Coal operator pleads guilty

Times Staff Report

PIKEVILLE — Alger B. Jent, 56, of Kite, the one-time coal operator of CSA Mining No. 2 Mine located along the Pike and Letcher county line, pleaded guilty Monday to federal charges that he disregarded safety requirements.

Jent pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court in Pikeville, admitting that he disregarded mandatory safety standards for approved roof control plans.

During the course of his plea, Jent also admitted that in June 2008, roof bolts were installed in the mine roof that did not meet requirements. During inspections prior to Jent's indictment, some 60 roof bolts were tested and were not adequately "torqued."

The investigation was conducted by the Special Investigation Unit at MSHA's District 6 Headquarters in Pikeville.

Jent is currently set to appear for sentencing in Pikeville on June 28. He faces up to a year in prison and fines of up to $250,000.

BEVINSVILLE — Investigating officers are now looking for past disputes between David Slone, 51, and his ex-wife, Tonja Slone, 44, that might somehow bring to light why events

Monday took place.

Slone shot and killed his ex-wife Monday evening as she was leaving a beauty shop at Bevinsville and later turned a gun on himself just after police arrived to arrest him for the fatal shooting.

According to police, Slone arrived at the beauty shop just as his estranged ex-wife was leaving the establishment. Kentucky State Police officers said that, according to eyewitnesses, David Slone pulled into the shop's parking lot as Tonja Slone got into her van. He then exited his vehicle and shot her several times with a handgun.

Police say once that gun was empty, Slone left only to return moments later with a rifle to shoot her again.

"He left after he shot her the second time and went home," said Sgt. Delmas Johnson with the Floyd County

Paving to cause delays on Route 114

PRESTONSBURG — Road work in Prestonsburg is causing traffic delays on Route 114 between Glen View Plaza and Route 1428, as crews work to pave the road.

The work began on Monday and is expected to conclude Friday evening.

"A significant portion of this road has to be milled due to the traffic signals," said Matt Moore, section engineer for Highway District 12. "In order to maintain clearance under the lights we cannot raise the road, so we mill out the same depth of asphalt as we are putting back."

The actual paving of the road will begin today.

"In an effort to reduce impact on traffic, a portion of the road will be paved in the late afternoon hours," Moore said. "The section between the Glen View Plaza entrance and the Wal-Mart entrance will be paved late Friday afternoon."

Due to expected delays, officials with the highway department are recommending that commuters avoid the work area if possible.

MAYTOWN — A new documentary on the controversial topic of mountaintop removal focuses on two Maytown residents who found themselves on opposite sides of the argument when a large coal company made a move to mine in the area.

Beverly May and Terry Ratliff both call the Maytown area home, and they call each other friend. However, when Miller Bros. Coal attempted to advance into the hollow where they live, the differences in their situations became apparent.

Billy E. (Elmer) Frasure

Democrat — #1 on the Ballot
MAGISTRATE, DISTRICT #1

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT #1:

I am Billy E. Frasure, son of Scott and Ruth Neeley Frasure, from Left Fork Abbott Creek. I have trucked and ran equipment for forty years. I am a strong supporter of coal. I know the problems in our district—ditchlines not being cleaned out, drains stopped up, roads breaking off, roads need patching, bridges need repaired and some need replaced, creeks running over our roads and need to be dipped out to carry the water, mudslides need cleaned up, trees need removed along road sides. We need to get all the county roads in better shape to help keep our children safe on the school buses. In the winter all back roads need to be scraped and salted from the beginning of the road to the end.

I have lived on Abbott all of my life and I know the problems we face. If elected, I will be a magistrate for all the people. I will make no difference in anyone. I will treat everyone equal. I will be a magistrate all four years, not just the last three months before election.

With your vote and support, we can make a difference!

Thank you,

Kentucky food prices show slight decrease in first quarter

LOUISVILLE — The latest Marketbasket Survey, conducted by the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation in March, indicates that retail food prices in supermarkets across the state declined in the first quarter of the year.

According to the survey, the total cost of 40 basic grocery items was $103.62 — down by $1.66, or approximately 1.6 percent, from the same list of items reported in the fourth quarter of 2009. While 27 of the items actually experienced minor increases in average price, the composite Marketbasket average price dropped due to major dips in cost found in the 13 items that decreased.

This quarter's average price of Marketbasket items is the lowest it has been since the numbers reported in the third quarter of 2009, reflecting the downward trend of food costs that Kentucky consumers have enjoyed for the last nine months.

Of the six food groups recorded in the survey — beef, dairy, fruits and vegetables, grain, pork, and poultry — the beef category showed the greatest total decline with an average price drop of 9.5 percent. Fruits and vegetables made the largest jump with an average price increase of 6.3 percent. The largest single-item changes were found in rib-eye steaks with a $1.64 per pound decrease in price, and vanilla ice cream with an $0.80 increase.

The Marketbasket survey's top five average price decreases for items in the first quarter of 2010 were:

- Rib-eye steak, down $1.64 / lb. or 17.1 percent
- Roll sausage, down $1.45 / lb. or 25.7 percent
- T-bone steak, down

- $1.43 / lb. or 15.8 percent
- Mild cheddar cheese, down $0.45 / lb. or 10.4 percent

- Chicken breasts, down $0.44 / lb. or 17.6 percent

The Marketbasket survey's top five average price increases for items in the first quarter of 2010 were:

- Vanilla ice cream, up $0.80 / half gallon or 33.8 percent
- Ground beef, up 0.31 / lb. or 15.3 percent

- Chuck roast, up $0.25 / lb. or 7.6 percent
- Butter, up $0.22 / lb. or 8.9 percent

- Idaho potatoes, up $0.21 / 10 lbs. or 6.2 percent
- Corn oil, up $0.21 / 32 oz. or 8.4 percent

- Vegetable oil, up $0.21 / 32 oz. or 9.0 percent

Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation has conducted the Marketbasket survey for four decades as a tool to reflect retail food pricing trends and their relationship to what farmers receive for their raw commodities. On average, the farmers' share of the retail food dollar is around 19 cents.

Kill Saturday mail? Not so fast

National media report that Saturday mail delivery may go the way of the milk wagon, and that a wide majority of Americans think that's ok.

Hold on.

Congress must act first, and that is not likely to happen soon. Some Congressional leaders worry about trimming mail service, even if only 35 percent of people surveyed by Gallup last summer disapprove.

Poll results are guided by the way questions are asked. They don't give a full picture. Knowing that, Congress is not yet ready to decide.

The poll questions ran like this: would you rather give up Saturday mail, lose your local post office or lay off postal workers in the worst recession in 70 years?

Cast that way, Saturday mail loses every time. But that may not be the wisest choice.

USPS is in grave financial danger. It lost $3.8 billion last year and would have lost over $7 billion if Congress had not delayed payments into a retiree health care fund. USPS is under pressure from competitors. It expects far less mail, down from 213 billion pieces in 2006 to maybe 150 billion in 2020.

So USPS needs to close some post offices and mail processing plants, regardless of what happens with Saturday mail. Approving 5-day delivery will not spare these offices, unless Congress artificially props them up. But it must not. The system has to reshape itself.

USPS is also required to prepay its retiree health benefits, leading to annual payments of about $5.5 billion, along with $2 billion in current payments. These go into the federal treasury and make the deficit look lower. Other federal agencies have far better payment terms. Some worry USPS may not be around to pay retirees in the long run. By requiring USPS funding so far up front, Congress may have created a self-fulfilling prophecy.

One worrisome issue is that USPS inherited a compensation system for its huge workforce from Congress in 1970, when post offices were governed by patronage. Since then, USPS worker organizations have successfully bargained for one of the richest benefits packages in the nation. USPS contributes 100 percent of life insurance benefits and 85-88.75 percent of health insurance, compared to 33 percent of life insurance and 72-75 percent for most federal workers.

Labor contracts typically call for a cost-of-living increase and an increase in base pay each year. Last year the price of labor was up about 7 percent. Those decisions are often made not by postal management but by labor arbitrators. The result is a per-employee cost about $81,000 yearly.

No fair blaming the workers. Part of collective bargaining is to get the best deal. In the Golden Age of letters, people and businesses buying postage were inured to regular rate increases to pay for raises and benefit increases.

But life has changed. USPS now has a price cap on postage to suppress rate increases. The bad news is that e-mail has sucked away personal and business letters.

The good news is that USPS is coming up with new products like the successful Priority Mail flat-rate box. In-county periodicals mail is growing as some daily newspapers convert to mail. Many have Saturday editions, both daily and non-daily, and need Saturday delivery. That will require workers, and create jobs.

USPS labor is 80 percent of its total cost, about 30 percent higher than national competitors. Admittedly, it has to reach every household, which competitors may not. Even so, the next generation of contracts has to slice that percentage or the next generation of workers may have no jobs at all.

Much of the workforce will retire in the next five years. USPS can restructure its compensation system without pulling the rug out from under a loyal workforce. It needs to bring new-employee compensation into line not just with the rest of the government but with the businesses that are the primary buyers of postage.

There are still nearly 309 million reasons to keep a viable mail service because every American needs the mail. We still need packages delivered. Most still get bills by mail. We need a fallback for the day-if and when it comes-when the Internet falls prey to evildoers. Also, you may have received this newspaper, a greeting card or a catalog you wanted by mail. We believe this service helps to create an informed public and we stand by the Postal Service's mission to bring it to you.

Perhaps Saturday mail will vanish. But that should be the final step, not the first, in reinventing USPS, because cutting service never helps a business grow. It is a national treasure. We need to keep it viable.

Guest Column

A legislative perspective

by GREG STUMBO
SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

When the Kentucky House of Representatives gavelled in the 2010 Regular Session at the start of the year, my colleagues and I knew that our top priority would be to balance the state's budget in the face of a $1.2 billion deficit while saving existing jobs and creating new ones in Kentucky.

I am proud that the budget passed by the House was able to meet both these goals. It protected our classrooms and shielded our most vulnerable citizens from deep cuts while investing in needed schools, roads, water and sewer projects and creating 22,000 jobs for Kentuckians.

Our investment in Kentucky's future is an important part of the House's budget. The "Kentucky Jobs for Kentucky Families" program would provide the infrastructure our state needs to move forward. We believe that by investing now, when both construction costs and interest rates are low, we can replace our oldest schools and complete other needed projects in our communities while providing good paying construction jobs for our citizens. The materials purchased and wages paid for these projects will touch and improve every part of Kentucky's economy.

Unfortunately, our jobs program has not found much support in the state Senate, which instead favors across-the-board, deep budget cuts. These cuts may seem equal on the surface, but would be especially tough for our schools and our citizens in need. The Senate's current budget would require layoffs for teachers, larger classroom sizes and reductions in lottery-based scholarships. It also would severely restrict our ability to help people when they need it the most as we struggle through the nation's worst economic crisis in decades.

Senate leaders say they believe the House's jobs program would have the state take on too much debt, but this is incorrect on two levels.

First, our budget borrows less than the governor recommended in his budget, and is less than 1 percent (.008) more than the Senate's budget. Second, much of what the House would borrow would be used to help school districts rebuild or replace the state's very oldest school buildings, buildings our children and teacher should not be using for classrooms.

So, for less than one cent of each state tax dollar, we can put tens of thousands of people back to work and replace every dilapidated school building in the state, while providing improved infrastructure to thousands of Kentucky's families and businesses. It seems like such an easy decision to make, but one apparently favored only by the majority of the House.

Although face-to-face budget negotiations between House and Senate leaders ended a little more than week ago, the House is committed to having a fair, workable budget in place before April 15th, when the Kentucky Constitution requires the legislative session to end. The House is offering a budget proposal that addresses the Senate's concerns while retaining the our focus on getting people back to work and avoiding the kind of short-term cuts that lead to long-term problems.

It is imperative to get a budget now to avoid the need for a special session. Ultimately, we have to have a budget in place before July 1st to avoid having to close a wide array of state agencies. The Governor's ability to spend state funds is severely limited when the General Assembly has not enacted a state budget. These rules were established by the Kentucky Supreme Court in a case I argued before the court while I was Attorney General.

As House and Senate leaders try to find a compromise in the days ahead, it is important to note that our differences are relatively small, certainly when compared to a $17 billion two-year budget. There is still time for a final state spending plan to be enacted, and very little compromise is required for both sides to meet in the middle of our different philosophies and positions.

For now, I want to emphasize how much I appreciate the many calls, letters and emails I have received during the last three months. I could not do my job without the help and direction of those I represent.

If you would like to contact me, I can be reached year-round by calling 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

Sometimes a warning works

The most unimaginable tragedy ended in the loss of life for Amanda Ross. She was a wonderful person and it is hard not to have your heartstrings pulled by the bill carrying her name. Amanda deserved better, and everyone feels great sympathy.

Unfortunately, in this situation it's east not to address realistically important issues. No one is willing to even discuss that if Amanda Ross had not sought a protective order, if Steve Nunn had not been thrown into turmoil, causing him to lose his job and be pushed over the edge, there is a distinct possibility Amanda Ross would be alive today.

It is very difficult to even discuss the realities that many women do not wish to cause total turmoil in the life of the person they are seeking relief from. Many times, women don't want a man to lose his job. They really don't want him to have taken away the privilege of hunting, perhaps with his children. Many times, they want something less than the catastrophic charges that go on a man's record and will affect him from getting a job the rest of his life.

As a practicing attorney, I have talked to many women who simply would like for somebody, perhaps a policeman or a social worker, to go talk to this guy and just say, "Calm down. Stay away. Leave her alone.

Let's not have this escalate. Back off." Unfortunately, this is not an option that is offered under the law.

It doesn't matter that a woman can come to court and say, "Judge, I want him to be able to take his son hunting this fall," because lawmakers already said, "It doesn't matter what she says or what the judge thinks; if a domestic order is issued, then you are barred by federal law from possessing a gun." It doesn't matter that the victim doesn't want this punishment imposed.

It's also difficult to address questions in light of the terrible tragedy of Amanda, not even knowing how many petitions filed that are denied. As much as we want to protect those who need to be protected, we must also realize that many petitions are brought wrongfully, out of vengeance, for improper purpose, to get some advantage in a divorce proceeding and are not upheld once they go to court. We don't even know how many hundreds or thousands that are falsely filed.

Any attorney that has practiced law on either side has seen cases where people use domestic violence to get custody of children, to take over a piece of property and really without valid cause. The level of proof is so low in these matters. Most of the cases boil down to a "he said/she said" and a judge makes the call. There is very little proof and judges are put in the terrible position of being politically correct, not protecting rights.

Most of us think we are provided protection of law, and that only if a jury believes. Domestic violence laws are made to make important decisions in your life, children, property, employment and your constitutional rights in the hands of a single judge that has too many cases, is overworked, hears the same stories over and over, and most of the time doesn't have sufficient time or proof to know for sure who is right.

Domestic violence needs to be studied, and certainly there are those who need protection. Ankle bracelets are an option that a judge should have if he deems necessary. In hindsight, it is doubtful that any judge would have made Steve Nunn wear an ankle bracelet. He was a previous state senator, he was working in the administration and his father was the former governor. The real question should perhaps be: If Amanda Ross had never sought a protective order to begin with, and Steve Nunn was still working, would Amanda Ross be alive?

There's a strong need for a lower level request for help to be made, a request where a lady would simply say, "I want somebody to go talk to him." Calm him down, look at him straight in the eye and say, "This could really escalate and be bad for everyone. Why don't you just stay away from her," in a very serious and solemn tone. "This is not going on your record, you don't have to show up in court, but you do have a warning."

Common sense can be very effective.

Deep Down

tary, Ratliff considers signing away his land rights, a decision that could impact both his home and the home of Beverly May. Ratliff, who lives in a cabin he made by hand, struggles with the decision throughout the documentary as May and others visit him and explain their views on mining.

According to a statement from directors Jen Gilomen and Sally Rubin, "Deep Down tells a tale of human connection struggling to survive in the face of impending tragedy, where environmental devastation mirrors emotional devastation."

The film features familiar locales and faces, including Judge-Executive R.D. "Doc" Marshall, late Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens and an abundance of community members. Author Silas House, a supporter of the film, also appears during a meeting held at Allen Central High School.

"Deep Down is, without a doubt, the most moving and insightful film yet on the issue of mountaintop removal and it reveals the complexities of a rogue industry that is threatening much more than trees and mountains, but an entire way of life and the soul of a proud people," House said in a blurb about the film. "This movie provides heroes that can stand as examples in any fight for social justice. Deep Down is hugely intelligent, haunting and moving. I wish everybody in America could see this film."

The directors decided to do the film out of a desire to portray the people and plight of Appalachia in a different light.

"Deep Down came into being out of a wish to put a new face on Appalachia, to offer the people of this region a new look at their lives through the lens of outside media," Gilomen and Rubin said in a release. "Appalachia is more than misunderstood, and the people of this region have rarely been offered anything other than these old stereotypes as mirrors of themselves on screen. Deep Down offers something brand new, a portrait of these people as intelligent, ambitious, strong and filled with deep integrity and values."

Murder-suicide

Sheriff's Department, who was called to the scene Monday. "When he came out after the police got there he had a gun in his hand and was raising it up."

Johnson said many of the officers thought Slone might be preparing to fire on them, but that was not the case.

"He just kept raising the gun and then shot himself in the head," said Johnson. "He was saying he wasn't going back."

Slone had spent time in federal and state prison, police said.

Mike Goble, KSP information officer for Post 9 in Pikeville, said the beautician tried to help Tonja Slone at the scene.

"She was trying to talk to him, to get him to stop shooting at her and he refused," Goble said. "It's evident without a doubt that he intended for her to die."

As for the estranged couple's past, KSP Det. B.J. Caudill said that their past history was currently being looked into Tuesday in terms of a possible motive. Friends, interviewed after the murder-suicide took place, said the two had been arguing for several weeks.

The complaint, filed by Kyle Salyer of Kirk Law Firm, alleged that Amburgey had "worked for a long period of time for the company without rest and his exhaustion caused him to fall asleep at the wheel." The complaint also alleged that Murriell-Don Coal did not take proactive measures to reduce fatigue in its employees, including Amburgey.

On March 30, Knott County Judge Kimberly Childers entered a judgment for Jent against Murriell-Don Coal in the amount of $27 million together with 12 percent interest, plus costs.

"Roberta Jent, fortunately, survived this horrible crash," said John Kirk. "But her life as she knew it is gone. The little dab of insurance on the car that crashed into her was not adequate for her lifetime medical expenses and other needs."

Childers also entered a judgment against Murriell-Don Coal for Hudson in the amount of $15 million.

Local players sign with Pikeville College

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIKEVILLE — Pikeville College coaches are making good on their promise to sign the best local talent available. On Friday, three Pike County products signed scholarship agreements to play for the Bears.

East Ridge pitcher Caitlin Conley and Shelby Valley soccer player Jamie Mullins and softball standout Amanda Sawyers were all signed to join their respective teams next season.

Conley has won 39 games on the hill for the Lady Warriors while recording 475 strikeouts. In addition, she has compiled a batting average of .269. The three-time all-district performer was the 2009 59th District MVP and played on the East West All-

Star team while being named Section 4 Player of the Year.

This year, she has fired four shutouts and already has 34 strikeouts and hasn't given up a run to a 15th Region team.

"We have a lot of faith in Caitlin and have followed her career at East Ridge. Having her sister on our team, we've been aware of her all along and have had her on our radar," said Coach Robert Staggs.

Jamie Mullins will join the Lady Bear soccer team this fall and is coming off a tremendous senior season at Shelby Valley. She had 13 goals and one assist in 16 games last season, accounting for half her team's scoring.

"Players like Jamie are exactly what we're looking for at Pikeville College," said Coach Julio Serrano. "We feel like she has the toughness to play on the collegiate level and are pleased to welcome her to our family."

Sawyers continues the lineage of Shelby Valley softball players moving on to Pikeville College. She is the third consecutive regular starting pitcher to sign with the Lady Bears. In addition to her talents on the hill, she has a career batting average of more than .400.

"Shelby Valley has produced some outstanding players through the years and Amanda is certainly included in that," said Staggs. "We like her and believe in her talent and her abilities. She has the potential to be a solid player for us at Pikeville College."

EAST RIDGE HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR CAITLIN CONLEY recently signed with the Pikeville College softball program.

Blackcats rout Shelby Valley in All 'A' Classic

P'burg posts back-to-back Mercy Rule wins

by STEVE LeMASTER
SPORTS EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — The Prestonsburg Blackcats opened play in the 15th Region All "A" Classic in strong fashion last Tuesday (April 6). After being held scoreless in the opening inning as a result of being retired in order, Prestonsburg plated 15 runs over the course of its next four plate appearances. The Blackcats defeated an opponent in five innings for the second straight game, leveling Shelby Valley 15-3 in five innings.

Kyle Chaffin pitched Coach Jack Pack's Blackcats past Shelby Valley. Chaffin, who reached base twice out of his cleanup hitter's slot, pitched well. The Prestonsburg starter held Shelby Valley scoreless in back-to-back innings after allowing one run in each of the first two frames.

Shelby Valley scored once in the first inning and again during its second at-bat.

Prestonsburg struck for its first run in the second inning. The Blackcats pushed across four runs during their third at-bat before blowing the game open in the fourth inning. Prestonsburg used a 10-run fourth inning to eventually oust Shelby Valley via the KHSAA (Kentucky High School Athletic Association) Mercy Rule.

Every batter in the Prestonsburg lineup got involved and contributed offensively. In addition to Chaffin, Kyle Welch, Josh Blackburn, Seth Carter and Alex Griffith scored two runs apiece for the Blackcats.

Corey Carter, Trey Stapleton, Bryson Williams, Adam Crisp and Tyler Shelton each tallied one run for Prestonsburg in the impressive win.

Leadoff hitter Jacob Robinson scored two of Shelby Valley's three runs, crossing home plate once in both the first and second innings. Rusty Roberts — the number three hitter in the Shelby Valley batting order — scored once in the fifth inning before the Wildcats were mercied.

Prestonsburg 17, South Floyd 4: Prestonsburg recorded a key 58th District/Floyd County Conference win over South Floyd on Friday, April 2, toppling the Raiders 17-4 in five innings. In another game, Leslie County defeated Prestonsburg 12-8.

Seth Carter took the mound as the starting pitcher and pitched Prestonsburg to the win over South Floyd. Carter recorded eight strikeouts in an impressive outing.

Dakota Hall suffered the loss for the Raiders.

Prestonsburg plated multiple runs in each inning.

South Floyd pushed across four runs in the fifth inning before falling short.

LEXINGTON — The Prestonsburg High School track and field program competed in the Tates Creek Commodore Classic on Saturday. In all, 16 teams participated in the Tates Creek-hosted meet. The field featured several talent-heavy teams from Central Kentucky. The Prestonsburg boys' team placed eighth in the team standings. The Prestonsburg girls concluded the meet 14th.

"The boys team competed well overall and had several personal records," Prestonsburg Coach Dewey Jamerson commented.

— Sophomore Joseph Jamerson placed first in the 110 meter hurdles. Jamerson didn't post anywhere near his best time, but still won. The second place finisher had beaten him in the 55 meter hurdles at the State Indoor Championships back in early-March, making the win that much better. Jamerson also had a third-place finish in the high jump and a fifth-place performance in the 300 meter hurdles, running his best time of the season.

— Cameron Tincer recorded a personal record in the 200, finishing eighth. Tincer also turned in a personal record in the long jump.

— Prestonsburg distance runners Zach Romans, Griffin Baker and Nathan Hunt each had personal records in the 1600 meter run. Romans took over 21 seconds off his best time.

— Devin Clifton enjoyed a solid outing, placing second in the triple jump and sixth in the long jump, both personal records. Clifton also went under 60 seconds in the 400 meter dash for the first time ever.

— Middle schooler Ty Blackburn ran under 60 seconds in the 300 meter hurdles for the first time as well.

— Nathan Slone finished seventh in the pole vault and delivered a personal record in the 200 meter dash.

— Alex Garner had a seventh place finish in the shot put and also recorded a personal record in the discus.

— Kain Collins and Chad Ousley both had personal records in the discus.

The meet yielded several personal records for the PHS track and field program.

— Makayla Williamson turned in a personal record in the 1600 meter run. Prestonsburg's 4x100 meter relay team of Alli Hopkins, Courtney Foley, Alessandra Lamolinara and Micheala Slone ran its fastest time of the season.

— Slone and McKenzie Collins turned in personal records in the 400 meter dash.

— Leanna Goble had a personal record in the 300 meter hurdles.

Hopkins recorded a personal record in the 800 meter run.

— Catherine Tincer was only .04 seconds off of a personal record.

— Hopkins had personal records in both the shot put and discus.

— Kristany Setser placed sixth in the long jump for the P'burg girls' track team.

"The girls ran well overall," Jamerson said. "We still need to work on some things but we had a few personal records."

Offense, defense make big plays in UK scrimmage

TIMES STAFF REPORT

LEXINGTON — The offensive units put some touchdowns on the board and the defense also made some big plays in the first major scrimmage of University of Kentucky spring football practice, held Saturday afternoon at Commonwealth Stadium.

Quarterbacks Mike Hartline, Morgan Newton and Ryan Mossakowski, who are contending for the starting role, each directed two touchdown drives. The QBs rotated possessions in directing the first- and second-team offensive units.

"I think it was back and forth," Kentucky Coach Joker Phillips said. "Early in the scrimmage the offense went up and down the field. What I was concerned with was the defense's body language. I don't think we were flying to the ball. Then it went back the other way."

"The thing that I see with this quarterback situation, I thought Mike Hartline did a really good job of getting us in the end zone, managing the team, making plays. I thought the two young ones (Newton and Mossakowski) did some good things also but they have to protect the football. They had three interceptions between the two young guys. They have to protect the football for us. But I like the way they bounced back and got us in the end zone also."

The scrimmage format featured the first-, second- and third-team offenses against the first-, second- and third-team defenses, respectively. Each possession began on the offensive team's own 30-yard line, requiring a 70-yard drive in order to score a touchdown.

Hartline opened the scrimmage by directing the first-team offense to a touchdown, capped by a 27-yard TD pass to wide receiver Randall Cobb. On his next entry, he led the second team to a touchdown. During the march, Hartline connected with a variety of receivers, scrambled 13 yards for a first down and hit paydirt with a 10-yard dart to well-covered wide receiver La'Rod King at the front right corner of the end zone. Hartline finished with 10 completions in 15 attempts for 153 yards and no interceptions.

Newton also had two touchdown passes. He found Cobb over the middle for a 41-yard score with the first team. Later, he directed a 10-play movement of the second unit that included a 19-yard scramble for a first down and a 6-yard scoring pass to wide receiver E.J. Jones. For the day, Newton connected on 8 of 16 passes for 116 yards.

Mossakowski got a couple of touchdowns with the first offense. He hit Brian Adams on a well-thrown sideline route that Adams turned into a 54-yard touchdown. Mossakowski also got points on the board when tailback Jonathan George swept left, then cut back to the middle of the field and raced 73 yards for a touchdown. Mossakowski totaled five completions in 11 attempts, good for 88 yards. He also was victimized by some at least a couple of dropped passes, including one bobble of a well-thrown ball that turned into an interception.

"Mike Hartline's playing better than the two young ones," Phillips said. "A lot of that has to do with game-ready snaps. He's had a lot. He's played for two years around here. Morgan's played a lot more than Moss, obviously, but he's behind Mike right now." "I like all of their demeanors in the huddle and at the line of scrimmage. I like the way they commanded respect in the huddle. They all seem to think that this is mine and played like that in the huddle. All of them are getting better, a lot better than the first day (of spring). They're not close enough to what we want them to be to win games in this league yet, (but) if you take from day one until now they have much improved."

One goal of the spring is developing wide receivers and tight ends to complement established returning wideouts Randall Cobb and Chris Matthews. Cobb and Matthews played briefly in the scrimmage, with Cobb grabbing two TD passes. Adams had three catches for 65 yards and a TD. A total of 16 players caught passes, a good sign in the development of diversity among the receivers.

"This was a big scrimmage for guys like E.J. Fields and Aaron Boyd and they were able to make plays," Phillips said. "Big scrimmage for Brian Adams, he made a couple of plays. All of them are making some plays, Randall (Cobb) made a few plays. I'm pleased with what I'm seeing from Chris Matthews, (he's a) tenacious blocker on the perimeter. He'll give us a chance to break some long ones with the way he's blocking. We have to get the other receivers blocking like him on the perimeter. That's key in our offense because we feel we have some backs that we can get into the secondary."

Phillips also is looking for depth at tailback behind Derrick Locke, who is established as the starter at that position. Locke saw limited action in the scrimmage with four carries for 27 yards. Jonathan George and Donald Russell rotated with the first and second teams. George rushed 13 times for 127 yards, including the 73-yard score. Russell toted 18 times for 73 yards. Coshik Williams ran well for the third team, frequently breaking tackles en route to 56 yards on 11 carries, including a touchdown.

The first- and second-team defenses did have some moments. Safeties Dakotah Tyler and Josh Gibbs and cornerback Anthony Mosley all had interceptions. The defenses also held on downs twice during the scrimmage, stopping the offense on fourth-down plays.

And, in fairness to the defense, it should be noted that three starting defenders did not play because of various injuries — defensive end DeQuin Evans, cornerback Paul Warford and safety Taiedo Smith. In addition, cornerback Martavious Neloms left early in the scrimmage because of a bruised shin, which is not expected to be serious, but his departure left the secondary even more short-handed.

The third-team offense also played well. Quarterback Tyler Sargent played one series and led a touchdown drive that included a 26-yard pass to wide receiver E.J. Fields and a 32-yard TD to wide receiver Aaron Boyd. QB Ryan Phillippi also guided a touchdown drive, highlighted by a pretty 33-yard pass and catch from Phillippi to wide receiver Nik Brazley, then a five-yard touchdown run from Coshik Williams.

The kickers and punters looked solid during the special-teams portion of practice. Ryan Tydlacka punted six times for a 37.7-yard average, showing excellent placement and hang time. The placekickers made all five field-goal attempts, with Tydlacka hitting from 21, 21 and 43 yards, Craig McIntosh connecting from 23 yards and Patrick Simmons making a 30-yarder.

Kentucky returned to the practice field Monday. The team will have its second major scrimmage of the spring on Saturday, April 17. Spring practice will conclude with the Blue/White Game on Saturday, April 24.

SHELBY VALLEY STUDENT-ATHLETES Jamie Mullins (above) and Amanda Sawyers (below) signed with Pikeville College programs last week.

Lindsey Wilson sweeps Pikeville

TIMES STAFF REPORT

COLUMBIA — The Lindsey Wilson College baseball team followed up a Friday sweep of Pikeville College with another pair of wins against the Bears on Saturday at Lindsey Wilson Park. The Blue Raiders escaped the opener with an 8-7 win, then used a five-run third inning to win game two 7-3.

The Blue Raiders are on a season high five-game winning streak after the four-game sweep of Pikeville.

Pitcher Max Rhodes faired well at the plate in game one, going 3-for-4 with a home run, five RBI and a run scored. Helping him of offense was shortstop Drew Barrett going 2-for-2 with an RBI, two runs scored and a walk.

Pikeville held a 5-2 lead in the fourth inning when Rhodes was replaced by Jeremy Greene who picked up the win over the final 2.2 innings. While allowing just one earned run during his stint on the mound, Lindsey Wilson responded with six runs over the final three innings to steal the win.

Sophomore third baseman Jeff Cyrus was 2-for-2, walked twice and drove in one run for the Bears.

Adam Overbay suffered the loss for the Bears. While Pikeville jumped ahead 1-0 in the first inning of game two, the lead was short lived as the Blue Raiders pegged the Bears with five runs in the third, which would be all they needed to win the game.

Lance Rose went the distance for Lindsey Wilson on the mound, striking out eight batters while allowing just five hits.

Elliott suffered the pitching loss in the second game for the Pikeville College baseball team.

KIAC BASEBALL: ALC drops four games to IU-Southeast

TIMES STAFF REPORT

PIPPA PASSES — Alice Lloyd College hosted the KIAC-leading Indiana University-Southeast club in two doubleheaders on Friday and Saturday. The Eagles played well in spots, but came up short in each baseball doubleheader.

FRIDAY, GAME 1 — IUS 9, ALC 1: The Eagles struck first, but witnessed IUS take control of the game with five runs in the bottom half of the fourth inning. For ALC, Adam Adkins had two hits and Joe Rasnake knocked in the team's lone RBI. Will Ray suffered the pitching loss for the Eagles.

GAME 2 — IUS 5, ALC 3 (8 innings): The Eagles led 3-1 entering the last inning. A costly error, however, allowed the visiting team to tie the contest and eventually prevail in an extra inning. For ALC, Devon Pelfrey had two hits and two RBIs. Kyle Potter and Joe Rasnake each added two hits for the Eagles. A double from Potter knocked in the other Eagle run. Todd Duff suffered the pitching loss in relief of Alice Lloyd starter Trevor Corns.

SATURDAY, GAME 1 —

IUS 5, ALC 0: Each team only had five hits apiece but two errors proved to be very costly for the home team. For ALC, Rasnake had two hits and Cory Brewer pitched well in the setback.

GAME 2 — IUS-17, ALC 2: IUS smacked four home runs and pulled out the big conference win over the Eagles. For ALC, Tyler Dotson registered half of the team's six hits. Carter Sibley added two of his own hits and one RBI while a hit from Raskake scored the other run. Gerald Branham suffered the pitching loss for the Eagles.

"Both teams ran well and I think going to a big meet like this shows them that they can

Avoid common mistakes when filing your tax return

The Internal Revenue Service today reminded taxpayers to review their tax returns for common errors that could result in delayed refunds.

Here are some ways to avoid common tax return errors.

■ File electronically. If you e-file or Free File, tax software will do the calculations, flag common errors and prompt you for missing information.

■ Remember Making Work Pay. The Making Work Pay credit — available in 2009 and 2010 — is worth up to $400 for individuals and $800 for married couples. Most people got it as a reduction to their paycheck withholding. Form 1040 filers must complete Schedule M, attach it to their returns, and claim the credit to benefit from it. Tax software handles these calculations automatically for e-filers. Also, if you received the one-time Economic Recovery Payment, you need to reduce your Making Work Pay credit by that amount. Taxpayers who are not certain whether they received the economic recovery payment can find out with the help of an online tool, Did I Receive a 2009 Economic Recovery Payment? If you don't have access to the IRS Web site, call 866-234-2942.

■ Claiming the Homebuyer Credit? If you claim the first-time homebuyer credit, complete Form 5405, and include it along with the settlement document, such as a HUD-1. More information is available on the homebuyer page at IRS.gov/recovery.

■ Use the peel-off label if you mail a paper return. Paper filers may line through and make corrections right on the label. Be sure to fill in your Social Security number in the box provided on the return. If you do not have a peel-off label, fill in all requested information clearly, including Social Security numbers.

■ Check only one filing status. Also, check the appropriate exemption boxes. When you enter Social Security numbers, make sure they are correct.

■ Double check all figures. While software catches and prevents many errors on e-file returns, math errors remain common on paper returns.

■ Get the Right Routing and Account Numbers. Make sure the financial institution routing and account numbers you have entered on the return for direct deposit of your refund are accurate. Incorrect numbers can cause your refund to be delayed or deposited into the wrong account.

■ Sign and date the return.

If you are filing a joint return, both you and your spouse must sign and date the return. E-filers can sign using a self-selected personal identification number (PIN).

■ Attach Forms To the Front of the Return. Paper filers need to attach W-2s and other forms that reflect tax withholding, as well as other necessary forms and schedules, to the front of their returns.

■ Do you owe tax? If so, a number of e-payment options are available. Or send a check or money order payable to the "United States Treasury."

IRS payment options include E-pay, credit card, installment agreements and offers in compromise

The Internal Revenue Service wants to remind taxpayers to pay all taxes due by the April 15 deadline to avoid interest and failure-to-pay penalties.

Filing and Paying on Time Saves Money

If you have a balance due and do not pay by April 15, you are subject to a failure-to-pay penalty. If you cannot complete your return and file it by April 15, you may request an extension of time to file. However, an extension of time to file is not an extension of time to pay.

If you cannot pay the full amount you owe, you will still benefit from filing your return and paying as much as you can by April 15 because interest and failure-to-pay penalties are due only on the unpaid balance.

Members of the military and some others currently serving in combat zones can wait until after April 15 to file and pay. Those eligible get the extra time penalty- and interest-free without having to ask for it. Normally, the filing and payment deadline is postponed until 180 days after the service member leaves the combat zone. Victims of recent natural disasters, listed on IRS.gov, also have extra time.

Electronic Options

A number of electronic payment options are available to taxpayers.

Payments can be made online, by phone using a credit or debit card or through the Electronic Federal Tax Payment System. Taxpayers who e-file their returns may use the electronic funds withdrawal option for submitting an electronic payment. It's possible, for example, to e-file in February or March but schedule the payment for withdrawal as late as April 15.

Information on these options can be found on the Electronic Payment Options Home Page of IRS.gov.

Some taxpayers who itemize may now deduct the convenience fee charged for paying individual income taxes with a credit or debit card as a miscellaneous itemized deduction. The deduction is subject to the 2 percent limit on Form 1040, Schedule A.

Taxpayers may also pay any taxes by check made out to the "United States Treasury." Include Form 1040-V, Payment Voucher, along with the payment and tax return. If you have already submitted your tax return but still need to pay all or some of the balance, you may mail the check to the IRS with Form 1040-V.

Installment Agreements and Online Applications

If you can't pay in full by

April 15, consider applying for an installment agreement.

An installment agreement allows you to pay any remaining balance in monthly pieces. Taxpayers who owe $25,000 or less may apply electronically, using the Online Payment Agreement application. Or attach Form 9465, Installment Agreement Request, to the front of your tax return. You must show the amount of your proposed monthly payment and the date you intend to pay each month. The IRS charges $105 for setting up the agreement, or $52 if the payments are deducted directly from your bank account. Qualified lower-income taxpayers pay $43.

You will be required to pay interest plus a late payment penalty on the unpaid taxes for each month or partial month after the due date.

Offers in Compromise

This filing season the IRS has given its personnel additional flexibility on offers in compromise for struggling taxpayers. For some taxpayers, an offer in compromise, an agreement between a taxpayer and the IRS that settles the taxpayer's debt for less than the full amount owed, is a viable option.

Specifically, IRS employees will be permitted to consider a taxpayer's current income and potential for future income when deciding on an offer in compromise. Normally, the standard practice is to judge an offer amount on a taxpayer's earnings in prior years. This new step provides greater flexibility when considering offers in compromise from the unemployed. The IRS may require that a taxpayer entering into such an offer agree to pay more if the taxpayer's financial situation improves significantly.

Deadline draws near to join 24,000 Kentucky first-time homebuyers

INDIANAPOLIS - More than 24,000 Kentucky taxpayers already have collected nearly $172 million in First-Time Homebuyer Credits. As the deadline draws near, the Internal Revenue Service reminds potential homebuyers that they must have a binding contract to purchase a home by April 30, 2010 and must close on that home by June 30, 2010 to qualify for the First-Time Homebuyer Credit.

"This is a sizable tax credit," said Jodie Reynolds, IRS spokesperson. "It would be unfortunate for any potential homebuyer to leave this money on the table simply because they missed the deadline."

Nationally, through mid-February, nearly 1.8 million Americans had filed returns to collect $12.6 billion in tax credits for homes that they purchased in 2008 and 2009.

Who Qualifies

The First-Time Homebuyer Credit provides up to $8,000 for taxpayers buying a new home if it is their first home or if they have not owned a home in the three years before the date of purchase. Legislation in 2009 expanded the credit to include long-time residents who purchase a new main home after Nov. 6, 2009. To qualify for this version of the credit, which is a maximum of $6,500, eligible taxpayers must show that they owned and lived in their old home for a five-consecutive-year period during the eight-year period ending on the purchase date of the new home.

For married couples, both spouses must qualify in order to claim the credit. Income limits apply for single and married taxpayers. Buyers who purchased homes through Nov. 6, 2009 may qualify for the full credit if their modified adjusted gross income is $75,000 or less ($150,000 for joint filers). For purchases Nov. 7, 2009 or later, the full credit is available with MAGI

Voter registration deadline nears for primary election

FRANKFORT — There are several important deadlines approaching for Kentuckians this time of year. With all the talk about deadlines for the census and filing tax returns, you don't want to overlook a deadline for the upcoming primary election. Kentuckians who wish to vote in the May 18 primary election only have a few more days to register to vote. The deadline to register for the upcoming May primary is Monday, April 19. County Clerks' offices throughout Kentucky will accept voter registration cards until the close of business that day.

A postmark of April 19 is also required for all mail-in voter registration applications. Registration cards can be obtained over the internet at www.vote.ky.gov/register.

"I encourage all citizens who have not already done so, to register to vote today," stated Kentucky Secretary of State Trey Grayson. "We hope to see everyone exercising their constitutional right to vote on May 18th."

Also, minors who are 17 years old but will be 18 years old on or before the Nov. 2 general election are eligible to register and entitled to vote in the upcoming primary but are not eligible to vote in special elections unless they are 18 years old.

Secretary Grayson reminds voters that if they have moved recently, they need to update their voter registration so that they are allowed to vote on election day. In particular, if a voter has moved from one county to another prior to the voter registration books closing and he or she does not update his or her voter registration, that voter will not be allowed to vote in the primary election.

Grayson also noted that Kentucky has closed party primaries, which requires citizens to register as a Democrat or Republican by December 31, 2009, to be eligible to vote in that party's May 2010 Primary. If a voter changes his or her political party registration after December 31, 2009, he or she will not be eligible to vote in the party primary of his or her newly chosen party or former party; however, he or she may vote in nonpartisan city and judicial primaries. Voters with a different political registration other than Republican or Democrat cannot vote in the Republican or Democrat party primaries but may vote in nonpartisan city and judicial primaries. All eligible and registered voters, regardless of political party registration, may vote in the November 2010 General Election or any special election.

If citizens are unsure whether they have registered to vote or uncertain as to where they will vote, they can view all of that information online through the Voter Information Center (VIC). The VIC will tell voters where they are registered to vote, the location of their polling site, and their political affiliation. It also provides links to elected representatives and driving directions from the voter's home to his or her polling location. VIC can be accessed at www.vote.ky.gov/vic.

To obtain a list of county clerks and other voter registration sites in your area, contact the Kentucky State Board of Elections at (502) 573-7100 or via the web at www.elect.ky.gov.

Pikeville College to host Alumni and Friends Weekend

PIKEVILLE — The Pikeville College Alumni Association is hosting an Alumni and Friends Weekend on April 23 and 24. All classes are invited to attend. The theme for the reunion weekend is "Where did the 99 steps lead you?" referencing Pikeville College's historic 99 steps.

The weekend will open with a "Welcome Back" reception Friday, April 23, at the Pikeville College Gymnasium. The reception will include registration for the weekend, refreshments, games and karaoke. The event will be held from 6-9 p.m. and is free of charge.

On Saturday, April 24, many alumni are hosting mini-reunions and activities. Events include a golf outing, Rook tournament, campus and city tours, a softball game and receptions.

The weekend will conclude with an Alumni Dinner and Dance from 6-10 p.m. at the Landmark Inn's Mark V. The event also includes an alumni awards ceremony followed by live music by the Jaguars. The cost of the dinner is $25 per person.

"We have been working to come up with a list of fun events to appeal to all Pikeville College alumni," said Kay Hammond, president of the alumni association. "With all of the excitement around campus over the last several months, we wanted to invite everyone back to visit and celebrate Pikeville College."

Hammond said the weekend is open to all alumni, including the Training School, Academy, Junior College, Undergraduate College, and Pikeville College School of Osteopathic Medicine.

"Pikeville College is so proud of the accomplishments and success of our alumni and we want every group that has been a part of Pikeville College's long history to be a part of this special weekend."

For a full list of weekend events or for more information about the Alumni and Friends Weekend visit alumni.pc.edu or call (606) 218-5276.

Deadline

up to $125,000 ($225,000 for joint filers). The credit is reduced for higher incomes and eventually phases out.

The credit is fully refundable, meaning eligible taxpayers will be paid the credit even if they owe no tax or the credit is more than the tax owed.

How to Claim the Homebuyer Credit

Taxpayers claiming a homebuyer credit must file a paper return and attach Form 5405, First-Time Homebuyer Credit and Repayment of the Credit, with additional documents to verify the purchase. Although these taxpayers cannot file electronically, they can use IRS Free File or other tax-preparation software to prepare the return, which they can then print and mail to the IRS, along with required documentation.

Qualifying buyers who purchased a home in 2009 could claim the credit on their 2008 or 2009 tax return. Qualifying taxpayers who purchase in 2010 have the option of claiming the credit on either their 2009 or 2010 tax return.

Documentation to Include With the Tax Return

Taxpayers who entered into a binding contract by April 30, 2010 to purchase a home by June 30, 2010 should attach a copy of the pages from the signed binding contract to make a purchase. Binding contracts should show all parties' names and signatures, the property address, the purchase price and the date of the contract.

Homebuyers must attach a copy of a properly executed settlement statement, such as the HUD-1 form, for their purchase. These statements can vary by geographic area and local law and typically are not available for the purchase of a newly constructed home or a mobile home. For guidance on document requirements for these purchases, the IRS has prepared a Special Edition IRS Tax Tip 2010-05 that is available on the IRS.gov web site.

The IRS recommends that taxpayers claiming the $6,500 credit for long-time residents buying a new main home attach documents that verify the five-consecutive-year period of homeownership such as Form 1098, Mortgage Interest Statement or substitute mortgage interest statements, property tax records or homeowner's insurance records.

Additional Time for Members of the Military

Members of the Armed Forces and certain federal employees serving outside the U.S. have an extra year to buy a principal residence in the U.S. and still qualify for the credit. Individuals who are eligible for this extension must enter into a binding contract to buy a home no later than April 30, 2011, and settle on the purchase by June 30, 2011.

EVERYBODY'S SCIENCE

Fun with geraniums (if you're not a beetle)

by SANDY MILLER HAYS
AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE

When my husband and I went house-hunting together way back in the mid-1990s, it took us just two days to find our "dream house."

In fact, I remember our real estate agent's totally horrified reaction when I stepped inside our now-home for the first time. There's a little flagstone pad about four feet square just inside the front door (so you don't step right onto the hardwood floors with sopping-wet feet), and I stepped onto that little pad and said, "This is it" — no more than two feet from the front door. The agent thought I was having a meltdown after just two days of looking, but I knew what every room in that house would look like even before I walked through it; that's how certain I was that this was "the place."

It's not a new house (built in 1936), and it certainly has its quirks (such as closet doors that mysteriously open by themselves in the dead of night ... and we won't even go into the joys of a 1936 toilet). But I've never regretted buying the house; it's perfect for us.

Of course, there are lots of family jokes about the house. Brian loves to tease me about my naive "Oh, and we won't even have to buy any furniture" comment. And Brian himself turned into a gardening fiend overnight; every time I turned around, he was sneaking home from the garden center with another half-dozen rose bushes.

I was bitten by the gardening bug, too. I even built a kidney-shaped stone flower garden (well, it looks kidney-shaped to me) at the corner of our lot, where every year I plant a whole flock of stoplight-red geraniums. It turns out I'm performing a community service, because our little town with its winding streets is almost like a maze to out-of-town visitors; I've been told that people in our town give directions that include "At the corner with the bright red geraniums, you turn right (or left, or go straight)."

Speaking of those rose bushes, Brian has learned to loathe the Japanese beetles (and if you garden, I'm sure you hate them, too). Alas, this pest is the exact opposite of a "picky eater;" not only will it go after soybeans, corn, fruits and vegetables, it will happily feast on nearly 300 plant species in almost 80 plant families (some of which are no doubt in your garden).

In fact, it's by far the most destructive pest of ornamental and turf plants in the eastern United States, with more than $450 million spent each year to control it and replace damaged plants.

But here's some amazing news: It turns out that if I could just somehow shove my dry-rock geranium garden a little closer to Brian's rose bushes, his beetle problem might be solved!

According to scientists with the Agricultural Research Service (ARS), geraniums are one plant that the Japanese beetle might want to avoid. That's because if a Japanese beetle eats geranium petals, within about 30 minutes of chowing down on those flowers, the beetle rolls over on its back, with its legs and antennae slowly twitching, and is paralyzed for several hours!

Although this doesn't kill the beetles, it's certainly not good news for them. When paralyzed under laboratory conditions, the beetles typically recover within 24 hours. But if they're out in the field when this happens, they're helpless prey for any predator that comes along while they're incapacitated.

It's not actually "new news" that geranium petals can poison Japanese beetles; that was reported in scientific papers as far back as the 1920s. But nobody's taken a closer look at this phenomenon in many, many years.

That's changing now, with ARS scientists in Ohio working on a natural, botanical formulation for control-

Joseph Sammons found the tire and what he said appeared to be a school bus door several years ago buried on property he bought from Otis Cesco.

"Very Worst Thing" producer Scott Hall worked to uncover the tire recently. Sammons contacted filmmakers about the pieces shortly after seeing the documentary in February.

UNEARTHING HISTORY

Artifacts from school bus wreck uncovered

by JARRID DEATON

PRESTONSBURG — A tire may be a simple object made out of rubber, but a tire unearthed in Prestonsburg could be much more than that, according to Michael Crisp, director of "The Very Worst Thing," a documentary about the 1958 school bus disaster.

"I was contacted by a gentleman in Floyd County named Joseph Sammons, and he said that he owns the property where they pulled the school bus into the backyard," Crisp said. "He said that in his yard a few years ago, he found the school bus tire and the sliding door while doing some landscaping, but he covered them both back up. Mr. Sammons bought the property from Otis Cesco, who lost two children in the crash."

According to Crisp, Sammons decided to uncover the tire after watching the debut of "The Very Worst Thing" at the Mountain Arts Center in February.

"He and his wife saw the film and they asked us if we would like to come out and see the bus door and tire," Crisp said. "We were able to locate the tire, but not the bus door. We've since cleaned it up a bit and have been investigating if it's the bus tire or not, and all preliminary indications are that it is. This is fairly big news because the fate of the bus after it was brought up from the river has always been a mystery, and there was a popular belief that it was buried on the riverbank after being extricated from the river."

It was also reported that the bus was destroyed after being transported out of the area, leading to speculation that a malfunction in the bus could have caused the accident.

Crisp hopes to donate the tire to the Floyd County Rescue Squad. The squad was formed in response to the bus disaster.

"Our intent is to find out if it's indeed a piece of the bus and then we'd like to donate it to the rescue squad or some kind of historical group that would be interested in preserving and displaying it. We might bring it with us to a few of the upcoming showings of the film, including the next time we're at the MAC."

The film will be shown again at the Mountain Arts Center on June 25.

Filmmaker Michael Crisp said he might put the tire on display during upcoming showings of "The Very Worst Thing."

April is PRIDE Spring Cleanup Month

SOMERSET — Spring cleaning is underway in southern and eastern Kentucky. During PRIDE Spring Cleanup Month in April, communities are teaming together to pick up litter, remove illegal dumps and dispose of bulky trash.

"Local governments have planned many Spring Cleanup activities, and now residents can take advantage of these chances to get rid of trash responsibly," said PRIDE's Karen Engle. "The timing is perfect. After a long winter, everyone is ready to enjoy our region's great outdoors. Volunteering is fun, and cleaning up makes the scenery nicer for us and our visitors."

Assistance with cleanup costs is available through a partnership between the state Transportation Cabinet and PRIDE — the region's nonprofit group for environmental cleanup and education. A total of $587,500 in Spring Cleanup funds was awarded to the region's cities and counties, based on their number of road miles.

In 31 counties, litter cleanups are planned during April with Spring Cleanup funds, based on reports to PRIDE. Most are roadside cleanups, but lake and river sweeps also will take place.

One litter pickup event — the Laurel Lake Cleanup — is a joint effort by two counties. On April 24, Laurel County and Whitley County will compete to recruit the most volunteers to pick up trash along the lake, which lies in both counties. The annual event draws hundreds of volunteers.

In 20 counties, there will be free events to drop off large trash, such as appliances. Four counties will remove illegal dumps.

Pulaski County will host its first-ever "Free Hazardous Waste Day" — the only one in the region during Spring Cleanup Month. County residents can drop off up to 100 pounds of hazardous materials, such as paint, that typically are not accepted at local disposal facilities.

"We have set aside $20,000 of our Spring Cleanup funds for this event," said Gerald Hines, Pulaski County Solid Waste Coordinator and Recycling Center Director. "Disposing of hazardous wastes is very expensive. For example, properly handling a small propane cylinder costs $5, and paint disposal is $0.23 per pound.

Certified professionals must handle hazardous waste, so we hired a contractor to operate this event for us."

PRIDE is a nonprofit organization that promotes "Personal Responsibility In a Desirable Environment" in 38 counties of southern and eastern Kentucky. It was founded in 1997 by Congressman Hal Rogers and Kentucky Environmental Protection Secretary James Bickford.

PRIDE began sponsoring the region-wide Spring Cleanup in 1998. In addition to funding assistance, PRIDE provides local governments with T-shirts, garbage bags and gloves to distribute to Spring Cleanup volunteers.

Outdoor Venture Corporation and Wal-Mart are the Gold-Level Sponsors of the 2010 Spring Cleanup Month. The Silver-Level Sponsor is SouthEast Telephone.

To volunteer for the Spring Cleanup, please contact PRIDE at 888-577-4339 (toll free) or PRIDE@centertech.com. Spring Cleanup information is available online at www.kypride.org.

Ten Years Ago (April 9, 12 and 14, 2000)

A court order signed December 29, 1998, by Megis County, Ohio, Juvenile Division Judge Robert Buck granted Candy Robinson, a resident of Prestonsburg, "emergency temporary custody of her nieces. The Ohio judge now has ruled that the three girls: Autumn 8, Megan, 10 and Sarah, 13, whom have been under her care be returned to their mother, but Robinson is vowing to fight returning the children to the same conditions from which they came from.

The Floyd County Health Department has introduced new programs in an effort to give Floyd County residents better health care. Beginning April 25, the Prestonsburg office will introduce the Extended Wellness Child Preventive Health screenings. This service is intended to aid children participating in the KCHIP program.

Detective Lee Weddington has made a second arrest in the alleged robbery of an elderly Langley woman. Dorothy Arnette, 59, of Royalton was arrested Monday for allegedly assisting Carma Miller, also known as Tammy Slusher, during an alleged robbery at the home of 87-year-old Lanie Terry.

Floyd County's annual PRIDE cleanup is just days away. Beginning April 17 and lasting through April 29, residents of Floyd County may take rubbish and many large items to county transfer stations.

"It was not his wife's," Deputy Ricky Thornsberry, said Gregory Scott Crace told officers after nearly two pounds of drugs were discovered in a search of his home. Thornsberry arrived at the Crace residence after the search warrant had been served by Sheriff John K. Blackburn and the search had begun.

A routine traffic stop turned into high speed chase, Sunday evening as Officer Bobby Hackworth of the Floyd County Sheriff's Office attempted to arrest a Martin woman. According to Hackworth, he pulled over Rosemary Sammons, 52, at the mouth of Prater Creek of Banner. Hackworth returned to his car after retrieving the woman's license to run a registration check. In that check it was revealed Sammons had four outstanding warrants.

Over the weekend, Kentucky State Police joined Paintsville Fire Chief Bob Dixon in announcing that the cause of the third major downtown fire to strike that city in the last eight months has been determined to be arson-related. The fire broke out, shortly after 6 a.m., April 2, and consumed the former Paintsville Clinic building on Main Street. Prestonsburg Fire Department joined a host of Johnson County departments in extinguishing the blaze.

A Floyd County grand jury issued 10 indictments on Wednesday. Of those 10, three allegedly worked together to steal from one man. Arlie Michael Jackson, Joseph A. Collett and Byron Keith Rister, all of Garrett, were indicted on charges that they participated in the theft and destruction of property belonging to Eugene Mullins, a former Wayland mayor.

In an effort to get a budget passed before this fast-waning legislative session ends, the state Senate has approved a bill that would generate more money for the General Fund by imposing a tax on long distance telephone calls. And though it had once appeared that the session could end without a two-year spending plan, a conference committee made up of members of the House and Senate has finally reached an agreement.

A preliminary hearing for Dorothy Arnette, 59, of Royalton, the second suspect accused of robbing Lanie Terry, a 87-year-old Langley woman was held on Wednesday. Pros tee up for Kentucky State Parks Golf Trail FRANKFORT — Kentucky State Parks made a hole-in-one by asking Kentucky's nationally-ranked, professional golfers to appear in television commercials that begin airing on April 12, as part of a golf promotional package.

Ryder Cup heroes J. B. Holmes and Kenny Perry, who played on the American team that won the international title in 2008, and four-time winner on the Professional Golf Association (PGA) Tour, Steve Flesch donated their time to appear in the spots. The three pros got together in February at a tournament and taped ads that can be seen on six networks over a two-week period.

All three golf stars were reared in Kentucky. Holmes hails from Campbellsville, Perry was born in Elizabethtown and grew up in Franklin and Flesch is from Union.

Governor Steve Beshear said that it's incredibly good fortune to have three Kentuckians competing simultaneously on the PGA tour circuit. "We are so appreciative that these guys got together and contributed precious time from hectic schedules to promote state park golf courses. Their support is worth its weight in gold," Beshear said. "Air time with these outstanding, native son golfers is priceless, particularly at a time when budgets are incredibly lean and the golf season is heating up. We can't thank them enough for pitching their support to Kentucky State Parks' golf trail."

Viewers in the greater Lexington and Louisville areas can look for the spots of the Kentucky natives on ESPN, Spike, the History Channel, Comedy Central, the Travel Channel and the Golf Channel. The campaign will run for two weeks and the videos will also be posted on YouTube, the video sharing web site owned by Google and the Kentucky State Parks' Web site. The Department of Parks will also run a golf-related contest on their Facebook page.

Scheduling production was simplified because the three were participating in a tournament in the Phoenix area. Steve Brooks, the deputy commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Parks, flew to Arizona with a state videographer to do the taping which, according to Brooks, went off without a hitch. "These guys were great to work with," he said. "Who could be better to send the message that Kentucky State Parks have quality, affordable courses located in every area of the Commonwealth?"

Expenses were kept to a minimum with editing and production processes handled in-house by Creative Services, a division in the state Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet.

Kentucky State Parks feature six nine-hole and 13 18-hole courses throughout state resort and recreational parks, a number of which have been listed as "bests" by the national publication Golf Digest. Resort parks include a lodge, cottages, restaurants and other amenities that are included in the Tee's and Zzz's and Chip Shot golf packages. Parks also offers an annual trail card that includes unlimited access to all park's courses for a year, available at www.parks.ky.gov/golfrail. The "Unbridled Spirit" gift card, which can be purchased on line as well as at park's pro and gift shops; in Frankfort at the Kentucky History Center; Lexington at the Kentucky Horse Park gift shop and Berea at the Kentucky Artisan Center, can be redeemed for golf reservations at participating parks.

Janie Owens, of Hager Hill, and Ronnie Meade, of Prestonsburg, are pleased to announce their forthcoming marriage. A private ceremony with friends and family will be held on April 24 at the First Church of God in Prestonsburg. Pastor Steve Williams will be performing the ceremony. A honeymoon will follow.
