The

GREETINGS

Here is your book of the 1954-55 School Year in Floyd County.

Primarily, is is a book of faces of those who planned and worked for you; the faces of the teachers who prodded and persuaded and inspired you into achievement; the face of the boy who beat you out for captain; the face of the girl whose pony-tail you yanked incessantly; the face of that one whose smile made you suddenly feel Shakespeare's line "All losses are restored and sorrows end - -", and here too your own youthful face pictured when all the world was young.

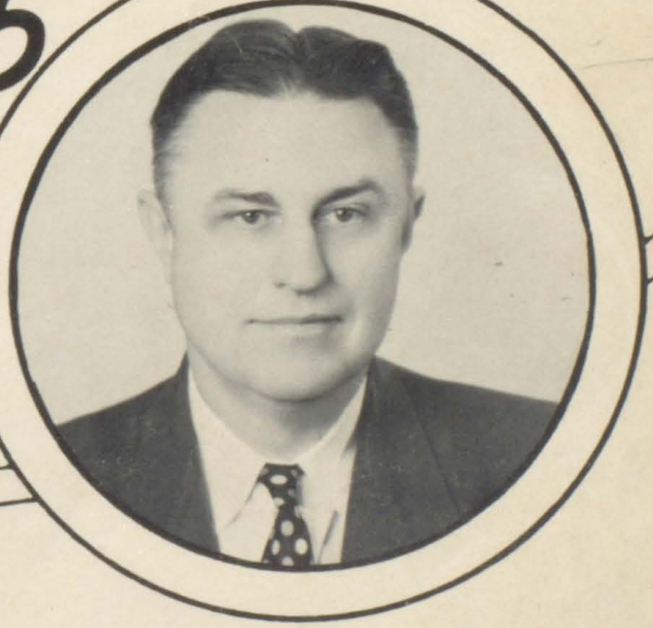

These faces will swiftly alter and nowhere shall you find them except in these pages and in your memories.

But as the looks of youth and innocence go their way may they be replaced by marks of wisdom and courage.

And may these names become names of good and great men and women.

Floyd Countian

Dedication

The Floyd County Annual Staff respectfully dedicates the 1955 issue of the Floyd Countian to James Greene, Member of Floyd County Board of Education, who for the past eight years has given unsparingly of his time for the continuation and development of the proper education of our children. A parent, a former school teacher, a farmer and merchant, diligently serving as chairman of the board for years, gives him the background needed to understand the problems of today's youth.
