 13.5 yards on punt returns and 26.5 yards on kickoff returns. He ranks second in the SEC in touchdowns and third in the league in scoring, punt returns and all-purpose yardage.

The coaching staff named Cobb as the team's most outstanding offensive player and Peters as the team's most outstanding defensive player. A senior from Louisville, Peters notched 52 tackles, 11 tackles for loss, four quarterback sacks and five pass breakups. He led SEC defensive tackles in sacks and tackles for loss.

The other honor voted by the players, the team's most inspirational player, was shared by Cobb and senior linebacker Sam Maxwell (Hartwell, Ga.). Maxwell totaled 80 tackles this season, along with six interceptions, the most pickoffs ever in one season by a UK linebacker, and seven pass breakups.

Peters and senior tight end Ross Bogue (Suwanee, Ga.) were bestowed with the Jerry Claiborne Award as the players who best exemplify the ideals of academic success and team attitude associated with one of UK's most popular head coaches. Peters and Bogue have career grade-point averages over 3.0, with Bogue having graduated already and Peters set to graduate at the conclusion of the current semester.

A pair of seniors received the team's most outstanding offensive lineman award, tackle Zipp Duncan (Magnolia) and center Jorge Gonzalez (Tampa, Fla.). Duncan and Gonzalez have led the O-Line that is helping UK average 193.2 rushing yards per game, the team's best mark since 1995. UK ranks in the top 25 nationally in rushing yardage, fewest quarterback sacks allowed and fewest tackles for loss allowed.

Senior John Conner (West Chester, Ohio) was chosen as the special teams player of the year for his outstanding performance in the kicking game. Also the team's starting fullback, Conner has rushed for 156 yards and two touchdowns this season while catching five passes for 46 yards and one TD. In addition, he is a tremendous blocker.

The most improved player was won by a pair of sophomores, offensive guard Stuart Hines (Bowling Green) and linebacker Danny Trevathan (Leesburg, Fla.). Hines is a part of the line that is helping UK average 193.2 rushing yards per game, the team's best mark since 1995. UK ranks in the top 25 nationally in rushing yardage, fewest quarterback sacks allowed and fewest tackles for loss allowed.

The most outstanding first-year player honors went to freshman quarterback Morgan Newton, along with junior defensive end DeQuin Evans. Originally headed for a redshirt season, Newton (Carmel, Ind.) started the last seven games after Mike Hartline was injured, helping lead UK to a 5-2 record. He completed 62 of 112 passes (55.4 percent) for 608 yards and five touchdowns. He also rushed for 93 net yards and two TDs. Evans (Long Beach, Calif.) made a great adjustment in his transfer from junior college. He collected 36 tackles and led the team with 12.5 tackles for loss and six quarterback sacks.

Two Wildcats are rewarded for their dedication in practice as the most valuable scout team players. This year's honorees are a pair of true freshmen, center Sam Simpson (Lexington) and defensive tackle Mister Cobble (Louisville).

Late season quota cow elk hunt drawing results posted online

TIMES STAFF REPORT

FRANKFORT — A list of hunters drawn for the late season quota elk hunt on private land is now posted online at the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' Web site at fw.ky.gov. The hunt opens Jan. 23, 2010 and closes Feb. 5. Drawn hunters also will be notified by mail.

Each hunter is randomly drawn from the pool of those who applied for the regular quota elk hunts. Hunters must reside in the 16-county elk restoration zone to be eligible for this hunt.

"The purpose of this hunt is to target elk hunting in areas where nuisance elk complaints have historically occurred," said Tina Brunjes, big game program coordinator for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

"Hunters who check the list online can follow links to maps that show the two Elk Management Units (EMUs) open for this hunt: Stoney Fork EMU and Knott County EMU," said Brunjes. "Only private lands are open for this hunt. All public land within these EMUs is closed to elk hunting."

Hunters drawn for the 25 tags will have the choice this year of hunting Stoney Fork EMU or Knott County EMU rather than being limited to just one of these units. The tags for this hunt cost $30 for Kentucky residents, the same as for the regular elk quota hunts. Hunters must also possess an annual Kentucky hunting license.

Free youth hunting and trapping seasons perfect for Christmas vacation

by HAYLEY LYNCH
KENTUCKY AFIELD

FRANKFORT — After the presents, the huge meal, the Christmas movies, football games and leftovers, there's another way to enjoy vacation time with your family this holiday season. Kentucky's free youth seasons offer families a chance to enjoy the outdoors without requiring their kids to buy a license or permit. It's a welcome break after buying all those Christmas presents.

Children and teens ages 15 and under may hunt deer with a firearm Dec. 26-27, and may hunt and trap small game and furbearers Dec. 26 - Jan. 1, all without a license or permit.

"We want to promote youth participation in hunting. We want kids to hunt at the youngest age their parents feel they are ready," said Bill Balda, recruitment and retention branch manager for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "We know if we can get youth interested in hunting by the age of 12 or 13 they will most likely be lifelong hunters — and hunters are an integral part of our wildlife management."

Kids aren't just license and permit exempt during these seasons; they are also exempt from hunter education requirements. However, adult supervision laws are in place to make sure they stay safe in the woods.

Youth 15 and under who hunt deer with a firearm must always hunt beside an adult.

The adult must be in a position to take immediate control of the youth's firearm at all times.

Small game and furbearer hunters under 12 who do not have a hunter education card must hunt with an adult regardless of the hunting method they use.

Adults should always ensure kids follow hunter safety rules. "Our most common incidents that cause injuries during hunting are falling out of tree stands, accidental discharge of firearms and failing to identify the target or make sure there's a good backstop," Balda said. "As far as tree stands, if the child or adult is leaving the ground, they need to be tied off to the tree. They need to use a body harness tied to a safety strap around the tree."

Hunters can prevent accidents with firearms by treating every gun as if it were loaded. That means always pointing the gun in a safe direction, keeping it unloaded and the action open until the hunt begins, and keeping your finger off the trigger until you are ready to shoot.

"Be sure of your target, what's in front of it, and what's behind it," Balda said. "If you're small game hunting, never follow across the line. That means if a bird flushes, never follow the bird with the muzzle of your gun across the line of hunters beside you."

Finally, be sure to take kids out ahead of time to a range or another safe place to shoot. Help the youth hunter get comfortable with his or her firearm and teach them to safely carry and shoot it before ever hitting the woods.

"Don't just get out of bed and go hunting," said Balda. "Getting kids familiar with their guns makes them more confident and less nervous."

Statewide bag limits and equipment restrictions apply during these hunting opportunities just like other seasons. Kentucky's hunter orange clothing law is also in effect for all hunters during the free youth deer weekend. For detailed regulations, check the 2009-10 Kentucky Hunting & Trapping Guide, available online at fw.ky.gov and wherever licenses are sold.

With a little preparation and an eye on safety, the upcoming free youth seasons are perfect opportunities for families to enjoy the outdoors together during Christmas vacation.

Author Hayley Lynch is an award-winning writer and associate editor for Kentucky Afield magazine, the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. She loves deer hunting, shotgun sports and introducing women to the outdoors.

TIMES STAFF REPORT

MOREHEAD — Morehead State University linebacker Wes McDermott was named Associated Press All-American third-team Wednesday.

McDermott led a Morehead State defense that finished first in the nation in tackles-for-loss per game at 9.86. The Eagles finished seventh in the nation in total defense at 266.27 yards allowed per game and only allowed 72.5 yards per game on the ground which was good for fourth in the nation.

Little League launches online chartering

TIMES STAFF REPORT

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — To be a member of Little League, thousands of cities, towns, communities and neighborhoods throughout the world annually apply for a charter with Little League Baseball and Softball. When leagues prepare their applications to charter for the 2010 season, today's technology will allow for process to be completed from a computer.

For the first time, Little League International in South Williamsport, Pa., is encouraging leagues to apply for a charter using an online service available through the Little League Data Center, at: www.LittleLeague.org.

The Data Center link is: <http://datacenter.activeteamsports.com/llb/index.jsp>. An online tutorial demonstration on how to charter online is available here: <http://www.littleleague.org/onlinecharter/>

The Data Center is the archive of all of the local leagues currently part of Little League. It provides access to specific profiles for each league, using the identification number. Leagues log in to the Data Center to update profile information.

A similar process will now give a local league's board of directors the opportunity to complete the charter application and submit it electronically.

As leagues explore this method, they will see that the charter application is identical to the paper version. The only difference is payment will not be submitted along with the completed form.

Instead, the league representative submitting the form will receive an invoice that is to be printed and mailed to Little League International along with that league's charter fees for the 2010 season.

Little League did explore the option of online payment using a credit card, but the standard online convenience fee is four percent per transaction. Not wanting to pass that cost on to leagues, Little League International made the decision to maintain its current method of payment.

Earlier this month, Little League International invited several leagues to test the online chartering service. The process proved successful, and to date, 15 leagues have chartered online without Little League promoting the service.

Local league presidents are encouraged to take advantage of the electronic chartering option. Once a league's chartered is approved and all fees are paid in full it will receive the league supplies/ASAP (A Safety Awareness Program) CD, other pertinent operational items; and will be eligible for Little League insurance.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

Falling through Alice's looking glass

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

I've been thinking a lot lately about "Alice in Wonderland"--yes, the Lewis Carroll classic. It's meant to be a book for children, but sometimes I wonder if children's books aren't really written more for adults.

I would be willing to bet that you've never really thought about how much of the dialogue of "Alice" (the actual name of the book was "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland") has seeped into our everyday life. Have you ever caught yourself thinking, "Curiouser and curiouser," or "I'm late, I'm late, for a very important date!" or perhaps "Off with her head"? All from Alice!

"Alice" has been on my mind lately because of one of the book's basic premises: Things aren't always what they seem, or at least what they appear to be. Or, to quote The Duchess, "Never imagine yourself not to be otherwise than what it might appear to others that you were or might have been was not otherwise than what you had been would have appeared to them to be otherwise."

Sometimes research can be like that. You think a story is headed one way and it veers off in a totally different way, or you think that something's supposed to be bad, and it turns out to be quite good.

We all know viruses are bad, right? Turns out that's true, except when they're good! Agricultural Research Service (ARS) scientists have shown that enzymes from bacteria-infecting viruses known as phages actually could have beneficial applications for human and animal health.

Phage enzymes called endolysins attack bacteria by breaking down their cell walls. And unlike antibiotics, which tend to have a broad range, endolysins are comparatively specific. This means non-target bacteria could be less likely to develop resistance to the endolysins.

Studies by ARS scientists have shown that the phage enzymes could be used to wipe out multi-drug-resistant pathogens that affect both animals and humans, such as the dreaded MRSA (methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus).

The scientists also showed that the enzymes can knock out pathogens in biofilms, which are matrices of microorganisms that can attach to a variety of surfaces. Biofilms are resistant to antibiotics, and contribute to many human infections.

And the scientists have shown that using two endolysins--lysostaphin and LysK--together can inhibit the growth of staphylococcal strains that cause mastitis in cattle and staph infections in humans.

Turning a totally different direction, ARS scientists and their university colleagues have just published a new study on the possible causes of Colony Collapse Disorder (CCD), the mysterious problem that's plagued beekeepers over the past few years. You remember this one: It's the disease that causes bees to simply disappear.

The research team looked more than 200 individual variables in 91 bee colonies from 13 apiaries in Florida and California, where many beekeepers overwinter their honey bees. Among the factors for which the researchers screened were bacteria, mites, protozoan parasites called Nosema, viruses, the nutritional status of the bees, and yes, 171 pesticides. Adult bees, wax comb, stored and processed pollen, and young bees, called "brood," were all sampled.

Now, some folks who have followed the CCD story for a while have been quite insistent that the problem is pesticides, plain and simple. But this latest study suggests the answer is neither plain nor simple. While the researchers did find detectable levels of residues from 50 different pesticides in all the sampled colonies, they

Highlands among top facilities for EMR technology

Prestonsburg -- Technology has proven invaluable in many industries, perhaps none more critically important than in health care. The rising popularity and need for electronic medical record (EMR) technologies is defining a new standard for patient safety and quality care.

However, a recent article in the New England Journal of Medicine noted that fewer than 8 percent of hospitals in the United States have EMRs in a single clinical department, and only 1.5 percent have EMRs across all clinical departments, a technology adoption level termed "abysmally low" by article author Ashish Jha, a physician and Associate Professor at the Harvard School of Public Health.

In the Big Sandy region, however, Highlands Regional Medical Center can be counted among the top hospitals in the nation who have electronic medical records in all clinical departments. HRMC Chief Information Officer JD Jackson noted that the availability of electronic medical records "allows our professional staff to communicate more clearly and quickly in meeting the healthcare needs of our patients." Jackson said that medical histories, medications, allergies, immunization status, lab test results, and radiology images can be shared among physicians and staff on a timely basis.

Science

found no association between increased pesticide levels and CCD.
In fact, the pyrethroid insecticide Esfenvalerate, which is used to control a wide variety of pests on vegetable, fruit and nut crops, was actually more prevalent in the wax of the colonies that had never suffered from CCD. This insecticide was found in 32 percent of the non-CCD colonies, compared with 5 percent of the CCD colonies. And coumaphos, used to treat varroa mites in honey bees, was also found in higher levels in the non-CCD colonies.
However, the researchers did find a higher total load of pathogens--viruses, bacteria and fungi--in the colonies that had suffered CCD, providing some good clues as to where to look (or not look) next for answers.

Viruses that could be good for you, higher pesticide residues in healthier bee hives ... Alice would feel right at home!

RATE.

RATE.

1. Capacity Charge.

The Capacity Charge, stated in $/KW, will be determined from the auction price set in the Reliability Pricing Model (RPM) auction held by PJM for each PJM planning year. The auction price will be adjusted by the class average diversity factor (DF) derived from billing demands for the preceding year and the 5 highest coincident peaks established for the class at the time of the 5 highest PJM hourly values. The price will be further adjusted for demand losses (DL) and a factor to reflect the PJM-required reserve margin (RM).

Capacity Charge = RPM x DF x DL x RM

Where:
RPM = Results of the annual RPM auction price applicable to the AEP load zone = ~~$9.404~~ $5.301/ KW-month
DF = Diversity Factor
C.I.P. - T.O.D. = 0.83 $0.72
Q.P. = 0.68 $0.72
DL = Demand Loss Factor
RM = Reserve Margin = RPM clearing price reserve margin = 4.475 $1.165

3. Transmission Charge.

The Transmission Charge, stated in $/KW, will be determined from the Network Integration Transmission Service (NITS) rate for the AEP East Zone. The NITS rate will be adjusted by the class average diversity factor (DF) derived from billing demands for the preceding year and the coincident peak established for the class at the time of the highest AEP East Zone hourly value. The price will be further adjusted for demand losses (DL).

Transmission Charge = NITS x DF x DL

Where:
NITS = NITS Rate for the AEP East Zone = $1.7574 / KW 2.1116/KW
DF = Diversity Factor
C.I.P. - T.O.D. = 0.83 0.66
Q.P. = 0.67 0.63
DL = Demand Loss Factor

4. Other Market Services Charge.

The Other Market Services Charge, stated in $/KWH is developed using all other PJM related market costs allocated to Kentucky Power Company from PJM not captured elsewhere. It is applied to all usage in excess of the customer-designated level for each billing period.

Secondary = $0.002915 / 0.002499 KWH
Primary = $0.002842 / 0.002404 KWH
Subtransmission = $0.002808 / 0.002359 KWH
Transmission = $0.002765 / 0.002337 KWH

5. Distribution Charge.

The Distribution Charge, stated in $/KW, is equivalent to the distribution portion of the current rates included in Tariff Q.P. and Tariff C.I.P. - T.O.D.

Secondary = $4.46 / $7.97/KW
Primary = $2.77 / $4.72/KW

6. Program Charge.

The Program Charge is $150 per month for billing, administration and communications required to implement and administer the Experimental Real-Time Pricing Tariff.

Demand losses will be applied to the Capacity and Transmission Charges using the following factors:

Secondary = 4.09752-1.10221
Primary = 4.069081.06570
Subtransmission = 4.04605 1.04278

Primary = 4.03964 1.02972
Subtransmission = 4.04667 1.00954
Transmission = 4.04340-1.00577

In addition to the monthly charges determined according to the Company's tariff under which the customer takes metered service, the customer shall also pay the following rate for each fixed block under contract regardless of the customer's actual energy consumption during that month. The charge will be applied to the customer's bill as a separate line item.

The Company will provide customers at least 30-days' advance notice of any change in the Rate. At such time, the customer may modify or cancel their automatic monthly purchase agreement. Any cancellation will be effective at the end of the current billing period when notice is provided.
