FLOYD COUNTIAN

1959

Greetings,

This is your '58-'59 Floyd County Annual.

Here is enshrined pictures of those who lost their lives in the Floyd County school bus disaster. We will forever remember the twenty-six children and the bus driver, the year 1958, and how so many people gave untiringly of themselves in this crisis. Nor can we forget to be thankful for the twenty-one children who escaped.

Here are the pictures of Dr. W. D. Osborne, William Arnold Spradlin, Dr. J. H. Allen and James Greene who gave so many years to the cause of education.

During the year Congress passed the National Defense Education Act to strengthen educational efforts in Science, Modern Languages, Guidance, Counseling and Testing in the secondary schools. This is a small step in federal aid to education, but a very important one.

This was also a year of general awakening throughout the country to the need for quality education. The Conant study of "The American High School" gives specific recommendations on how to improve our schools. These developments are certain to have a profound influence on our educational system.

The economic conditions in the county show once again how important it is for our people to secure a better education. Only by intelligent planning can more industry be obtained for Eastern Kentucky. Intelligent planning also means a more diversified economic base for our people.

The primary purpose of education is to give our people better qualities for better living. This can be done by developing to the fullest the mental, physical, social, emotional and religious life of every individual.

This book records in its many aspects the continual development of these qualities.

Virgil C. Turner

Superintendent, Floyd County Schools

IN MEMORY

"The words "tragedy" and "tragic" will for a long while be associated with this occurrence. But it was not a tragedy. A horrible accident, yes; but a tragedy, no. Tragedies have evil beginnings. They are caused by willful errors. No evil is associated with this at all, only love. The children left home in the morning with the warmth of parents' love upon them. They boarded the bus with a driver who cherished each one as his own. Who went down with them in the heroic manner of a captain on his ship.

They were going to schools where they were loved by teachers and administrators, backed by superintendent and staff whose hearts love with the love only God can give. Nurtured and cherished in love they died.

They left home to go to school. Instead they went to Heaven. Is it not as simple as that? The grief and the sorrow are great, of course, but for those beloved children it was a day of greatness. Who knows but that the hand of God wrought all this? I speak as one who believes God works all things to the good of children.

Please let the peace of God dwell in your hearts and rejoice that these children knew so much love.

This experience like all such experiences in life can and will create within you an even greater soul. And one day you will again join these and your heart will have complete understanding and perfect peace."

From a letter written by Rev. Charles Elswick, a former principal of Johns Creek, Pike County and many years a Secretary of E.K.E.A. and postmarked February 28, a. m., 1958.

Four things a man must learn to do,
If he would make his record true;
To think without confusion, clearly;
To love his fellowmen, sincerely;
To act from motives, purely;
To trust in God and Heaven, securely.
